Death of William H. Goodell

William H. Goodell, nearly a lifelong resident of this town, died at his home on Upper Main street Tuesday morning. He had been ill for the past year and since Sunday had been unconscious all of the time.

The funeral service will be held from the home Thursday afternoon, the Rev. George E. Goodliffe officiating, and burial will take place in Stowe.

William H. Goodell was born in Sterling 81 years ago the 29th of last April, the son of William and Louisa Sargent Goodell. Fifty-four years ago last March he was united in marriage to Eldora Waite, daughter of B. F. and Elizabeth Shaw Waite. To this union were born three sons, Fred, Frank and Mark Goodell, who, with Mrs. Goodell, survive.

The deceased was a veteran of the Civil War, having enlisted with the 7th Vermont Regiment, and serving nearly during the whole war. He received additional service after receiving honorable discharge.

Mr. Goodell was for many years a prosperous farmer on West Hill, coming to this village a few years ago to reside. Except for a short time spent in Stowe his whole life was lived in the town where he was one of its most highly respected citizens. Deep sympathy of the community is extended the family in their bereavement.

Big Celebration on Mt. Mansfield

Celebration of Completion of Mt. Mansfield Road on Labor Day—Biggest Event in This Section in Years

What promises to be the biggest event ever undertaken in this section of the state will occur on Labor Day when the completion of the Mt. Mansfield Road will be celebrated. Chautauqua Closes

The Chautauqua closed last night with a fine concert by the Fadedettes Military Band that pleased all lovers of this class of music.

The entertainments have all been of a high order, some of course more pleasing than others. From what we hear, one of the best was the lecture on "Community Ideals" by Dr. David D. Vaughan. It was instructive, pleasing and bright. He surely left many things for us all to seriously consider if we want this to be the model community.

Notwithstanding the severe storm last night that kept many away, pledges for 325 season tickets for next year were taken and the balance can be easily obtained by a thorough canvass, it is said, so we shall probably have Chautauqua next year.

Instead of guarantors, it will be seen by the above, pledges for tickets were made, a much better way.

GIBON VALLEY GRANGE

The regular meeting of Gibon Valley Grange will be held Saturday of this week, with the program as follows: Song, choir; roll call, responded to by single members with a name of some author born the same month as you were; recitation, Lloyd Pratt; cornet solo, George McAllister; song, George Gillen and Emery Gray; recitation, Josie Mudgett; duet, Mildred and Grace Whitcomb; reading, George Gillen; journal by Madge Jones; recitation, Ella Griswold.

Lowell Grange will be present at this meeting and will furnish half the program.

The closing song will be sung by the choir.

Suit Brought to Recover for Fire Loss

It will be remembered that A. M. Parmenter of Hardwick was arrested last year, charged with setting fire to his farm buildings, convicted and sentenced to state's prison.

His wife, and parties holding mortgages on the property, have now brought suit against the Vermont Mutual Life Insurance Co. to recover for loss. The case will be heard at the coming term of Caledonia county court.

Poultry Culling Demonstration

The poultry specialist of the U. V. M. Extension Service will hold demonstrations in the different counties this fall. The date for this county is October 10-13 and plans will be given later.

Mrs. Effie DuBray of Brockton, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis and son of Newport were visitors at C. A. Spiller's Sunday.

Another interesting game of golf was played on the course last Saturday when 17 members of the Barton Country Club played against the home team. The 18 hole record of the course was equalled by B. W. McFarland, who went out in 36 and came in in 35. The record was made in 1921 by Morgan O'Connor.

Shaw Buys Beautiful Farm

The "Four Winds Farm" at Stowe, the summer home of the late Mrs. C. C. Taber, built about 30 years ago for the home of the late Edward Martin Taber, artist and writer, was sold at auction Saturday, the purchaser being H. E. Shaw of Stowe, and the price $11,750.

Mr. Wood of the Kennedy Real Estate Agency of New York City was the auctioneer. There were several people from out of town among those present, but there was only one other bidder besides Mr. Shaw.

Breaking the Law—Defacing Scenery

Men are now engaged in tacking up Sherbrooke fair signs on fences and telephone poles along the highways of Northern Vermont. The St. Albans Messenger thinks it is bad enough to have this thing done by our own people, but a foreign invasion is rubbing it in. Why tolerate it? There is a statute law against it. Why not have it enforced?—Daily Caledonian.

Mansfield Mountain Grange

A children's night program was carried out at the meeting of Mansfield Mountain Grange Saturday evening. The hall was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens, special features being screens of black-eyed susans and evergreens. The program included a farce, "Uncle John and Aunt Jerusha Visiting School," with F. L. Recor as Uncle John, Mrs. Laura Robinson as Aunt Jerusha and Mrs. Mertie Barrows as Emily; recitations by Evelyn Faunce, Catherine Faunce, Evelyn Slayton and George Slayton; "Baby's Toys" by Maurice Recor; song, Evelyn Slayton; and a pageant, "Coming of the Flowers," by 14 girls.

In its present condition the middle of the road (very dangerous) is better for foot passengers. The sidewalks and crossings all over the village should be kept clean.

Will Manage Knollwood Farm in Port Chester, N. Y.

F. Clifford Shaw, who has been visiting in town, left last Saturday for Port Chester, N. Y., where he goes to manage the Knollwood Farm owned by Edgar F. Price. The Knollwood Guernsey herd is now the largest in New York State and one of the best selected herds in the United States, not only because of blood lines, but also from the standpoint of production and conformation of the animals. In view of the convenient location of Knollwood Farm in proximity to New York, and the sanitary and healthful conditions under which the Knollwood herd is cared for, this herd will become increasingly interesting to Guernsey fanciers. Mr. Shaw recently finished his work at Langwater Farm, where the herd of 96 head of Guernsey cattle sold on May 25 of this year for $262,930, an average of over $2,700 per head. These animals were developed, fitted and the sale conducted under the personal direction of Mr. Shaw.
