

TO OUR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS.

We take pleasure in announcing that our great

FALL OPENING

Will soon take place. Watch for the dates, for we intend this opening to surpass all others.

Our Mrs. Williamson Is now East, and will soon return with a stock of MILLINERY, that we warrant will please any lady in Columbia.

Mr. T. C. PETRI

Is also in the Eastern markets, and new goods are arriving daily. We have already received some handsome Woolen Dress Goods for the early fall, which are selling very rapidly. Our line of for Ladies, Misses, and Children, is now complete, and you can go nowhere and get as nice a Shoe for as little money as you can get from us.

CUSTOM-MADE SHOES

New Dress Goods, New Trimmings, New Millinery for the Opening which will take place soon at the

TradePalace

T. C. PETRI, Proprietor.

OUR CORRESPONDENTS. CRANFORD HOLLOW.

CRANFORD HOLLOW, Sept. 7.—On last Thursday morning, September 2, the dark Angel of death entered the home of Mr. Jack James and bore away his spirit. He had been sick for only a few days, when an Allwise Father called him to a home where there will be no more sickness nor sorrow. He leaves a wife and six children and a host of friends and relatives to mourn his untimely death. Mr. James had been a member of the Christian church for a number of years, and led a noble, christian life. He will not only be missed in his own home, but his church has lost a noble man. He was a dear, loving companion, a kind father and a good neighbor. He always had a smile for every one he met and was ever ready to lend a helping hand to those in need. It is indeed hard to part from those that are so dear to us, but God knows best. Funeral services were conducted by Bro. F. C. Sowell at Corinth, and the remains were laid to rest near Bryant Station.

W. T. Wilkes and A. S. Derryberry, under the firm name of Wilkes & Derryberry, are now fully equipped and ready for business as undertakers. Location in the Bethel Block on Garden street.

CULLEOKA, Sept. 7, 1897.—After a long silence, we come again with greetings to our HERALD band, and thanks to the magnanimous editor for the kind remembrance on reunion day. It was with many regrets that we had to deny ourselves the pleasure of being with you on that happy day. We did the next best thing and sent you a most charming woman instead; one who was interestingly entertained and in very profuse in her compliments of our kind and courteous editor.

HERALD folk, you will see she is very far West. She has promised in her own mind to send you a letter. [We hope she will. Ed.] We both congratulated ourselves on having a new correspondent from Culleoka to give us the odds during her absence. "No Name" writes news-letters. He must come up into the heart of the town and give us some social items. When he was a lad it was predicted that journalism would be his forte. We do not like him, but we must give us another name, dear Tom. Let it be a significant one, worthy of the years and honors to come. Mr. Tom Peebles, son of Rev. W. R. Peebles, was married Sept. 2 to Miss Louie Harris, near Belfast, Bedford county. He goes this week to take charge of a school in Southern Texas. We wish them much happiness and prosperity. Prof. Graham opened school at the new Academy building Tuesday, with forty pupils. This is a first class preparatory school. Mr. Graham is a scholar, a disciplinarian and a Christian gentleman above criticism. Culleoka is fortunate in securing teachers for her public and private schools. May they move onward, despite poetry or prose. A protracted meeting is in progress at the Methodist Church. Dr. Kelly and Rev. Carroll, of Fayetteville, will assist the pastor. Brother Johnston began the services last Sunday with an appropriate sermon. Miss Brownie Tomlinson sang a beautiful solo, "One Day Nearer Home." Miss Virginia Tomlinson goes to Ennis, Texas, this week to take her position as teacher in the public school, a position she has held for two years. Our farmers are sighing for rain. They are grateful for past blessings and ask for more. It would be a pleasure to keep in touch with the correspondents of "Our Paper," but it cannot be. Our wise editor wants crisp, newsy letters for his long be remembered and often referred to as one of the brightest in memory's tablet. I think the entire HERALD family enjoyed the trip, but none more than you, and now again let us return our thanks. We are sorry to report Mrs. J. H. Courtney but little improved. Her condition at present excites deepest interest among her many friends. Mrs. John Sowell, who has been quite sick, we are glad to say is very much improved. Rev. J. F. Tinnon is at present visiting relatives and friends at this place. Mr. Tinnon was once the pastor here. Mr. G. B. Arthur, of Shellman, Ga., has been with C. A. Wright this week, and purchased some stock from some of our farmers. J. F. Beckett, accompanied by Miss Emma and little Jimmie Beckett, visited Esq. Holden's family yesterday. Miss Emma will remain a few days in the village. The sad news has just reached us of the death of Mrs. Maggie Orr, of Mt. Pleasant. We remember her affectionately as Miss Maggie Jones, a bright, Garwood's Sarsaparilla—for the blood—guaranteed to cure. A. B. RAINE. BIGBYVILLE.

