BRATTLEBORO.

Eliza K. Orcutt, whose death is recorded by our Guilford correspondent, was for many years a resident of Brattleboro, being a well-known shoemaker. He moved to Guilford about 20 years ago.

The Swedish Congregational society held a very interesting and pleasant social at their church Wednesday evening. There was a large attendance. The Misses Thunberg sang with great acceptance. There was also singing by a male quartet. Mr. Peterson, the pastor, gave an essay on music. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served.

The supreme court rendered its decision today in the case of Helen B. Clark against the Employers' Liability Assurance company to recover accident insurance for the death of Barna A. Clark. The verdict of the county court was for the plaintiff to recover $10,000. The decision of the supreme court reverses the decision of the county court and remands the case for another trial.

F. G. Lafchee of Northampton will come here about Sept. 1, to go into partnership with his brother, Arthur Lafchee, in the tailoring business. They will occupy room No. 4 in Crosby block. Arthur Lafchee has been cutter for Pratt, Wright & Co. about three years and is thoroughly acquainted with the business. His brother is also an experienced tailor.

Dr. H. D. Holton has received and has accepted an invitation to deliver a lecture before the Vermont state medical society, which will be in session Aug. 30 to Sept. 1. Dr. Holton will speak upon "Typhoid Fever." It was not many years ago that the society would have considered it out of place to invite a Vermontian to address them. Dr. Holton is probably accompanied by Mrs. Holton.

The St. Johnsbury Republican of this week says: "Dr. H. D. Holton of Brattleboro, member of the state board of health, gave a lecture before the summer school Thursday morning on 'School Hygiene.' The lecture was not only a first class production from a rhetorical point of view and very interesting, but it was full of sound common sense and suggestions eminently practical and valuable to the teacher and all interested in the welfare of the child at school."

A writer in the Norwood, Mass., News, in describing a vacation trip through western Massachusetts, says: "The Vermont people are following to say under the heading 'The Newton of Vermont.' At length I came to Brattleboro, the Newton of western Vermont. There are few manufacturing in Brattleboro. It is a city of many quiet, white-painted country houses. On the sidewalk of the Brooks House I obtained a view of the main street of one of the most beautiful inland cities of New England. The social equality shown by the passing people, the general evidence of a contented, prosperous community, with little sly exclusiveness or shoddiness about it, was very pleasant to witness."

Law Suit Involving $10.00.

A law suit involving $10.00 was heard before Justice J. H. Merrifield Wednesday. It was the suit of W. H. Clouse of West Dummerston against Ernest L. Perry of West Dummerston, employed by Ward & Douglas. The question hinged on an alarm clock valued at less than $1. The evidence of the plaintiff tended to show that the defendant's wife bought the clock at his store. The defendant was owing him over $20 so that the price of the clock brought the bill up to over $10. The plaintiff was unable to collect the bill, so he trusted for the amount.

The defendant's testimony tended to show that his wife went to the store after a clock and the plaintiff gave her a poor one, stating that when he went to Brattleboro he would get her a better one. He did not do so and when the trustee writ was served he immediately took the clock back and Mr. Clouse accepted it. He claimed that he was therefore not liable to trustee process. The trial of the case was laughable as there was an element of "small potatoes" through the whole proceeding. The court reserved decision in an effort to get the parties to "come to other."

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crosby will move soon into the Campbell house with Mrs. E. H. Van Dorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon B. Coates of Providence, R. I., came Saturday for a visit with Mr. Coates' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Coates.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Antie of Philadelphia, Penn., are guests of Wells Frost. Dr. Antie preached at the Episcopal church Sunday.

F. J. Bailey has sold the Larabee place in Green River to Allen Withington of Guilford. Mr. Withington and father will move on to the place in September.

James Garry, who has played in the outfield with the Syracuse club of the Eastern League, has been released by the club and has been released. He may sign with Springfield.

Hon. T. Nelson Hastings of Walpole, well known in Brattleboro, is a candidate for re-nomination to the New Hampshire senate, and if successful, he will enter the race for the presidency of that body.

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Bass came on Tuesday for a visit with old acquaintances. They will be at Frank Wells's on High street. Mr. Bass was formerly pastor of the Methodist church of Brattleboro.

George C. Averill and W. H. Brack, administrators of the E. H. Van Dorn estate, will sell at West Dummerston Saturday by auction the building containing the store of W. H. Clouse and a tenement on the second floor.

