Why He Was Late.
"What made you so late?"
"I met Smithson."
"Well that was no reason why you should be an hour late getting home to supper."
"I know, but I asked him how he was feeling and he insisted on telling me about his stomach trouble."
"Did you tell him to take Chamberlain's Tablets?"
"Sure, that is what he needs."

School Entertainment.

By JUSTUS A. MILLER.
The Hodson schoolhouse in District 50 was the scene of a very interesting amusement participated in by the natural-born teacher, Miss Kate E. Boblit, the pupils and some outsiders.

While all the pupils and the persons that assisted in the carrying out of the well selected program, played their respective parts well. Much credit is due to Miss Boblit, a practical ideal teacher of rare pedagogical attainments and a heart-and-soul co-educator of Morrow county, who labored assiduously to make this entertainment a brilliant success.

A supper consisting of savory cakes and luscious pies, prepared by the of the district, appeased the appetite of the "inner man" of every one present.

The following program was rendered:

Words of Welcome.
I'm Glad I'm not a Girl.
Little Violets.
A Spelling match, creditably performed by C. Miller, Edgar Copenhaver and L. Ashinbust.
Kate's Kitchen.
A Terrible Tragedy.

Song: "Last Rose of Summer" with organ accompaniment, which was well rendered, with rich, full melodious voices, by Miss Winnifred Smith, the most beautiful young lady within Cupid's domain of this district, Mrs. White and two other persons.
Song: "Oregon Grapes," rendered with the same skill by the same singers.

The Oirish Student.
Negro Sermon, given by Mr. J. Moory, who by the way, would make a star performer on the vaudeville stage.

Dialogue by Miss Boblit and Mrs. A. Finley. Both ladies performed their respective roles well and both could, by proper training, become rising stars in the theatrical world.

Grover B. Swagart delighted the attentive audience with his skill and ingenuity in the art of elocution.

J. A. Miller gave a brief discussion on the Public School and the English Language.

Fresh buttermilk every day—from the Lexington Creamery for 15c per gallon at the Palm.

Dr. Winnard has taken a special course on eye diseases and is prepared to fit glasses properly.
