THE DEMOCRATS WRANGLED.

Only 16 Present But They Showed the Program for the 25th Anniversary Cele-Customary Party Characteristics-Delenates Not Instructed.

It was characteristically Democratic the Democratic caucus Friday night—although there were only 16 of the unterrifled there. The business was to elect delegates to the state, district and county conventions and to choose a town com-mittee for two years. Now this is a task that ought not to occupy over ten minutes, with a 16-man show, but the 16 had to demonstrate the genuine Democratic qualities which have been displayed so often in state conventions, national conventions and on the floor of Congress—tests of hermony, indeeding the property. lack of harmony, indecision, incapacity, coupled with a disposition to wrangle and general befuddlement. The session lasted over an hour and a half.

general beruddlement. The session lasted over an hour and a half.

The meeting was called to order shorting after 8 o'clock by M. J. Moran, chairman of the town committee, who read the call. Martin Austin was elected secretary. On motion of C. H. Davenport the chairman appointed J. T. Kaine, E. E. Reynolds and C. H. Davenport a committee to bring in a list of delegates to the state, district and county conventions. The delegations were made up as follows, the secretary being instructed to cast one ballot for all the tickets:

State and district conventions—Arthur P. Carpenter, C. H. Davenport, R. S. Childs, W. A. Shumway, Martin Austin, T. J. Heaphy, J. T. Kaine, M. J. Moran, Alternates—C. A. Boyden, D. J. Stolte, A. W. Roel, G. A. Eels, D. Brosnahan, Patrick Fleming, E. C. Dunklee, John Galvin,

County convention—J. J. Eckels, T. Aher, J. G. Ullery, E. E. Reynolds, E. H. Davenport, F. I. Swift, H. H. Hunter, C. H. Pratt, William Boyce, M. Doyle, John M. Dugan, Clifford Baker, David Carey, R. S. Childs, C. F. Mann, T. J. Sawyer, The choice of a town committee was a tedious of the consisting consisting. The choice of a town committee was a tedious job. First a committee consisting of C. A. Boyden, T. J. Heaphy and John Galvin was appointed to present names for a committee. They decided upon C. A. Boyden, M. J. Moran and Martin Austin. Mr. Austin declined and Mr. Moran indicated his disposition to follow suit. Then followed a period of drifting—with attempts to have Austin and Moran reconsider, with various motions, suggestions, etc., but finally another committee was appointed to select a committee was appointed to select a com-mittee. Messrs. Kaine, Roel and Aher reported in favor of C. H. Davenport, Arthur P. Carpenter and Fred I. Swift for a town committee and they were

The trouble of the evening was precipi-tated by an innocent looking resolution which Martin Austin offered early in the proceedings, but which was not acted upon until after the other business was transacted. The resolution was as fol-lows: "Resolved: That the delegates elected to the state convention be and hereby are instructed to support a straight

J. T. Kaine thought the delegates should not be instructed. T. J. Heaphy stated several times that he did not wish to go with his hands tied and moved that the delegates be uninstructed. C. H. Davenport believed that the Democrats of Brattleboro were not in favor of fusion but that the resolution went too far. He drew a gally colored picture of the possibility of the Clement and Democratic tickets polling 40,000 votes and throwing the election into the legislature, as was done in 1853, and of the triumph there of the Democratic of the color of t done in 1853, and of the triumph there of the Democratis if they stuck by their guns. Frank S. Pratt paid his compliments to Mr. Davenport's rainbow chasing, and declared that the only possible way that Proctor could be beaten would be through the Democratic nomination of Clement. He declared that Proctor defeated the weekly payment law two years ago, but that Clement would favor such a law and an employers' liability act. J. J. Eckels was red hot for fusion, and asseviations consisting of oak leaves and white Eckels was red hot for fusion, and asseverated that the question was not one of the people against an oliparty but of the people against an oll-garchy. While in favor of fusion he was not in favor of instructing the delegates in any way. Mr. Eckels moved an amend-Andover. ment to an amendment, Mr. Galvin moved that the amendments be laid on the table Mr. Boyden moved that the caucus adjourn, etc., etc. Martin Austin said that the time to have fused was four years ago. Then Clement had an issue, but he had no use for the Democratic party and told them so at Burlington. He was going to win alone and would not give the Democrats even the yearst place on his ticket. He turned the vacant place on his ticket. He turned them down good and hard. Now that he hasn't a single thing but personal am-lition he is willing to fuse with the Demo-crats. Out of the divergent views and multiplicity of motions was finally evolved a vote that the delegates go uninstructed a vote that the delegates go uninstructed but that the sentiment of the caucus be ex-pressed "in favor" of a straight party ticket. It is understood that of the delegates four are for a straight ticket—Davenport, Shumway. Austin and Moran; while the other four—Carpenter, Childs. Heaphy and Kaine, are not averse to

