Politically we are not interested in the Republicans electing their candidates to office; but where they have a clear majority, as they have in this county, we cannot help but feel more or less interest that they shall elect good and competent men to fill the offices. Therefore, we hope, for the sake of all the people of Blount county, without regard to politics, that our Republican friends will elect their best men, and men that they know to be competent to fill the county offices. It would be a calamity on the people and the county, to have incompetent persons elected to fill the offices in this county. If the matter was hunted up, the people would find that all the calamities that have befallen them have resulted from the selection of incompetent men to fill the county offices. Let us, then, beg our Republican friends that where they have a good, honest and competent man in office, and he wants to be re-elected, by all means elect him.

The Tariff.

The Iroquois club, a Democratic organization in Chicago, gave a banquet on the recent anniversary of Andrew Jackson's birthday. Henry Watterson, editor of the Courier-Journal, made a speech, in the closing part of which he speaks our views so well and so tersely that we give it below. Here it is:

"You will say that these are glittering generalities, and lacking in specification. Sir, I will be specific. I mean a tariff for revenue only. I mean the obliteration of navigation laws which have driven our flag from the high seas. I mean the divorce of the civil service from party service. I mean a more careful and just revision of our national banking system than we have ever had, and which, with certain needful modifications, essential both to its preservation and the equities of taxation, I would relegate to the place in business where it belongs and whither it should have been sent long ago. I mean the reduction of the national debt to a thousand millions where it should be funded and made perpetual. The people are being taxed too much. The debt is being paid too fast. All taxes should be levied with an eye solely to revenue, and no more revenue should be collected than is required to support the government and carry the debt.

The key to all these propositions—the pivot around which they are grouped and about which they turn—is to be found in that simple sentence, 'a tariff for revenue only.' It is not my sentence. I neither invented it nor discovered it; though I would no more dream of compiling a democratic platform without it than I would think of issuing an edition of the New Testament without Christ's sermon on the mount. It is axiomatic, and taken bodily out of that magnificent enumeration of the democratic principles—on which we won a glorious national victory—the matchless platform adopted at St. Louis in 1876. I would not surrender a word of it, nor a syllable. It expresses with precision the exact position of the party upon the tariff, that when the government gets its taxes, then and there the tax shall stop. Whatever 'incidental protection' that affords—well, it affords—and let the protectionists make the most of it. In truth, they had better; for protection, like slavery, is doomed; only, unlike slavery, it will not linger so long upon the stage to baffle freemen and stay the march of freedom. It cannot become a sectionalism, as slavery did. Yet it is as monstrous in every respect as slavery was. Looking back into that far-off time, it staggers the mind to contemplate how long the institution of slavery did stand against reason, common sense, humanity and public policy. All men now admit that there was not an argument to support it. The present generation of men can but fully comprehend how it survived the agitations of a single general election. It is gone, thank God, and there is an end of it; but its history tells us in thunder tones to beware of the sophistries, the arrogance and the power of oligarchy and to behold in the jobbery and robbery of protection a new slavery, rearing its lofty head to threaten the people and curse the land.

Fellow-Democrats, the road before us is straight, broad and open! Do not allow yourselves to be lured off the highway. Do not give up to demagogues what was meant for the country. Look forward, not backward; or, if you must go back, go as far back as the lost traditions of Jefferson and Jackson, and return grasping them to your heart. You have your enemy at last not merely divided but occupying a false and untenable position. The attempted fusion in the south—the 'liaison' between the machine and the mob—is in every way agrarian and corrupt. It will not be a great while before the intelligence of the country realizes that it is a serious menace to the national credit. Place the old democratic flag-ship in line of battle; clear the decks for action; pitch the fools into the sea, and send the scoundrels below, and with freedom's signals flying at the mast-head, give her prayerfully, confidently, to the God of storms, the battle and the breeze!"

The second meeting of the Sunday School Convention of Mt. Harmony Association of Baptists, met with the Bethel church in Tuskealeechee Cove. There were not many delegates from the schools below the mountains, owing, doubtless, to the high water. But, notwithstanding, the convention was a success. We were pleased to meet with Mr. A. M. Gamble, who took an active part, by invitation, in the discussions of the body. The convention was presided over by Rev. J. V. Iddins, Mr. John Caughran officiating as clerk. We found the same old-style hospitality that ever characterizes these transmountain people, and the wish of your correspondent when he left was, may he often have the privilege of visiting this section of country.

