Special Corporation Meeting.

New Water Pipes to be Laid—Prospective Rate Fixed at $3 a Year—Prospective Gift of $10,000 Accepted.

The corporation meeting of the village was held last week Thursday evening, for the first time, in the opera house. There was a good attendance, George A. Weston moderator. The warning for the meeting had as its first article "To see if the corporation will vote to rescind the vote passed at the regular meeting of the corporation, held January 28, 1893, to lay water pipe from the pond down and elsewhere." After a discussion participated in by H. D. Ryder, George A. Weston, Wynnan Flint, John T. Moore, A. H. Brown and others, it was voted 135 to 4 to leave it as decided at the annual meeting. A 20-inch pipe will be laid from the pond half-way down to the highway, 10-inch pipe from there to Rockingham street, and a still smaller pipe from there. Under Article 23, in regard to laying new pipe in any part of the village, it was voted that a four-inch pipe be laid on the extension of Williams and Henry streets.

A new contract is to be made for lighting the streets for three years, the old one soon expiring. It was voted that water metres be placed in all schoolhouses before Aug. 1, also that the rental for each family of nine persons or less be $3 a year.

The resolution offered by L. G. Howard to give the village $10,000, one-half in 1900 and the remainder at his death, "to be forever known as 'The Sarah Buss Howard Memorial Fund,' the annual interest of which is to be used in aid of the poor who are residents of said village and who are not supported in whole or in part by the state or any town or county," was adopted.

At the Trotting Track.

L. T. Lovell's trotting track near the Clark farm is being utilized by a number of horsemen this season and is in the greatest demand. Joe Seaman is working horses there every day and has some very promising colts in training. Among them is one owned by Lewis Lovell, a chestnut mare known as Laymont that has never been on a track before. In his care also is a black gelding owned by Geo. M. Cory of Saxtons River, sired by Abdullah Prince, which is improving rapidly. He is to have a four-year-old chestnut stallion owned by E. P. Gay, named Elamont. Mr. Severeance had the handling of this horse the year which was taken to the Springfield fair the first time he was hitched to a sulky and won the three-year-old race, making in the first and second heats 2:55 and 2:51½, with no errors. Mr. Severeance seems to be having very good success with horses entrusted to his care.

Odd Fellows' Big Day.

Wednesday night is looked forward to with great anticipations by the Odd Fellows, and their arrangements are completed for a notable gathering. The principal streets are to be paraded in the afternoon, a banquet served at 6 o'clock in banquet hall, a public installation of officers and a concert following in Union hall. Dancing is to begin at 9:15; supper at Town's Hotel, Beedle's orchestra furnishes music for the concert and dancing. Two bands are to accompany them in the parade.

Telephone rates have had a fall this month and it is expected quite an increase in number of subscribers will be the result. The prices from April 1 are to be $2.00 for residences, and $2.50 for places of business. The best of service is given by this exchange, and as all villages within a large radius are connected, as well as long distance connection with the cities, it is a great assistance to business of all kinds.

views commemorative of the history of our nation during the war of the rebellion. After quoting from the law his circular letter says, "It is expected that every teacher will fully comply with the requirements of the statute both in letter and in spirit. The manner of such compliance is left to the good sense and patriotism of each teacher."

The Oracle, our High school paper, is out this week and devotes over a page, very pleasantly, to a tribute to Mrs. A. H. Webb, who is greatly endeared to such a large number of the past and present pupils. The paper contains a finely executed picture of her former teacher, making a very fitting remembrance from the school, testifying to the sixteen years devoted to the welfare of the young people of our village. An editorial in the same paper refers very pertinently to the great loss which the school experiences in her leaving it for a different sphere of life.

Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Williams tendered a very pleasant reception Monday evening to the members of the Congregational Sunday school, of which he is superintendent, and to the members of the congregation.

The reception was given in the vestry and parlors of the church, and the pastors and officers of other schools in town were included in the invitations. The primary scholars were entertained from six to eight, and the older members after that hour. An orchestra was in attendance, and a pleasing program of vocal and instrumental music was enjoyed, as well as a number of readings by Miss Conant, teacher of elocution at Vermont Academy.

Mrs. Hetty Green appeared before the commissioners of taxes and assessments at New York Monday, attended by two lawyers and two stenographers—the latter two, she explained, in order that they should be a check upon the other. This "richest woman in America" is trying to get out of paying taxes on a personal estate of $1,540,000, on the ground that she is not a resident of New York city. But a rigid examination failed to discover where she did live. If she had any home it was Belknap Falls, but when there she stopped at a hotel. She told over the places she had lived at in New York, in the course of the last year, but vowed that she had been a visitor and paid no board at any one of them, except at one boarding house, where she stayed two weeks.

384 Bushels per Acre Eight Consecutive Years on Stockbridge Exclusively.

Mr. C. W. Stone, East Andover, N.H., reports that on land planted to potatoes for eight years consecutively, and exclusively each year on Stockbridge Potato Manure, he raised an average of 384 bushels potatoes per acre per year. He writes:—

"The experimental piece was not garden soil, but was broken up especially for the purpose of making a careful and exhaustive test for a series of years, and to satisfy myself that the Bowker Fertilizer Company were making as good goods one year as another."

"I also wanted to satisfy myself that potatoes could be grown for a series of years on Stockbridge exclusively."

"It was land which cut in the neighborhood of 3-4 of a ton of hay per acre prior to being ploughed. It was thoroughly cultivated, but no greater care was bestowed on the piece than would have been exercised had a larger area been planted."

"In 1887 the yield of this piece was at the rate of 340 bushels per acre."

"1893 " " " " " " " " 394 " " "

"1894 " " " " " " " " 285 " " "

"Or an average of 384 bushels per acre per year."

"The crop of 1893, although quite early, suffered slightly from the severe drouth; otherwise I think it would have equalled the yield of 1892. The severe drouth also affected the yield for 1894. I applied at the rate of not less than 1,500 lbs. per acre each year, and no year at the rate of over 2,000 lbs. per acre."

"On an average I applied at the rate of 1,800 lbs. Stockbridge Potato Manure per acre each year, without any other fertilizer whatever. The rows were the ordinary distance apart (3½ feet), and the potatoes planted from 18 to 20 inches apart in the trenches."

Mr. Stone's statement comes to us indorsed by affidavits of farmers who saw the crops growing and harvested. We have not the space to reprint them here. They are on file in our office, and will be shown to any one interested.

Another Continuous Experiment on Stockbridge.

"I have used the Stockbridge Manure on a piece of land (of about 1 acre) for potatoes the last six years, three years with a very light coat of manure ploughed in, and the last three years with no other manure than Stockbridge, the crop being from 300 to 400 bushels a year, much to the surprise of my neighbors, who have watched my crop for the last three years, expecting to see a failure."

"NATHAN HARRINGTON, SOUTH BARRE, Vt."

The Stockbridge Catalogue for 1895 is particularly interesting, containing many valuable reports from farmers who detail their manner of growing crops so as to get the most return for the smallest outlay. We mail it free.
