School Notes.

By S. M. Notson.)

On March 28, I visited the school in District No. 30. This school is under the direction of Miss Penola McMurry. This school is small, but the pupils are making excellent progress.

The next school I visited is in District No. 14. J. W. Morris is the teacher. The pupils are interested in their work and are doing good work. Several framed pictures add to the attractiveness of the room. The pupils of this school are greatly interested in the school contest.

The following day, I visited the school in District No. 52, where I found Mrs. M. A. Chamberlain and eight pupils enthusiastically working away. The school room has been neatly papered since my former visit. Some new pictures have been placed upon the walls. This school possesses a beautiful flag. I noted quite a school garden in the yard. The boys have been doing some work in manual training, having been allowed the use of Mr. Leon Logan's shop. I was pleased with the work in drawing from Nature, and with the calligraphic drill by the pupils. The pupils of this school will also enter the school contest.

The Danger After Grip.

lies often in a run down system, weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys often follow an attack of this wretched disease. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the glorious tonic, blood purifier and regulator of stomach, liver and kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system and restore to health and good spirits after an attack of Grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50 cents. Sold and perfect satisfaction guaranteed by Slocum Drug Co.

W. L. Copenhaver, of Sand Hollow, visited Heppner on Saturday. He has ordered this family journal to the address of his father, S. Copenhaver, of Iconium, Mo., for the space of one year.

OREGON IN THE UNITED STATES SENATE

—By permission of the Morning Oregonian

Portland, Oregon, April 9—Nothing in recent years has jarred Oregon so severely from Innaha to Bandon as the unfolding of the true conditions which exist in Senator Jonathan Bourne's cotton mills at Fall River, Mass. The information received regarding the wage scale, manner in which employes are treated, the tenement houses used as homes and the general squalor that surrounds the people who work in the Bourne mills has caused every true friend of labor in Oregon to rise up in righteous wrath against this man who has incessantly preached "Let the people rule" in Oregon, and who has been grinding down the working man in his eastern sweatshop.

Oregon has never known a great deal of Bourne's business career until right now. There was a vague idea that he was a multi-millionaire, his wealth having been left him by relatives, but few people, if any, knew what that wealth consisted of. It now develops that Bourne's enormous income is made from the product of the labors of men who draw all the way from $5 to $12 per week; that children are employed extensively; that old men are held at their posts of duty at a very low wage, and that misery and absolute want abide in many of the homes around the Bourne mills at Fall River.

Probably the senior senator would have continued the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde game indefinitely had not the strikers in Massachusetts called attention to the Bourne mills, and Oregon people, being anxious to know something of the attitude of their senator toward labor, investigated the industrial side of his career.

It is safe to say that the laboring man in Oregon, regardless of former opinion, are set against Bourne from now on. His mills are "open shop," his wage scale is too low to insure the necessities of life to employes, hence laboring people of Oregon are now denouncing the senator in terms that have a straight and direct meaning.

IT WILL DO IT

Let the AKERS PATENT FASTENER reduce your draper troubles to a minimum this season.

The fastener, which is illustrated here, is stamped from sheet steel, having two blades struck up from each jaw which are driven into the stick when the jaws are set up.

This holds the stick as if it is a vice. There are no rivets going through the stick to weaken or split it. We use the best No. 6 duck, straight grained ash sticks and first quality leather belt. We guarantee the quality and we guarantee the workmanship. These drapers will cost you no more than other makes and they will save you much time and annoyance. Don't fail to use one on your Harvester or Header this season.
