GREENFIELD BEND AND KETTLE MILLS SCHOOLS ARE ONE

COUNTY BOARD CONSOLIDATES ONE IN TENTH AND ANOTHER IN FIRST DISTRICT.

TO ERECT SPLENDID STRUCTURE

Building On Gin Spring Lot Will Cost $5,000, the Citizens of the Community Putting up $2,000 of The Amount.

Another forward step in the educational progress of the county was taken on Tuesday when the county board of education took formal action that consolidated the Greenfield Bend school in the first district and the Kettle Mills school in the Tenth district. This action was taken by the board after hearing from the advocates of two different locations and after a full personal inspection of the territory to be served by the new school.

For more than a year the question of consolidation of the schools has been before the board, but no agreement could be reached between the patrons as to the proper location. Finally the board decided to meet on the grounds on Tuesday and after a thorough consideration of the entire matter to make the location.

The controversy was between a point on the farm of John A. Delk, overlooking Duck river and just across the boundary of the Tenth district and what is known as the old Gin Spring, about four-fifths of a mile from there and that much nearer the Greenfield Bend school, one of the two schools to be abolished. The board heard representations from each side. The advocates of the Delk location had raised $1,000, which was tendered the county and they agreed, if necessary, to increase this to $1,500. The advocates of the Gin Spring location, also pledges for $1,000 and insisted upon their location.

The Delk lot advocates agreed to tender their funds and leave the location absolutely to the county board. The Gin Spring advocates at first stood pat on their location, but after several conferences agreed too, that they would abide the decision of the board. The board then went into session beneath a big shade tree over Gin Spring and by a vote of four to one agreed to the Gin Spring location. The board voted in detail as follows: For the Delk lot—Mr. Ross. For Gin Spring—Messrs. Russell, McKnight, Derryberry and Chairman Moore.

The losers accepted the situation in fine spirit and all agreed that their best efforts would be used to promote the school.

The new school will be a three-teacher school, and will cost, lot included, $5,000. The county will invest $2,000, the community $2,000 and the State of Tennessee, from its building fund, $1,000, making $5,000. The school will be located on a beautiful lot of five acres, which cost $100 an acre. It is expected that the building, which will be of brick veneer, will cost approximately $4,500.

Chairman Moore was especially delighted over the success of the board's efforts. He declared that the location and consolidation of these schools was the crowning act of his administration, which ended on Tuesday.

In addition to all the members of the county board of education, the county superintendent, John P. Graham, and J. I. Finney, editor of The Herald, were present and urged upon the citizens assembled the fine results that would follow the consolidation of the two schools. A large number of the leading citizens of the two communities were present.

The moving spirits in the consolidation of the two schools were John A. Delk, W. L. Delk, the Messrs. Kennedy and Drake Standl, of the Kettle Mills section, and J. C. Mayfield and others of the Greenfield Bend section.

SOCIETY.

For Miss Ward.

Mrs. E. B. Fishburne was the charming hostess Thursday evening at her home in West End, at an elaborate rook party, to compliment her house guest, Miss Nora Ward, of Dallas, Texas. The game was played at four tables and at the conclusion of a most spirited game, a dainty ice course was served. The Fishburne home was attractively decorated for the occasion in cut flowers and potted plants.

At Hearts.

Mrs. Fred R. Gamble charmingly entertained at hearts Thursday night in Barrow Court, for Mrs. Henry Arch Moore and her attractive house guests, Misses Oney Bradley and Glenn McCaul, of Columbus, Miss., and Miss Annie Baker Jones, of Williamsport. The new home of Mrs. Gamble was made more beautiful in its elaborate floral decorations, and was brilliantly lighted with waxen tapers of different hues, augmented by brilliant electric lights. Hearts was played at four tables, and Miss Oney Bradley being more proficient at the art of playing "hearts," was awarded the prize. The game was played at four tables. An elegant ice course was served at the conclusion of the game, and after the refreshments dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

Westmoreland-Shrader.

Miss Georgia Ella Shrader and John Westmoreland, of Company "L" First Tennessee Infantry, United States Volunteers, were married on Wednesday evening at the home of Dr. H. A. Gray, in the presence of a few friends. Dr. Gray performed the ceremony. Mr. Westmoreland's home is at Culleoka, but when the Columbia company of the First Tennessee regiment was organized he was among the first to enlist and expected to be ordered to the front at once. When, however, the order to move was so long delayed, he returned to Columbia on furlough and married his sweetheart. Mr. Westmoreland is the first member of the Columbia company from this county to yield to the allurements of Cupid since enlistment. He returned to his regiment the day following his marriage. His bride is a most attractive young lady and has for some time been a valued employee of the Citizen's Telephone company.

Hayes-Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Wooten Moore announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Emma Clare to George W. Hayes, Jr. The wedding to be solemnized Wednesday, September 20th, at the First Methodist church.

Smith-Matthews.

Mr. L. B. Matthews announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Anna Boon, to Comer Smith, the wedding to take place September 14, at the home, Lynnville, Tenn.

Birthday Celebration.

