

The Great Quitting Business Sale

Will be continued until the last dollar's worth is sold

Unless previously disposed of in one lot.

Every day we shall bring forward some Big Specialty.

For today it will be Boys Long Pant Suits that sold up to $12.50: not all sizes, but we can fit your boy, they will be fine for school wear and the price, think of it, a good servicable suit for $2.39. Watch the center table for these specials.

If you have not already taken advantage of this opportunity to save, would it not be well to investigate.

We thank you for the fine business you have given and the loyalty shown this store the past year.

And we wish you all the best of health and prosperity for the new year.

MORRISVILLE CHURCHES

Advent Christian Church Last Sunday morning the subject of the pastor was "The Value of a Guiding Star," from Matt. 2:10, and was an exemplification of the spirit of the Christmas season. The music was along the same line and included a solo by Mrs. Grace Freer. Mr.
Pender very feelingly expressed his appreciation to the church friends for their Christmas token of friendship and good will.

In place of the appointed leader, Mrs. Freer took charge of the service, using the season's topic.

In the evening the Christmas concert was given nearly as outlined, and was much enjoyed by the good-sized audience.

Everyone is invited to join in the mid-week prayer service Wednesday evening.

The pastor will speak next Sunday service.

In the evening the Loyal Workers' service will be combined with the usual evening service, at which time the pastor and Dr. Freer will unite for a service of special interest, and of an unusual character. There will be special music for the occasion and a surprise is in store for all who attend. Come see what it is.

Christian Science Society The services of this society are held every Sunday forenoon at 10:45 in the hall over E. W. Gates' store.

The subject for next Sunday will be "Christian Science."
Sunday School will be held at 9:45 Sunday morning.

Congregational Church
A report of the Christmas exercises and services will be found elsewhere.

Notice of the following annual meetings is published herewith: The annual meeting of the church will be held on Thursday evening at seven o'clock. The annual meeting of the Reliables will be held on Thursday evening at eight o'clock. The annual meeting of the Society will be held Jan. 1, 1923, at eight o'clock.

Next Sunday the yearly canvass for the support of the local church will be made.

Canvassers will meet for instruction at the home of H. A. Smalley immediately following the morning service, when a lunch will be served and progress reported. Members of the parish who are interested are invited to be present.

The subject of the sermon for the last Sunday of the year will be "Doors." Church School at noon. No evening meeting.

Episcopal Mission
Service next Sunday at N. E. O. P. hall will be as follows: Holy Communion and Christmas sermon at 10:45 a. m.

Methodist Episcopal Church The Epworth League will hold a social tomorrow evening immediately at the close of prayer meeting.

A large chorus choir rendered the Christmas music last Sunday morning, under the leadership of Mrs.
Alton Lawson. The program was so highly praised by the audience that the choir has been requested to furnish the same program next Sunday morning for the New Year's service.

An offering was taken in the Sunday School last Sunday morning for the needy children of Europe. The offering amounted to $36.70.

The Epworth League service last Sunday evening was led by Miss Barbara Raymore. A Christmas choir of boys and girls sang Christmas carols for the service and a Christmas story, "The Other Wise Man," was told in a pleasing way by Professor Morrow.

There was a large attendance at the service and a number of young people took part in the program. At the close of the meeting the church choir visited a number of the sick and shut-ins, singing Christmas carols to them and leaving church greetings, after which the choir went to the park and assisted in the singing in connection with the community tree.

The pastor will preach a New Year's sermon next Sunday morning.
At the close of the service the ushers will give out an artistic church calendar from the pastor, entitled "The Good Shepherd." This is quite a large calendar, being 11x14 inches, and has a picture from one of the leading art galleries of the world. We want that every one of the members and constituents shall have one of these calendars in their home during 1923.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. T. B. Ellis. The program will be rendered by Miss Marion Brooks, assisted by a number of young ladies.

