An Old Ballad.

When the Confederate Gen. Kirky Smith invaded northern Kentucky, John Uri Lloyd, in common with several other villagers, stood in front of the grocery pictured in his book, "Stringtown on the Pike," a group of Morgan's cavalymen awaiting orders being the attraction. During the interval one of the party struck up a song beginning "Oh, yes, I am a Southern Girl," the others joining in the chorus. Wishing to incorporate it in "Stringtown," the ballad was sought, but without avail. Finally memory was trusted for the two verses recorded in the book. Subsequently, however, Prof. Lloyd made a printed request, under date of Jan. 5, 1901, for the full poem and the name of its author, offering a reward of $100 to the person first to supply the ballad and the correct name of the author. Unexpectedly, the offer resulted in a mass of correspondence and of a number of claimants for the honor of authorship. In this dilemma a second offer of $50 was made for the indisputable establishment of the author's name to the satisfaction of a committee composed of three judges of the Cincinnati court, who kindly consented to act.

The result, as pronounced by the judges, is as follows: "The ballad and the correct name of the author were first given by William J. Bryan, No. 1113 St. Gregory street, Mt. Adams, Cincinnati; received Jan. 5, 1901 8:40 p.m., delivered personally, award, $100.

"The first person giving uncontested proof of the authorship supplied by the above correspondent, was Charles W. Hubner, Carnegie library, Atlanta, Ga.; received Feb. 16, 1901, award, $50.

"The total number of correspondents in this contest is over 400. The names of forty-eight different authors were presented, of whom thirty-two could be ruled out at once. As to the remaining sixteen, unimpeachable evidence gives the credit of authorship to Miss Carire Bell Sinclair, of Savannah, Ga. This name in connection with the ballad was first given by Mr. Bryan. The conclusive evidence was supplied by a sister of the author.

The correct form of the Homespun Dress is:

Oh, yes, I am a southern girl,
And glory in the name,
And boast it with far greater pride
Than glittering wealth or fame.
I envy not the northern girl
Her robes of beauty rare,
Though diamonds grace her snowy neck,
And pearls bedeck her hair.

Chorus:
Hurrah! Hurrah!
For the sunny south so dear!
Three cheers for the homespun dress
Our southern ladies wear.

My homespun dress is plain, I know,
My hat's palmetto, too;
But then it shows what southern girls
For southern rights will do.
We scorn to wear a bit of silk,
A bit of not-there lace,
But make our homespun dresses up,
And wear them with such grace.

Chorus.

Now, northern goods are out of date,
And since Old Abe's blockade,
We southern girls can be content
With goods that's southern made.
The southland is a glorious land,
And hers a glorious cause.
Then here's three cheers for southern rights,
And for the southern boys!

Chorus.

We send the bravest of our land
To battle with the foe,
And we should lend a helping hand—
We love the south, you know—
We send our sweethearts to the war;
But, dear girls, never mind—
Your soldier love will not forget
The girl he left behind.

Chorus.

A soldier is the lad for me—
A brave heart I adore,
And when the sunny south is free,
And fighting is no more,
I'll choose me then a lover brave,
From out that gallant band;
The soldier lad I love the best,
Shall have my heart and hand.

Chorus.

And now, young men, a word to you:
If you would win the fair,
Go to the field where honor calls,
And win your lady there.
Remember that our brightest smiles
Are for the true and brave,
And that our tears fall for the one
Who fills a soldier's grave.

Exciting Accident.

Nashville, July 12.—Street car No. 269 on the West Nashville line jumped the track at the west end of the Church-street viaduct yesterday afternoon a few minutes after 6 o'clock. The car carried a trailer and about seventy-five passengers. It was the most exciting street car accident that has occurred in Nashville during the past year. Four people sustained painful injuries, and all of the passengers were given a severe shake-up. That there were no fatalities seems extraordinary. The car and trailer crashed into the railing of the viaduct, and came near hurling their burden of human freight into the opening over Church street.

