DAYBREAK
A wind came up out of the sea,
And said: "O mist, make room for me!"

results, will of course rave and denounce as usual. Those who have read history and understand it will think otherwise.

The wise, intelligent, and humane, who know that the Union can be restored only by the least expiation and alienation, will applaud the commander who achieves for his country great ends by peaceful means.

I am writing almost on an electric wire, but hope and you may be able to read the scroll. Perhaps you will soon hear from us, and, by the blessings of God, not unfavorably.

The Multitude of the Abolitionists towards the Border States. The Smithsonian Institute at Washington is almost daily being desecrated by permitting such abolition traitors as the Rev. Mr. Cheever and Wendell Phillips to vent their bile and spleen upon the loyal patriots of the country and upon the people of the border States in particular.

The reason is plain. We have all ready stated it. The abolitionists hate the constitution, and would gladly let the Union slide rather than have its preservation attended by the preservation of the constitution likewise.

The border States, being a unit in favor of this policy, naturally form the head of the great body of patriots who rally around the administration that declares and carries out the policy in defiance of abolitionism everywhere.

The Christmas Gift. Old Christmas had come, with his bright, merry face, And bearing his joyous and keen, And while the gay holiday folk, at each place, Selecting their gifts, might be seen, An old man walked on, at a very brisk pace, In search of a Sewing-MACHINE.

Perplexed he appeared—may, bewildered in mind— Amid all the vast moving scene, Unable to meet with precisely the kind Of thing he was seeking, I wena; (Indeed, it is not quite so easy to find A really good Sewing-MACHINE.)

Four hours he paced up and down all Broadway, With puzzled and sorrowful mien; Entirely fruitless had been, Till fortune benignly threw him in way Of FINKLE AND LYON'S MACHINE.

"Ah, here!" he exclaimed, as a happy smile graced His features so bland and serene— "Ah! here I have managed to find out, at last, "The very MACHINE that I mean; "Yes, yes, I've forgotten the name in my haste— "T'WAS FINKLE AND LYON'S MACHINE!"

"Was ever invention like this 'neath the sun! "What movement—how rapid and clean! "Continued repeating the joyous old man, As he on his elbows did lean; "Beholding what wonderful things can be done By FINKLE AND LYON'S MACHINE."

His choice of a gift was no longer delayed (And here his great wisdom was seen)— That Christmas, his daughter—a blooming young maid— Was rendered as proud as a queen; Next morn, when she rose, in her honor there laid A FINKLE AND LYON'S MACHINE!

A FEW MORE Recruits Wanted for the Michigan Regiment.

THE undersigned has been authorized by Gov. Blair to enlist Recruits for the Michigan State service, and has opened an office for that purpose at the room formerly occupied by M. L. Gale, Genesee street.

The recent victories achieved by our armies give us reason to hope that a few more decisive blows will make the remainder of this war of short duration— Come on then, boys! if you would share the glory of taking a hand in the closing struggle, and causing the flag of your country again to wave triumphantly over the land of Secession. Fill up our regiments in the field, and push on the victorious column. Come on and see, in a short campaign, the liberal pay and $100 BOUNTY offered by the Government.