FROM CHILL TO FEVER

Seventeen Automobilists Endured Various Temperatures

Officers Held Stop Watches on Them Over Eighth-Mile Course and Bailiffs Prosecuted Them for Violating Speed Law. From chill to fever is the range in bodily temperature which the Brattleboro automobilists have experienced the past week. The chill came Friday night when they learned that, unbeknown to the drivers, the speed of 17 machines over an eighth-mile course on Main street had an eighth-mile course on Main street had been taken during the afternoon by officers of the law armed with stop watches and in the employ of the village bailiffs. The fever developed when the speedy autoists began to realize that the general public demanded that the punishment which the law specifically provides be meted out, that the bailiffs really intended to prosecute them and that to be fined once would bring them face to face with the liability of being put in jail for 16 days if ever they should be taken for a second offense. Then began a strenuous effort on the part of some to prevent being prosecuted, except in some way which in the end would result in escaping a fine, and how they came out is told farther on. The public also has taken an interest, akin to feverishness, in the matter, and the to feverishness, in the matter, and the automobile incident has been the over-shadowing topic of interest this week. The names of the drivers of the 17 au-

Dunham, Harry L. Emerson, J. Gray Estey, Charles A. Harris, William E. Haskell, Dr. Edward R. Lynch, Howard Merrill, Arthur Miller, John R. Ryder and Charles D. Whitaker. As hereafter mentioned, Bailiff Henry R. Brown was complained of by Mr. Harris, making 18 drivers on the defensive.

The reckless driving on the part of a The reckless driving on the part of a few owners of automobiles in Brattleboro was the cause which led the bailiffs to take action. Some time ago they posted notices stating that the law positively would be enforced. The fact was pub-lished in the local newspapers and after-wards wooden storm ware placed in the wards wooden signs were placed in dif-ferent parts of the village calling atten-tion to the speed limit, so that ample warning was given. The warning had no perceptible effect and the bailiffs decided to have a course on Main street measured off for the purpose of getting at some-thing definite as to violations of the law. They entrusted this work to Policeman

Under the 10-mile-an-hour clause in the law this course should not be covered in less than 45 seconds. On Thursday afternoon of last week the officers "went fishing." They caught one or two Mr. less than 4s seconds. On Thursday aftermoon of last week the officers "went fishing." They caught one or two. Mr. Warren went to the north end of the course and Mr. Knapp to the south end. Both kept tab on the automobiles passing over the course, signalling to each other by waving a newspaper whenever an automobile entered or left the course. On Friday afternoon the "fishing" was better. J. G. Ullery went over the course, but at that time it had become known that the officers were on the look-out and after Mr. Ullery had passed the first officer he was warned so that his time did not exceed the law. How L. D. Taylor escaped is told in this story.

On Saturday afternoon the bailiffs held a special meeting and voted to prosecute the drivers of the cars, leaving the details to Village Attorney A. F. Schwenk. Then began a movement to prevent prosecution as already stated, and on Monday afternoon the bailiffs were given a ride by some of those deeply interested in the matter and the workings of touring cars were explained to them in a way cal-

He testified as to the way in which he and Mr. Warren timed Mr. Haskell with stop watches over an eighth-mile course which they previously had seasured with a tape and said that Mr. Haskell covered the course in 30 second Replying to questions by Judge Waterma he said he had Orlen Ellis's watch, whice cost $150, but that he never tested it with a view to determining its accuracy. He said he stood at the south end of the ourse and started the watch when the rear wheels of Mr. Haskell's machin were even with a post near Randall Clapp's jewelry store, going north. He said he did not stand close to the post, but stood most of the time in a doorway about 15 feet south of the post, but was sure he could tell from that angle when Haskell's and other automobiles were

Mr. Schwenk. He said the question for the court to consider was whether there was probable cause for binding the respondents over. It having been proved that the respondents violated the law, he said there was but one thing for the court to do. For the defense E. W. Gibson stated that there was so much in the testir of the officers that did not "jibe" there was considerable doubt as to whether the time was actually and fairly taken "A second counts for a good deal," he said. "In holding a man on a crimina charge." He argued that the intent to break the law must be considered as well as the actual commission of the act. He thought it would not serve the ends of justice to hold the respondents. Mr. Schwenk said the respondents had imple warning, that the balliffs had posted notices that the law would be en-forced, and that the automobilists knew "It is just because they were running as they ordinarily do that they are brought into court here today. Give them 10 seconds for inaccuracles and then they will be found to have greatly exceeded the law," he said.