MANY RESIDENTS
of our city are thoroughly acquainted with and know of miraculous cures that Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup has made. In other nearby towns and in the whole South it is a tonic to the entire human system, building it up and energizing it. The liver is the greatest blood cleaning organ of the human body. When working as Nature intended, it should, it removes all excess excretions. It performs the double office of separating impurities from the blood and secreting a very necessary fluid, the bile. When the functions of the liver become impaired the poisonous products are retained in the system and promote the gravest maladies, biliousness, insomnia, dizziness, vertigo and nervous debility. If these diseases are not promptly and carefully looked after they become chronic and difficult to cure. It is of vital importance that you give immediate heed to any warning of trouble, such as headache, nausea, yellow complexion, constipation, pains under shoulder blades, coated tongue, sour stomach and diarrhea.

The only safe and sure way to keep the liver in a perfect and healthful condition is to use a remedy like Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup that goes right to the parts affected. This cure is natural and sure. Since 1853 Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup and Dr. Thacher's Liver Medicine (Lax) have been on the market. During this time thousands have been benefited by using them.

Besides affecting permanent cures for all Liver and Blood Diseases it acts as a tonic to the entire human system, building it up and energizing it. Thousands of voluntary testimonials ought to be reliable proof of our remedy. Don't forget to give it a trial. It costs 25 cents in dry form or 50 cents per bottle, liquid in our drugstore. If you want a trial, send us your name and address. We will send you a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by Woldridge, druggists. (1)

HELEN KELLER SPEAKS.

Born Deaf, Dumb and Sightless, She Has Gained the Use of Her Tongue.

Miss Helen Keller, the noted blind Radcliffe undergraduate, who is spending the summer in Nova Scotia, was one of the speakers at the commencement exercises of the Halifax Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, on last Saturday evening, says a Boston special to the Philadelphia Times. Miss Keller, who was born deaf, dumb and blind, has herself only recently acquired the use of her tongue. She said:

"Dear Friends—I am glad to be with you. I do not at all feel as if I were in a strange country, for I have been familiar with the name and story of Evangeline's land from earliest childhood, and when I knew that I was at last to visit Nova Scotia my heart overflowed with pleasure. This is one of the unexpected joys which meet us round the corner of the street of life. I do not know whether you understand what I am saying or not, but you must feel how glad I am to be here. I am deeply, earnestly interested in the condition of those who, like myself, cannot hear. I understand the peculiar difficulties and discouragements that beset their path—the obstacles that you must overcome before you can enter into your rightful opportunities. We can and must make them stepping stones to the attainment of your ideals. I think that we can accomplish anything that we undertake, if we earnestly persevere."

AN OLD PAPER.

Copy of the "Tennessee Democrat," Issued July 21, 1836.

The Herald has been loaned a very old copy of the "Tennessee Democrat," published at Columbia, the date of the issue being July 21, 1836. The paper is well preserved, notwithstanding that nearly three-quarters of a century has passed since it was printed.

The Democrat was a weekly paper, being "printed and published every Thursday by Bynum & Cameron, at $2.50 in advance, $3 within six months, and $5.00 at the end of the year." It was a six-column quarto.

The first page is given to an original poem "On the Death of James Madison," and a report of a public dinner to Gov. Clay of Alabama, taken from the Montgomery Advertiser.

At the head of the editorial column appears the Union Democratic ticket, headed by Martin Van Buren for President, and Richard M. Johnson for Vice-president, with the following motto: "Union—harmony—self-denial—concession—everything for the cause—nothing for the man."

On the third page is reproduced the act of the Legislature incorporating the Franklin and Columbia Turnpike Road Company. William P. Campbell, Benjamin S. Tappan and Robert Curran, of Williamson county; David Looney, James Walker and Edward Dale, of Maury county; and H. R. W. Hill, H. L. Douglass and Andrew Hynes of Davidson county, were named as commissioners to receive subscriptions for stock. William P. Campbell, Thomas Harding, William Fleming and John Watson of Williamson county; and William McKissack, Garrett L. Voorhies, John Smiser and Thomas Mahon of Maury county, were named as commissioners to designate the route of the road.

A letter from Gen. Houston states that "the Mexicans are entering Texas in great force." Gen. Houston calls on Gen. Duhalay and Texas volunteers "to hasten to his assistance; that the service of Texas presents a fair field for the acquirement of honor, fame and wealth."