BIGBYVILLE, Sept. 7.—Expressions of appreciation are due our kind editor, and we hasten to send our thanks to show him how much we did appreciate his kindness last Saturday. The day will long be remembered and often referred to as one of the brightest in memory's tablet. I think the entire HERALD family enjoyed the trip, but none more than you, and now again let us return our thanks. We are sorry to report Mrs. J. H. Courtney but little improved. Her condition at present excites deepest interest among her many friends. Mrs. John Sowell, who has been quite sick, we are glad to say is very much improved. Rev. J. F. Tinnon is at present visiting relatives and friends at this place. Mr. Tinnon was once the pastor here. Mr. G. B. Arthur, of Shellman, Ga., has been with C. A. Wright this week, and purchased some stock from some of our farmers. J. F. Beckett, accompanied by Miss Emma and little Jimmie Beckett, visited Esq. Holden's family yesterday. Miss Emma will remain a few days in the village. The sad news has just reached us of the death of Mrs. Maggie Jones, a bright, golden-haired school-mate of other days, and we extend our sympathies to the bereaved ones. Miss Laura Owens, who has been spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. E. M. Pender, left for her home in Alabama last Friday. Miss Laura made many friends while here, who regret to give her up, and indulge in the hope that she will again lend her charms to Bigbyville at some future day. Mrs. James Burkett and children, after a pleasant visit to relatives here, returned to their home at Springfield last Saturday. Mrs. Anna G. Adkisson went down to Primms last week to remain several days before returning to Memphis. With best wishes, we remain the HERALD's friends, ELVIRA AND REPORTER.

MELANGE. Nonsense and News, Odds and Ends, Wise and Otherwise.

Happy is he whose sweetheart is wife and sweetheart still— Whose voice as of old can charm; Whose kiss as of old can thrill.

Ethel: "Papa, does God tell you what to write in your sermon?" Papa: "Yes, my dear." Ethel: "Then why do you scratch out so much?" Papa (after a pause): "To please your mother."—Truth.

"And now, little children," said the Sunday-school superintendent, if you are good children, some day you may wear a golden crown." "Paw's got one on his tooth now," chirped the smallest and newest boy.—Christian Work.

A Chicago man by the name of Bates is married to seven wives, and yet they are trying to punish him some more.

Aunt—Well, Bobby, what do you want to be when you grow up? Bobby (suffering from parental discipline)—An orphan.—London Tit-Bits.

Happiness and misery are heart qualities and are not dependent on surrounding circumstances. There are people who can extract happiness apparently out of misery, and there are others who always are unhappy though their surroundings are all that the wealth of this world can give.

Professor of English Literature (to modern young man)—How would you punctuate this sentence: "The beautiful girl for such she was rode out into the night on her bicycle?" Student—I think, professor, I would make a dash after the beautiful girl.—Tid-Bits.

This saying of Stevenson's is to grace his monument in San Francisco: "To earn a little, to spend a little less, to be honest, to be kind, to keep a few friends, and to these without capitulation." It comes from his "Christian Sermon."

A PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION. An Incident of a Trip to Washington Many Years Ago.

