

My Hair Ran Away

Don't have a falling out with your hair. It might leave you! Then what? That would mean thin, scraggly, uneven, rough hair. Keep your hair at home! Fasten it tightly to your scalp! You can easily do it with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is something more than a simple hair dressing. It is a hair medicine, a hair tonic, a hair food.

THE OWOSSO TIMES

EDMUND O. DEWEY, EDITOR.

OWOSSO, FRIDAY, JUNE 26, 1908

All for Slocum.

Under the heading "Fred Slocum's Primary Reform League," the Caro Advertiser, published by A. D. Galery, has some pointed things to say about the former publisher of the Advertiser and former postmaster of Caro. The Advertiser says:

"The fact of the matter is Fred Slocum is and has been from its inception the Tuscola County Primary Reform League. He conceived the idea when he became convinced that he could not retain the support of Congressman Fordney for re-appointment as postmaster, and immediately set about the work of erecting a machine with which to fight the organization which, up to that time, he had supported with his whole strength.

The suddenness of the change is seen by referring to the files of the Advertiser. In its issue of January 24, 1908, there appeared an editorial copied from the Saginaw Courier-Herald, at the personal request of Mr. Slocum, explaining the action of the Owoosso convention regarding the candidacy of Speaker Cannon; a convention which Mr. Slocum attended, filled a vacant place on the delegation and voted for Mr. Fordney and Mr. Dewey."

Again the Advertiser says:

"A calm and dispassionate survey of the list of active 'members' residing in Caro, must lead all acquainted with their political activities in the past, to the conclusion that they were actuated, in the formation of the 'league' by motives of personal profit or personal revenge."

"Men in other parts of the county were naturally deceived by the loud claims of interest the 'league' took in securing 'the greatest good to the greatest number,' and a number of them are still laboring under the delusion that there is a large central organization working for the general welfare of the county, while in fact no regular meetings are held, there are no 'headquarters' other than the private office of Mr. Slocum, and nobody outside of the chosen few, is consulted concerning the 'real work of the league.'"

"When the editor of the Advertiser refused to follow the lead of its brilliant but erratic former owner, the latter promptly transferred his affections to the opposition sheet, a paper which has never supported a single Republican principle, or a single person now holding office in the county; (this is the same paper from which the Argus recently quoted an article against Cong. Fordney and booming his opponent.—Ed. Times.) promoted a deal whereby a half-interest changed hands, a figure head editor was imported, and a vehicle was secured from which vials of wrath, vituperation and abuse have been discharged.

"But, Oh! the pity of it all. After a somewhat stormy but successful career of a quarter of a century as publisher of the Advertiser, being honored by eight years incumbency of the Caro postoffice, one of the best political berths in the county, Mr. Slocum turned his back on many of his friends, who had worked with and for him for many years, and in apparent spirit of 'rule or ruin,' has been engaged in an effort strongly tending to disrupt the Republican party in Tuscola county.

"In no other place has an organization been thought necessary to instruct the people how to choose candidates for office under the primary system. Yet the system is said to be generally satisfactory wherever in use and since its adoption in this county no other sentiment has been heard than a desire to have the next legislature enact a state wide law compelling its use by all parties. Where, then, is the necessity for a 'League' in Tuscola county?"

"For Mr. Slocum personally, The Advertiser has only pity. The loss of the postoffice has taken away a comfortable income, he has stated that all of his property in Caro is for sale, and it is a subject of common report that immediately after election he will leave the county, some say to go to Detroit; others that he will not stop short of California. In either case, let us hope that far from the scene of his great trouble, he may recover that genial and reposeful manner, evenness of temper and conspicuous regard for the feelings, rights and general good of all mankind that characterized his every word and act previous to his fight to retain the Caro postoffice."

Blue Ribbon Meeting

More than one hundred trotters and pacers are taking their daily work at the Detroit fair grounds where the annual opening of the grand circuit will be held July 27 to 31. Everybody who comes is pleased with the work on the track, the new surface making it one of the best in the country, and assuring plenty of speed when the Blue Ribbon events are held.

Scott McLane, of Coldwater, one of the best trainers in the business has four heads, including Octoo, 2:10 1/4 (trotting) and Auto, 2:07 3/4 (pacing). A few days ago Octoo stepped the stretch quarter in 30 3/4 seconds, or at a rate of a mile in 2:03 which shows the excellence of the new soil.

Applications for stable room have been received from all over the country and it is expected that by July 1 there will be 200 high class harness performers at the grounds.

Reports from Peoria, Columbus, Terre Haute, Memphis and other places where horses are being trained for the Detroit stake events, are to the effect that they are coming along finely and showing plenty of speed. The field in the M. & M. stake promises to be the largest in years and in it will be half a dozen evenly matched trotters that have shown ability to beat 2:10. The absence of a speed marvel like Sonoma Girl lends to the attractiveness of the race, which this year should be one of the best contests on the American turf.

WILL UNIONS FOLLOW AN UNWISE LEAD?

