COUNCIL MEETS TO PAY ROAD BILLS

Cemetery Hill Road Bills Paid—Slack Attendance of Councilmen.

Council proceedings for the regular monthly meeting on Monday night are somewhat in keeping with the vacation season. The attendance of members was somewhat brief, owing to the absence from the city of several councilmen, and Recorder Williams was prevented from being on hand owing to indisposition. Accordingly no matters of business were attended to except the passing on bills.

Work has been progressing on the cemetery hill road, and the most of the claims against the city are for this improvement.

Some ordinances that were ready for passage, were laid on the table awaiting a better attendance of the council before final action is taken. Bills audited and allowed as follows:

Shipped First Wool in 1872.

Tom Morgan was a visitor in our city Monday on his way home from The Dalles, where he had been called on account of the death of a brother. While here he remarked about the prosperous appearance of our town and expressed his satisfaction at the way Arlington has improved in the past few years.

Mr. Morgan is an old pioneer of this part of the state, having settled on Rhea creek in 1871, moving to Heppner in '81. While living on Rhea creek he often made trips to this place before there was any town here, as it was a shipping point where the steamboats would load and unload freight, and called to mind that he shipped the first consignment of wool that was ever shipped from here, it being in 1872, and the boats at that time landed somewhere near the present stockyards.—Arlington Independent.

No Chance to Make Wages.

Quite a few citizens of Morrow county have been induced to seek work on the extension of the government irrigation project in the vicinity of Coyote. Chas. Reid, a prominent farmer of here, called at this office while in town a short time on Friday. He had just returned from the government ditch where himself and two men had been at work for some time. He had 26 horses for men and horses would not leave a man six bits a day after he had paid his expenses. The way the work is carried on is very unsatisfactory to the laborers of this sort and Mr. Reid was glad to be relieved and return home with his teams which he will put to work on his own place preparing his summer-fallow for receiving the seed of another harvest.

E. G. Noble and wife, accompanied by Mrs. R. M. Smith and Miss Rosa E. Smith, mother and sister of Mrs. Noble, motored to Pendleton and Walla Walla on Friday, returning to Heppner Sunday evening. They enjoyed a very pleasant trip. Mrs. Smith and daughter, who have been visiting the past two weeks at this city, departed for their home at Monmouth, Oregon, yesterday. Miss Smith was a teacher in the Heppner schools one winter some years ago.

Mrs. Patrick Cave, a daughter of Mrs. Enoch Cave, of this city, has been removed from her home in Portland to a hospital in that city to be operated upon. She has been a sufferer for some time and her ailment has developed into Bright's disease. Her physicians have hopes that an operation will bring relief and restore her to health. Mrs. Cave has many friends at this place who hope for her speedy recovery.

IRRIGON.

M. F. Wadsworth took a flying trip across the river Monday.

Chas. Caldwell is slightly disabled from having his foot stepped on by a heavy horse.

Jack Kennedy made a short trip over to Ione the first of the week to visit a sister.

Ed Susbauer, of Cornelius is in Irrigon visiting at the home of his uncle, Pete Susbauer.

Harvey Lester returned home from Ione, where he has been working at harvest for the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. Finley drove over to Lexington last Friday, returning Sunday with their small nephew, George Finley.

Oscar Corey arrived home last week from Heppner where he has been in the sanatorium with a crippled knee.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Finley went up to Hermiston Monday afternoon for a short visit with friends, returning Tuesday night.

A coyote was killed in town somewhere in the vicinity of Corey's store last Saturday, by Ralph Walpole. Several men and boys were after it with guns but Ralph sent the fatal bullet. The head of the animal was sent to Portland for examination.

Church Notice.

Elizabeth Ware, county evangelist, will speak Sunday morning at Liberty Schoolhouse, and at the M. E. church at Lexington Sunday night. All are invited to attend.

The Former Heppner Woman Dies.

