HOLDUP FAILED,
One Bandit Killed and one Wounded in the Fight.
 Tried to Rob Gamblers

When Thieves Fall Out of Course There's Trouble—Hands Flew up When Bandits Entered the Dive—One Robber Fell Dead at First Shot
 Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8.—A special from Phoenix says:
 "One bandit killed and one wounded was the result of an attempt by three masked robbers to hold up the gambling house of Deel & Co. last night at Naco, a small but tough Arizona border town. The dead bandit has been identified as Will Cravens, of Dog Springs, New Mexico.

A group of gamblers and loungers pointed their hands toward the sky when the desperadoes entered the saloon at a late hour and abruptly demanded: "Hands up!" Cravens approached the roulette table and proceeded to fill a bag with the bank roll, amounting to several thousand dollars. E. P. Ellis whipped out a revolver before the movement was detected by the robbers and Cravens fell dead when he shot. The other bandits were demoralized and fled in disorder. One of them was wounded by another bullet from Ellis' revolver. They reached their horses, which were hitched in the brush and rode for the mountains, closely followed by a posse which had been hastily organized. The chase was exciting, the pursuers came so close to the robbers several times that shots were exchanged. The robbers have a fair chance of making their way into the mountains, but the trailers may dislodge them after a fight.
