BRATTLEBORO LOCAL.

BURLESQUE BASKET BALL.

Substitute Bratileboro Y. M. C. A. Tenm. Beaten by Holyoke Y. M. C. A. 14-4, in a Hurly-Burly Contest.

A burlesque game of basket ball took place in the armory Sautrday night, the par-ticipants in the farce being the Holyoke, Mass., Y. M. C. A. team and an aggregation purporting to represent the local asso ciation. The score at the end of the last act was 14-4, with Brattleboro at the little end of the horn. Such a miserable exhibition as the home team made was enough to "queer" the sport in Brattleboro for the rest of the season. Owing to some trouble among the members of the team Capt. Cundiff was the only regular man who ap-peared on the floor in uniform. The other four players were all comparatively inexed, but it must be admitted that their playing was fully equal to that of their chief. Not one sign of team work was visible in Brattleboro's playing, however, and from the start it was evident that Holyoke had things easy. When a Brattleboro player got a chance to try for a goal his shooting was so inaccurate that everyone hoped he wouldn't make a fool of himself again. As for fouls, enough were made by both sides to prolong the game all night had half of them been called. All three officials were victims of somnambu-lism, apparently, for even the uproar which continued throughout all of the second half failed to awaken them to the seriousness of the situation.

In justice to the visitors it should be said that their work was on the whole satisfactory and the rough playing which they displayed at times was only to offset that of their opponents. Monroe and Ferriter did the best for Brattleboro, the latter scoring the only goal from the field for

CHICOPEE PARISH HOUSE WON.

Reorganized Brattleboro Y. M. C. A. Scored 6 Points and the Visitors 15.

Strongly in contrast with the exhibition of last Saturday night was the basket ball game of Tuesday evening between the local Y. M. C. A. team and that of the Chicopee, Mass., Parish house. The Brattleboro players got together Monday evening and practically reorganized, electing Corser captain instead of Cundiff, who resigned. Although the home team was defeated by the Parish house 15-6 the game was well played and at times exciting. Brattleboro failed to score in the first half, but in the second period of play made as many baskets as its opponent. Chicopee claims to be one of the strongest aggregations in the country, and the team substantiated its claim Tuesday evening by a remarkably fine exhibition of basket The visitors were continually on the go and several times had the Brattleboro players badly winded. The latter showed their lack of practice by failing to get in the team work which has generally characterized their playing.

Landlord Thayer of Guilford, Who Eluded the Officers Several Weeks, Was Arrested Sanday--- Paid Pine

Monday.

Leslie Thayer, for some time past pro-prietor of the Broad Brook House in Guilford, settled an account with the state Monday before leaving for new quarters in Bernardston. The hotel was raided several weeks ago, but Mr. Thayer was not at home, and the house had been visited by officers several times since then but with-out finding the proprietor. The officers were informed last week that Thayer made regular visits to his house on Sunday, which led them to believe that it was Mr. Thayer's impression that he could not be arrested on Sunday. On last Sunday night, therefore, Sheriff Gordon went to Gullford, found Mr. Thayer and arrested him. State's Attorney Barber, Justice T. J. B. Cudworth and some witnesses went to Guilford Monday to try the case, Lawyer John E. Gale appearing for the respond-ent. Thayer was first arraigned on the charge of keeping liquor with the intent to sell. He pleaded guilty, and the minimum fine of $5 and costs was agreed upon. He was then arraigned on the charge of selling, to which he pleaded guilty of two first offences, and a fine of $15 and costs was The total fines and costs were about $45, which Thayer paid during the

ALLOWANCE OF $100 A MONTH

Ordered to Be Paid to the Widow of John C. Newton of Wilmington --- Estate Represented as Insolvent---Other Probate Business.

An interesting hearing was held in the probate court Saturday, it being a part of a special session before Judge Waterman. The hearing was on the application of Eva Wheeler Newton, widow of John C. Newton of Wilmington, for an assignment out of her late husband's estate for her sup port and maintenance during the settle-ment of the estate by the administrator. The contention was as to the amount of the allowance. The administrator represented that the estate was supposed to be street, the trusts and various of insolvent. The contention of the widow strosities—so also has Mr. Childs. was that if her husband's estate was insolvent it would naturally follow that all of is brothers, who were in company with him and who did business with him, were insolvent, which she did not believe to be the fact. She believed the object in repre senting the estate to be insolvent was to cut her off with a small allowance.