An old timer was in a reminiscent mood after a trip to Washington, and among other things recited the following incident, which could possibly occur in no other country on the globe, and which seems to show the fervor of a most fervid race and gives an insight into President Andrew Johnson's character as a man such as could not be found in a dozen histories of the man who held every elective office in the power of our sovereign people, from constable of Columbia, Tenn., to president of the United States: "It was just following the impeachment trial," said the narrator, "when Mr. Johnson was making his grand tour of the country. His party put up at the Spencer House, which was then a swell hotel. When the presidential party were leaving the Spencer, the carriages were driven from the hotel entrance across to the east side of Broadway, and it chanced that the one in which Mr. Johnson and Secretary Stanton were seated pulled up in front of general Ed Quinton's railroad hotel, then at Front and Broadway, but now, like poor Ed, no more.

"At that time an old Irishman named Kennedy, nicknamed 'the Democrat,' was employed as houseman at Quinton's, and chanced to be standing at the front door with the youth who was at once clerk and bookkeeper of the railroad. "Wurra, who's the little fat fellow they're all shakin hands wat? asked old Kennedy of the clerk.

"President Andy Johnson," was the reply. "Andy Johnson, the rale out an out president himself, 'om Washington?" "The same."

"Do you think could I shake?" "You can."

"Taking off his battered old hat and producing from it a yard square red handkerchief, with which he mopped his face and wiped his hands, he approached the presidential carriage, which was an open one. When there, he placed his hat firmly between his knees, spat on his hands, extended the right and exclaimed: "Wisha, how are ye, Andy, my dacent onid Democrat?"

DISASTROUS WRECK. Many Killed and Wounded in a Collision on the Santa Fe Road.

Hon. W. J. Bryan Was a Passenger on One of the Trains, and Assisted in Caring for the Dead and Wounded.

EMPORIA, KAN., Sept. 8.—At least twelve men were killed and ten or a dozen injured in a collision on the Santa Fe Road to-night between the fast mail going east and the Mexico & California train going west. Hon. W. J. Bryan was a passenger on the west-bound train, but was in the rear car, probably 400 feet from where the wreck occurred. Mr. Bryan was one of the most active men in the crowd of rescuers. He helped go through the wreck, braving the most terrible dangers and assisting in carrying out most of the dead and wounded men and paying the greatest attention to their care. His cool head was valuable in pointing out dangers and directing how to avoid them.

One man who was badly wounded called for Bryan and said: "I want to hear you speak to-day; am dying now, and I want to shake your hand now and say God bless you. If you possibly can, Mr. Bryan, get me a drink of water."

Mr. Bryan went into the fast mail car, the end of which was burning, and secured him the desired drink of water. He then went into a car and brought out a cushion seat to make a pillow for another dying man. He was everywhere and assisting everybody, and was perfectly cool during all the terrible scenes.

The train must have been running at the rate of at least forty miles an hour. The conductor and brakemen were getting their lanterns ready for Emporia, which was three miles off. There was no warning signal. The westbound train was going around a slight curve and met the fast mail. The three engines, jammed together by the mighty impact, exploded instantly, tearing a hole in the track so deep that the smoking cars of the westbound train went on top of the wreck of three engines, and the two mail cars balanced there without turning over.

To add to the general confusion and panic, the lights in all the cars went out. They soon filled with smoke and the peculiar odor arising from the pouring of water on hot cylinders half choked the passengers as they fought their way out in the darkness.

The wreck was caused by the mis-carriage orders from the trainmaster. The conductor and engineer of the eastbound train were ordered to Emporia to meet and pass the westbound train at Lang's, about seven miles east. An order sent to the conductor of the westbound train for him to wait there, was not delivered. He supposed he was to pass at Emporia. The train was hurrying on to Emporia, the other to Lang and made full speed on the main line.

Stretchers were improvised and as the dead and wounded were taken from the debris they were passed down from the top of the ruins by a string of men, who worked nobly. Some of the sights were terrible to witness. William Frisby, the engineer of the fast mail, whose residence is at Topeka, was conscious until he died. He said: "I did not see the other train until I came upon it. I turned on the air brakes and jumped. I want you to leave me and help the victims, who were more fortunate than me."