Very sad intelligence was received by friends in Heppner of the sudden death, from heart trouble, of Mrs. Flossie Sheppard, at her home near Waterloo, Linn county, on Wednesday last week. Mrs. Sheppard was well known here where she has numerous friends who were made sad by the news of her death. Her brother, Roy Whiteis, lives here, and her father, George Whiteis, is now a resident of Prineville. Besides her husband, she leaves one child, three years of age.

The G.-T. job department noble and delivered to Saddler Turned this week a 100-page catalogue illustrating his famous Heppner saddles. Mr. Noble has worked up a fine mail order business on his saddles and this catalogue will be the means of getting him more of it. It also illustrates the class of work done by the first class print shop, a fact not to be overlooked by those wishing anything in the printing line.

Kopple Store In Reciever's Hands

The store of M. A. Kopple, situated in the Fair building, has been closed this week while a representative of the Merchants Protective Association of Portland is taking an invoice of the stock. Mr. Kopple has been facing some difficulties of late with the federal government. He felt that he had matters pretty well fixed up and could go ahead and conduct his business without any further trouble, but it seems that his creditors both in the East and at Portland have become uneasy, and the business here is now in charge of the association as above stated. We have not been able to learn whether or not Mr. Kopple has made an assignment. It is rumored that he has, and that his store at Condon is also involved. In a statement to this paper, Mr. Kopple says that he is confident of having his affairs straightened out in a very few days and will return to Heppner to take charge of his business. We sincerely hope that he may be able to do so.

Enjoy Short Visit Here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Pence of Brad-dock, Penn., arrived in Heppner on Saturday for a short visit at the home of Postmaster Richardson and wife. Mr. Pence is a cousin of Mrs. Richardson, and was a resident of this place in the early days. His last visit here was twenty years ago, and the place with its residents had so changed that it did not seem like Heppner to him. Mr. and Mrs. Pence have been making a tour of the Pacific coast, taking in the fairs and visiting various cities and towns. They left Tuesday for Spokane after enjoying a pleasant visit with relatives here.

WANTED—A position on a farm by man and wife. No children, 15 years farm experience. Inquire here.

A SUCCESSFUL AND ECON- OMICAL THRESHING RIG

THE JEFF JONES & SONS OUTFIT ON HEPPNER FLAT HARVESTS THE GOLDEN GRAIN IN NOVEL WAY.

By BURTON H. PECK.

A very interesting and economical rig for threshing small grain has been assembled by Jeff Jones & Sons, who farm quite extensively on the Heppner flat country in central Morrow county.

This outfit consists of a 14-ft. McCormick header, four header box wagons, water tank and cook house; a J. I. Case 12-25 gas tractor belted to a 24-inch 12 bar cylinder Case separator, with a long feeder and plain 22-foot straw carrier.

The method of operation is as follows:

The header and boxes proceed into the center of perhaps forty acres of wheat, one box being under the header spout and the others following the header. At the center the header box is driven sharply to the left and the first circle is cut. Two boxes are filled in this manner, the third box comes under the spout, the header is turned about, and the small circle in the center is cut out and the machine proceeds to cut on the outer circle. When the four header boxes have been filled with headings, the tractor drawing the separator, and a low truck on which rides the long feeder, comes into the circle and the machine is set.

The separator is fitted with a short feeder directly in front of the cylinder. Upon the end of this short feeder rests a 24-foot long feeder, which is provided with flaring sides 16 feet long. The foot of this feeder rests upon a trestle 4 feet high. The belt from the cylinder pulley to the tractor passes along this feeder under one of the flares.

When the threshing machine is in operation, a box driver comes in on either side of the long feeder, and proceeds to pitch his load evenly upon the draper of the long feeder which carries the headings forward under the "Chinamen," a set of steel kickers, which scatter and even the headings. They then fall into the short feeder where a slatted draper carries the headings into the cylinder.