The fact was brought out during the taking of testimony that Mr. Newton, when living, allowed his wife $250 a month for household expenses and $100 a month for "pin" money. The court ordered the administrator to pay Mrs. Newton $100 a month from Oct 28, 1809, until the estate was settled or until further order of the court. Kittredge Haskins and C. C. Fitts were counsel for Mrs. Newton, and O. E. Butterfield of Wilmington was counsel for the estate.

The other business of the session was as follows: The will of Lucina Carley of Whitingham was allowed and R. Q. Wilcox and E. C. Stetson were appointed appraisers and commissioners. The will of Electa M. Cutler of Whitingham was allowed and Edward L. Fuller and Charles H. Faulkner were appointed appraisers and commissioners.

RAN INTO A TRAP.

All the Americans Escaped but Once-Clarence Tenney Welter of an Exciting Experience and of Long Marches in the Philippines.

Mrs. L. W. Lord received this week the boys in the 46th United States Volunteers: Subic, P. I. / Jan. 5, 1900.

I haven't heard from home for some time. My mail is probably at Manila. This is on the north line in Cavite Province. We expect to move to two towns above here and expect to have quite a fight, so thought I would write you and leave it for some one to mail who will be left befor a long time, as our facilities for writing are not of the best. The country is not as bad as some make it out, and the insurgents wont stand hard fighting. There are only two companies here, our own and one of the 32d; only our company is to move and they are all eager for the fight.

We have slept on our arms every night since we have been here, for we hold the most dangerous place on the coast. The of us ran into a trap. They drove us up a hill where we had to use both hands to climb with. The bullets were flying around our heads like hallstones and about as fast. We had one man captured. No one was seriously hurt. One man had his cheek blistered by a bullet and several had their guns smashed by them. They admit we killed seven and wounded 20. If you multiply these figures by three you will get

The rest of the regiment are on the south line. The other company look like banditti, they have been out so long, and I suppose we will look the same way in a little while.

They surely can't call us tin soldiers, for he volunteers are doing all the fighting. We are doing some great old marches-"hikes," we call them. The first thing is to wade a stream with the water nearly ; our necks, then up hills where we have to use both hands, feet and toes to climb with -the "Gogoes" thought we could not climb them-next a rice field of mud and water, where we may go in up to our neck any minute. They are something fierce, and it is like this all day long.

We carry nothing but our canteens, guns and cartridge belts, and are gone for two or three days at a time. I stand it as well as the best of them. I haven't walked a post yet, for I have got commander's or-derly every time I have had to go on guard We are now about 70 miles from there on the coast at a small place they call Suble in Subic bay. WHEEL CLUB MOCK TRIAL. A Case Which Brought Much Amuse.

ment to 100 or More Club Members. Nearly 100 Vermont Wheel club members gathered at the club rooms last Fri-day evening to hear the evidence in the case of Bacon vs. Crosby, an action of tort to recover the value of a "fighting rooster" siain in a battle which took place while the bird was in charge of the defendant. The case was one of great intricacy, and startling evidence was introduced by both sides. The jury after much deliberation decided that both defendant and plaintiff were not free from guilt, and it ended that as a penalty a lunch should be furnished the assembled multitude, T. J. B. Cudworth acted as presiding judge, W. H. Childs and W. P. Jones as side judges; C. L. Stickney, clerk of the court; W. A. Morse, court stenographer; W. Blodgett, sheriff; H. C. Rice, puty; C. C. Fitts and H. G. Barber, counsel for the plaintiff; A. F. Schwenk and E. W. Gibson, counsel for the defendant. The jury consisted of F. R. Vaughan, J. W. Miller, J. C. Howe, C. F. R. Jenne, W. F. Root and A. D. Wyatt.

The court docket was made up of rous charges in the nature of "grinds" on members of the club.

Stripping the Woodland.