Myron G. Taylor, who recently left Richardson's meat market and bought a farm in Manchester, which he is now carrying on, is to go into the meat business at Manchester soon with H. Walker, who is now employed by C. M. C. Richardson.

A small fire occurred in the house of E. C. Crosby on High street Tuesday evening. The wind blew the flame from a gas jet against a curtain and set it on fire. The wood work was slightly damaged. The loss, which is covered by insurance, will be about $10.

Bert Abbley, the old U. V. M. baseball player, pitched a great game at Mount against Syracuse on Monday. But two hits were made off him, not a base on balls was given or an error made by his side, and two double plays operated so that but 27 men went to the bat against him.

Olis M. Reed, who has been visiting in Brattleboro, was for several years the toll gate keeper on the turnpike between Wilmington and Bennington. He has been in the employ of Roger Brothers in Meriden, Conn., for the past 18 years. He will return to Meriden next month.

A meeting of those interested in the matter of having a coaching parade at the Valley Fair this year was held at the Brooks House Saturday night to discuss the question. Those present were greatly in favor of having a parade, and it was decided to admit to the grounds free all who take part in it.

C. A. Burrows of Fort Kent, N. Y., who was arrested last week by Chief of Police Hall, who found him driving across the railroad track, was taken to Newland on Saturday night by Sheriff Gordon in default of his fine for intoxication. He was taken to Hinsdale as a witness in the hearing against the brewery.

The selectmen rendered their decision Tuesday morning in matter of the petition for the removal of John Sargent's pigsty at West Brattleboro. The decision was that the selectmen had no authority to order the removal of the pigsty. The matter comes under the jurisdiction of the board of health, and the petition should have been directed to the board. Presumably another petition will be drawn up.

Charles Harvey and Mrs. Mattie Bryant, who were taken to Winchester, N. H., three months ago and were caught in Brattleboro last week by Deputy Sheriff McClure, were let off with small penalty upon their return to Winchester. Harvey was released upon a promise to go to the town of Winchester, and the woman was released upon a promise to keep out of town and keep out of the way of the selectmen.

A movement has been started among the young men for the support of John L. Knowlton for town representative. Mr. Knowlton has consented to have his name presented in the caucus Friday night. Mr. Knowlton has served his party as a member of the town council, and for years has maintained an interest in political and state affairs. None of the young men in the town are better equipped for the duties of representative.

Capt. H. W. Hovey, who has been in command of Fort Ethan Allen since the Third cavalry went to the front, says that the first Vermont regiment will not be called into service until the last of September, and it may be 90 or even 90 days before the boys reach home. It would not do to reduce our army too suddenly after our great victories, considering the work that lies ahead in all the islands which have come under the supervision of our government.

"According to the government orders," says Mr. Knowlton, "the Vermont regiment is to be sent to Fort Ethan Allen, but it is believed this can be changed before they arrive so that they can camp on the old state camp grounds. Everything will be put into shape immediately to receive the boys. Col. Clark expects that it will be a week or 10 days before transportation can be secured for the boys to get away from Chickamauga. He will go down part way to meet them and ride home with them."

Luellen Howe has arranged for a concert by Mary Howe-Lavin to be given in Montpelier on Friday evening, Aug. 19. The concert will be given at the opera house on the evening of Friday, August 19, by Mary Howe-Lavin, Vermont's celebrated vocalist. The concert will be given under the auspices of the ladies' auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. Mary Howe-Lavin is soon to leave for Europe and this will probably be the last chance to hear her sing before she takes her departure.

Concerning Electric Railroads.

The Amherst Record of Wednesday contained a column article concerning electric railroads in which it said that the Amherst & Sunderland road, which has just completed its first year, has come out with a balance on the wrong side of the ledger. In order to insure a profit hereafter it is suggested that the road be extended to the "notch" in the Holyoke mountain range to connect with the Holyoke street railroad, thus establishing direct communication with Springfield, which would open up one of the finest excursion routes in Massachusetts. In regard to the Northampton & Amherst road, of which E. C. Crosby is one of the leaders, the Record says: "The company have not given up hope of a successful issue of their undertaking. They mean, if possible, to build a road between Northampton and Amherst, the only obstacle being the refusal of Amherst to grant them a franchise. It is probable that they will make another effort at an early date to secure the franchise through the medium of a town meeting. If it was generally understood that the interests of the local road would be fully protected and that the two roads would be run in harmony the opposition would lose much of its strength."

Death of Mrs. William Simonds.

