Charles Yount of Weybridge street, an employee of the Green Mountain Pulp company, while putting on a belt at the mill, Wednesday morning, was caught and somewhat injured. His chief hurt is a bad bruise on the left side. No bones were broken. Dr. Porter was called.

Sunday night, when called to Prof. Foster's, Dr. Sutton left his horse hitched in front of the house. A few minutes after a storm came up and the doctor went out to put the animal under shelter. It was frightened at his umbrella and ran, going up South Main street and over past Mr. H. B. Wright's through the three-mile bridge and on into Salisbury. It finally brought up in the door-yard of a Mr. Talley, where it was secured.

When the King James version of the Bible was printed, in 1611, there were one hundred and twenty-five names of persons ending in iah, from Azariah to Zebadiah; among these were twenty-four beginning with J, while there was no such letter in the alphabet, the letter J being used in its place. The long English S, resembling the letter J, was discarded from the public printing in Vermont the same year that England's soldiers were defeated in the battle of Plattsburgh, 1814.

Prof. Seely of our college will be surprised to see how the type in the Troy Times correspondence from Middlebury has changed his name. As the Professor is a matter-of-fact man and never does anything to tarnish his good name, nor has any foolish pride to put on airs and assume the name of some German, Chinese or Norwegian professor, it will amuse him to see it announced in the Times that "Prof. Sutez and family are away on their annual vacation." However, a printer can readily see how the change could come about.

The recent arrivals of boarders and guests at the Broad Leaf Inn, Ripton, are: C. S. Ogden, New York; S. W. Nettleton and wife, Mississippi; J. R. Lull, Mrs. A. E. Pope, Toledo, Ohio; C. A. Hack, John Hawkins, wife and child, Taunton, Mass.; W. D. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Porter, New York; U. D. Twitchell and wife, Mrs. M. Drake, Hon. J. W. Stewart, Miss Eliza Stewart, C. M. Wilds, Middlebury; J. Barron, Bennington; David A. Rowe, Tarrytown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Baldwin, Miss K. Baldwin, Miss N. H. Baldwin, Mrs. E. E. Hardee, Miss E. H. Hardee, New York; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bridgman, Stamford, Conn.; Miss Della Hammond, Middlebury; Miss Phillips, New Orleans, La.; and a large party from Hyde's hotel were up for the day, last week.

A sad accident occurred Sunday evening at the home of Prof. F. H. Foster, resulting in the death of Mrs. Mary F. Foster, his mother. About 10 o'clock, after the rest of the family had retired, she attempted to descend the chamber stairs in the dark, and it is supposed stumbled and fell to the bottom. Her son was awakened by the noise, and on going into the hall found her on the floor unconscious. Drs. Eddy and Sutton were summoned. The former, who reached the house first, found Mrs. Foster dead. In falling her head struck the floor and base-board, causing the rupture of a blood-vessel in the brain. The deceased was about 55 years of age. Brief services were held at the house Monday morning, Rev. Mr. Spence officiating. The remains were taken on the mail train that day to Springfield, Mass., where the funeral was attended at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The family have the sympathy of the community in their great affliction.

"The Idler" of the Burlington Free Press tells this story: From lawyers to ministers is an easy transition. Of a shining light among the latter—the Rev. Dr. Kitchell, late president of Middlebury college—the Idler hears a good story. Then the doctor was elected to the presidential chair, a public reception was given to the townspeople, as an occasion upon which they might present their congratulations to the newly elected head of the institution. Various expressions of good will were extended to the reverend gentleman by his friends and neighbors, all decorously expressed and devoid of ambiguities; when finally a good old lady of the town sidled up to the doctor, and taking him by the hand, exclaimed, "Dr. Kitchell, now that you have joined the faculty, I do think it is a very respectable corpse!" The doctor himself was not a very stalwart man, it will be remembered, and perhaps the good old lady was one of the unfortunate kind who are given to judging from appearances.

Relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Buttolph to the number of over 200 gathered at their residence, South Main street, on the evening of Wednesday last to celebrate with them the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. The grounds were handsomely decorated with Chinese lanterns. Two tents had been erected on the north side of the house for the Middlebury brass band, which furnished excellent music during the evening; and the second and larger on the other side of the house for the refreshment tables. A. W. Langmaid, the Rutland caterer, had charge of these; and of course they were elegant. Mr. and Mrs. Buttolph, Mr. Edwy Buttolph and wife, Miss Buttolph, Mr. Virtulon Rich of Richville and others received the guests, who came from Shoreham, Brandon, Cornwall, Weybridge and other neighboring towns as well as from Middlebury. Numerous rich and handsome presents were given by the friends. Altogether, it was an exceptionally enjoyable evening for all concerned.

A lady writes: "I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family for many years and could not keep house without it. For the relief of the pains consequent upon female weaknesses and irregularities, I consider it without an equal."

The hay crop in Orange county is the heaviest ever cut there before.

More city people are summering in Orange county this season than ever before.

Frank Belcher of West Randolph died Monday of lockjaw from a slight cut received in his left hand the 12th.

At Bradford, Joshua Gerry, 92 years old, amuses himself by pitching hay, and is as lively, it is said, as a boy of 20.

Warren Ross' house, at Rutland, was set on fire, Wednesday, by the explosion of an oil stove; loss, $2,500; insured.

The lawyers are still fighting over the Ely miners. Everything is quiet there. The men have been paid about one-third of what is due them.

A man from Searsburg was arrested at Wilmington for carrying home a rake which he had picked up on the highway, and paid $18 for his trouble.

Luther Kent's little daughter, Minnie, aged two years and nine months, fell into a tub of hot water at Lincoln, Monday morning, and was fatally scalded, dying three hours after the accident.

Joseph Blay, 8 years old, was killed at Waterbury recently. He, with his mother and two other children, was on the railroad bridge when a train came along. Joseph was struck on the head and knocked into the river 30 feet below.

The residences of Mrs. Spencer Cheney, Henry Davis and Geo. Lee of Rutland were entered by thieves, Wednesday, while the occupants were at the circus, and considerable property stolen. There is no clue to the robbers.

Mrs. Marina Wright of Addison, now in her 100th year, is a remarkable instance of preservation, being able to walk to and from her neighbors' in visiting, in full possession of her faculties and physical vigor. She comes of a long-lived race.—Exchange.

A Milton Falls barber runs a poker game. The other day he tried to skin a fresh-looking Frenchman and took all his money. But after the crowd had gone he reached for his pocket-book containing $1075 and it wasn't there. The green Frenchman hasn't been seen.

At Colchester, as Guy Castle was driving cows over a bridge, the bridge broke down, letting three cows and the boy into the creek below. Two of the cows died from their injuries, and the other is badly hurt. The boy had one ankle severely injured, and was somewhat bruised otherwise.

A Washington dispatch gives a list of counterfeiters in circulation, prepared by secret service officers. Those on Vermont banks are $5's of the Montpelier of Montpelier and First of St. Johnsbury. Bills of the denominations of $10 and $20, stolen from the Barre bank, are also extant.

Thomas Larnard of Somerset, a mountain town in Windham, says a Brattleboro exchange, is less than seventeen years old, and with another boy about the same age, set a trap for a black bear. One day Larnard went alone to look after his trap, and found the bear had been there and taken the trap and clog attached to it and departed. Evidently he had his foot in it. The youngster was delighted and excited as well, but had no weapon but his jackknife. He concluded there was no time to be lost in securing help, so, cutting a club with his jackknife, he started on the trail into the forest. About a mile into the woods he found him sitting on his haunches, with one of his legs almost cut off by the trap he had been drawing, and ugly as a bear could be. But the boy went for the animal with his club, skillfully dodging its dives, and hitting it at every opportunity. Finally, when the bear was partially stunned, he closed with it, drove his jackknife in behind its ear, and then cut its windpipe. The boy was not hurt at all in the encounter, and he can't see any reason why his neighbors should think he has done anything remarkable.

The latest development in the contest for the management of the Rutland railroad is the publication of dispatches from Gov. Smith and other directors of the Central Vermont to Clement & Sons denying that that corporation has had anything to say to the matter. Sons regarding the matter, as hinted by Gov. Page in a recently published statement. Gov. Smith says: "The statement which you say is being made by Gov. Page, that you are acting as the agent for myself and the Central Vermont railroad in your attempt to secure a new management for the Rutland road is absolutely and unqualifiedly without foundation. Neither myself nor the Central Vermont railroad nor any person connected with it directly or indirectly to my knowledge has the least interest in the controversy. Nor have I ever had any communication in any form whatever with you or any parties connected with you on the subject. Nor have I or the company which I represent the slightest interest in or knowledge of the affairs of the Rutland road, or any party connected with it, further than what has been obtained through the published newspaper reports. You are at liberty to make any use of this denial you please, and if any further denial is necessary I am free to give it. I can only express my surprise that Gov. Page or any person connected with him should give currency to any such statement."

Obituary.
HARVEY COBLE.
Died—In Middlebury, July 12, 1883, Mr. Harvey Coble, aged 81 years.

Mr. Coble was born in New Haven, Vt., in 1802. There he lived for 35 years, when he was married to Miss Amanda Bryant. He then went to the town of Bristol, Vt., where he resided for 15 years. He next moved to Huntington, Vt., and lived there for 30 years, till he came to Middlebury to live with his son, at whose house he died. Mr. Coble was a farmer and a strictly honest man. He was a temperate man in all of his habits, not even drinking a glass of spirituous liquor of any kind in his life nor using tobacco in any form. He was never known to be angry with his associates, but was always ready to lend a helping hand to every one. Mr. Coble leaves an aged wife, two sons and one brother to mourn his loss. He was a kind husband and loving father. His remains were taken to New Haven and buried by the side of his mother and father. The latter was a drum major in the war of 1812.

LONG ROAD TO RUIN.—The liquor saloons in New York alone, placed in opposite rows, would make a street eleven miles in length. The road to health and wealth is through the use of Swayne's Pills which are warranted to cure the great variety of diseases which begin in derangement of the stomach, bowels and kidneys. Contains no mercury or other deleterious substance. They purify the blood, remove all obstructions and bring the rich color of health to the pale cheek.

The Markets.

IN VERMONT—At St. Albans, Tuesday, receipts were light, market quiet, prices firm and unchanged. Good to choice butter sold at 15 to 18 cents per pound; selections 10 cents per pound; a few cargoes of extra choice, it shade higher. At Vergennes, Saturday, butter ranged in price from 12 to 17 cents per pound; a shade higher prices were paid for a few in c. tubs; eggs 18 cents per dozen; new potatoes 25 cents for $1 per bushel; honey 15 to 17 cents per pound; beef 7 to 8 cents per pound; pork 5 cents per pound; veal calves 5 to 6 cents per pound; hay $8 to $10 per ton.

BOSTON WOOL.—The wool market has been active, the sales the largest we have had to notice for a long time, amounting to near 4,000,000 lbs. of all kinds. Otherwise the market remains unchanged and dealers are free sellers at the current rates. New wool is coming forward quite freely from all points and stocks are accumulating. The sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces have been at 30 and 37 1/2 for X, with some heavy as low as 25, and XX at 27 and 28 1/2 per lb. In Michigan fleeces the sales have been at 23 and 25 including large lots at 34 for X. Combings and delaine fleeces are in demand and have been selling at 38 and 40 for the delaine and 42 and 44 for No. 1 combing, and market firm at these prices. Unwashed fleeces have been in demand and considerable sales in Texas, Oregon, Georgia and Western at steady prices, ranging principally at 22 and 28 per lb. for fine and medium grades. California wool is in fair demand and sales at 20 and 23 per lb. for spring, as to quality. Pulled wools have been in demand and sales at 40 and 42 for choice lots of Eastern and Maine wools and 30 and 32 for common and good wools.
