"White Satin" Flour

is called a gluten flour by laboratory chemists for it excels in the amount of white gluten, which is the essential blood and brain-giving qualities of the wheat and can be found in the greatest quantities in No. 1 Northern and No. 1 Hard Spring Wheat which is used exclusively in making "WHITE SATIN." The difference in cost over ordinary flours is a small part of your actual gain.

NEW COMPANY TO

BUY SMITH PLANT

Corporation Formed with Arthur B. Clapp at the Head

Business Will Be Taken Over Next Week—Authorized Capital $150,000—Larger Development Planned.

As is always the case when Brattleboro men put their shoulders to the wheel, a way out of the financial problem confronting the S. A. Smith company has been found. Next week the company will be reorganized under the name of "The S. A. Smith Manufacturing Company," and a deed of the property to the new company will be passed. This is the result of a business deal on Frost street, known in recent years as the S. A. Smith company, which for some time has been a part of the Hardware & Woodware company, with headquarters in New York City. Some time ago the Hardware & Woodware company went into the hands of receivers, and since then the fate of the Brattleboro concern has been in the balance.

The men who have come to the relief of the conditions threatening the local plant are Arthur B. Clapp, president of the Brattleboro Trust company; Frank L. Hunt and Fred L. Smith, for some years the managers of the plant; George L. Dunham, head of the Dunham Brothers company, wholesale and retail dealers in footwear; John B. Manley, who has made a signal success at the head of the Manly & Co. shoe and hat business; and Attorney Clarke C. Fitts, one of the town's most public-spirited men, who has managed the legal end of many important enterprises.

These men filed articles of association with the secretary of state a few days ago and applied for a charter for the new company, which has been issued authorizing a capital of $150,000. Within the next few days the new corporation will organize and take over the plant. The business will go on without interruption, with the same management as ever before, and it is understood that Mr. Hunt and Mr. Smith will continue in charge of the plant, although the property and out-buildings, located at the corner of Frost and Elm streets, are one of the receivers. After the business had been managed a long time by the receivers a plan of disposing of the property was set upon and an auction sale was ordered by Judge J. L. Martin of Brattleboro in the United States district court. The sale was held, bids were received and several orders were made by the court, but they were held up by appeals. Finally, on April 20, in Worcester, Mass., all the property was sold to A. H. Tisdale of Leominster, Mass., for $440,000, the understanding being that the factory managers would take the separate properties at specified sums, which was done in all but two instances. The Brattleboro and Leominster managers failed to raise the money. The price to be paid for the Brattleboro property was fixed at that time at $65,000. The reorganization will take the local plant out of the receivers' hands, but the Leominster managers have not come forward with the money it is understood.

The S. A. Smith factory, which replaces one which was burned several years ago, is a three-story structure with annex and out-buildings, located at the corner of Frost and Elm streets. The lot contains about 10 acres and has a frontage of 900 feet on Frost street. Doubtless a part of this land will be held for sites for new industries, which will find the location very advantageous when the new railroad is built from Main street out Flat and Frost streets. The business was established by the late S. A. Smith and the late S. S. Hunt and has been an important factor in the industrial history of the town. The present force includes about 85 hands, but the plant has a capacity of 125 or more, and it is hoped to develop the business to its full capacity. The new organization is made up of men of ability and energy, and the outlook is bright.

2000 MEN ON RAILROAD JOB.
Bridge Workers Making Good Progress
Immense leces of Steel Being Laid—Track Work on Vermont Side.

Enough money was distributed yesterday by the paymaster of the Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins corporation to pay for a large amount of early Christmas work. About 2000 men are working on the new railroad job and each received a semi-monthly "bundle," and great work is being accomplished. At present about 200 men are employed on the construction of the new bridge across the Connecticut river, which was made to these are bridge-workers in the employ of the American Bridge company. The work of leveling off the ledge under the bed of the river for pier No. 1 continues and Engineer Wyles Russell says it is progressing better than was expected as the ledge is hard and all the work has to be done with a dredge and by blasting under water.