Under the head of "Indian News," a letter from Montgomery, Ala. says: "Upwards of 1,500 hostile Creeks arrived in this town on yesterday, for the purpose of journeying west of the Mississippi, and are now encamped in the neighborhood of the steam mill, on the Alabama river. Among them are several noted chiefs, including Neah Emathia. They will wait here for a few days, waiting the arrival of steamboats to carry them to their place of destination. The spectacle exhibited by them was truly melancholy. To see the remnant of a once mighty people, fettered and chained together—forced to depart from the land of their fathers into an unknown country to them, is of itself sufficient to move the stoutest heart. We do trust that they will now find a resting place, where they can no longer be disturbed, and where they will be able to pursue their own customs and carry in to execution their own laws."

What a pathetic history is that of the red man!

Among the advertisements in the paper are those of the Columbia Female Institute, signed by A. O. Harris, Secretary; the Mt. Pleasant Male Academy, signed by Henry A. Miller, Secretary; the Pleasant Grove Academy; an advertisement of C. J. Sewell, offering $10 reward for the capture of a runaway negro woman named "River," and various legal notices.

The time card of the various coach lines between Columbia and Nashville, Columbia and Florence, and Columbia and Huntsville, is given a prominent position. Coaches are scheduled to leave Nashville every day at 3 a.m., arriving at Columbia the same day at 3 p.m. Coaches leave Columbia for Huntsville on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays at 4 p.m., arriving at Huntsville the next day at 9 p.m. At the head of "Stage Rules" the following notice is made: "Ladies and elderly gentlemen will be called for at their residences. All others are expected to take their seats at the Principal Hotels—and all baggage must be sent to the stage office." What a difference between the modes of transportation then and now!

A. T. Isom advises to sell his plantation containing 535 acres, with 150 acres cleared, and also "an excellent Saw and Grist Mill, Cotton Gin and Turning Lathe, propelled by water. He also advertises for sale another tract on Cathey's Creek, containing 200 acres, with about 30 acres cleared.

Notice is given to "all persons indebted to the late concern of L. Rhines & Co. to call at the store of Walker & Harris and make payment." "The business is dissolved in consequence of the absconding of L. Rhines, and must be immediately closed."

L. H. Duncan announces that he has purchased the stock of goods belonging to the late J. S. Walker, and "is selling at short profits for CASH, or on time to punctual men."

Bretney & Brodie were evidently firm believers in the efficacy of printer's ink, as they take nearly a column and a half in which to tell the public of their "superior assortment of Medicines, books and stationery." They state that they have "all medicines used in the practice of this country, the quality of which they humbly ask Physicians to call and examine."

Robert L. Caruthers and A. O. P. Nicholson advertise for proposals for publishing a new edition of the Statutes of Tennessee, stating that "a practice of several years at the bar has convinced them of the necessity of a work of this kind, on a plan somewhat new." This edition proved to be the best of its kind that day, and is still considered as good authority upon the laws for the period which it covers. A. O. P. Nicholson was afterwards elected United States Senator, and was Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Tennessee.

A. C. Hays, who was postmaster at Columbia at that time, publishes a long list of uncalled for letters, "which, if not taken out in three months, will be sent to the General Post Office as Dead Letters." Lists of uncalled for letters are also published by R. M. Cooper, postmaster at Mt. Pleasant; H. W. K. Wryck, postmaster at Mooresville; and J. O. Potter, postmaster at Spring Hill.

"UP ON THE MOUNTAIN TOP."

Monteagle, July 9.—Mr. A. W. Hawks, the popular lecturer, from Baltimore, who, while here last season enjoyed the jubilee songs sung by the negroes at their Sunday-school, has indited the following lines to these same singers, and they will be sung by them in grateful appreciation of the author's remembrance:

"UP ON THE MOUNTAIN TOP."
O the wind is sweet and the sun rides high,
Up on the mountain top,
At night the moon hangs in the sky,
Up on the mountain top.
Refrain—
On the mountain, on the mountain,
Up on the mountain top.
It won't be long ere we sing the new song,
Up on the mountain top.
The master went away to pray,
Up on the mountain top,
And we are praying day by day,
Up on the mountain top.

They came to the master one by one
Up on the mountain top.
"Blessed are ye" said the Blessed Son,
Up on the mountain top.
Down in the valley it's mighty sweet,
But up on the mountain top
We listen and pray at the Master's feet
Up on the mountain top.
Keep on singing, it won't be long,
Up on the mountain top.
We will join the blood-washed throng
Up on the mountain top.