When a company of about forty of the near relatives of S. D. Oakley began to arrive Sunday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McKee, at Carter's Creek, then it dawned on Mr. Oakley that he was to have a birthday. Quite a merry party it was, despite the fact that a heavy rain kept the guests indoors. Yet the hospitable home was thrown wide and one and all spent a very pleasant day. Near noon a beautiful dinner was spread. The day passed all too quickly. Reluctantly good-byes were said and all wished for Mr. Oakley many more such birthday celebrations.

Dance At Century Club.

The dance given at the Century Club Tuesday night was of a delightfully informal nature. After the picture show the couples assembled in the ball room of the club and danced until twelve o'clock. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Cochran.

Among the young ladies dancing were Misses Margaret Greenlaw, Lella Barr Anderson, Ruth Fleming, Ima Jean Barrow, Mary McKinney, Thelma Dunn, Lillie Atchison, of Nashville; Louise Pritchett and Nella Pajtersson, of Nashville, and Annette Bond.

SOCIAL COOPERATION MARVIN JOHNSON

CALLED BY DEATH

PROMINENT RESIDENT OF WILLIAMSPORT, PASSES AWAY AT HOME OF MOTHER.

Marvin Johnson, one of the most prominent residents of the Williamsport neighborhood, died Monday night at ten o'clock at the home of his mother. Mr. Johnson had for some time been suffering from tuberculosis and the end was not entirely unexpected. Mr. Johnson was well and favorably known throughout the county and his friends were counted by scores. Though still a young man at the time of his death, being thirty-eight years of age, he had achieved success in life. A devoted member of the Methodist church, he left behind a happy memory; no man can do more.

He is survived by his wife, by his mother, by four brothers, Kuhn, Harris, Van Leer and Paul; by three sisters, Mrs. W. H. Bailey, of Wartrace, Ga.; Mrs. L. C. Evans, of St. Mary, Ga.; Mrs. John Stockard, of Williamsport. The funeral will be held tomorrow at the Methodist church of Williamsport at ten o'clock. The Reverend J. S. Hendley will officiate. The interment will take place at Rose Hill cemetery at two o'clock. Carriages are furnished by Oakes & Nichols.

NOTICE is hereby given that R. Haywood has appointed us to attend to his personal property and business in general and we warn all persons that we will not be responsible for any debt or contract or account made without our consent.

J. E. HAYWOOD,
W. R. HAYWOOD.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Will V. Jones.

Will V. Jones, who died at Hampshire on Wednesday, was buried at Pisgah Thursday, and was 68 years of age. He is survived by his wife and the following named children: Mrs. Mollie Clay Green and Mrs. Maggie Eden, of Hillsboro, Texas; Mrs. R. A. Whiteside and Miss Virginia. Miss Nellie, Herbert and Albert Jones. One brother, Henry Jones, of Brentwood, Tenn. He was a farmer and death came after a long sickness. The funeral was largely attended, the church being packed to overflowing. Dr. J. A. Molloy, of Mt. Pleasant, conducted the services and paid a beautiful tribute to the deceased. The funeral services were in charge of Maury Undertaking company.

WILL MORGAN GETS ANOTHER TITLE

HAS BEEN DUBBED BY FRIENDS CHAMPION SNAKE CATCHER OF UNIVERSE.

Will Morgan, a prominent resident of Columbia, has added, since he has been at Primus Springs, a new title to his already long list. Mr. Morgan's friends have dubbed him "Champion Snake Catcher of the Universe," and thereby hands a tale. It is reported that Mr. Morgan was seated a few nights ago in his machine at the popular resort, and with a few friends was quietly enjoying the night breezes. A huge black snake, said by observers to have been at least four feet long and to have a corresponding thickness, made straight down the road toward the car in which Mr. Morgan and his friends were seated. Cries of alarm arose and Mr. Morgan was warned that the snake was approaching, but he did not condescend to notice its approach. Everyone else fled the car in terror, but Mr. Morgan calmly held the fort. The snake climbed in rapidly. Did Mr. Morgan flee? He most emphatically did not. He calmly held his seat, and the snake, after one terrified glance, turned abruptly and fled, having found a new Verdun.

LUCY HARMON GETS DIVORCE

JUDGE TURNER GRANTS DECREE AND DIVIDES PROPERTY OF FAMILY.

Monday afternoon before Judge Turner in the Circuit Court the case of Lucy Harmon vs. John Harmon in which absolute divorce was sought was decided in favor of the plaintiff. Mrs. Harmon charged that she had been subjected to cruel and inhuman treatment and prayed for divorce and alimony. Mrs. Harmon was given the custody of the four children who have not as yet come of age, and the property of the family was divided between her and Mr. Harmon. The house and lot in Spring Hill which belonged to the family was ordered sold and the proceeds divided between the two parties. The house which is rented in Columbia remains in the possession of Mr. Harmon. The household furniture was divided, Mr. Harmon getting a suite and Mrs. Harmon the remainder. Mr. Harmon is to pay all costs in the case except that of Mrs. Harmon's witnesses, and is to pay $15 of her attorney's fee.

SCIENTIFICALLY CONSOLIDATED. "Do you think New Year resolutions assist people in reforming?" "Oh, yes," replied Miss Cayenna. "But they don't suffice of themselves. Reform is a process of evolution rather than resolution."—Washington Star.