The convention adjourned to meet with Six-Mile Church in March, 1883. During our stay we were shocked by the information that a child of Mr. Burns had, accidentally, fell into a kettle of soap, and, on Saturday, the unfortunate child was borne to the silence of the tomb, amid the grief of its sorrow-stricken friends.

At the close of the convention, the pastor of the church announced that, on Sabbath, the church proposed to set apart two of their brethren for ordination. So, on Sabbath, we met and, after a lively and profitable hour spent in the Sabbath School, we witnessed the ordination of Messrs. R. L. Wester and Wm. Caylor, as deacons, by the President of the convention.

Death of Mrs. Elisha Carpenter.

Died at her home in the 7th civil district, on the 22d inst., of pneumonia, after a very brief illness, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, wife of Mr. Elisha Carpenter. She was a most excellent woman, a consistent member of the M. E. Church, and died in full possession of her faculties and with a bright hope of a blissful immortality beyond the grave. She was about 60 years of age, and was buried at Carpenter's Campground on the 23d inst., amid a large concourse of sorrowing friends and kindred. The bereaved and sorely stricken husband and family have the sincere sympathy of the whole community.

Complicated Diseases.

A prominent gentleman in Cerro Gordo County, Iowa, writes us that he finds Kidney-Wort to be the best remedy he ever knew for a complication of diseases. It is the specific action which it has on the liver, kidneys and bowels, which gives it such curative power, and it is the thousands of cures which it is performing which gives it great celebrity. Liquid (very concentrated) or dry. Both act efficiently.—N. H. Journal and Courier.

Permit No Substitution.

Insist upon obtaining Floreston Cologne. It is pre-eminently superior in permanence and rich delicacy of fragrance.

The Highest Rank.

Made from harmless materials, and adapted to the needs of fading and falling hair, Parker's Hair Balsam has taken the highest rank as an elegant and reliable hair restorative.

THE ROYAL PATH OF LIFE.

What is Said of It.

It is a gem of gold and I universally advise my friends to buy it.—P. B. McCarrell, pastor of Mt. Lebanon, Laurel Bank, Pleasant Grove and Bethel churches.

To those who have but few books, it is an encyclopedia.—G. S. W. Crawford, Prof. Maryville College.

The best I can say to my friends is to get it and read it.—E. Goddard, C. & M. I advise every young man to buy it and read it, if he has to work at 25 cents a day to pay for it.—Jas. W. Hitch, Esq. I would not be without it.—Jo. Frye.

It is a financial, moral and religious guide.—A. L. Wells.

It cannot be recommended too highly.—Mrs. F. D. Fulkerson.

It is interesting and instructive to old and young.—W. C. Conning.

Words refuse to express my admiration for it.—Thomas Lillard.

It is the best book I have ever read except the Bible.—A. J. Best.

It is worthy of a place in every reading family.—R. E. Walker.

The Bible alone surpasses it as a family guide.—Alex. Willians.

Parents will do well to put it in the hands of their children.—Mrs. L. A. McNutt.

Except the Bible, it is the best book I ever had in my hands.—Jasper Mitchell.

I was glad when my unmarried son bought it.—Mrs. Elisha Carpenter.

Its author has made selections with masterly skill from the store-houses of ancient and modern literature.—D. W. Trotter, Esq.

The essays on youth, young men, young women, associates, books, reading, luck and pluck, etc., are full of advice and cheer.—J. L. Wallace.

I can see its influence on young men.—W. R. Dawson.

About the fire-side or under the shade-trees it is a welcome visitor.—James P. Raulston.

I have never seen it surpassed in literature.—Thos. C. Clark.

There is not a dull page in it.—Nath. Goddard.

The two subjects, honesty and integrity, as discussed in it, are worth its cost.—J. O. Brown.

It is an aid to parents worth many times its cost.—W. L. McGinley.

It is well worth its cost.—N. B. Ellis.

