NEXT WEEK'S TOWN MEETING.

Nominations for the Official Ballot. There was fair attendance at the caucus held last Friday evening at the lower town hall for the nomination of town officers to be voted for next Tuesday under the new official ballot law, the number present being more than could be well accommodated in the hall. J. L. Martin was made chairman and H. B. Chamberlain secretary. The nomination of the several officers proceeded rapidly, no contest being raised except for the office of first selectman, when G. W. Hooker, L. H. Richardson and S. N. Herrick were placed in nomina-tion. A ballot was first called for, but after a short discussion it was decided to take the vote viva voce, when Col. Hooker received the nomination with substantial unanimity. Following is the full list of nominees. No additional nominations have been filed since the cancus, as the law per-

The official ballots are now being prepared, and the voting will be by the same method as one year ago. Full official in-structions to voters will be posted at the town hall on the day of the meeting. In view of the fact that one year ago 53 bal-lots were thrown out because they were improperly marked, it is in order to caution all voters to read the instructions carefully, especially with a view to the suitable marking of their ballots

A place is provided in a little square at the right of each name to be voted for, where the voter is to place his mark, and this mark, in fact, constitutes his vote. Each name for which a voter wishes to cast his ballot must be marked. If any name is wrongly marked it does not count. for a vote under the law. #### THE MILITARY BALL.

Another Attractive Social Event-Music that set one all awhirl; a company of 100 couples, including fair young women in handsome toilets, military officers in the glittering insignia of their rank, privates of two companies in dress parade attire, civilians in evening dress, all moving "in the mazes" in a hall everywhere resplendent with military decorations, including national colors, star cloth, bunting, sabres, etc., etc.; windows concealed by mirrors and draperies; this, as a generalization, is annual concert and ball. The piece of resistance in the decorations was a large bell, several feet in diameter, formed from United States flags and suspended from the centre of the hall. From the bell colored streamers were festooned to the sides of the hall. The company was a representative one, everything proceeded without friction, and the general verdict of the participants was that, in its way, the event was the acme of delight. The concert by Leitsinger's orchestra preceding the dance was of high merit, fully equaling any similar performance by that organization. The overture, "Sum-mer night's dream," was particularly entrancing. This was the program:

and Miss Alice Clark. The dance program contained 22 numbers, and so enthusiastic ally did every one enter into the spirit of the occasion that there was little thinning out of sets until the last figures were called, after 3 o'clock in the morning.

The American House added another success to its reputation for providing excel-In variety and quality the spread was all that could be desired.

Among those who came home to attend the dance were Lieut, Gray Estey, Frank Crosby and W. B. Goodrich of Boston, Carroll Parker of Fitchburg, Fred Crosby of Dartmouth college. Other guests from out of town were G. H. St. John of Springfield. Lieut. Fields of Greenfield, Miss French of Nashua, N. H., and Miss Mary Niles of Bridgeport, Conn., Quartermaster Fuller of Montpelier, and Messrs. Harrison and Munson of the Greenfield Guards.

A GOOD FARMING RECORD.

The statement made last week in reference to the crops harvested on a 24 acre farm within three miles of this office has led another man, who has a place of about the same size, an equal distance away, to give the figures showing the prod-nets raised by him. They will be found hard to beat, and are as follows:

potatoes, turnips, beets, beets, 15 tons hay, parsnips, 4 "corn fodder,
oats buckwh't, 1 " oat straw,

SHALL WE HAVE A STEAM ROAD

ROLLER 9 It is to be hoped that when the article in the warrant with regard to the purchase of Mrs. J. M. Drown has returned from a stone-crusher comes up at the town Hinsdale, where she has been at work for meeting next Tuesday there may be discussion enough to indicate what is the real scatiment of the town in regard to the road-making policy to be pursued. The time will inevitably come when it will be seen to be the economical policy in Brattleboro, as the people of Greenfield, Northampton and Keene have already found it, to enter upon a systematic course of making a little good and permanent highway every year. It has been said a hundred times, and will bear repeating a hundred times more, that if the town had begun 20 years ago to build 20 rods of permanent roadway every year it would now have something tangible to show for the money expended Selectman Perry, who is the practical road-maker of the board, has been away this week to investigate the stone-crusher question, so as to be able to make an intelligent statement to the town when the question comes up. Within the present week a further practical suggestion on this subject has been brought to the attention of the selectmen and other prominent citi-

Several months must yet elapse before the small boy can lay aside his school books and enter upon the joys of the long summer vacation. He wont care much then whether he has any shoes or not. If allowed to go barefoot he will very likely be better satisfied. But until that time comes he must have serviceable shoes.

One energetic small boy causes more complaints to a shoe dealer than half a dozen grown up people. Leather doesn't seem to wear under his feet but rather to melt. Give him a pair of Heywood's "School Shoes" and you will give him a surprise. Why! Because Heywood Shoes wear. The reason why they wear is because they are made of honest leather throughout and stitched in the best manner. Hundreds of tons of shoddy teather are used every year in the manufacture of shoes in this country alone and no small part of it finds its way into boy's shoes; but not one ounce of it ever gets into a Heywood shoe.