Try Electric Bitters as a remedy for your troubles. If not, get a bottle now and get relief. This medicine has been found to be peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all faming complaints, exerting a wonderful direct influence in giving strength and tone to the organs. If you have loss of appetite, constipation, headache, fainting spells, or are nervous, sleepless, excitable, melancholy or troubled with dizziness, try Electric Bitters; the medicine you need. Health and strength are guaranteed by its use. Fifty cents and $1. at Woldridge & Irvine's Drug Store. June 15, 1897.

Bicycle Dictionary. Century. The distance made in one day by an imaginative rider when riding alone. (See liar and cyclistometer.) Cranks. (1) Supposedly steel rods which refuse to move when desired, and vice versa. (2) All persons who ride wheels.

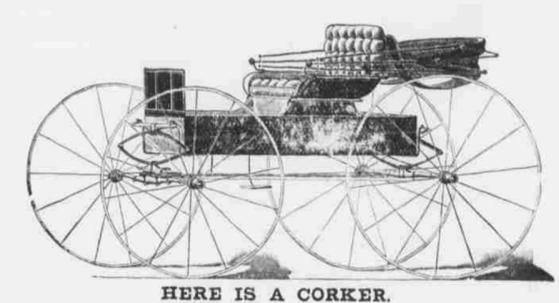

Cyclometer. A small instrument operated by turning machines upside down and revolving front wheel rapidly with hand. (See Fake.) Dismount. To sever connection with wheel; may be done in several ways.

Expert. One who is able to scare a pedestrian to death by coming within one-eleventh of an inch of him without hitting him, instead of running into him and killing him at once. Fake. An unreliable or untrue statement. (See Century or Cyclometer.) Handlebars. Pieces of steel or wood used by beginners for testing and by experts for showing skill by letting them alone.

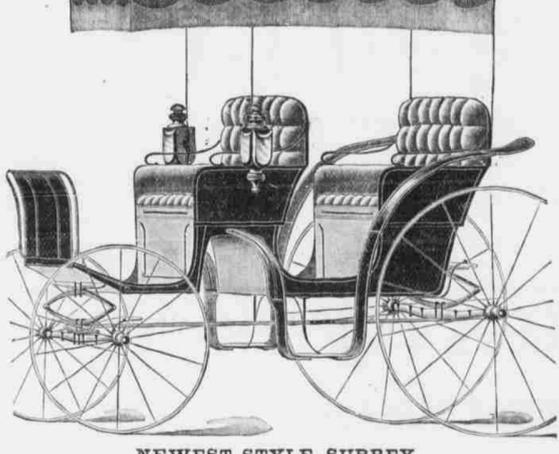

Heretic. Anyone who rides a different make of wheel from one's own. Liar. (See Century and Cranks, also Heretic.) Pedals. Two steel devices attached to cranks in form of a puzzle; the object being to keep on both at once. Saddle. Something probably invented by druggists to boom the sale of arnica.

Scorecher. A hump-backed, bulging-eyed creature, who says "Steady-y-y" and would wear his sweater to suicide if he ever went there. Tandem. A device to enable a man to tell if his best girl's back hair is her own or not; a sort of pleasure conveyance for ladies. Tire. A rubber thing which is the best in the market and bursts nineteen miles from the nearest repair shop.—New York Truth.

Fine CARRIAGES.

HERE IS A CORKER.

NEWEST STYLE SURREY.

For spring of 1897 we offer you the finest line of vehicles we have ever brought to Columbia. For fine and medium work we know we can please you. We have in the such up-to-date goods as the Evans Two Horse Corn Planter, Monitor Cultivator, Imperial Disc and Smoothing Harrows, Imperial Plows and Land Rollers.

IMPLEMENT LINE

We buy and sell field seeds and grain. It's a pleasure to show goods. Come and see us!

SATTERFIELD & DODSON.

Non-Resident Notice. Non-Resident Notice.