The subjects discussed in this book are interesting and important. The arrangement and style are very attractive. The whole spirit and tenor of the book are moral and elevating. It is well worth reading and worthy of a wide circulation.—T. J. Lamar.

Each and every one of the foregoing testimonials were given with a full understanding that they were to be published. Upon the popularity and Christian integrity of these parties I dare not comment.

Respectfully,
H. T. CLEMENS, Agt.

The Late Lyle Anderson.

Mr. Andrew Lyle Anderson, whose death was announced in these columns last week, was one of a family of nine children, seven sons and two daughters, of the late Wm. Anderson, Esq., who came from Virginia, and was among the early settlers of the country, having first settled where Wm. Boyd now lives, and then where Esq. S. F. Bell now lives, and thence to the old homestead, where he died, on a portion of which his son Isaac G. now lives. The first-born son was Calvin D., who was elected to the office of Sheriff in 1842, over the late Col. John Wilson; was re-elected in 1841-'46, and in 1847 was brought forward as a candidate for the Legislature, in opposition to the late Hon. David McKain, and was elected. He afterwards went to Sevier county to engage in the mercantile business, where he remained until his death. But, in the meantime, in 1857, was called upon to run for Mayor in that district and was elected and served his term out.

The deceased was the second son, and was thrice married—first to Miss McQuain, by whom he had two sons, viz: William and Samuel, and one daughter, Katharine. William died in Alabama, about the close of the war; Samuel is in business in Texas; Katharine, now Mrs. Thompson, is living in Missouri.

Deceased's second wife was the widow of the late James Kirkpatrick, of the 13th district; and his third wife was Miss Martha Scroggs, daughter of the late Miles Scroggs, with whom he spent his last days most agreeably and pleasantly, and who, during his brief illness, watched over him and cared for him most tenderly and lovingly. His disease was pneumonia and was of about five days duration. He was interred in the Forest Hill burying ground on the 12th inst., in the presence of a large congregation of kindred and friends, Dr. P. M. Bartlett conducting the funeral services. He was in his 74th year. Deceased had long been a consistent member of the Presbyterian church, and was elected and ordained, and served, as a ruling Elder a portion of the time, and died as he had lived, trusting in the atoning merits of the Saviour. He had spent the main part of his life in Blount county, but had spent about twenty years superintending the farming operations of the late B. D. Brabson, in Sevier county, and for his family after his death. The remainder of the Anderson family are all living, except Mrs. Eliza Boyd, wife of Col. William Boyd, who died some years ago.

As one who, for a long series of years, was well acquainted with the deceased, I must be permitted to say, in closing this last brief tribute to his memory, that he was a most worthy and excellent man, kind and obliging in his disposition and every ready to lend a helping hand to every good work, and he will be greatly missed, not only by his sorely bereaved widow, but by the church and the community in which he lived.

Guard Against Disease.

If you find yourself getting bilious, head heavy, mouth foul, eyes yellow, kidneys disordered, symptoms of bilious tormenting you, take at once a few doses of Kidney-Wort. It is nature's great assistant. Use it as an advance guard—don't wait to get down sick. See large advertisement.

Gov. Hawkins has issued a proclamation convening an extra session of the Legislature on the 6th of April, for the purpose of re-districting the State.

A few Words from THE MORNING WORLD TO ADVERTISERS.
We believe we speak the plain truth when we say that the DAILY WORLD has the largest circulation of any daily published in Tennessee. If any interested parties think we are mistaken in this opinion we will gladly publish their affidavit showing a larger circulation for their paper. For the benefit of advertisers, we give below the affidavit of our business manager, showing present circulation of DAILY and WEEKLY WORLD, we would add that both are rapidly increasing.

The World Publishing Co.
State of Tennessee, Davidson County, Nashville, Feb. 22, 1882.

Personally appeared before me, J. B. Brown, notary public for said county, this 22d day of February, 1882, D. H. Rains, business manager of THE MORNING WORLD, and made oath that they are now printing daily 4003 copies of said daily paper, and that these papers all go to bona fide subscribers to the same. He further swears that the circulation of the WEEKLY WORLD has reached 2500 subscribers.

