

COUNTY CULLINGS,

CULLEOKA.

CULLEOKA, Feb. 21.—I will start a few minutes, usually devoted to "restful reading," to read you the "Culleoka letter," tho' it will not contain much news—there is nothing new to write; besides, I'm anxious to glance into some good books that my preacher friend was kind enough to send me. I infer the books are good, if for no other reason than that Alexander was great—everybody called him so! If I were rich enough I think I would be a sort of literary loafer—that is, I would take mine easy reading while other folks have writ! I would enjoy all the rich pastries, and puddings, and sauces of the new cook-books; all the speculations of the fanciful; all the big sermons that were not too big; all the romances, and all the poetry—that I could understand. By the way, there's a good deal that we do not understand—at least, we do not understand it as the author did. For instance: the other day I was reading about Burns' "Man was made to mourn." A little (original) friend, who was visiting me, listened attentively, but with evident dissent from the sentiment that man was made to mourn. At the conclusion she asked, "See here, M. as Irene, did you never go to a funeral, and did you never notice that the women do most of the mourning—a great deal more than the men? She was much surprised, too, that the same man at the beautiful gate should ask for arms (arms) when he needed feet so much worse! Being called a literal little body, she concluded that she was according to the letter" literary likewise.

And still it rains! But I like the rain better than the cold and snow. During the late snow the whole yard was filled with little, piteous, hungry birds, so eager in looking for crumbs that they scarcely raised their eyes, and only one or two tried to chirp—and their song was sadder than the silence of the others. How suggestive of human life, and how true that nothing but infinite pity is equal to the infinite pathos in the world.

On last Thursday night during the hardest of the rain storm, Dr. M. B. Smiser was returning from Mr. Merritt Tomlinson's. When nearing Mr. Rus Covey's residence, he saw, what he supposed was a bright meteor, passing about twenty feet over his head and fall in a field of Mr. Ingram's not far from the road. Both the Dr. and his horse felt the effect of the meteor (if such it was) as it passed over, and again when it struck the ground. The Dr. said he felt like he would fall off if he did not get down from off his horse; but when he tried to lead the animal, the horse refused to move, and it was fully fifteen minutes before he would start, and then he stumbled along as if he was stiff and blind. They managed to reach Culleoka, the Dr. feeling (as he said) like he would die if he did not get to a light. He did, fully recovered from the shock, until he had warmed and eaten his supper. The above may sound just a little "ghostly," but the facts came straight from headquarters, and Dr. Smiser will verify every word of it.

We have several young men who are rapidly nearing the age of twenty-five. They have formed a club, and each fellow who is still living in "single blessedness" when his twenty-fifth birthday arrives, is to receive a sound thrashing. Mr. John Wilson has become a member of the club, and he says that he will be twenty-five the 31st of next March. Now, we all know that Mr. Wilson has long since entered his thirties, but the boys were glad for him to join, as they anticipate huge fun "castigating" him on the morn of April 31st. He will be the first to suffer the penalty, unless he can prevail upon Miss M. to double-team with him on the March winds cease to blow.

Mr. Bryant Renfro and son have returned from Texas. They either did not like the Lone Star State, or the "Texas Horror" frightened them away, for they stayed out there just two weeks. When they left here they thought of remaining indefinitely.

Mr. Benson Evans spent the Sabbath within the home circle. Methinks, several of our lassies look eagerly forward to the "semi-monthly coming" of Mr. Benson.

A piano agent, representing Baldwin & Co. of Nashville, was out recently. Rev. W. W. Graves and others are negotiating for new pianos.

Mr. Robert Patten, of Dickson, was here the latter part of last week, looking after five stock in the hands of Mr. Will Belmont.

These are all the items we can catch. At first it was too cold to get around; when it got warmer the mud was too deep for my shoes; and now it is raining. But, these hurried notes must close. I must hasten back to my household duties. VERA VILLIERS.

Committee to Visit Washington.

The Arsenal Committee appointed by the citizen's mass-meeting some weeks ago have not been idle. They have investigated the present status of the Arsenal and the best means of advancing its interests. They have memorialized Congress as they were instructed to do and have heard from Gen. Flagler, the Chief of Ordnance, and Col. N. N. Cox. They have learned that there is very little hope of securing additional appropriations at this term of Congress but are devising plans for pressing our claims before future sessions of that body.

Gen. Flagler thinks there is only one more hope of securing further allowances at the present session. This is to press our claims before the Senate appropriations committee at the very last moment. A committee has been appointed to visit Washington in the middle of next week for that purpose and for the purpose of urging Gen. Flagler to read more army stores to fill up the Arsenal store house. The latter object pertains to Gen. Flagler only. Congress has no "thing to do with it."

ARIZONA KICKER.

THE EDITOR DECLARES THAT HE WILL HAVE NO MORE INNOVATIONS.

No More Editorial Dignity Will Be Dropped, No Matter Who Comes Along with Eastern Ideas—One of Joseph's Little Jokes.

(Copyright, 1892, by Charles B. Lewis.)

