BRATTLEBORO THIRD IN LEAGUE RACE

ELEVEN INNINGS FRIDAY.

Keene Finally Landed the Game 6 to 4 -Pepicski's Catch in the 10th Spoiled Brattleboro's Chance to Win.

The jinx which has hovered over Island park was not dispelled Friday, but it wavered long enough to allow the contest to go to 11 innings and in the last haif of the 10th inning a Brattle-boro victory was better than a two to one shot. But the scene shifted in a moment and Keene pulled out a victory 6 to 4 in the 11th inning.

The credit of saving the game to Keene should be given to Pitcher Peploski, who was playing in left field. He made some fine catches previous to the 10th inning, but at that time he struck his hardest blow against Brattleboro. In the 10th, after Malcolm had been thrown the 10th, after Malcolm had been thrown out at first by Proctor, Grow and Ridion batted safely. Peploski was playing a deep field when Mayforth hit the ball to short left field. The drive looked safe to everybody and Grow took a long lead toward third. Peploski sprinted in great style and on the dead run picked the ball off his shoestrings, and throwing to second, caught Grow, retiring the side. At this time Keene had already been at the bat, the score was tied and the next batter up would have tied and the next batter up would have been Snell, the most consistent hitter in the entire league. It was a great and deciding play which Peploski made. In the 11th, after Lynch had struck out, Proctor hit safely and stole second. Anderson struck out, and the situation did not look bad even with Proctor on second. Durgin was purposely passed to first on balls. Little Fish, the Keene catcher, hit sharply to the outfield and Proctor scored, Durgin going to third. Then Jimmy Horan hit to right field and Durgin came home. Donovan filed out to Guiheen. In Brattleboro's half of the Ilth Snell and Hoban were thrown out at first. Donnelly met the ball for his third safety of the day. Donovan failed to hold Guiheen's grounder and Brattle-boro had men on first and third, but Maiden hit a grounder to Anderson and was out at first. We have told the story of the ending of the game first, but the contest was interesting and spirited from start to finish. It was a high grade game of ball all the way, and every spectator re-ceived his money's worth, even if the home team lost.

Keene started the scoring in the first inning. Durgin laid down a bunt and was safe. The infielders played in close for a bunt from Fish but he dropped the ball over third base. After Horan was thrown out at first Donovan cracked out thrown out at first Donovan cracked out a single and both men scored. Brattle-boro secured a run in the second on Snell's hit, Hoban's sacrifice and Donnelly's hit. In the sixth Keene scored twice on three hits, a sacrifice and two bases on balls, Wardwell forcing in one run by etying a base on balls with the run by giving a base on balls with the bases filled. Malcolm relieved Wardwel in the seventh.

In the seventh Brattleboro touched up Anderson in lively style, singles, by Snell, Donnelly and Guiheen and Mal-colm's hard smash for two bases netting three runs. Midget Maiden played a star game in left field, pulling down two long drives that looked good for extra

The mighty Peploski was found long hits just when they were need-Not a man on the Keene team saw third base. Brattleboro started the scoring in the second on a base on balls to Hoban, hits by Guiheen and Darrows, and a smash by Davies through the trees beyond right field into the waters of the murky Ashuelot. According to ground rules this hit was good for only three bases. In the third Brattleboro chalked up two points on a hit by May-forth, a base on balls to Donnelly, and Guiheen's hard drive to deep centre field for two bases. In the seventh, with Snell and Hoban on bases, Donnelly slammed the ball over the river bank for three bases. In the eighth Darrows was safe when Durgin failed to touch first after stopping a grounder. Darrows took two bases on a hit by Davies and scored on a long drive by Grow to left field. Grow played a fine game at third and Donovan contributed some fielding features to the game. The Keepe fans. features to the game. The Keene fans were very noisy in the first part of the game, throwing all sorts of libes and jeers at the Brattleboro players, but long before the ninth inning the shout-ing and the tumuit ceased, the Keene

THE HOODOO ROUTED.

Brattleboro Landed Its First Home Game of the Season, 3 to 1, Against Bellows

Falls Tuesday. The hoodoo vanquished, vanished and The hoodoo vanquished, vanished and Tuesday Brattleboro took the first game of the season on the home grounds by a score of 3 to 1, against Bellows Falls. Stimpson, the Bates college boy, pitch-ed a fine game, one of Brattleboro's dised a fine game, one of Brattleboro's dis-cards, Vance, being the only man to solve his delivery to any extent. Vance fattened his already big batting av-erage by beiting the ball for four safe-ties. Darrow, the new man, had a hard time at short, but his chances were dif-ficult and he went after everything in a wide range of territory. Despite his errors Darrow looked good. Brattleboro started the scoring in the errors Darrow looked good.