We fail to comprehend what Samuel Gompers expects to gain for the American Federation of Labor by attempting to force a line of political battle over the injunction question. Unionism owes its growth and influence largely to public belief that labor has a right to organize for mutual benefit upon lines not interfering with public safety or the right of every man to work.

Whenever unionism has gone beyond these bounds it has suffered in the same measure that has organized capital in attempting to dictate legislation. President Gompers practically demands the elimination of injunction procedure by the courts as applied to labor. At Chicago he met the committee on resolutions and it was shown to him that of a total of 22 cases, where injunctions have been applied in labor disputes, 18 of the number were due to violence. Where is the discipline of unionism or anti-unionism who dares to defend violence and charge that courts of law shall not be used to restrain such action?

The Republican platform declares for some amendment to the injunction laws where violence does not exist and this is as far as safety and right can be insured. Mr. Gompers will attempt to secure his entire platform at Denver and it remains to be seen what privileges will be accorded him. In the meantime unionism on a sober intelligent basis is showing more growth by keeping free from political affiliation, bending its every effort to act in co-operation with friendly employers, than it can ever possibly gain by asking impossible class legislation.

When a demand is made that injunctions shall not be applied in cases of violence labor unionism has walked upon ground that is sure to cause reaction and a weakening of its cause. We do not believe that sober minded members of Mr. Gompers' affiliated unions will follow his unwise lead.—Pontiac Press-Kazette.

The Grand Trunk has issued a new timetable, which took effect last Sunday. The only changes on the Detroit and Milwaukee division are that the noon train, east bound, No. 22, now goes a minute earlier than formerly—at 11:35 instead of 11:37. The westbound afternoon train, No. 13, arrives at 3:01 instead of 3:03. The timetable is issued chiefly because the two summer fast trains have been put back on the main line. These are No. 13, westbound, leaving Durand at 2:48 p. m., and No. 14, eastbound, leaving the Hub at 10:02 p. m.

Nearly two hundred members of the Episcopal Sunday school and parish enjoyed a pleasant picnic at McCurdy park Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Ira Barnes, of Byron, attended the Elks' initiation in this city Tuesday evening.

Would Nominate Ferris.

Grand Rapids, June 24.—"I believe W. N. Ferris, of Big Rapids will be the Democratic candidate for governor this fall," said Stanley E. Parkill, of Owoosso, one of the delegates to the state tuberculosis meet Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Parkill is one of the best known Democrats in the state, having been mayor of Owoosso three times. He is a leading druggist there.

"I had a talk with Mr. Ferris at Howell recently and from his attitude then I think he will make the race if his friends want him. He'll win, too. And he'll make a mighty good governor."

"What about Hemans?" "He'd make a good governor, too, but I hardly believe he is as strong before the people of the state, as Mr. Ferris. He is an excellent man, however."

Detroit is still speculating over what Ferris meant when he said in that city recently that he would take the Democratic nomination for governor "only under extraordinary circumstances."

The Detroit Journal figures out that the most likely set of "extraordinary circumstances" in Mr. Ferris' mind would be the failure of the Republicans to name a candidate in the primary, throwing the selection into the convention where the old machine might dominate. The next best bet is the selection of Johnson as president by the Democrats, still in the opinion of the Journal.

HE'S STILL SMILING

LOCAL REPUBLICAN SAYS THAT FORDNEY'S POSITION STRENGTHENED BY CONVENTION

One of Cannon's Best Friends Landed as Vice-President, a Victory for the Two Joes.

From the Press-American.

A local Republican who does not openly ally himself with either faction, Fordney or anti-Fordney, has the following to say of the congressman:

"It seems to me that Fordney has a license to keep on smiling. His enemies expected him to come to grief in the Chicago convention because of supposed opposition to Taft, but they are grievously disappointed. He showed great finesse in a delicate situation, and gained considerable ground, I think.

"Taft was nominated, which was presumably not what Fordney wanted. But the fact that Taft would win was conceded for weeks, so the effects of that setback were discounted, and Fordney could bend all his energies to other details of the game.

"Well, he landed on the resolutions committee, which showed good management on his part, and poor politics on the part of his enemies. He was in the thick of the injunction resolutions fight, but managed to keep the Michigan delegation with him, which also makes him stronger.

"Then he and his friend, Uncle Joe Cannon, could not have had a more satisfactory nomination for vice-president had they made it themselves, for Sherman and the two Joes are cronies personally and politically. With a personal friend on the tail-end of the national ticket, Fordney cannot be accused of lukewarmness in that ticket's support, for the success or failure of Taft means the success or failure of Sherman. The man who works for one must work for both.

"Really, Fordney came out of that convention more firmly entrenched than ever, for his course was skillful and consistent, while the Michigan delegation as a whole, by backing and filling so much, cut but a sorry figure. I guess Joseph's scalp is too firmly fastened on to be lifted by Mr. Fitzgerald and his allies this campaign."