NO MORE INNOVATIONS.—When his honor the mayor (who is ourself) first occupied his official desk in the city hall he used a revolver as a paperweight, and things were running along in a smooth and gentle way when the mayor of Buffalo happened out this way. The paperweight attracted his attention, and he read us a moral lecture. He thought there was a certain abandon about the matter incompatible with the dignity of the office. We took the advice of a tenderfoot for the first time in five years and replaced the revolver with a piece of quartz silver. The other day, as we were preparing a veto, a stranger walked in and covered us with his gun. He was a slow going chap, and had our old paperweight been in place we could have got the drop on him. As it was, he covered us and proceeded to make us eat dirt. No one happened to come in, and for ten minutes he obliged us to call ourself a thief, liar, swindler, deadbeat and a heap of other unpleasant things. What grieved us more than all else was to be forced to declare that THE KICKER had only one-fourth the circulation of its wretched contemporary, and that we stood in bodily fear of the postmaster of this town. When the fellow had fed with us to his heart's content he backed out, ran down stairs and galloped out of town. We hunted for him of course, but he was not to be found, and it brings tears to our eyes to think we may never see him again. Our revolver has been restored to its place as a paperweight. We shall steer clear of any further innovations. If the mayor of Cleveland or Cincinnati or St. Louis happens along here and doesn't like the looks of things it will make no difference to us. We don't propose to drop 95 per cent. of our dignity with a dull thud just because those eastern mayors fail to understand us as a people.

ONE OF JOSEPH'S JOKES.—Last week we received through the mail a copy of THE KICKER which had been sent to Joe Taylor, of Duck Lake, as a sample copy of the literary fruits grown in this neighborhood. Joseph used the margin and a lead pencil to tell us to go to a climate much hotter than this. We of course mounted our mule and rode over to solicit an interview. Joseph saw us when we were yet a mile away, and mounting his mule he bolted for Grass Valley. We overhauled him at Turkey Creek, however, and gave him sixty seconds in which to explain matters. He is a very rapid speaker, and in less than half a minute had not only squared himself but handed over four dollars in cash for two subscriptions, one of which goes to his aged father in Connecticut. Joseph had simply been joking us in returning the sample copy. He has a great deal of humor in his composition, and sometimes he feels so funny that he does strange things. He had no idea that his action would strike us seriously, but expected we would be tickled half to death. We are somewhat given to fun, but when a man returns a sample copy of our paper we can't see the joke. We don't say that we expect everybody to regard THE KICKER as the greatest family newspaper on earth, but it might as well be understood right here and now that under certain circumstances we shall promptly buckle on two six shooters, mount our running mule and demand an interview.

HIS MISTAKE.—His honor the mayor (who is ourself) deeply regrets the little incident which occurred at the city hall Monday afternoon, and is pleased to learn that the verdict of the public is with him. For many moons past the corner of this town has considered himself a bigger man than the mayor. It was a great mistake on his part, but we let it go until the critter came to the conclusion that he was running most of the territory. Monday afternoon we found him at our official desk, with his heels on our official blanks, and one of our official cigars between his teeth. He only struck the stairs once on his way down, and it was thirty minutes before he opened his eyes and recognized Mose Williams, who was feeding him whisky. We were elected to run this town. When we show signs of weakness it will be time for some one else to step in. The coroner is a good man, and he has a very graceful way of presiding at an inquest, but the swelling in his head must be kept down. He says he will run for us as soon as able to get out, but that was to be expected. When we accepted the office we accepted all the chances as well.

A Mississippi MAN is suing for a divorce on the ground that his wife makes him do the cooking. There was a similar case in Georgia recently, with this difference: The man sued for a divorce because his wife would not allow him to cook.

WEST END NOTES.

J. W. Shelton left Wednesday for a two week's business trip to St. Louis. Mr. William Haumon has recovered, after several weeks sickness. Mr. Coyner has been quite sick for several days with a gripe.

Mrs. J. B. Campbell, after a very severe attack of pneumonia for several weeks, is able to be out. Peter, the little six-year-old son of Horace Catina, met with a very painful accident several days since while at play with several of his little companions. One of the boys struck at a ball with a stick and the stick flew out of his hand and struck Peter in the eye. The eye-ball was out and considerably bruised, but it is thought the sight will not be entirely destroyed.

A pair of mules, attached to a wagon, belonging to Mr. John Burns, caused quite a little ripple of excitement last Saturday evening. The driver left them standing in front of Haggy's meat shop and they became frightened and ran away. No damage was done, but it was thought several times they would collide with some jassing vehicle, as there were several on the road at the time the runaway occurred.

Several parties from this part of the city are contemplating visiting Washington to attend the inauguration next month.

Mr. William Shirley has been quite indisposed for several days.

Mrs. A. O. P. Nicholson acquired the habit when a young woman of preserving all her letters and papers and various articles of wearing apparel belonging to the members of her family. She has some very interesting relics in her possession now, though a great many of them were destroyed and stolen during the late war. Mrs. Nicholson has two calico dresses that were worn by her mother when she was a little girl, more than a hundred years ago. The dresses are made of imported French calico, and the colors seem to be as bright and new and the cloth as strong as it was when the dresses were first made.