Universalist Church
The Christmas service Sunday morning was very impressive. The choir, composed of Mrs. Walter Churchill, Mrs. Harold Ober and Miss Farr, soprano, Fred Ober and Eben Barrows, tenor, Mrs. Roy Stafford and Miss Elizabeth Powers, alto, and Harold Ober and Willard Sanders, bass, gave several selections which were exceptionally well rendered and added much to the beauty of the service. The organ duet by Mrs. Walter Churchill and Mrs.
Arthur Waite, and the work of Mrs.
Waite at the organ in the various numbers met with merited appreciation.

In the evening the exercises by the Sunday School, under the direction of Mrs. H. L. Stevens, the superintendent, were enjoyed by one of the largest audiences that has filled the beautiful auditorium in some time.
The program was carried out in an excellent manner and called forth many compliments. Those taking part were Charlotte Slayton, Mildred Fortier, Katherine Emmons, Eola Goodrich, George Goodrich, Jr., Katherine LeBaron, Billie Slayton, Donald Calkins, Charles Stafford, Spencer Isham, Loren Durett, Marguerite Smith, Caroline Chapin, Dorothy Tyrell, Slocum Chapin, James Goodrich, Rupert Reed, Harold

Eaton, Mary Sanders, Eileen Peck, Nellie Gill Hagar and Channing Adams.

There was a handsomely decorated tree with presents for all. Santa Claus arrived in time to assist in distributing the gifts.

The parish presented Mrs. Ellis and the pastor with a substantial purse of money. They received many other gifts and cards.

Success for the Christmas program must be given to the wonderful spirit of service of the members and friends of the church and school.

In the report of the Dec. 14 Christmas sale, Mrs. Peck, Mrs. George Goodrich and Mrs. Calkins should have been included among those assisting.

Sunday morning worship at 10:45; Church School at 11:50. Visitors cordially welcome to our services.

A Prize Winning Home for the Farm

THE planning of city homes has always received the close attention of architects but it is only within the last few years that they have been developing house plans essentially for the farm and arranged to fill the particular needs of the farmer. The good farm home must meet certain requirements that are not called for in city dwellings and in the accompanying plans these items have been carefully considered. These plans were awarded first prize in a contest recently held by the Illinois State Board of Agriculture and the Illinois Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

In designing this house the architect has kept in mind that it is to be essentially a home, and the main feature is a large living and dining room that extends entirely across the house, with a fireplace in the center.
Experiments have shown that centrally located fireplaces effect a saving of 12 per cent in fuel, as none of the heat is lost through the walls. The main room is 20 by 15 feet and provides an excellent social center with ample space for the family, the extra farm help and visitors.

The front of the house contains a bedroom and the library or farm office on either side of a small hall which leads from the front entry. The back of the house is divided between a men's room and the kitchen, with a convenient wash room between with toilet facilities. Nearby are several roomy closets, a clothes chute, the stairways and a separate entrance from the rear porch. The kitchen is well arranged with plenty of shelf space and a small screened porch where the farm wife can do much of the kitchen work in hot weather. A large screened dining porch on the side opens from the kitchen and the living room. Its spacious size, 11 by 24 feet, make it a most convenient place for serving meals in summer and during the harvest season.

The upstairs has been equally well designed. There are two large bedrooms, one of them being 15 feet square with a small fireplace and two large closets. Both bedrooms have windows on two sides. The bathroom and a convenient sewing room lie at the head of the stairs, while at the corner of the house there is a sleeping porch or balcony.

There is a basement under the entire house, provided with a concrete floor and walls which insure dryness and protection against rats and vermin. This makes it especially adaptable for storage of food supplies. The plans call for the construction of this house with concrete block and stucco. This form of construction, with an asbestos or cement shingle roof and the use of metal lath over plastered ceilings, assures a high degree of fire resistance and largely offsets the absence of fire protection in rural sections. The use of steel sash basement windows, a late invention in the building field, is also recommended.

These windows come directly from the factory with hinges and locks riveted on, and are less expensive than wood. Such windows will not warp, stick or rot and give fifty per cent more daylight than the older types.

This house is suitable for almost any section of the country. The concrete block walls assure a cool house in a warm climate and an easily heated house in cold climates.
The builder will, however, find it to his best interests, if he employs an architect to supervise construction and adapt the building to local conditions.