CLERK AND MASTER'S OFFICE, Sept. 10, 1897. MAURY COUNTY Building and Loan Association, Complainant, vs. B. F. Moore et al., Defendant. It appearing from affidavit filed in this cause, that the defendant, Minor C. Akin, is a non-resident of the State of Tennessee. It is therefore ordered that he enter his appearance herein, before or within the first three days of the next term of the Chancery Court, to be held at Columbia, on the 2nd Monday in October next, 1897, and plead, answer or demur to complainant's bill, or the same will be taken for confessed as to him and set for hearing ex parte; and that a copy of this order be published for four consecutive weeks in the Columbia Herald. A Copy—Attest: A. N. AKIN, Clerk & Master. W. S. Fleming, Sol'r for Compl't. sep10 4t

LAND SALE.

Hannah J. Dunhill, et al., Ex'trs, vs. T. E. Lipscomb, et al. In Chancery Court at Columbia, Tennessee. In obedience to a decree of the Chancery Court at Columbia, made at the April term, 1897, at page 192, in the above styled case, I will, on Saturday, the 24 day of October, 1897, in front of the court-house door in Columbia, Tenn., sell to the highest and best bidder, the property in said decree described, lying and being in the Ninth Civil District of Maury County, Tennessee, in the city of Columbia, Tenn., beginning at a point on the west line of South Main street in said city of Columbia, at the north-east corner of the lot of Eliza M. Frierson; thence northwardly along said west line of South Main street 100 feet to a stake, James Andrews' S. E. corner; thence westwardly along said James Andrews' south line 150 feet to a stake; thence southwardly 105 feet to a stake; thence eastwardly with said Frierson's north boundary line 150 feet to the place of beginning, together with all the improvements contained thereon. Said sale will be made for cash, free from the equity of redemption. This the 10th day of September, 1897. A. N. AKIN, C & M. E. H. Hatcher, Solicitor. 9 10 4t

Professor Drummond's Last Days.

The last days of Professor Drummond seem to have been extremely pathetic. He was quite helpless and had to be wheeled about in a bath chair. Only when visited by intimate friends and old colleagues did he manifest any of his buoyant spirit and sparkling wit. His old friends, Professor G. A. Smith and Dr. Stalker, were very attentive to him. When the latter was leaving him on the occasion of his last visit, Drummond gave the doctor a portrait of himself seated in the bath chair, under which he had written "The Descent of Man." The patnos of these words affected the doctor deeply.—Christian Commonwealth.

LAND SALE.

L. P. Padgett, Trustee, vs. Mrs. Flora D. Kuhn, et al. In Chancery Court at Columbia, Tennessee. In obedience to a decree of the Chancery Court at Columbia, made at the August special term, 1897, at page 234, in the above-styled case, I will, in front of the court-house door, in Columbia, Tennessee, on Monday, September 27, 1897, sell to the highest and best bidder, all the right, title, claim, interest and estate of the defendants, Mrs. Flora D. Kuhn, M. S. Kuhn, Miss Flora Kuhn, and Mrs. Irene Ingram in and to the following described property to-wit: situated in the Ninth civil district of Maury County Tennessee, and bounded as follows: Lot No. 1. Situated on the corner of West Seventh and High streets, in Columbia, and bounded north by West seventh street; east by George Childress' home place; south by Mrs. W. H. Brown; west by High street, fronting 100 feet on West 7th street, and 200 feet on High street. Lot No. 2. Known as the Kuhn & Turpin Carriage Factory property and bounded on the north by East seventh street and Mrs. John T. Tucker; East by Mrs. John T. Tucker and Glad situated south by Mrs. Julia Brown and colored Baptist Church lot, and west by an alley.

Lot No. 3. Two tenement houses in South Columbia, on south side of 11th street, formerly conveyed to Kuhn & Turpin by deed of James H. Jamison, recorded in book W, vol. 2, page 24 of the Register's office, Maury County, Tennessee, to which deed reference is made for metes and bounds. Said lots will be sold on a credit of one and two years, except one-third, which will be required in cash on day of sale. Sale free from the right and equity of redemption. Notes bearing interest from the date of sale will be required of the purchaser, with good personal security, and lien retained upon the property so to secure payment of the purchase money notes. This August 26th, 1897. A. N. AKIN, C & M. Figuers & Padgett, Sol'rs. 8 27 4t

Subscribe for the Herald.