Brattleboro started the scoring in the third on Mayforth's hit and Snell's dcuble, both hits being made after two were out. In the fourth Gulheen batted safely, stole second and third by using his head instead of his legs, and scored on Darrow's hit. In the sixth Guiheen was given a free passage to first. When Hoban struck out he stole second, and Hoban struck out he stole second, and ambled to third when Darrow was being retired at first. Flaherty walked and then started to steal second. This movement drew a throw from the catcher to second. Flaherty slowed up between the bases and the second base-man threw home, but not quickly or accurately enough to catch Guineen.

The visitors would have been blank-ed but for Grow's wild peg over first base in the fifth in an effort to complete a double play. In the seventh with the bases filled and one out Bellows Falls sent in Wright and Eckstrom as pinch hitters, but the former struck out and the latter hit an easy grounder to Stimpson. Gibbs, the former Athol high school boy, twirled effectively for Bellows Falls in the last three innings.

Wheeler, the Bennington pitcher, was in town Tuesday to see if the local team would give him a trial. It is expected that Carolan, the big first baseman with Bennington, will join the Keene club next week. Mackey, who umpired satisfactorily in Tuesday's game here, lives in North Adams. He has had an experience of many years as a catcher and manager.

Peploski of Keene has signed a con-ract with the Detroit Americans, but it is expected that he will finish out this season in the Twin State league. DRAPER BEQUEST IS NOW OPERATIVE

Memorial Clock Tower Being Built at Retreat

Will Surmount Casino Building and Dials Will Be Illuminated-Equipped with

When Dr. Joseph Draper, who was for many years superintendent of the Brat-tleboro Retreat, died March 27, 1892, he left a will in which provision was made for a clock tower at the Retreat for the benefit of the patients who wished to note the passing of the hours during the night. The bequest was not to become operative during the life of Mrs. Draper, but the latter is desirous of seeing the tower and sharing in the benefit of it, and accordingly plans are going forward for its erection at once. The tower will contain an electrically illuminated clock and will be located above the middle section of the handsome memorial casino and gympasium, building erected the and gymnasium building, erected the past year on the Retreat grounds south of the main building. The trustees be-came convinced, after careful considera-tion of the various possible sites, that the most feasible plan would be to erect it on the roof of the memorial building. It will be known as the Draper memor-lal clock tower.

Mrs. Draper was designated as the sole executrix of her husband's will, and while, as above stated, the bequest was not to become operative until Mrs. Draper's decease, by unanimous consent of the executrix and other legatees it was decided that the memorial should be built now.

built now.

The clause in Dr. Draper's will creating this legacy reads as follows: "I give and bequeath to the Brattleboro Retreat in Brattleboro, Vermont, ten thousand dollars, one-half for the endowment of a free bed in said institution, and one-half for the erection of a clock tower and placing and maintaining therein a clock which shall strike the hours and which can be seen from all or nearly all the wards, my experience having shown the wards, my experience having shown me that it is a great comfort to sleep-less persons to be able to note the passage of the hours during the time of darkness."

New steel trusses will be required to strenghthen the building, and to serve as a support for the tower which is to be 36 feet above the ridge-pole and 13 feet in diameter at the base. The clock dials, four in number, are to be five feet in diameter, above which will be the bell. The clock and bell will be installed by the E. Howard Clock company of Boston, who have furnished most of the large and expensive clocks throughout the United States. The specifications call for a powerful hour and half-hour strik-ing clock and tubular bell. All of the dials will be of sectional glass and fron suitable for illumination, so that the figures may be easily read from sunset to sunrise. This clock, which will be made of the finest material, is guaranteed to run without a variation of more than 30 seconds a month.

The construction of this tower, which is now under way, is under the general supervision of Fred C. Brown, who has had charge of the carpenter work at the memorial casino and gymnasium. The exterior will be built of best quality cypress, and the structure will be braced so as to with-stand the great wind pressure which will come against it. The present cupola of the gymnasium building will be removed to make room for the tower. All the ventilation of the building centres in this cupola, but the tower will be so constructed as not to interfere with the ventilating system. The generosity of Dr. and Mrs. Draper will provide a valuable and beautiful addition to the equipment of this important institu-tion,—an addition which will be appreclated by the public generally.

DEDICATORY PROGRAM COMPLETE.

