

WARNER SPEAKS TO MANY.

Visits Sixteen Towns in One Day on Campaign Tour.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 27.—Governor Warner's special pulled out of Jackson Monday morning for a hard day's work. Sixteen towns were visited, speeches made in them all by Governor Warner, ex-Governor and now State Treasurer John T. Rich, United States Senator Burrows, Congressman Gardner, A. E. Sleeper, candidate for state treasurer; Candidate for State Senator Kingdom of Kalamazoo and numerous others who joined the party on the way.

In all, about 7,000 people were addressed. The route was from Jackson to Parma, then Albion, Homer, SENATOR JULIUS C. BURROWS.

Litchfield, Jonesville, Hillsdale, Quincy, Coldwater, Bronson, Burr Oak, Sturgis, White Pigeon, Constantine, Three Rivers, Schoolcraft and Kalamazoo. In addition, a couple of stops were made at cross roads where the governor got out and shook hands. Governor Warner was unable to make a very long speech anywhere along the route and confined himself to two points, these being the claims made by his opponent, Lawton T. Hezmas, that gross extravagance has been practiced in the state administration and, secondly, the Glazier matter.

Ex-Governor Rich will accompany the party all the way, and he makes the strong point in his speeches the assertion that Governor Warner could not have had anything to do with the Glazier failure.

SPOKE WITH VIGOR.

Taft Speaks to Brooklyn Citizens and People of Neighboring Towns.

New York, Oct. 27.—Devoting Monday to a trip into Connecticut and the evening to speech making in Brooklyn, William H. Taft's first day of active campaigning on his present visit to this section was prosecuted by him with both vigor and earnestness.

While the day, despite its call for a speech of some length in New Haven and a shorter one at Port Chester on the return trip to New York, was one of comparative ease for the Republican candidate, the calls that were made upon him in Brooklyn last night were such as to keep him actively occupied every moment of his time. When the candidate entered that portion of Greater New York, late in the afternoon, he found himself fairly overwhelmed with engagements. Before the night was over he had made five speeches, eaten dinner with a hundred prominent Republicans as the guest of Republican State Chairman Timothy Woodruff, reviewed a parade which, in spite of somewhat adverse weather conditions, was impressive in its size and inspiring in its enthusiasm, and then attended a reception at the Union League club.

The feature of the trip into Connecticut was the New Haven meeting. Here, with football enthusiasm, the candidate pledged the support of a large portion of the student body of Yale, through the presentation of a handsomely bound memorial containing many pages of signatures.

The candidate delivered a pointed review of the campaign issues, in which he held up the importance of the maintenance of the protective principle and the rehabilitation of business confidence. The speech was punctuated by the Yale yell, which ended with "Taft, Taft, Taft." Enthusiasm and friendliness were everywhere apparent.

At Port Chester, on the way back, a tremendous crowd had assembled for the purpose of listening to both William J. Bryan and Mr. Taft, who were each due there about the same time. Judge Taft reached there first.

The Woonsocket (R. I.) Gas company is replacing its old meters by new ones, as they were all slow. This was discovered by a consumer who objected to his bill being too large. Upon testing the meter it was found to be 37 per cent slow, and then he was sorry.—Progressive Age.

POSITIVE PROOF

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Owosso.

Because its the evidence of an Owosso citizen.

Testimony easily investigated. The strongest endorsement of merit. The best proof. Read it: Mrs. James Helt, living at 1111 Mary St., Owosso, Mich., says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills in our family for over ten years and they have always given entire satisfaction. While living in Huntington, W. Va., my husband suffered from an attack of typhoid fever, and when he recovered found that his kidneys had been effected. He suffered terribly with his back, the pains at times extending to his shoulder blades and the back of his head. The secretions from the kidneys were much to frequent, highly colored, and contained sediment. After moving here he procured Doan's Kidney Pills and they were the first remedy that ever gave him any benefit. Mr. Helt feels that he could not get along without Doan's Kidney Pills and I have used them myself for backache and the results have been very satisfactory. We are both strong advocates of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Not Exempt From Taxation.

The supreme court of Vermont has just decided that a municipal lighting plant that furnishes commercial service or that supplies street lights to another town is not exempt from taxation. This decision is in line with those of other states.

We, the undersigned citizens and property owners and located at or near the corner of Shipman and Stewart streets would respectfully petition your body of a quantity of hose, nozzle and wrench etc., to be used in case of fire as it is a long distance from the fire department committee.

We fully pledge the care and protection of the same.

Signed: Haycraft & Son, W. G. Haycraft, W. Ballou, L. Wardwell and 16 others.

On motion the Board of Public Works was instructed to look up the matter of laying water main on North Washington street and Galusha street.