Mrs. William Simonds, 80, died at her home on Estabrook street Monday from exhaustion after an illness of several months. Mrs. Simonds had not left her room since the first of May, when she fractured her hip.

She had been married three times and had had two children, one of whom died in prison during the civil war. The other was run over and killed by a coach in Putney.

Mrs. Simonds formerly lived in Putney, but had made her home in Brattleboro for the last 32 years. Her husband survives her.

The funeral will be held from the house tomorrow at 10 o'clock, Rev. D. B. Sherman, officiating. The burial will be in Putney.

Cards are out for the wedding of Helen, daughter of Mrs. J. H. Dunklee of West Brattleboro and John Phelan of New York city, which will take place in the Congregational church at West Brattleboro, September 1.

A Boston Transcript item says: The large four-story house numbered 1 Concord square, the first home on the right, near Tremont street, has been bought by C. H. Sholes for investment. The house has 18 rooms, and is assessed for $10,000.

John Nesbitt of West Brattleboro is reaping a good return from his peach orchard this year. He began marketing early in the season, and this week he is bringing in very nice Crawford. He has 500 trees and will probably harvest 300 baskets of fruit this season.

The members of the New York State Hotel Men's association held their annual convention at the Gilsey House in New York last week and selected E. L. Merrifield president. Mr. Merrifield is a Windham county boy and is now proprietor of the Continental hotel in New York city.

Robert, son of Lawyer C. C. Pitts, gave a birthday party to 10 or 12 of his young friends Tuesday afternoon in honor of his fourth birthday anniversary. The guests were given a ride on the electric cars, and at 5:30 o'clock supper was served. The guests presented their host with several birthday gifts.

The assignees of the estate of Hugh M. Adams, insolvent, will sell by public auction at the county clerk's office, E. C. Crosby, 300 to 350 of $5000 issued by the Mutual Life Insurance company on the life of Mr. Adams. The policy matures June 1, 1913. It was assigned to Sherman & Jenne as collateral security.

The Republican voters of Brattleboro should remember that the September election is near at hand. They should realize the necessity of coming out to the caucus on Friday of this week. Whoever is nominated there for town representative will be elected in September. The polls will be open from 3 to 5 o'clock P. M.

The horse attached to one of the F. & M. E. grocery wagons, took fright at the electric car this morning while standing in front of J. L. Martin's house, and ran striking the wagon against an electric light pole and damaging it considerably. One wheel of the vehicle was demolished and one side crushed. The horse was stopped in front of B. D. Harris's by Patrick Drisbane.

The indications are that Col. Haskins will receive strong and united support for re-nomination as town representative. It is recognized by all that he did the state valuable service in the session of 1895, and that his record in the legislature is well equipped to continue such service this year, while his return to the legislature would doubtless assure him and his town the honor of the Speakership.

O. F. Knowlton of Windsor came Tuesday to take possession of the American House which he has leased of Harrie G. Pratt, the present proprietor. Mr. Knowlton was to have taken possession Monday but was delayed in getting here. He has had much experience in the business. He was at one time proprietor of the Commercial House at Belknap Falls. Mr. Knowlton will make no changes in the employ of the house.

Edwin W. Haskell of Brattleboro, a member of the Brattleboro company at Chickamauga, has sent to the C. B. Lawton Grand Army post and the D. P. Chandler camp, Sons of Veterans of Wilmington some mementoes which will be highly prized by those organizations. They consist of a pocket watch, a pen, a pencil, an organization, made from trees on Lookout mountain. A bullet is embedded in each gavel, having lodged there during the fight of September, 1893.

J. E. Walsh, the Vermont Wheel club champion, won the one-mile professional handicap race at the annual meeting of the League of American Wheelmen at Indianapolis Wednesday. Walsh started from the 100-yard mark. Bald and Taylor started from scratch and rode a game race. On the turn out of the home stretch, Owen Kimble went down and Tom Butler ran him down and won the race. Walsh, from 119 yards, worked up to the head of the field and made a red hot finish in that position.

The selectmen have ordered that the new iron bridge be fitted with grooved rails for the use of the Brattleboro Street Railway company. The grooved rail differs from others in having a broad flat surface with a groove for the flange of the wheel to run in. The brick of the pavement is laid snug with the rail, so that there is almost no break in the pavement of the bridge, and teams and bicycles can cross the rails safely at almost any angle. This rail is the one which has been used most heavily used, and has come to be regarded as a necessity in many places. The street railway companies at first opposed it bitterly, on account of the fancied inconvenience of the lodging of snow and ice in the groove so as to prevent the wheels from holding, but it has been demonstrated that it is much more convenient than the old style of rails.