Next Monday Evening-Several Gifts

Will Be Accepted. Public exercises in dedication of the ew addition to the Brattleboro free library and in acceptance of gifts to the institution will take place in the library next Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock, and during the afternoon and evening the building will be open to public inspection. The dedicatory prayer will be of-fered by Rev. Dr. John R. Gow, following which Judge J. M. Tyler will accept for the institution the gift of books and works of art from Mrs. C. A. Loud of Boston, whom it is expected will be pre-sent. William R. Mead of New York, a member of the widely-known archite tural firm of McKim, Mead & White, will present a bust of his brother, the late Larkin G. Mead, the sculptor, and a response to this gift will be made by O. L. French. Col. Kittredge Haskins will speak in acceptance of a portrait of the late Joseph Steen, a long-time

Brattleboro merchant, presented by his being closed more than two weeks in order that workmen might finish work on the new addition, also in order that the librarian might take an inventory and re-arrange the books, the public library was opened Friday after-noon, and many expressions of approval of the changes and improved conditions have been made by those having occasion to visit the building. All the books have been arranged so that they are more accessible to the public and much easier to find when one is looking for a special volume. The delivery desk has been moved and now runs parallel with the alsle, thus showing the entire length of the library from the entrance. The appearance is a dis-

the entrance. The appearance is a dis-tinct improvement. Two electric lights on the delivery desk aid Librarian Mary F. Shakshober in her work. The children's books, adult fiction, English literature, American literature, Continental litreature, history, travel, sociology and socialism and other sub-jects are placed in separate stacks, and the arrangement facilitates finding the books. In the rear of the addition is a books. In the rear of the addition is a books. In the rear of the addition is a table on which the atlases are placed and in the south side of the addition is located the reference department. With tables, encyclopedias and other reference books close at hand in the stacks the work of students is made easier, and with a fine lighting arrangement this is one of the most attractive parts of the building, especially to those who find occasion for using reference work. The biographical works are near the reference book stacks, and in the rear of the older part of the building are located the bound and loose magazines. Many of the bound magazines and newspapers and older books have been placed upstairs. Instead of being placed on revolving bookcases as formerly, the new books are now placed in the front stacks on the south side. Miss Shakshober's office is in the addition and is on the south

William Morris Hunt's painting, "The Prodigal Son," which has hung in the reading room on the north side, will ocreading room on the north side, will oc-cupy hereafter a position in the sec-ond story in the addition in such a way that it may be seen from the entrance. The public little realizes the beauty and workmanship in the painting. In its new position it will get excellent light from the skylights. This picture was painted by Mr. Hunt while he was in Paris and is one of his earlier works. It is a valuable work of art, because many of the pictures of the artist have been destroyed in various ways.

The Loud collection has been taken from the cases in which it was shipped and placed in the upper story in the rear of the addition. It embraces many rare and beautiful works of art. Japanese handiwork, and many valuable bound volumes. There are engravings by many masters, more than 25 oil paintings of marine and landscape subjects, portraits and nature studies, a number of Japan-vases, beautiful shells and other articles. All these are in the large room in the new addition. In a smaller room is the collection of books in the bookcases in which they were placed by Mr. Loud. The cases are surmounted by a great variety of vases, statuary, Japanese bronze work and works of art.

The books are in excellent bindings and include sets of Shakspear, Scott, Dickens, Bulwer-Lytton, Dumas, Hugo and others. There are many works of history, biography, travel, art and miscellaneous volumes, among them books that were printed many years ago.

Dr. E. R. Lynch has brought suit for $5000 against Mrs. Abbie E. Fuller and Sidney W. Edgett for damages for injuries sustained in the night of Nov. 29, 1910. He claims that the defendants, without leave, dug a ditch across Dick-inson street, left no lights or guards there, and that in the night he ran his automobile into the ditch and was thrown to the ground, R. C. Bacon and M. P. Davis are attorneys for Dr. Lynch.

Harry Plummer and Miss Laura Pellerin were married yesterday morning at 8.30 o'clock by Rev. Father M. J. Car-mody. The bride wore a light blue travmody. The bride wore a light blue traveling suit and a hat to match and after the ceremony the couple started for Springfield, Mass., where they will visit several days. Both have been employed by the Estey Organ company. In March of this year Mrs. Plummer was aroused from what was said to have been a hypnotic sleep through hearing Mr. Plummer play the violin.

Although no formal acceptance of the bid of the Boston & Maine railroad for making the improvements in the rail-road yard has been made by the Central Vermont company, it is generally under-stood that the Boston & Maine company will have the contract and that the Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins corporation will do the work. Several railroad men were brook, Cabot & Rollins corporation will do the work. Several railroad men were here yesterday in consultation with Mr. Holbrook, who is directing the work on the construction of the roadbed between here and South Vernon by way of Hinsdale, They included W. E. Costello, superintendent of the New London division of the Central Vermont, F. W. Dennison of St. Albans, a Central Vermont engineer, and T. P. Perkins and E. I. Chase of Boston, engineers for the Boston & Maine. The plans have been worked out and the method of doing the work is now under consideration. It is work is now under consideration.