The separator cleans and deposits the grain into the sack through a reversible over-head sacker; the straw and chaff being carried to the straw stack by a slatted draper over a sheet metal bottomed stacker.

By this method, the derrick table, forker, derrick driver, and two table feeders are eliminated, which causes a marked saving in equipment and expense.

The first field threshed by this rig consisted of 75 acres of Portyford wheat. The time required was 25 hours, and it threshed out 740 sacks of grain from rather long straw. The cost of threshing this field is carefully estimated at 7 1/2 c. per bushel.

Hunting Season To Open August 15th

The State Game Warden is desirous of calling attention to the fact that the deer hunting season this year does not open until August 15th, which is 15 days later than has been customary for many years. It is therefore unlawful to hunt deer in Oregon before that date. The season closes on October 31st.

Attention of hunters is called to this change in the law that was made during the last session of the legislature at Salem, that you may not unintentionally violate the law and subject yourselves to a heavy fine. It is the policy of the State Game Warden's office to prevent law violations and thus avoid having to make arrests. But the game law must be rigidly enforced.

Will Select Architect.

The Masonic building committee have reached the point in the new building proposition of selecting an architect to draw up the plans and specifications, and just as soon as this has been settled and the plans prepared, bids will be called for, and it is expected that the building will be under way by the middle of September. Several different architects have presented preliminary drawings and proposals and out of the number the building committee will be able to announce their choice within a few days.

Are Making Long Automobile Trip

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Fain, of San Francisco, were in Heppner for a short time yesterday on their journey from the Bay City to points in Idaho. They have been on an extended trip which took them from San Francisco to San Diego where they took in the big fair being pulled off in that city, and then on to several towns of interest beyond the Mexican line. Returning they have been journeying north and their present destination is some point in Idaho, but they may decide to go over the Rockies and wind up at some point farther east to spend the winter. They travel in a made-over Ford, and have with them a fully equipped camping outfit and they live out of doors. Their little car has made 3350 miles already on this trip and they have had neither blow-out nor punctures this far on the way. From Portland they came up over the Columbia highway, have had good roads until hitting Eastern Oregon, and have enjoyed the trip immensely. Mrs. Fain is a sister of Miss Elizabeth Ware, who is at present doing evangelistic work in this county, and the Fains formerly resided at Hood River.

Mrs. B. F. Snell, of Arlington, accompanied by Mrs. Dr. Petrie and her granddaughter, Miss Elsie Huff, are visiting this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Shurte, in this city.

Cecil People Have Big Birthday Dinner

A friend of the G.-T. sends us the following report of a big birthday dinner enjoyed by the Cecil residents: About 30 friends and old-time neighbors gathered at the home of M. V. Logan at Cecil Sunday, August 1st, in response to invitations issued to attend a birthday dinner celebrating the 77th anniversary of Charles D. Sennett, father of Mrs. Logan. After the sumptuous dinner was served, the guests spent the day relating pioneer experiences and eating watermelons.

One feature of the dinner was a large birthday cake, beautifully decorated and bearing 77 tiny candles and candles.

A partial list of those present were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nash, Sr. and Mrs. J. W. Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Melton, Mr. Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. O'Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Broady, Mr. E. B. Gorton, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Lowe, Mr. Sloane Thomas, Miss Hazel McBeck, Mrs. Annie Lowe, Miss Ruby Thacker, and others, totalling about thirty.

Not all were able to attend that were invited, from one reason or another, but all joined in wishing these occasions should happen oftener. The day was delightfully and pleasantly spent, and on departing all joined in wishing Mr. Sennett many happy returns of the day.

Evans Brothers Get Fine Grain Yield

Messrs. Evans Bros., who farm extensively northeast of Lexington, brought in some fine samples of their wheat and oats which they left at the First National Bank yesterday. They have finished their threshing and the grain turned out well. The wheat made right at 23 bushels to the acre of No. 1 quality grain, and the oats turned out 44 bushels and weigh out close to first quality stuff. These gentlemen have farmed long and successfully in this section and considering the drawbacks encountered in grain growing during the past season they are well satisfied with results obtained this year. Their wheat was all spring sowing, because of re-seeding and the results obtained are to be accredited to the excellent system of farming by the Evans Bros.