A well-known resident of this town has scome interested, or rather, somewhat alarmed, at the enormous quantities of timber that are being cut off this year. There are, within five miles of Spofford lake, if reports are correct, no less than eight steam saw mills at work, as follows: The Whitcomb mill, run by Mr. Whitney; George K. Amidon & Co's. mill, the Doolittle & Brown mill, Olin Farr's mill at West Chesterfield, Butler Brothers' mill, Hermon Harvey's mill at the Factory, a mill on Broad Brook and one in Westmore land, near Parkhill. Immense quantities of timber are being eaten up by these mills and a large area of valuable forest cut away. A red pine 110 feet high and about three feet in diameter at the base was one of the most notable trees recently cut, and quantity of forest giants have met a like fate, besides thousands of smaller trees. What the result of this wholesale destruction of the forests will be remains to be seen, but it certainly does not add to the attractions of Chesterfield and its surroundings.—[Chesterfield correspondence of the New Hampshire Sentinel. CAKING SUGAR.

Abstract from C. D. Whitman's Paper Read Before the Vermont Sugar Makers in Randolph Last Week.

It has been said that the education of a girl should begin with the girl's grandmother. The making of fine maple sugar depends much on past care and previous condition of sugar utensils. The secret of making first quality maple sugar can be summed up in two words—"neatness" and "despatch." Spouts, buckets and storage Spouts, buckets and storage following letter from her son, Clarence tanks may be tin or wood; evaporators Tenney, who is one of the four Brattleboro may be of any patent or no patent, but wood, if used, must be painted, and the sap must go from the tree to the finished products of syrup or sugar as rapidly as possible by frequent gathering and shallow

Sugar making has become an exact science and the use of the thermometer through all the boiling process relieves of all uncertainty in uniform sugar making. For caking sugar 238° to 240° is just right You may not hear from me again and will make cakes of sufficient grain and not be too hard. For long keeping with-out draining it is necessary to cook to 250°.

The markets likes cakes in pounds or the subdivisions of pounds. For cooking, pound bricks are handy, but for confectionary, two-ounce or quarter-pound cakes are best, the bricks to be packed in 50pound boxes, the quarter-pound cakes in 10-pound and 20 pound boxes, while twounce cakes go in two, five and 10-pound other day we ran into about 400 of the boxes. There is less demand for sugar "Gogoes," as we call them, and about 45 cakes from year to year and an increased use of syrup.

Veteran Formerly from Dummerston Shot Himself.

A. J. Howe, a veteran of the civil war and an inmate of the soldier's home, shot himself in the hospital at Bennington soon after midnight Monday morning. He served between three and four years in from paralysis of the limbs when received, and has been a cripple since. He frequently remarked that when it got so that morphine would not relieve his pain he would kill himself. The attendants had watched him closely. The night nurse was called Monday morning by Howe, and on entering his room the nurse found Howe's pillow covered with blood. Howe spoke, saving he had shot himself. Howe's nurse found a 22 calibre revolver in the bed. Howe had shot himself through the temple, the ball entering just above the right eye, going through and coming out on the pillow on which he rested his hand when he shot. He was conscious some time after the doctor arrived. Howe enlisted from Dummerston, but since the war he had lived mostly in Gardner, Mass., where his wife was buried. He Swift and Company, Makers, Chicago Gen. Washington's Age.

Figures Given A e Often Erron ous---Change Making January the First Month of the Year.

The centennial of Gen. Washington's death was publicly noticed in many places last December. His age at his death is often given as 67 years and some months, which is erroneous. He was born Feb. 11, 1732, as the almanac then ran. New Year's began on the 25th of March. The last day of that year was March 24, 1732; the first day of the next year was March 25, 1733. In 1751, an Act of Parliament,

Mr. Bryan is opposed to expansion—so that the first day of January next after the first day of January 1752, shall be the first day of the year 1753. And so on, the first day of January in each year, shall be the first day of the year. And that after the first day of January 1752, the several days of each month shall go on in the same order; and the feast of Easter; and other moveable feasts thereon depending, shall be scertained according to the same method they then were, until the second day of Sep-tember 1752; and that the natural day next following the said second day of September, shall be reckoned the fourteenth day of September, omitting for that time only, the eleven lutermediate days. And that the several natural days which shall succeed the said fourteenth day of September, shall be reckoned in numerical order acnow used in the present calendar. * * *
The several years 1800, 1900, 2100, 2200,

2300, and any other hundredth year (except every four hundredth year of which the year 2000 shall be the first,) shall not be deemed Bissextile or Leap Year, but common years to consist only of 365 days. The years 2000, 2400, 2800, and every other four hundredth year, from the year 2000 inclusive, and all other years, which are now esteemed Bissextile or Leay Years, shall for the future be esteemed Bissextile or Leap Years, consisting of 365 days. Gen. Washington died Dec. 14, 1799. These dates, with that act, by common arithmetic will give his true age. Ethan Allen was born Jan. 10, 1737, and died Feb. 21, 1789. His age is often given as 52 years and a month and over, which is also erroneous, and can be cor-rectly computed also by these figures.

