LEGISLATURE

that they shall receive ten dollars a day for services actually performed with necessary expenses.

Senator Carr of St. Johnsbury presented a bill before the Senate yesterday which would allow savings banks and Savings Banks and Trust companies to have a surplus fund amounting to not more than 15 per cent of the deposits and other liabilities. The previous amount was 10 per cent.

The usual resolution providing for a "junket" by the committees in the House and Senate on penal institutions was introduced in the Senate yesterday by Senator Adams of Orange county. The resolution authorizes the committee to visit the state prison at Windsor and the house of correction at Rutland, investigate the conditions and the management and report the findings to the respective houses. Of course the resolution includes a provision that the necessary expenses of the committee be paid and the members be excused from the sessions of the Legislature for the required length of time.

The Senate passed a number of bills without comment and ordered to a third reading the bill permitting justices of the Supreme court and Superior judges who have attained the age of 70 years to retire on half pay, which at the present rate of compensation for members of the Vermont bench would be $2000. The bill authorizing municipal judges to solemnize marriages was also advanced to third reading. The Senate re-

NERVOUS SICK HEADACHES

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought Relief The First Day He Tried Them.

MR. C. E. BESWICK
160 Caroline Ave., Ogdensburg, N. Y.

"I suffered a great deal for three or four years with Nervous Sick Headache and Dyspepsia. Had to take two to four sedlita powders every other day. Tried doctors—ate bran gems—took all kinds of remedies—but nothing did me good until I used 'Fruit-a-tives', or Fruit Liver Tablets. I was relieved the first day I used them. They made me well and keep me well, and I am always glad to tell people of the great things 'Fruit-a-tives' have done for me.

I have many friends in Ogdensburg now using 'Fruit-a-tives' on my recommendation".

fused to pass the bill providing that town clerks may be collectors of taxes in certain towns, after Senator Maurice had pointed out to the members that town clerks are usually members of the board of civil authority, which board abates taxes.

Passage was also refused the bill relating to the use of telephones by county officials. The bill was passed by the House but adversely reported by the Senate committee on State and Court expenses. Then Senator Maurice persuaded the Senate to give it favorable consideration and it was ordered to a third reading.

Yesterday, the opponents of the measure were ready for the bill with their axes and it was killed. The bill would have allowed municipal judges to use telephones with the sanction of the assistant county court judges. The Senators could not be shown where the county had any right to have jurisdiction over state work.

At the conclusion of the Senate business a committee of the whole was formed on motion of Senator Howland and the Senators listened for a few minutes to John Barrett, director general of the Pan American Union, who spoke on the League of Nations plan. He advocated the adoption of the plan provided that it would not interfere with the Monroe Doctrine. If Europe wished to have the United States assist in maintaining order and peace in the eastern hemisphere all well and good, contended Mr. Barrett, but the United States under no circumstances should allow European countries to meddle with the American republics.

The House worked until noon disposing of its calendar but everything went smoothly and no debates were even suggested on any of the measures. A resolution was introduced by Mr. Dyer of Salisbury authorizing the joint senate and house committee on state institutions to visit the state asylum for the insane at Waterbury, investigate conditions and report to the Legislature. The resolution was referred to the committee on state and court expenses.

Both branches adjourned until 8 o'clock Monday evening.

WRIGHT'S LETTER

a supper in a restaurant costs around five francs on an average, or about 90 cents in our money. You can make it cost as much more as you like by adding a few extras to the meal.

Our business on this trip was to deliver printed matter to the different divisions of army of occupation.

I might say in regard to the weather that it rained every day of the trip as it has for two or three months past. A little snow fell on Christmas day, but it was soon gone, except on the hills.

The next morning we left Mity for Tries (Trier). Most of the cities in Alsace Lorraine have a French and a German name respectively as above. Our course took us through the city of Luxembourg. It is a nice little city of about 25000. I have some views of the city that I will show you when I return (?) I believe it was as neat and clean as any city I was ever in. Also the roads throughout the territory of Luxembourg were fine. Fifty per was easy to hit.

That night we stayed at the Hotel rue Past in Tries. This also is a fine city. Much more like American cities than are the French cities.

The price of rooms and meals was about the same number of marks here as it was francs in Mity, and we could get 16666 marks for 100 francs so you see it was really less. A mark and a franc at par value is supposed to be the same.

The German civilians treated us fine. Some would go out of their way to speak to us. I think the people of Germany, if they were sorry to lose the war are at least glad it is over.

The next day took us into a very picturesque country. I went over hills steeper than anything I ever saw in Vermont. If Crow hill in Fairbanks village was rough and muddy and the ditch had no bottom it would be something like the roads I went over: between 2.30 and 5.00 p. m. on Saturday. I saw two road tractors pulling one truck out of the ditch and after that I was even more careful about staying in the middle of the road. I went seven kilometers 4 1/2 miles in second speed, and in other places I had to use low gear, but the Dodge didn't boil the water any, and I went 129 miles the next day before I put any more water in the radiator.

Well, I broke off sudden. It is now January 10. I have been on a trip to Nevens since I started this letter, 365 miles round trip. On my trip to Germany I only had one puncture and on my trip to Nevens I had four punctures and three blow outs, how's that?

Well, as I was going to say I arrived at Coblenz on the Rhine Saturday night, Dec. 28th, after dark and had to do our business up in the morning, and start back, so didn't see very much of the city, but it was a nice clean looking city of about 50000. On our way back we followed the Moselle river. It is really a canyon the mountains rising directly up from the river bank. There is a road and a railroad along the river, but the railroad tunnels through the mountains in several places. The sides of the Mountains are covered with vineyards and this is where the famous Moselle wine comes from. At least they told me it was famous. The sides of the Mountains are so steep that walls are built terrace fashion all the way up like a huge stairway, and the part of the stair that you would step on is the part the grapes grow on, on poles about five feet high, and that part of the step is about as steep as the roof of a house. And then on the tops of some of the Mountains are old castles or ruins of castles. This was a new kind of scenery to me. I wouldn't have believed there was any such place if I hadn't seen it. I bought some cards of the valley, but the hills don't look so steep in the pictures as they really are.

I'll have to bring this to a close as it's getting late, and I must send it tonight sure.

I came thru towns on my way home that were just a pile of rocks, that were once stone houses. Through fields of barbed wire entanglements and saw miles of trenches. I stopped and went into some of the dugouts that were some deep. I went down two flights of stairs and the next was full of water, so I didn't go down any farther. I drove along a road for several miles that had a trench in both ditches.

Well I'll close and write again soon.