What One Woman Thinks.

A woman who is popular with women is pretty sure to be popular with men.

The girl who is disrespectful to her mother is not apt to make a very successful wife.

Why is it that it always makes us mad to be reminded of faults we know we possess?

Some people's idea of administering consolation is to tell you "things have been a great deal worse."

A woman can always see something in the man who knows the chair in the parlor that never was intended to be sat upon.

A woman may wear a new dress a whole day without having a man say a word about it, but it makes him mad if she doesn't burst into encomiums the very minute she spies his new suit.

For Sale—a Fool.

Ernest Still of Glencoe, O. T., has offered for sale 3,000 tickets on himself as husband. He is selling the tickets at $5 each, and has already disposed of about 500. The tickets are being purchased by young women in the vicinity of Glencoe, who deem the chance an opportunity worth paying for. Still is a young clerk at Glencoe, and he says in explanation of his plan: "By selling 3,000 shares at $5 each it will bring to me $15,000, which is a sufficient sum of money to attract any young woman desirous of marrying. I may not get the prettiest girl in the country, but I will get one, I am sure, who is anxious to marry me. I sell numbers for $5, and agree when paid for the number to marry the holder of said number, provided she draws the lucky number at the raffle.

"I will have the raffling conducted on fair and square means, by parties entirely disinterested in it. Numbers from 1 to 3,000 will be placed in a box, and a blindfolded party will draw out one number. The girl holding the similar number shall become my wife. I will marry her as soon as she is ready. The money will be invested so as to support us handsomely. I shall take the bride on an extended wedding trip."

Still had a mania for raffling off things, and this suggested to him the novel plan of obtaining both wife and fortune. He is well known at Glencoe, and expects to complete the raffling scheme by August 1.

The Dreaded Charbon.

Negroes Die Of It—A Reign of Terror Exists.

Memphis, July 15.—The dreaded charbon, or anthrax, is causing almost a reign of terror in some districts of the delta.

The people of this district are just beginning to realize what the charbon scourge means. Every person who returns from a trip through the afflicted district brings back stories of great losses it has caused, and the fears it has inspired.

The disease is of the most virulent type. It is an epidemic that has destroyed thousands of horses, mules, cattle and sheep. The latest reports are to the effect that it is even killing chickens, hogs and cats.

Around Bolivar, in Bolivar County, the disease has already attacked human beings. Seven negroes who contracted anthrax while tending afflicted animals, have died. As a result of the mortality negroes refuse to go near afflicted animals, and in many cases refuse to do any plantation work at all, leaving the white men to perform all the tasks. The fear that has taken possession of the negro laborers makes it hard to dispose of the carcasses of animals that have died of the charbon.

Where the labor has not been alarmed the bodies of diseased animals are burned, and the smoke from the pyres upon which the carcasses of the animals are immolated can be seen in hundreds of places day and night, in Bolivar and Coshocta counties, where the mortality is greatest.

Shocked the Preacher Man.

Printers are not the only persons responsible for errors. La Loie Fuller, the originator of the serpentine evolution, when in London received a letter from a certain influential rector asking her to play at a charity bazaar, a particular pantomime sketch the rights of which the fair Loie had already disposed of. La Loie telegraphed to him expressing regret she had not the rights of the piece mentioned, but the feelings of the reverend recipient can be imagined better than described when he read the following message: "Sorry haven't any tights, but will do dance."

A Tear for a Pain

Only expectant mothers, or those who have borne children, know the full meaning of these words: "MOTHER'S FRIEND," that wonderful liniment that dispels all pain incident to childbirth. There is nothing like it.

JNO. S. MORTON, of Haverhill, N. C., says: "You must not be misled by the name 'Mother's Friend.' My wife used only two bottles before confinement and was in labor but twenty minutes. She is doing splendidly, thanks to 'Mother's Friend.'"

Sold by all best Druggists, or will be sent by express paid on receipt of price, $1.00. Book entitled "Motherhood," containing interesting facts for all ages of the mother and her baby, sent free on application. Send your name and address, mailed from THE HEADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.