This year is interesting, in this respect, as one of the hundredth years, exactly di-visible by four, but not a leap year because not a 400th year.

President Hadley on Forestry President Hadley of Yale, always procressive and quick to interpret the signs of the times, has declared in favor of forestry n broad patriotic grounds. In an address before the Yale alumni association of Cleveland, O., as given in the Yale Alumni Weekly, Dr. Hadley said: - "Of all the needs at present, the thing we feel the need of most is the intelligent teaching of forestry, which stands out prominent. We need it for the sake of the rainfall of the ountry, for the health of the country, for the future life of the country. I hope I shall see established at Y ale in the not distaut future a school of forestry, which shall not be a school of a kind of botany as are some of the schools at present in the country; not modeled on German fash-ions, as is the case with the remainder; but as a school adapted to the needs of America, teaching in the studio and in the laboratory the principles of botany and surveying, the law of economics necessary to the understanding of the subject, and giving the men a chance to go out into the fields and do practical field work, and work into positions with the United States government; work into positions of private influ-ence also, which are bound in the imme-The Forester.

Napoleon on Drunkenness. Napoleon Bonaparte will appear in the March Century in a new rôle-that of a temperance advocate. In the second instalment of Dr. O'Meara's hitherto un-published "Talks with Napoleon" at St. Helena, it is recorded that, having a pain in his side, the ex-Emperor asked his physician to show him where his liver was situated, and the latter, in some remarks of the causes of inflammation of that organ, entioned intoxication as one of them.

Thereupon Napoleon remarked:
"Then I ought not to have it, as I never was drunk but once in my life; and that was 24 years ago at Nice. · · I drank three bottles of Burgundy, and was completely drunk. O, how sick I was the next I wonder how a man who once gets drunk can ever think of doing it again. Such headache, vomiting, and general sick-ness; I was nearly dead for two days."

Mr. Bryan's Policy.

[From the Burlington Free Press] Bryan has plainly adopted a new policy with reference to his public discussions in the East. He frankly declares that he came here, not to instruct Democrats, whom he apparently assumes are popocrats the 1st Vermont cavalry. He entered the home in October, 1894. He was suffering Having learned from the contest of 1896 that he could not hope to be elected to the White House without the winning of additional votes, he has evidently determined to capture them from the ranks of the opposition. While making it plain that he still stands for free silver coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1 he tries to show that he is in reality calling for nothing new, and that is is the only reasonable policy to pursue in connection with the revision of our currency laws.

The country has become so familiar with the arguments advanced by Bryan in support of his currency chimera that it is not necessary at this time to refer to them at length. So far as his open declaration of his free silver views are concerned we believe that Republicans as well as business men in general will welcome the assurance that he is wedded to his silver dols. The danger in connection with the national contest now begun was that Bryan would seek to slip into the Presidential chair as an anti-trust man and bob up as a free silver executive.

The certainty that he is a free silver candidate will make his defeat the more easy, and while the agitation of the currency question may tend to unsettle busi-ness for a brief period, there is a general feeling that another open fight on the question will be necessary to kill the free fliver issue. To that end the Republicans will devote their attention from this time on, and it is certain that in the contest they will have the the support of not a few sound money Democrats.

Saved From Insanity.

Nerve and Blood Diseases the Curse of Modern Civilization.

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA

"THE OENTURY'S GREATEST HEALTH-BUILDER."

Thousands of people are nervous, thousands upon thousands suffer from mental exhaustion, weak, shahy and irritable nerves, sleeplessness, gloomy depression of mind and exhaustion of nerve power.

They do not realize the dangerous graveity of their condition, nor the fearful results of neglect of these symptoms.