The following communication was presented and on motion same was accepted and placed on file:

Owosso, October 19th, 1908. To the Hon. Arthur Dumond, City Clerk in and for the City of Owosso.

Dear Sir:—I hereby suspend the immediate operation of a resolution passed by the Common Council Monday evening Oct. 19th, 1908, granting permission to the Owosso & Coruna Electric Co. to move its poles on a part of West Main St. out to the curb line of said St. for the following reasons:

1st. That I believe the poles would be very unsightly if so moved.

2nd. That the above named Co. should be given such permission to set poles it should be compelled to set iron poles.

3rd. The residents and property owners on West Main St. have expressed a desire not to have the poles so placed, and I believe their wishes should be respected in this matter.

4th. The poles of the O. & C. E. Co. are now on a line with the poles of the Telephone Co. and should be removed to the street a very unsightly appearance.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WALLACE D. BURKE, Mayor.

On motion adjourned until November 5th. ARTHUR H. DUMOND, City Clerk.

Taft's Kindness to Blind.

Overrules Washington Monument Regulation for Benefit of the Sightless.

The kind heartedness of Mr. Taft and his sincere, common sense sympathy with the unfortunate in this world has just been brought to the attention of the blind in a peculiar way. Away up in the top of the Washington monument, where thousands go to behold the beauties of the nation's capital, the Columbia Polytechnic institute, which seeks to make it possible for the adult blind of the United States to rise above conditions of dependence by becoming self sustaining, placed on sale souvenir post cards manufactured by its blind. Some sentimental persons took the view that this was undignified and succeeded in having the superintendent of public buildings and grounds order the cards removed. F. E. Cleveland, principal of the Institute, appealed to Mr. Taft, then secretary of war and within whose jurisdiction came the office of public buildings and grounds. It took only a few words to convince the secretary that the blind should have the benefit of this privilege, and the cards were again placed on sale in the monument.

"For this action," said Principal Cleveland in discussing the incident, "Mr. Taft deserves the gratitude of every blind person, particularly the progressive blind, who are striving to help their less fortunate fellows."

In Georgia the electors must have a majority, and with Watson, Higen and Chasin pulling away from them the Bryanites are becoming apprehensive.

OUR NEED OF WATER.

Muscles Made Elastic and Temperature Regulated by Moisture.

Physiologists tell us that the animal body consists of almost 80 per cent of water. Admitting this to be true, it would seem plausible, says the Medical Record, that this quantity is necessary in order to carry on the normal physiological processes of the animal economy in proper condition.

For similar reasons it would also appear plausible that should this quantity in any way be greatly reduced or diminished, either through normal processes of the body or through abnormal processes, this lost quantity must immediately be resupplied. Should such a withdrawal of water be permitted to be unduly prolonged the disorders will assume such grave dimensions that life itself may ultimately be terminated.

Elasticity and pliability of muscles, nerves, cartilage, tendons and even bones depend mainly on the amount of water they contain. Water also serves as a distributor of bodily heat and regulates the body temperature by the physical process of absorption and elimination.

Under normal conditions and in a proper degree of health this supply is ordinarily furnished partly by the food and partly by the drink we are daily consuming. An overindulgence in the use of water, provided it is not carried to excess, will seldom if ever be productive of any deleterious consequences.

A Bad Railway Wreck. A recent issue of the London Engineer contains an account of a railway accident in Australia in which forty-eight persons were killed and 419 were injured. The Australian correspondent writes:

"After the accident the state of affairs was rendered more horrible by a fire which broke out. Unlike the American trains, Australian trains are not fitted with axes, hammers, jacks and such appliances to facilitate the removal of the victims after an accident, and a great deal of the trouble and even many of the deaths may be directly traced to the delay in extricating the sufferers from the burning debris.

"Not only is Victoria an example of a country where the railways are entirely owned and controlled by the state, but for many years it has been held up as a model of the advantages which follow that political system. At one time in this state of Victoria public safety was regarded as of greater consequence than revenue. Latterly, however, the local press has been complaining that too great economies are being practiced for safety."

The Shadow of Socialism.

The tendency of municipal ownership to extend beyond the field of public utilities into the realm of ordinary business is illustrated by protests from widely separated localities.

In Seattle a dealer in electrical supplies has filed a petition asking that the city be restrained from competing with him, alleging that the sale or lease by the city of fixtures and other materials is not permitted by its charter. He holds that the competition is unfair because the city makes no profit on its transactions.

In Leeds, England, the Master Builders' association has made a report advocating the abolition of the city works department, in which it submits that "the true interests of the workmen are not advanced and that municipal trading of this character is most unfair to private traders, that its continuance is against public policy, and last, but not least, that it is indefensible on financial grounds."

Municipal ownership in England has already driven hundreds of private firms out of business, and the people are awakening to the fact that further extension of municipal trading means socialism pure and simple.
