An Interesting Lawsuit

An interesting law suit was held here last Friday before Justice Homer Peck. It was an action brought by John McDonald against B. W. Austin, to recover value for a heifer lost from the latter's pasture.

It seems that Austin took a lot of cattle to pasture for McDonald last year and in the fall one of them came up missing; hence the suit.

R. W. Hulburd appeared for McDonald and Austin was represented by W. E. Tracy. The jury was made up of Harry Parker, Harry Maxfield, Will Laport, Bert Mills and Geo. Ellwood.

While the suit was brought for negligence and considerable evidence shown that such was the case, the defense was that all proper care possible was taken, and this assertion was duly sworn to by several witnesses.

It was an interesting case throughout, and the testimony elicited much amusement, especially that of Harry Gregg, a witness, who when asked by Mr. Tracy what he was doing up there, at Austin's place, so much promptly replied "None of your business." Even the court smiled and the jury laughed.

The jury deliberated deeply, solemnly and thoughtfully over the case about fifteen minutes when it was given to them and they brought in a verdict of $11.50 for McDonald. An appeal was taken.

The Funeral of George Livermore

The funeral services of Geo. T. Livermore were held from the home Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. G. F. Crawford officiating.

George T. Livermore was born in Saratoga, N. Y., Nov. 9, 1848, and died in Johnson Vermont, April 14, 1913, after an illness of four months from cancer. In 1880 he came to Milton and in December of the same year married Miss Hulda Miner of that place.

In March 1887, he located in Johnson, where he had since lived. He is survived by his wife and one brother, William Livermore of Milton.

He bore his illness patiently and passed away quietly and painlessly as he slept. He was a kind and indulgent husband and the home life was almost ideal in joyous companionship. He possessed a well stored mind, good judgement and was a man of strong and positive convictions. He spent nine years of his life, when a young man, in California and while there united with the Congregational church, but after coming to Johnson he worshipped with his wife with the Methodist people and for fifteen years was a teacher in their Sunday school.

In the death of Mr. Livermore there has passed out of this life a most loving, gentle and unselfish personality and to those who are left to mourn a halo of sacred memories.

Undertaker Maxfield took the body Tuesday to Milton for burial and Waterman Lodge, F. & A. M., acted as escort to the station. The floral tributes were many and very beautiful.

Those from away to attend the funeral were Horace E. Eaton of Windham, Conn., Eugene Boyden of Fairfax, Mrs. Cora Ryan of East Georgia, Dr. and Mrs. John Bean and Mrs. M. M. Powell of Jeffersonville and A. E. Parlow and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Parlow of Hardwick.

Johnson Grange

The Sugar Makers' meeting we might truly call a "Banner Farmers' Meeting," many being in attendance. The discussions were interesting and instructive.

The exhibit of maple products was of the best syrup and sugar, pies, cakes, cookies and dainties, all made from maple sugar. Their quality was proven by the grangers at the close of the meeting and all said "taste was ahead of sight."

This meeting was in charge of the Overseer, Fred Hopkins, sixty members and visitors being present. Next meeting May 1st, conferring 1st and 2nd degrees, after which there will be a short literary program as follows: Singing Grange Melodies, page 64; Recitation, Clara Hill; Reading, Mrs. Ada Stiles; Recitation, Philip Shavannah; Suggestions, Good of the Order, E. H. Sherwin; Tableau, "The Lost Chord" Abide with me, Home Sweet Home, Good night, Joseph Shavannah treated the grange on apples produced in his orchard. They were of good quality and well preserved for April 17th. How is this for Vermont apples here in Johnson?

In the near future there will be a farmers' meeting. Lecturer, P. W. Hodgkins.

Some time in June Johnson Grange will hold a public meeting. This will be in the evening and will be in charge of Senator Sherwin. This will be a day in the Legislature. As voters do not see fit to send us to Montpelier, Montpelier is coming to us this time. Every member come.

Johnson Grange voted to hold a fair this fall. Committees are to be appointed soon and plans will be made for a much larger and better one than last year. Save the best you raise.

Real Aristocrat

Some seed store windows display ears of corn that would arouse a genealogist's envy. It would take the research of a lifetime to unearth a pedigree of as many generations as that corn can boast.

"Seed corn raised 43 years in succession by Mr. Thompson of Brown county, 12 years before that by Mr. Thompson's father, and 14 years by his grandfather," says the accompanying history. There you are 69 generations of one corn family without a break. The comparatively few generations of the human family that make the blue-blooded aristocrats seem plebeian by the side of those ears of corn.