At this point Mr. Merrifield said he would like more time in which to consider the testimony, and he adjourned court to 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Immediately after court adjourned Charles A. Harris entered complaint to Mr. Schwenk against Balliff Henry R. Brown, charging him with violating the law which requires drivers of automobiles to run their cars not to exceed six miles an hour when approaching cross walks and intersecting streets. The complaint was signed by Mr. Merrifield. Mr. Harris in discussing the question of speed with Mr. Brown before the hearing said it would be impossible to run over the course laid out by the officers as slow as 45 seconds on the high gear. demonstrate that it could be done Harris rode over the course with Brown in the latter's car. Mr. Br occupied more than 45 seconds in covering the course, but he exceeded the six-mile limit, and in view of the fact that the action was brought by the balliffs, of whom Mr. Brown is one, Mr. Harris re-taliated by having a complaint issued against Mr. Brown. Later in the afternoon Charles R. Crosby walved examination and was bound over in the sum of $50 and was released on

On Wednesday morning the speed ar-tists and a large number of spectators as-sembled in the county clerk's office expecting that the decision in the Haskell case would be announced. But it was not given. Some of the leaders in the fight to prevent being bound over had been ac-tive since the close of Tuesday's session and in the morning the bailing held a protracted meeting to consider a proposition not to press the matter to a con-clusion, but to hold it off a month, keeping the automobilists under probation, it were. Dunham, was not able to attend to that case immediately, being obliged to go away on other business, and that he had agreed to a continuance of Mr. Dunham's case to July 9. Judge Water-man then asked to have all the cases conand Dr. E. R. Lynch Thursday night and then asked specifically about Mr. Haskell. He said Mr. Haskell was going south instead of north as Mr. Knapp testified. He produced his original record of all the automobiles and showed it to

Court convened shortly before

Schwenk said he agreed to continue the Dunham case out of professional courtesy to Mr. Martin, but he saw no reason why the other cases should be continued. He said he was ready to try them and had been ready all the time and that counsel on the other side could procure witnesses with no trouble whatever as they all lived near by.

The court asked if any of the respondsaid. Manapp was recalled. When asked by Judge Waterman for his original record he said he drew the record off with pen and ink and threw the original record into the waste basket. "With the exception of one or two instances." Said Mr. Knapp, "my record agreed with Mr. Warren's. Whenever there was any variation we gave the automobilist the benefit of the longer time."

Said: "I should like to have mine tried this afternoon." Judge Waterman arose to speak again, but the court interrupted him and said that with the exception of Mr. Brown's case all the cases would be continued to July 9 at 19 o'clock. Mr. Mr. Masseck will conduct to Schwenk called attention to the fact that all the evidence in the Haskell case was in and said he saw no reason why the design should not be given, but the said that the court interrupted him and said that with the exception of Mr. Brown's case all the cases would be continued to July 9 at 19 o'clock. Mr. Masseck will conduct Vernon Sunday at 3 o'clock. the rest. Early in the afternoon Brown's case was continued to July 9.

SPORTING.

Arthur Monroe, Wesleyan's Star Twirler. The Springfield Republican of Monday ontained the following sketch with a half

"The brilliant work of Arthur J. Monroe of Brattleboro, Vt., Wesleyan's star twirler for the season, has caused much favor-able comment. This is Monroe's fourth year on the 'varsity as a pitcher. This year he has pitched consistent ball, being forced to bear the brunt of the game, by a team which did not develop its fielding until late in the season. He has won nearly all of the games which he has pitched and has scored victories over Dartmouth, Tufts, Columbia, Manhattan, Syra cuse, Rutgers and New York University. He sprained his ankle in midseason, which greatly handicapped him in his delivery and kept him out of the Amberst and Williams games. His greatest feat, this year, was winning four games in one week, three of which were shut outs. Tufts was beaten 3 to 1, Manhattan, 10 to 0, Dartmouth, 2 to 0, and Columbia. 3 to 0. He was at his best in the Dart-mouth game, when he held the green down to one hit and was faced by only 30 batters. Monroe has a peculiar 'cross-fire' delivery, with plenty of steam. He uses his head well and fields his position in almost perfect style. He is a heavy and sure hitter, and leads the Wesleyan batters with an average of over .390. He was captain during his junior year, but Baldwinsville will furnish the sport ourth of July. The aggregation will be one of the strongest seen here this sea-son, and the contests are sure to be snap-py. Games will be called at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Ellis and Cooley will twirl for the Athlettes.

Since the Springfield Republican review-Since the Springfield Republican reviewed Monroe's work as a twirler he has finished his career as a collegian by shutting out Williams 1-0, twelve innings. Opposed to him was the mighty Ford, picked for the All-American college team. Williams registered only seven hits off Monroe and most of these were scratches. Williams had three men on bases at one time and none out, but the side was retired before a man could reach the plate.