Lawyer George B. Hitt was in Winchester last night to defend Edward Frink, who was arrested for drunkenness. The evidence of the prosecution, one for each that on Sunday night Frink was intoxicated and that he entered church, staggered up the aisle and took a seat; that after he had been seated a few minutes he spoke out, and a few minutes later he staggered out of the church. Frink claimed that he was not intoxicated, but that he behaved as anyone would, except that he whispered to someone near him in appreciation of the music which the choir had just rendered. It appeared that the complaint was signed by Mary Bosquet, and Mr. Hitt took the stand that the Bosquet woman a year ago, that the complaint was signed by her. The court thought she was not the proper person to sign the complaint, and rendered a verdict of not guilty.

About 55 people from Brattleboro joined the excursion to Lake Sunapee last Sunday. The total number of people at the lake was about 11 carloads.

The next number of the Boston & Maine Courier will contain illustrations of Brattleboro. The agent of the Courier, has been in Brattleboro for several days soliciting advertisements.

The Union Mutual and the Vermont Mutual insurance companies have made their annual assessment for the past year's business. The assessment this year is four per cent, the same as for the past two years, which is a low rate of insurance.

The Brattleboro Soldiers' Aid society sent $100 to Camp Thomas, Chickamauga, Tuesday for use in the hospital tent of the First Vermont Regiment. The society had learned that the regiment was in need of money for that purpose.

The Swedish Lutheran society gave a pleasant lawn party last Friday evening. The party was given at the home of Mrs. J. H. Martin, and was very enjoyable. There were Chinese lanterns and tables decorated with flowers. The choir sang several times and a patriotic speech was delivered by the pastor of the church. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served.

The second excursion to Mystic Island, Watch Hill and Block Island, offered by the Central Vermont railroad, takes place Aug. 20. The train leaves Brattleboro at 5:20 A. M., reaching Block Island at 12:30 P. M. The fare for the round trip is $1.50, tickets remaining good for the return trip on Saturday, Aug. 20, or the following Monday.

The workmen employed by Ward & Douglas on the abutments of the new Main street bridge moved the strings of the old bridge on to the completed masonry at the east end of the bridge Sunday. They were assisted by the Central Vermont bridge men. Several hundred persons witnessed the work, and a Douglas will go to the Mass. and the work here is completed to build a stone arch.

The Republican voters of Brattleboro are notified that a caucus will be held in the town hall this evening for the purpose of nominating a candidate for town representative and 15 justices of the peace to be supported at the freeman's meeting in September. The voting will be by ballot. The ballot boxes will be open from 3 o'clock in the afternoon to 5 o'clock in the evening.

It is definitely announced that Principal H. K. Whitaker, the abductee of Miss M. Belle Smith as supervisor of the school of the district No. 2 the coming year. He will be relieved of a part of his high school work in order to enable him to perform these duties. Mr. Whitaker has not been appointed superintendent of the Brattleboro school, as has been announced in Massachusetts papers.

"Much interest has been shown in the announcement that Mary Howe Lavin is again to visit Montpelier," said the Montpelier Record Saturday, "and the prospects are that her appearance will call a very large audience to greet her. A large number of the citizens of Montpelier, Brattleboro and Northfield, and the concert will undoubtedly be one of the finest given in this city for a long time." This concert occurs this evening.

Miss Maud Essex gave an enjoyable party to about 100 of her friends Friday evening at the home of Mrs. L. K. Fuller. The guests were entertained by Miss Essex, who are the guests of Miss Essex. The evening's entertainment consisted of a short musical program in which Mrs. McLean, Mrs. J. G. Estey and the Misses Gillian took part, followed by dancing. Refreshments were served during the evening.

A fine piece of work is being done on the Dickinson lot in the Prospect Hill cemetery where Zelotes Dickinson, father of F. Z. Dickinson, and four other persons are buried. The work is in charge of J. Henry Holden. The lot has been excavated and the bodies of the four persons have been removed and re-interred in a new vault. The rest of the excavation will be filled with the same material up to a certain distance from the top, thus affording an excellent foundation for the marble slabs.

The following is the program for the testimonial concert which the Brattleboro Soldiers' Aid society have arranged to give to Mr. and Mrs. William Lavin and Mrs. Harriet Braxton Pratt on Thursday evening, Aug. 25:
