Oh! how much we miss our darling child, In our dark and loosly home; All that was sumbline, and lights, Is now sailly turned to gloom.

Earth is no longer thy home, sweet Leila, It is far too dark and drear; Earthly love, though strong, can never like thee to this sinful sphere.

No mother's tear or father's sigh Could call thee from thy home on high; arth was too rough for thy fair form. To stand against life's bitter storm.

Thine suburn curis are finating now.
In ringlets round thy marble brow.
And thy little tiny hands are pressed.
In graceful folds upon thy breast.

Rest on in peace: thou sparkling gem, More bright than the richest diadem: May flowerts bloom around thy head And angels deck thy early bed. Sweet child, adicu. At Harrisville, N. H., Sept. 13, Nellin M. Harvey, second daughter of Dr. G. H. and Mary S. Harvey, aged 15 years, 10 months and 16 days.

Fare thee well beloved daughter, All life's toils and trials o'er, Sickness, sorrow, pain and anguish Cannot reach that peaceful shore.

But we miss thee, oh our daughter, Miss thy counsel and thy care, Miss thee by thy pleasant smiles, Miss, oh miss thee everywhere.

Though we mourn we would not murmur That thy weary earth-tried feet. Having crossed death's dreaded river, Softly walk the golden streets. Cherished be thy memory, ever Shrined within our heart of hearts, And if other ties must sever Blessed Saviour strength impart.
