E. C. Remington, of Bradford.

The results of the election Tuesday have been ascertained with sufficient accuracy to enable us to comment thereon understandingly.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.

Evidence multiplied each day that honest, fair minded Democrats are becoming heartily sick of the self-styled "Republican Party."

POLITICAL.

Ohio and West Virginia are now the only States in which the tendencies of the campaign in each from this time on will be watched closely by both parties.

The fact that the father of Mrs. Blaine died about six years before the lady saw James G. for the first time rather knocks the bottom out of the Democratic scandal about the Republican nominee.

Mr. Hendricks kindly gives Mr. Cleveland a moral bill of health.

The New York Star says that the Democratic managers "gaze with equanimity on the going."

A treatise upon the "Globe that Vermont is honey-combed with independents."

Senator Hoar of Mass., has written a two column letter in which he meets and answers to every point Carl Schurz's speech before the New York Independents.

The Herald thinks that the formal abolitionism of Cleveland is the religious press "does not involve any loss to the Democratic vote."

Saturday evening last was the occasion of three large political gatherings in Portland, Me.

Gen. Fremont protests that he is still a Republican and that his name was announced among the speakers at the New York "Batter meeting without his consent."

The New York Star thinks it is an unsettled question whether the Irish voters will support Cleveland or more numerous than who will cast their influence for Blaine.

Consent that the candidates make light of General Butler's candidacy, the Democratic press devotes a great deal of space to assaults upon him.

The Albany Times (Dem.) is depressed by the course of the New York Independent in repudiating Cleveland, and says gloomily: "Here is the record and the outcome of a great independent vote which was so much to be desired."

The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser says of the Hendricks letter: "We submit that a more extraordinary epistle than this was never penned by a subordinate candidate in a great political campaign."

The old straddler Hendricks, the tail of the Democratic ticket, has followed Cleveland and now comes out with his letter of acceptance.

Of course it is non-committal on the tariff and the other great issues of the day.

The New York Tribune, which has been making a study of the census statistics and political alliances, estimates that the probable vote for the Presidency in November next, will be very close on ten and a half millions, and may exceed that number.

The vote in 1880, using round figures, was 9,250,000 in total population of 49,371,000, and in a male population of the voting age reported at roundly 12,571,000 for the 30 States.

This, from the Congressionalists, merits the attention of those expounders of morals, the New York Post-Springfield Republican and the Boston Herald.

This campaign, more than any other within our recollection, if not actually more than any other in our national history, will be known as the "Year of the Peck."

As to the "Year of the Peck," which from the beginning has been on the a candidate's personal character is of consequence whatever. And the safest, as well as the most amusing fact in this connection is the publishing advocacy of this position by certain popular leaders and widely known journals, including even some professedly Christian men and religious papers.

The tenth annual meeting of the Vermont W. C. T. U. will be held at Ferrisburgh, September 17, 18 and 19.

The editor of the New York Independent, who was at first inclined to support Cleveland, has investigated the Buffalo scandal and has concluded that he cannot give his support to him for President, on account of Cleveland's sexual relations with some of his friends.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

The plan of using the enormous water power of the Alps for working electric railways in Switzerland is about to take a definite shape.

What is being fed to swine instead of corn to a considerable extent by farmers in the Ohio valley, who have no old corn to spare and plenty of better return when being sold in the market prices.

In the county of Ximines, Mexico, five large springs of living water have suddenly burst forth on the open plains where there has been a drought for ten years, and where a month ago a bird could not find sufficient water to quench its thirst.

Jones—"Ha! ha! Life will now be worth living. I anticipated this item of news to my next door neighbor. He can't fail to take the hint. The paper says some genius has invented 'noiseless violins for practice,' and they are already on sale. Smith, wearily, 'The work I've got to do has my sleep broken up a little greater than appears.' Jones—"Why, what could be a greater boon to humanity than noiseless musical instruments? It would be a most important discovery."

A Boston astrologer has been studying politics among the stars, and sends us the following calculation to set at rest all anxiety concerning the result of the Presidential campaign: "Perhaps you would accept a few lines upon the subject of the Presidential election, on the basis of the horoscope of Mr. James G. Blaine, the Republican candidate for President of the United States. According to the position of the planets on Sunday, January 31, 1884, the horoscope of Mr. Blaine's birth, I find that he was born under two planets, with Jupiter as his ruling star. The sun was in favorable aspect with Jupiter at his birth, and the planet Mars, which he derives great magnetic influence from the sun, and is given great decision of character by Jupiter, and was born under the sign of Leo, the lion, which shows strength, influence, reason, will power, energy, pride, power, and there are no obstacles which can cause an honest defeat. The planet of Jupiter signifies success November 1, 1884.

It is hinted, with a dark look of triumph, by some knowing individuals, that there are more Mulligan letters "coming." To the unsophisticated this looks very much like an admission on the part of our opponents that they are not so well published as insufficient for certain well known purposes. The more enlightened might be led to infer, not unreasonably, that since the Mulligan letters were published, the Mulligan reputation, the forth-coming letters will prove just as impotent.

The story is told that the playing of a celebrated violinist very much impressed one of the ladies of the aristocracy of New York. She was called upon to play at a party given by Col. E. A. Chittenden in his rooms at the Walden House, St. Albans, a clock which originally belonged to Gov. Chittenden and was made in an elaborate manner by some one who had looked upon its dial with the Marquis de Lafayette, Al. Allen, Etian Allen, Remondier Baker and others who were prominent in the organ of the day.

The U. S. Steamer Tallapoosa was run into last week Thursday night by a coal schooner between York and Martha's Vineyard, and sunk in five minutes. It was a clear night and both ships plainly saw each other. The schooner became confused and changed her course at the last moment, causing the disaster. All but two of the 140 persons on the Tallapoosa were taken off in safety. The masts stuck up above the water after the vessel was sunk.

Capt. Traylor, who started from New York June 26th, to row across the Atlantic in a dory, was picked up by a fishing vessel August 19 and brought into St. Johns, N. F. He had been up by passing sea-sickness and his boat damaged. He says he will make repairs and try again.

An exchange says that there is a little Shoshone papoose in Winnebago, Nev., only four years old, and not much larger than a pickle. He is only a most wonderful creature for molding images out of mud and clay. His mother was engaged at a wash tub outside of a house the other day, and from the mud which she was slopping the little savage moulded a deer and a horse, which were almost perfect in contour and color. He displayed but little pains in the work, which appeared to adapt himself to the mud. The ordinary wild child would be in the making of mud pies.
