MT. JOY AND MACEDONIA.

MT. JOY AND MACEDONIA, May 15.—It is our sad duty to chronicle the death of our dear uncle, Marshall M. Ledbetter, which occurred at his home on the evening of the 7th inst., at 4:30 o'clock. He had been a great sufferer for three long weary years, having had several strokes of paralysis. We feel confident that he is now resting in a home where no more pain or sorrow is felt. He was born in 1841 in Marshall county and spent the greater part of his life there. He professed faith in Christ when 18 years of age, and joined the M. E. Church, in which he lived a consistent member. Nothing but sickness ever prevented him from attending divine worship. He leaves a broken-hearted wife, two daughters, one son, four brothers and one sister to mourn his loss. His remains were laid to rest at Pisgah burying-ground, after a beautiful and impressive talk by Rev. M. Grimes. Dear children, it was hard to give father up, but prepare to meet him in the bright beyond. All pains are over now and he is happy in Heaven above.

Mrs. Mary E. Joyce, of Lewisburg, was called to attend the funeral of her brother.

Marsh. M. Ledbetter returned home Wednesday.

Mrs. A. R. Ledbetter is in feeble health.

Mrs. Lizzie Sims and daughter Sue continue on the pony list.

Sorry to report Mrs. Ann Williams suffering with the grip.

Mrs. Bettie Johnson is visiting relatives in Alabama.

Mr. John Weaver, of Mt. Pleasant, has moved his saw mill to this place and it will be in running operation in a short time. Mr. Weaver has one in running operation on the head of the creek only three miles from this place, with a saw at the head waters of the creek and one at the mouth.

Gardens are looking well, and wheat is fine. Farmers are behind with their corn crop; there never was a better prospect for fruit than now.

Rattle snakes are very numerous, and there have been several killed here. Mrs. Hiram Hays killed the largest, it having fourteen rattles.

Preaching and Sunday-school at the regular hour next Sunday. We don't hear any thing said about Children's Day. What is the reason?

Mrs. John Epperson and children of Nashville, are visiting his sister, Mrs. Burton Dalton.

On last Tuesday morning May 8 death's angel came into our midst and claimed for its own, Mr. Uriah Galaway. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. A. Gray at his home, after which the remains were laid to rest near his home. He was 79 years and nine months of age. Truly, a good man has gone from our midst. He will be greatly missed and no one can ever fill his vacant place in this sad home. But, dear wife and children, "weep not,

HOTEL DESTROYED.

Two Persons Killed, One Missing and Fifteen Injured in a Fire in Chicago.

FIVE OF THE LATTER LIKELY TO DIE.

Many Daring Escapes and Narrow Escapes, in Which a Porter Proved Himself to Be a Hero.

There Being But One Exit From the Building Many of the Guests Got Out Through the Windows.

Chicago, May 17.—Two persons were killed, one is missing and 15 were injured in a fire which early Wednesday morning destroyed the Hotel Helene, at 110 to 114 Fifty-third street. Five of the injured will probably die.

The dead: Charlotte Peterson, dining room girl; found in her room burned to a crisp. Lena —, surname unknown to police; found burned almost beyond recognition in the room with Miss Peterson.

The missing: —Patterson, man, last seen in hotel office at 11 o'clock Tuesday night.

The seriously injured: W. E. Hornell, burned about face and hands and body, leg broken; will die. S. C. McHaddin, flesh partly burned from body; will die. E. E. Tarbut, burned about body, recovery doubtful. Elizabeth Florence, internally injured and skull fractured; unconscious; recovery doubtful. E. B. Allen, both ankles sprained and internally injured; jumped from third-story window.

Mrs. T. D. Allen, back broken and internally injured; jumped from third-story window; will die. Miss Helen Joseph, badly bruised and overcome by smoke. Stella Neilowski, chambermaid, jumped from first floor; overcome by smoke and injured internally. L. J. McNeil, porter, burned about face. Miss Sarah Hutchinson, a high school teacher, injured in falling from second-story floor. James Costin, fireman, cut by falling glass. Mrs. Bruce and baby, overcome by smoke. Thomas Morgan (policeman, back injured. Mrs. Adelia Lawson, badly bruised.

The loss to the building and furnishings were $40,000.

