OWOSSO, FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1897.

Ex-Gov. Rich while in Washington last week had several conferences with western senators in reference to the wool and lumber schedules and is reported as saying: "My purpose with regard to the wool schedule, is to secure the proper recognition of the difference between skirted and unskirted wools. The senate bill allows one cent per pound more on skirted wools of the first and second class than on the unskirted, but our wool growers know that this gives the importer a great advantage which cannot be offset by a difference of less than three cents in the rate on foreign skirted wools. I take no stock in the complaints of the eastern manufacturers with regard to the wool schedule, for it is certainly drawn chiefly in their interest." Gov. Rich does not apply his protection theory to the lumber schedule, but declares that Senator Aldrich and his colleagues have reduced the manufacturers' protection on finished lumber products. He thinks $1 is quite enough on rough lumber, but maintains that transportation does not serve as an adequate protection against the Canadian output of manufactured lumber.

How the Dingley Bill will Affect Home Industries.

That the Dingley bill, when passed by congress, will encourage American industries and bring a large amount of capital from foreign countries to be invested in manufacturing in this country, is already apparent.

The New York World, a paper bitterly opposed not only to the Dingley bill but to a protective policy, in its issue of May 3 made the following statement:

It is announced that a large German manufacturing company has purchased a tract of 600 acres on the line of the Amboy division of the Pennsylvania railroad, near Spotswood, N. J., ten miles from New Brunswick. On this tract will be founded a town. The company is to erect manufacturing plants which will employ about 4,000 hands. The name of the firm is withheld by its representatives, who state that the plant is to be erected in this country to escape the tariff duties, which would make their foreign goods unsalable in this country. Work will be started within two or three weeks.

Undoubtedly there are many manufacturers in Europe who have been sending large amounts of manufactured products to this country for sale, and by having cheaper labor and cheaper machinery than we have they are able to make their goods, send them here and sell them at a living profit, at such prices as the American manufacturers cannot produce them at. An addition of 15 or 20 per cent to the tariff duties would destroy their profit, and hence it will be cheaper for them to come over here, build factories and make their goods than it would be to have to pay our protective tariff on goods made abroad.

But what will such proceedings do for the American people? This one factory referred to, if built, will give employment to 4,000 hands who will, on an average, earn about $1 a day each, making $4,000 a day distributed in one little New Jersey city started for that purpose. Suppose 300 such factories were thus to open in New Jersey and in New York, that would employ about 1,200,000 hands who would earn $1,200,000 a day to be distributed among the laboring classes. Would not that furnish them with money to buy whatever they need? If 300 such factories were started they would be worth more to the American people than all the imported articles that are sent to this country from abroad. Allowing 300 working days a year, and the hands employed in those factories would receive about $360,000,000 annually. Those 300 factories might increase the manufactured products of this country to such an extent that those products would be sold to consumers at less cost than if we had a low tariff or free trade. When the foreign manufacturer can make products and sell them in this country at a less price than the American manufacturer, they will close up our factories and then raise the prices of those products, thus compelling our consumers to pay more for what they buy than they would if we had a protective tariff.

The statement of Peter Cooper that "We can buy nothing cheap of foreign countries that must be bought at the expense of keeping our own good raw material unused, and our own laborers unemployed," is worthy of the earnest consideration of every free-trader, the Evening Post, the World, the New York Times, the New York Herald, and all other mugwump low tariff and free-trade papers throughout the country.—American Economist.

President McKinley's Policy.
The platform upon which President McKinley was elected, said: "To all our products—to those of the mine and the field as well as those of the shop and factory—to hemp, to wool, to the product of the great industry of sheep husbandry, as well as to the finished woolsens of the mill, we promise the most ample protection." This is the policy which is to prevail under the administration of President McKinley. The history of the passage of the Wilson-Gorman law is a history of constant squabbling and bickering for individual advantage; of private deals and sectional favoritism. The industries of the sections whose votes were plentiful for the free traders were spared; the industries of protection communities were sacrificed. There was no rule or reason in the levying of the tariff except the invariable rule of serving private interests. The supporters of the bill well deserved the punishment which they received for their sacrifice of public interests to private gain. They apparently did not then understand that all the people of the country are mutually dependent upon one another, and that a few favored industries could not thrive if the other industries of the country were sacrificed. They have learned it now—or, if they have not, the rest of the people have. There will be no repetition of such disgraceful scenes at the passage of the next tariff law. The protective system is laid down on a broad basis of impartiality and patriotism. It sacrifices no section of the country, but to every industry within our borders and to all products, whether those of the north or the south, the east or the west, "ample protection" will be given.—American Economist.

SIMPLE ASSAULT.

Notorious Higby Case at an End—Defendant Fined $50.

After being out nearly 14 hours on Saturday the jury in the Higby case reached a verdict of simple assault. On the first ballot the vote stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction on the charge of rape, and the verdict as returned is understood to be a compromise brought about after long hours of argument and balloting.

