SEN. BRADLEY UNDER FIRE
Ross Appoints Committee to Investigate Extortion Charge.

SESSION'S FIRST SCANDAL
Suffragettes Are Not Discouraged by Their Defeat in the House Last Week, and Will Carry Battle to the Senate—Representative Green Found Dying in His Room.

(Special Correspondence).
Lansing, Mich.—The scene of interest has shifted from the house to the senate during the last days of the past week. The public press and the members of the legislature have become thoroughly aroused over the alleged attempt of hold-up charged against Senator Bradley of the Ionia-Montcalm district, by Sherman Townsend, former assistant sergeant-at-arms of the senate, who was relieved from his duties last week.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR ROSS.

Who Has Appointed a Committee to Investigate the Charge of Extortion Against Senator Bradley.
affair, and stated that if Senator Bradley would not ask for such an investigation that some other senator would offer a resolution calling for an investigation committee.

Thoroughly aroused by this action and the charges, Senator Bradley demanded an investigation, and Lieutenant Governor Ross promptly appointed Senators Miller of Detroit, Taylor of Kalamazoo and Watkins of Jackson on such committee.

Lieutenant Governor Ross is determined to go to the very bottom of the charges and will give the committee all the time and assistance necessary to probe this, the first scandal of the session.

Suffragettes Not Discouraged.
The suffragettes who led the fight for an amendment to the state constitution giving women equal voting rights with men are not discouraged, but will renew the battle for equal rights at the other end of the capitol, in the senate chamber, where they have transferred their activities for the present.

possible, so that the present legislature may derive the benefit of the findings of the commission.
Abolish State Boards.
In line with Governor Osborn's suggestion in reducing the number of state boards and centralizing the management of state institutions, a bill will be introduced in the house this week repealing the act which created the board of corrections and charities. The powers and duties of this board will be transferred to the Michigan state board of control, for the creation of which a bill is drawn. It is contemplated in the bill to merge the eighteen boards which now control the penal, charitable and reformatory institutions of the state into one board, consisting of three members, with a secretary and assistant secretary. This bill, if enacted into law, will terminate the official existence of over sixty board members.

The bill provides for an architect, who shall be an officer of the board, and who shall draw plans for all improvements, betterments and new buildings to be erected by the state and also supervise all building done either by state labor or contract. This will do away with the services of eighteen architects and will bring uniformity among the buildings of the state in the future.

Bank Guarantee Fund.
Representative Bricker of Ionia has introduced a bank guarantee bill in the house. A similar measure was introduced in the senate by Senator Bradley. The bill is modeled along the plans of the Kansas and Oklahoma laws and provides for assessments, by the various banks participating in the scheme. Banks that become insolvent, if members, insure their depositors full protection of their deposits. While some opposition is looked for against the bill from certain bankers, the passing of this bill will induce greater confidence in the security of the banks.

More Power For Tax Commission.
In order to give the tax commission greater power to review and increase the assessments made by the assessing officers of the state, Representative Lord will introduce a bill which clearly defines the powers of the tax commission and authorizes its members to raise any assessment upon complaint or upon evidence that the assessment was not made at the true cash value. The members of the legislature realize that something must be done to raise the general valuation of the state and thus reduce the average tax rate.

The railroads are complaining that the rate is too high and that the general property of the state is assessed far below its actual value, while the railroad are assessed to the full extent of their appraised valuation. The railroads claim that unless some effort is made by the legislature to secure a lower tax rate, they will refuse to pay their taxes in April, and will carry their case into the courts.

This would result in tying up the primary school fund, and hundreds of school districts and cities in the state would be in a serious predicament next fall, for there would be no money to pay teachers' salaries, as the money derived from the primary school fund is always taken into consideration when making up the school budget.

Representative Green's Death.
Representative Charles M. Green of Port Huron, representing the First district of St. Clair county in the legislature, died suddenly Friday noon in his room in this city. Mr. Green had attended the morning session of the house, and complained to some of his friends about pains in his chest. He left the capitol to go to his room and was found there shortly after by a fellow roomer, who was attracted by the screams of the dying man.

Speaker Baker called an informal session of the house and informed the members of Mr. Green's death. The speaker appointed Representatives Haviland of St. Clair, Bricker of Ionia, Warner of Benzie, Straight of Branch and Henry of Calhoun as members of the house committee to take charge of the body and represent the house at the funeral.

Mr. Green was a member of the houses of 1897 and 1899 and is survived by a widow, two sons and one daughter, and was a prosperous farmer and real estate dealer.
The governor has not determined as yet whether he will order a special election for a successor to Green or leave the district without representation for the remainder of the session. It is the opinion of a number of representatives that the governor will order an election on account of the early period of the present session.

HOUSE PASSES RECIPROCITY BILL
Measure Voted for by 221 Members and Opposed by 92.

LARGE MAJORITY PLEAS TAFT
Night Session of House Avoided—Bill Now Goes to Senate, Where Outlook for Passage is Bright.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The McCall bill, embodying the administration's reciprocity agreement with Canada, was passed by the house of representatives by a vote of 221 to 92. Five Democrats and 87 Republicans voted against the bill. It now goes to the senate, where chances for its passage are becoming brighter. President Taft received the news of the big vote in the house with great satisfaction.

If it had not been for a gag rule hurriedly reported by Representative Boutelle, of Illinois, from the committee on rules, after that body had held a hasty meeting, there would have been a session on the reciprocity bill at night with little prospect of a vote before Thursday. But the gag did the trick. The Democrats, who in the past have awakened the echoes of the chamber with their denunciations of similar propositions, designed to make them swallow anobnoxious doses in a single gulp, received this one with joy. They were undaunted by criticism and undisturbed by sneers.

Representative Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, smashed flat by the steam roller, of which he was formerly the arbitrary and efficient engineer, uttered but a brief and feeble protest. Just as the roller was about to pass over his form he rose to his feet and inquired in a mournful tone:
"But, Mr. Boutelle, does not this rule provide for the passage without chance of amendment of a bill which has not even been read?"
"It does," replied Mr. Boutelle, who did not give the impression of a man having a good time.

"Yes," interjected Mr. Butler, of Pennsylvania, who has a reputation for frankness that he endeavors to sustain on all occasions, "and it isn't anything new either. I have voted for lots just like it in the past."
Dalzell said nothing, but shook his head sadly and sat down.