OREGON LOGANBERRY RY MAKES BIG HIT

Oregon Loganberry Juice Very Popular With Exposition Crowds.

Oregon Building, Panama-Pacific Exposition, August 4.—The nation has fallen for the Oregon Loganberry. It likes the berry fresh and it likes it evaporated, and even our old tried and true friend of grape juice fame, the Hon. William Jennings Bryan, says that if the nation must be drunk let it be drunk on loganberry juice. A case of the famous Pleasant brand of juice made at Salem reached Mr. Bryan at the Palace Hotel the other evening just before he started for the big tabernacle here to deliver his address on "This Causeless War." The public and the newspapers agreed that Mr. Bryan orated as he never had before, and said he was full of inspiration. We at the Oregon building knew that it was loganberry juice, and that the newspapers suspicion was the news in a cartoon in the San Francisco Chronicle the following morning showing Mr. Bryan with "His New Love"—a bottle of loganberry juice. Grape juice was taken a seat far to the rear. Oregon was pictured as a succession of sites for loganberry juice factories, and in the background loomed the old Salem brewery with its big sign displaced by another announcing its conversion into a juice factory.

All of this, with articles in the several San Francisco papers, attracted special attention to loganberry, Day at the Oregon building, July 29, and here thousands from the four corners of the nation smacked their lips over generous samples of the fluid extract, tasted the evaporated berry restored to its original glory with the aid of water for which Oregon is famous, and the building's domestic science luncheon Exposition swiftest consumed loganberry sherberts, ices and pie. Loganberries and loganberry juice literally overflowed the Oregon building on the 29th. O. L. Ferris, representing the Oregon Fruit Juice Company, the first Oregon concern to manufacture loganberry juice for commercial purposes, came down from Salem and cared for a large shipment of the Pleasant brand in bottles of all sizes from the two-ounce to the gallon. A large pyramid of this stood in the center of the floor and hundreds of gallons of the liquid were dumped from the booth. Loganberry jam made from the evaporated berries of last year was served spread on crackers and this caught the fancy of every taster. The Northwest Products Company, now operating the great brewery at Salem as a loganberry factory, sent down a tremendous quantity of juice and this, the "Loju" brand was served to all comers under the direction of Fred S. Bynon, secretary of the Willamette Valley Association. This same concern also operated a booth here at which registration for sample boxes of the "Forest" brand of the evaporated berry were taken, and after tasting the delicious morsels served every man and woman registered without being urged. About 1500 gallons of juice were on tap the 29th and that this advertising stunt will prove very beneficial to the particular concerns involved and to the loganberry business is not doubted by anyone at the building.

In a program of addresses during the afternoon, Judge J. H. Logan, of Oakland, the originator of the Loganberry, was conspicuous. He told how as a matter of accident he secured a cross between the Texas Early blackberry and the Urshus dewberry, and then another cross between these two and the Red Atterberg raspberry. This was in 1881 and the fame of the Loganberry has grown to the proportions of today. Judge Logan was a resident of Santa Cruz at the time, was judge of the superior court, and experimented with plants as a hobby. Though 75 years of age he is still experimenting and with him at the Oregon building on Friday was a three-year-old daughter, a beautiful little blue-eyed loganberry that attracted the attention of everyone. Commissioner John F. Logan of Portland, whose wife was named Berry, had a proper place on the program and made a rousing speech on the glories of Oregon, Loganberry and otherwise. W. A. Taylor, of Salem, filled with Loganberry enthusiasm, also whooped things up, and both he and Mrs. Taylor are entitled to special credit for their hard work in the preliminaries, though all at the building contributed a goodly share. All Oregon grows loganberry and will profit from this splendid effort.