The destruction of the hotel was replete with daring rescues and narrow escapes, in which James McNeil, the porter, earned himself the title of hero. He was the first to warn the sleeping occupants of their danger. He carried Helen Joseph down a swaying ladder from the third floor, and then, amid the cheers of the on-lookers, returned to the second floor where a woman was laying unconscious, her clothing on fire. He carried her to the window and dropped her into the arms of Policeman Wolf. The effort and the heat were too much for McNeil, and he staggered back into the smoke. The people below thought he was lost. A policeman mounted the shoulders of a brother officer, and clambering over the window ledge, caught McNeil by the foot and dragged him from the room. McNeil was passed down to the ground and soon recovered consciousness.

The rescue of a woman and her baby aroused the enthusiasm of the crowds. Mrs. Bruce, with one arm around her infant child, was clinging with the other arm to the ledge of a second-story window. Smoke was pouring out in smothering clouds and Mrs. Bruce seemed on the point of falling. Her fingers were relaxing when suddenly three policemen, carrying a blanket held taut among them, rushed into the flames, which were then darting from the basement windows, just in time to catch the woman and her child in safety. Mrs. Bruce was badly burned, but had succeeded in protecting her baby, so that not one hair of its head had been burned.

There were many other narrow escapes and exhibitions of courage during the burning of the structure. As there was but one exit from the building the greater number of the guests were compelled to get out as best they could through windows.

W. T. Morrow, a farmer whose home is in Columbia, Tenn., owes his escape to his horror of fires. He was living at the hotel while undergoing medical treatment and always had a rope under his pillow. When the alarm was sounded he grasped his Bible in one hand and with the other clashed around the rope, which he made fast to his bed, lowered himself to the ground.

Police, firemen and spectators united in one voice in praising the porter, McNeil. He was formerly a gunner in the English navy on board the battleship Deadweight and holds medals for marksmanship and proficiency in drilling. He took part in the Jameson raid and it was while in South Africa that the illness which compelled him to secure a discharge came upon him.

A CORRECTION.

Editor Herald:—The following, which upon inquiry we learn from you was handed in with a request for publication, by Dr. L. E. Haggard, appeared in the DAILY HERALD of April 13th, 1900:

Medical Society Does Not Approve.

The following resolution was introduced by Dr. T. J. Hoppel and passed unanimously, by the State Medical Society at Knoxville, April 11:

RESOLVED: That this Society does not approve of the prosecution of Dr. Sheddian in the Criminal Court, by the health officials of Murray county, in the recent epidemic for the failure to report cases of so-called small pox.

D. E. MASON, Pres.
W. D. HAGGARD, JR., Sec.

This resolution was overwhelmingly rescinded on the morning of the 12th of April.

As might that Dr. Sheddian notified Dr. Haggard immediately on the passage of this resolution, still there was ample time for him to have notified Dr. Haggard of its reversal before its publication on the 13th. As he did not correct it before its publication and has not corrected it since, he evidently wishes it believed that the State Medical Society endorsed him; the truth is, it repudiated the resolution without ceremony.

The following facts appear in a copy of the minutes of the State Medical Society. This copy has just been received from the President and Secretary of the State Society, by whom it is duly signed:

Late in the evening session of the 11th, when but few members were present, the resolution in question having been previously prepared, was introduced and rushed through without discussion.

The very next morning, upon the reassembling of the society, when the passage of said resolution appeared from the reading of the minutes, a storm of protests arose as the members realized that during their absence the evening before they had been imposed upon. A motion was instantly made and carried to reconsider the resolution. After a sharp criticism of the manner of its passage, the resolution was again voted to the house, and was defeated by a vote of twenty seven against it and nine for it. Dr. Sheddian was present at both sessions of the Society while this resolution was being considered, and is consequently aware that the resolution as published is exactly the opposite of the truth.

H. C. WILSON HURT.

Found Unconscious on a Street at Jackson.

A telephone message was received here Wednesday morning, stating that Mr. Henry C. Wilson, a former merchant of this city, had been found on a street at Jackson, Tenn., his present home, in an unconscious condition, with a severe gash on his head and two ribs broken. It is presumed that he was assaulted by someone for the purpose of robbery. His mother, Mrs. Hamilton, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Wilkins, left Wednesday evening to attend his bedside. She was accompanied by Mr. Ashby Wilkins.