It is nerve and brain exhaustion, loss of nerve power and physical vigor which makes the brain tired, the arm nerveless, the limbe frembling, the muscles weak, and the whole body without strength, energy or ambition. It is the loss of nerve and vital power which is slowly but surely sapping the very life itself, and unless help is sought from the right source the end will be shattered nerves, insanity, paralysis or death.

Neglect alone is dangerous. Nature has provided, fresh from the bosom of the earth, the nerve strengthening, blood invigorating and health restoring Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which certainly and unfailingly cures these terrible nervous diseases, if taken in time.

Use this great and wonderful remedy, and the nervous, irritable, weak and trem-bling feelings will disappear; your sleep will be natural, calm, restful and you will wake mornings feeling strong and vigorous, instead of tired and exhausted; all gloomy depression and sense of anxiety and dread will fade from your mind; your nerves will become strong and steady as steel, your strength, energy and ambition will be restored, and perfect health take the place of queakness and debility.

Mrs. Janet Johnson, Roxbury Terrace, Boston, Mass., says:

For the benefit of the afflicted I deem it my duty to say that I was suffering from nervous prostration two years ago, was so weak and prostrate that I could not attend to my household duttes; closed my house and save up my home, as I was so realises I could not remain in one place. I could not sleep for weeks at a time, and insanity seemed sure to result. My case baffled the skill of saveral eminent physicians. At last, in despair, I resorted to Ir. Greene's Nervura, with wonderful effect. It produced good sleep in a few weeks, rostored my appetite and strength, until I feel like a new person. I have recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura to many of my friends, who Dr. Greene's Termile Place. Boston Mass.

War Expenses to Date

The total expenditures of the United States growing out of the war with Spain already amount to $355,000,000. Of this amount $255,000,000 went to the war department, $69,000,000 to the navy department, $2,000,000 to pay for extra service in the several departments in Washington, $20,000,000 was paid Spain for the relinquishment of her rights in the Philippines, and $9,000,000 represents the interest of the war loan to date. This amount, large as it is, represents but a small part of the expenses we are likely to incur in connection with the war, but there will be very considerable credits in the way of revenue and taxes which will help to balance the British Advancing.

Gen. French's Cavairy Leads the Way Across Modder River. Followed by 20,000 Infantry.

The British army, for the first time since war began, is inside the enemy's frontier. Lord Roberts, with at least 40,000 infantry, 7000 cavairy and 150 guns, has turned the Magersfontein lines, before which the British forces have been en amped for 10 weeks, and, with half of his corps, he is already operating on Free State territory. A battle has not yet been fought, but large tactical advantages have been gained. The relief of Kimberley is within easurable reach, and the way to Bloem fontein is appreciably easier.

The despatches of Lord Roberts sketch three days' work. The forward movement began on Sunday, when Col. Hannay set out, with a brigade of mounted infantry, for Ramah, on the Riet, eight miles from Jacobsdal, one of the Boer supply bases. On Monday Gen. French, with the cavalry division, seized the crossing of the Riet river, at Dekil's drift, south of Jacobsdal ground beyond the river and five Boer camps. He had a few casualties in brushes with the Boer horse. Gen. French has now fixed himself on Gen. Cronje's main line of unications with Bloemfontein, and 20,000 infantry with 72 guns are being pushed up to support him there. Lord Roberts's despatches, wired from inside the Free State and on the Riet river, left him Wednesday morning. His advance had not been opposed by the Boers in force. Their patrols melted away as the British moved forward. The Boer army is likely to be felt in a day or two, and a battle i consequently imminent.

Reports received in London from Boer sources, which are not confirmed by the war office, state that Gen. Buller's third attempt to relieve White's garrison has failed, and that the army, after sharp fighting, has recrossed the Tugela river and taken up its old position. Another advance, it is intimated, caunot hope to prove successful unless Buller's forces are strengthened, and this cannot be done at Cable advices indicate that the Boer orces are assuming the aggressive in both forces are assuming the aggressive in both Natal and Cope Colony. In the latter there has been some indecisive fighting near Rensberg. A large force of Boers has moved southward in Natal to a point near the Tugela river. A rumor prevails at Durban that Gen. Joubert is leading a column of 6000 men towards Gen. Buller's camp, with the view of outflanking the camp, with the view of outflanking the British army south of the Tugela.