When court opened Wednesday afternoon Higby was brought up for sentence and after reviewing the case at length Judge Smith sentenced him to pay a fine of $50 or in default thereof to be confined in jail for a period of three months. Higby promptly produced the cash, paid his fine and left the court room arm-in-arm with Viola Bush, one of the principal witnesses for the defense. Higby proceeded at once to the county clerk's office where he took out a license to wed Miss Bush.

The two trials of the case have cost Shiawassee county nearly $2,000.

Jackson for Ten Years.

John Buck, of Bennington township, who perforated the anatomy of his divorced wife with 23 caliber bullets on the night of Feb. 13th, was sentenced by Judge Smith on Monday to ten years at hard labor in the Jackson penitentiary. When the usual questions, as to why sentence should not be passed, were put to Buck, he declared that he remembered nothing of the shooting affair whatever and that it would never have taken place if he had been in his right mind. The duty of the court was plain, however, and he proceeded to pronounce sentence in accordance with the finding of the jury. Buck, who is in a very weak condition from his long confinement, broke down completely when he heard his fate as decreed by the court and the assistance of two officers was required to enable him to get down stairs to his cell.

Attys. Watson & Chapman, who defended the prisoner, will take the case to the supreme court on exceptions taken to the character of testimony admitted by the trial judge and also on alleged errors in the charge to the jury.

Sheriff Scougale took Buck to Jackson, Tuesday afternoon.

Of Interest to Fruit Growers.

Prof. Kedzie, of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, thinks he has a spray mixture more efficient as an insecticide than Paris Green, and which does not burn the foliage of the trees. It has the desirable requisite of being very cheap, costing less than four cents a barrel. It is prepared as follows:

Boil two pounds of white arsenic and four pounds of sal soda in two gallons of water for fifteen minutes, afterwards place in some earthen vessel, as a jug, cork tightly, label "poison," and place it away somewhere secure from the reach of anyone who might not know its use or appreciate its deadly nature. When you wish to spray the trees take two pounds of lime and stir into forty gallons of water, adding a pint of the mixture from the jug. There will be sufficient in the jug to prepare 800 gallons of the spray mixture, which with the cost of lime used, makes an outlay of 3 1/4 cents per barrel.

This spray mixture is very easily prepared, is cheap, and will keep for any length of time. It does not injure the foliage of the trees and can be evenly distributed. We, all of us, or many of us, at least, ought to profit from these discoveries.

DESPERATE HOBOS.

Durand Peace Officers Have a Lively Escapade.

Durand was treated to a genuine sensation, Tuesday night, by way of a fight between a number of tramps and the night police of that village.

Claud Hickey, a Grand Trunk car checker, discovered a tramp trying to break into a freight car about 6 o'clock in the evening and attempted to arrest him. The hobos proved too much for Hickey, and after stealing his watch and chain, struck him in the back with a knife, inflicting a painful but not dangerous wound. The would be murderer was pursued by a number of citizens who succeeded in capturing him two miles north of Durand. The captive was brought back and placed in the village lockup and Bert Jewell hired to watch the cage during the night. All went well until midnight, when three desperate looking tramps appeared on the scene, armed with a pickaxe and crowbar, evidently with the intention of securing the release of their comrade, who had done their cutting. Jewell snapped his revolver but the weapon missed fire and one of the trio returned the compliment by shooting Jewell through the left arm. The officer emptied his revolver at his assailants, who beat a hasty retreat and made good their escape. The man who done the stabbing was brought to Corunna Wednesday and will be tried on the charge of murderous assault. He bears all the evidence of being a hard character, and admits that he stabbed Hickey. Sheriff Scougale, with several deputies, is working on the case, and unless the tramps succeed in getting passage on an early morning train, they will surely be captured.

The railroad company have their special detective, Mr. Botcher, working with sheriff Scougale, and word has been received from several points, to the effect that the same tramps are wanted on the charge of burglary. The company complains of having lost considerable at Durand by having their freight cars broken open by thieving tramps.

AMERICANS AS A RULE

Are Not Favorably Disposed Towards Counterfeits.

Either counterfeit money or counterfeit goods of any kind. The U. S. court, sitting at Rochester, N. Y., has ordered an injunction against the sale of Grain-O in packages made to imitate the original Postum Cereal Food Coffee packages.

The counterfeit in this case was put out in packages having the red seals and much of the wording of Postum, and the non-discriminating public have been given this or some one of the other various imitations when calling at the stores for the original Postum Cereal Food Coffee.

These makers of articles to furnish grocers with which to "substitute" for some original article have little idea of hygiene or food value in a Cereal Coffee. Some counterfeits are offered in place of Postum because the package weighs 2 pounds while the genuine package weighs but 1 1/4 lbs. One counterfeit two-pound package looks like browned rye kernels ground. It is probably harmless enough but no idea of food value is there. Postum is made by skillful food experts, 70 per cent, being secured from the parts of the cereals containing the albumen and phosphates required by the human body to rebuild the gray matter in the nerve cells. This part also produces the disastae which digest starch. That's why Postum "makes red blood" and why thoughtful people use it regularly. Buyers should look for the red seals and the registered U. S. trade mark.

Grocers sell the original and genuine Postum at 15 and 25 cents a package.
