NEW INSURANCE HOME

Glenn A. Wilkins Takes "New England" to More Commodious Quarters

After eleven years of business, under the management of Glenn A. Wilkins, one of Vermont's best-known and most successful life underwriters, the State Agency of the New England Mutual, which has occupied office rooms in the Drowne block, has found it necessary to seek larger quarters and last week the agency took possession of its new home on the first floor of the Pisk block, which has been thoroughly refurbished and remodeled. The new office is doubtless one of the best equipped general agency headquarters in Vermont and not only speaks well for the enterprise and success of Mr. Wilkins, but is also a distinct addition to the business section of Morrisville. The rooms are commodious, including a large front office, with new plate glass window, a waiting room, (but nobody will be kept waiting) and large business office in the rear, all new hardwood floors, new office furniture, etc. C continued on Page 4

Wedding Reception

Last Friday evening a company of over fifty friends met at the home of H. A. Putnam on Bridge street to tender a reception to Mr. and Mrs. John Cheney. After an informal "chat," a mock wedding was presented by seven young ladies, arriving at the music of a mock march. This was followed by a literary program. The young couple were presented with numerous gifts, including several pieces of pyrex ware, to which the recipients responded. Refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served. All of the arrangements were in the hands of committees of the Loyal Workers of the A. C. Church.

Gentlemen's Driving Club

Local horsemen and followers of the sport, organized a Driving club last Thursday evening at the office of F. G. Fleetwood and formulated plans for matinee racing this winter.

The following officers were elected.—President, Guy Stafford; Vice-President, H. W. Drowne; Secretary and Treasurer, H. L. Bentley; Starter, H. L. Spear.

Several important committees were named and it was voted to have the first matinee Thursday afternoon, Dec. 15. Horsemen desiring to race on this date should notify the Secretary at least two days before, that the horses may be properly placed by the Classifying committee. Maple street will be used as the "speedway," the trustees having granted them permission, after the residents of that section had given nearly unanimous consent. This will give a straight-way course of one quarter mile and ample opportunity for scoring.

The promoters are following the methods used at Lyndonville, where matinee racing has the support of the entire community, and has been the winter sport for years.

It is planned to have racing each week during the winter to be followed by a public banquet at the close of the season, and it is hoped the public will be liberal in its support. Watch for future announcements.

Basket Ball

The Morrisville American Legion Team will encounter the Hardwick Town Team next Wednesday night, at the local Gym. Hardwick has a strong team this year and is playing the fastest teams of the state, including St. Johnsbury American Legion and Newport this week.

While the American Legion Team, not to be out done, has a coach, well worthy of the position, coaching the U. V. M. and Burlington High School; he is also a professional baseball player, having played with the Yankees and Senators.

Hardwick is very confident of a victory and it means a hard fight for the Legion team. They need your support as much as they needed the new coach, who is putting new life into the boys.

Bear in mind—Wednesday, Dec. 14th. Basket-Ball, Hardwick vs A. L.

There was a fair attendance at the "Go-Get-It" class benefit at the Bijou last night.

P. A. lost the first home basket ball game of the season last Friday night when they were defeated by the fast quintet from Craftsbury Academy by a score of 34 to 17.