A Cold—A Cough—Consumption—Death.

This is the road, and how many have followed it. Grave-yards are filled with those who have passed that way, many innocently, but some with the full knowledge that by using Symphyx they could avoid the terrible end. Let their fate be a warning, and before it is too late, try the universal remedy, Symphyx.

Have you Ever

Known any person to be seriously ill without a weak stomach or inactive liver or kidneys? And when these organs are in good condition, do you not find their possessor enjoying good health? Parker's Ginger-Tonic regulates these important organs, makes the blood rich and pure, and strengthens every part of the system. See other column.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it, there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and give relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, said everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. (17.)

Almost Raised from the Dead.

Thomas Johnson writes us that recent exposure gave him a terrible cold; he cold a bad cough; and the cough gave him what his friends thought to be consumption. He was induced to try a bottle of Symphyx, keeping his bowels open with Dr. Hart's Blood and Liver Pills. He says in two weeks he was nearly as well as ever and that he considers himself as almost raised from the dead.

EVERY YOUNG MAN

DESIRING A

BUSINESS EDUCATION

SHOULD REMEMBER THAT

GOODMAN'S

BUSINESS COLLEGES,

KNOXVILLE and NASHVILLE

HAVE THE APPROVAL OF BUSINESS MEN GENERALLY.

From August 1, 1881, to Dec. 1, 1881, TWENTY-FIVE BUSINESS MEN APPLIED TO GOODMAN'S COLLEGES FOR ASSISTANTS.

The number of applications from business men in each kind of business, is as follows:

National Bank.....	1
Railroad Company.....	3
Wholesale Hat and Cap House.....	1
Wholesale Dry Goods and Clothing House.....	1
Wholesale Dry Goods and Notion House.....	1
Wholesale Drug House.....	1
Commission House.....	1
Grain and Elevator Co.....	1
General Dry Goods.....	4
Furniture Manufacturing Co.....	1
Paper Bag Manufacturing Co.....	1
Steam Stone and Marble Works.....	1
Iron and Rolling Mill Co.....	1

Individual Book-keeper.....	1
Bill Clerks.....	4
Office Assistants.....	4
Traveling Salesman.....	1
Cashier.....	1

25

The students who are filling these positions were from the States of Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Ohio.

Therefore we would ask the following questions:

1. What other Business College can show as many applications made to them by business men, in the short space of four months?
2. Who is better able to judge of the qualifications of young men, than the merchants and business men themselves.
3. What more substantial endorsement can an institution have, than to receive frequent applications from BUSINESS MEN who wish to employ its STUDENTS, also when LEADING MERCHANTS and others purchase its stock at a premium?
4. Is it not commendable for such an institution to place its advantages within the reach of young men in ALL PARTS OF THE SOUTH, by establishing at considerable cost, a chain of such institutions?
5. Is it not better for a school to refer to the numerous applications from business men, than for it to say "we teach the best commercial course in the South?"

Goodman's College has no THREE MONTHS OR PARTIAL COURSE. Hence the success of ITS STUDENTS.

The Session for 1882 opens Monday, January 2.

For general information, address

FRANK GOODMAN,
President of Goodman's Business Colleges,
Either at Knoxville Tenn., or Nashville, Tenn.

It is with pleasure that we call the attention of our county readers to the above announcement of Prof. Frank Goodman, who has established Commercial Colleges at Knoxville and Nashville. Each young man in Blount county who desires to obtain a thorough business education, to fit himself for some useful and remunerative employment, will find it to his advantage to attend this College at Knoxville. In no other way can a young man become so efficient and successful in business than by taking a thorough course in Goodman's Commercial College.

Land Sale.

On Monday, April 2d, 1882, at the courthouse door in Maryville, Tenn., we will sell to the highest bidder, a five-ninths interest undivided, that is own in a tract of land in the Sixth civil district of Blount county, Tennessee, known as the Peugh place, and joining John C. Logan, John H. Logan, Martha C. Logan and perhaps others.

Said land will be sold on six and twelve months time, the purchaser to give note with good personal security, while a lien is retained all the land to further secure the money.

This March 24, 1882,
AKE HENRY,
JOHN C. LOGAN,