The heavy rain last week caused Little Bigby Creek to get on quite a boom for several hours. Considerable damage was done to the fence and other property, belonging to W. J. Guest, which is used by him as a slaughter-house.

The West End weather prophet, after a very successful career of several years, has at last been knocked completely out by the elements refusing to comply with his predictions. He has resigned his commission to Cal Morgan and the ground hog, who will continue business at the old stand and will be delighted to give any information on the weather to those who may call on them for advice.

E. W. Carmack, editor of the Memphis Commercial, was a resident of West End several years ago and he has a great many warm personal friends in this part of the city as well as all over the county, who are proud of him, not only because of the bold stand he has taken against the law-breakers of the "Bluff City," but for the fearlessness with which he has always defended what he thought was right and condemned the wrong, no matter who it hurt.

The moral element of Memphis ought to congratulate themselves on having such an editor at the head of their leading daily paper as editor Carmack.

The Commercial has become quite popular with the people of Columbia since Ed Carmack has been at the head of it. It has quite a number of subscribers here, and would have a great many more if arrangements could be made by which it could reach here the same day it is published. W. B. K.

In the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court reached the Maury County criminal docket last Monday, and the cases from our court were disposed of as follows:

State vs. Joe Gremsted, appeal dismissed and remanded for judgment; State vs. Norman Armstrong and Clifton Harris, affirmed; State vs. Moses Davis, affirmed; State vs. John Robinson, alias Henry Battle, appeal dismissed and remanded for judgment; State vs. Dennis Vaughn, heard; State vs. Andrew Cox, reversed and nollid; State vs. Wes Hunter, alias Jones, heard; State vs. Sam Ridley, heard.

John Robinson, Wes Hunter, Sam Ridley, Andrew Cox and Dennis Vaughn, all of them colored except the last mentioned, were before the Court. Sheriff Ragsdale took them to Nashville Wednesday morning.

On Tuesday the following opinions were rendered as to those of the defendants whose cases were not disposed of Monday.

Wesley Hunter, colored, vs. State. The defendant was convicted of assault, etc., and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. When the case was called the defendant made affidavit that he could prove material facts by an absent witness, Wm. Edmonds, and for this reason asked for a continuance, which was refused. The Court thought this was a case where a continuance should have been granted, and for this reason reversed the judgment and remanded the case.

Sam Ridley vs. State. Ridley was indicted for larceny and receiving stolen property. The prosecutor's wife lost a $20 bill and it was found by two women and after the prosecutor had demanded its return and the women refused they were arrested. Later Ridley was arrested and the money found in his possession. He was convicted and sentenced to four months in the work-house. The proof showed that Ridley knew the owner of the money and the verdict was affirmed.

Dennis Vaughn vs. State. Vaughn and two others were charged with burglary. Vaughn was convicted upon the evidence of one of his accomplices. The court thought this was not sufficiently corroborative to warrant a conviction and reversed the judgment.

We are agents for Fleischmann's compressed yeast and grandpas wonder soap. E. W. GAMBLE GROCERY CO. Mr. Jas. A. Smiser spent Wednesday morning burning city warrants. He kept the stove at the City Hall hot with them and never stopped until he had destroyed fifteen or twenty thousand dollars worth of them. It is proper to say, however, that these were cancelled warrants, and that he destroyed them by the authority of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, of which he is a prominent member.

Rev. R. G. Irvine is thought to be gradually sinking. Very little hope of his recovery is entertained.

Mr. Geo. N. Sarven, who has established a racket store at Pulaski, was in Columbia Sunday. He says he is selling goods faster than he can get them shipped to him. The Mt. Pleasant Orphanage.

The trustees of the property known as the Mt. Pleasant Female College, at Mt. Pleasant, have agreed to convey it to the Presbyterian Synod of Tennessee for an Orphan Asylum. There is a house and an acre or so of ground to which it is expected to add more land. The Synod will take the property and spend several thousand dollars in improving it. There seems some doubt, however, whether the present trustees, under the terms of their trust, have a right to convey the property for any other than educational purposes. The legislature will, therefore, be asked to pass an act divesting the title to the property out of the present trustees and investing it in the proper officers of the Synod. The change would be of great benefit to Mt. Pleasant and there is no doubt that it will be made.

For the Good of Others

Rev. Mr. Williams heartily endorses Hood's Sarsaparilla.

We are pleased to present this from Rev. A. A. Williams, of the Silas street Christian Church, Lynn, Mass.:

"I see no reason why a clergyman, more than a layman, who knows whereof he speaks, should hesitate to approve an Article of Merit and worth, from which he or his family have been signally benefited, and whose commendation may serve to extend those benefits to others by increasing their confidence. My wife has for many years been a sufferer from severe Nervous Headache for which she found little help. She has tried many things that promised well but formed little. Last fall a friend gave her a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It seems surprising what simply one bottle could do for her. The attacks of headache decreased in number and were less violent in their intensity, while her general health has been improved. Her appetite has also been better. From our experience with Hood's Sarsaparilla I have no hesitation in endorsing its merits."