The "wood-butcher" are preparing the false-work for the bridge workers between pier No. 1 and pier No. 2 and the bridgemen have accomplished a good amount of work this week. The spans from pier No. 2 to the west abutment are laid and the rails are in place, and now the men are working on the false-work between piers 1 and 2. The truss and girder spans are in place on the north side of the bridge. The stretch between piers 2 and 3 is 150 feet and the first 500 feet of the bridge will be double tracked. The rails have been laid on the completed panel. A difficulty was encountered in the work Tuesday when the three top cords were placed on the superstructure. It was a job that required expert knowledge of the art of bridge-building. The centre cord weighs 28 tons and is about 60 feet long.

It takes the bridgemen longer to set the bolts in the steel work than it does to place the steel sections as thousands of bolts have been used. On this side of the river the dirt is being hauled to make the fill from the end of the bridge to the Central Vermont yard.

After the regular meeting of Bingham chapter, O. E. S., Tuesday evening dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

LOCAL OVERFLOW.

Carloads of Christmas trees for the city have been going through here the past week.

The Garment Workers' Union held their regular monthly meeting in Union hall Monday evening. Three were initiated.

"Hip Van Winkle" will be the feature photoplay at the Princess theatre next Tuesday afternoon and evening. Robert McWade, who for many years was with Joseph Jefferson, portrays the title roll. The story is staged excellently.

Rev. R. M. Houghton spent 15 days in and around Jerusalem last summer and made a number of photographs. These will be shown with others in the stereoscopic lecture in the Centre church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

Arnold Pellett left yesterday on a Southern trip of two or three months. He will go at first to Jacksonville, Florida, and later will travel down the east side of the state to Key West, and will probably cross the water to Havana.

The annual meeting of the Brotherhood of the Centre church will be held next Wednesday evening in connection with the annual meeting of the ecclesiastical society. Rev. R. M. Houghton will speak on "A pilgrimage to the Holy Land."

Twenty-five friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Richardson came from here to attend their wedding reception in Grange hall. Dancing was enjoyed and supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson have returned to Brattleboro and are living in the American building.

John Raymond Glover of North Main street, a teamster, and Miss Mamie Estelle Montgomery of Kensington, Conn., were married Monday afternoon in the town clerk's office by Justice Carl S. Hopkins. They will live in Brattleboro.

About 50 couples attended the first of the series of socials in the Masonic Temple Wednesday evening. Music was furnished by Leitinger's orchestra and refreshments were served.

A good-sized audience attended the performance of "A Butterfly on the Wheel" last evening in the Auditorium. The play deals with social conditions and the dangers which beset a married woman who commits the slightest indiscretion. The climax occurred in the third act, when one of the most powerful divorce court scenes ever portrayed in drama was presented. Every moment of this scene was intense. The company of 14 persons was well balanced.

Harry C. Belknap of Claremont, N. H., son of Mrs. Peter S. Chase of this town, has been appointed deputy inspector and collector of customs at Island Pond, in the Newport district, which position he assumed Monday of this week. He acted second in four successful ones out of 24 who took the examinations. Mr. Belknap formerly lived here, afterward going to St. Albans and Burlington, thence to Claremont, where he was employed as clerk in the Monadnock mills.

Sheriff C. E. Mann expected to go to Pittsfield, Mass., yesterday after Isadore Grooper, who was arrested in Pittsfield on charges brought by State Attorney F. E. Barber and is wanted in the western end of the county on the charge of passing fraudulent checks. He did not go, as Governor S. N. Hildreth in Virginia and extradition papers could not be obtained. The telephone was used and arrangements were made whereby Grooper's hearing was continued at the sheriff secures the extradition papers, which probably will be next week.

Ilion Pirovitch, a laborer employed by the Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins corporation on the new railroad job, was taken to the Memorial hospital Tuesday suffering with two fractured ribs and a dislocated bone in his right wrist. Pirovitch was pulling a steam drill pipe from a hole near the railroad embankment on the Hinsdale side of the river, with his back to the 25-foot bank. The pipe was shorter than he thought and the end came down on his back as he expected and he rolled down the embankment with the pipe. Dr. H. P. Greene was called.

Although the police throughout New England have been notified by one lookout for Sidney Fisher, who disappeared from town the night that K. E. Mosher's safe was robbed of about $100, and for Alton Conwell, who disappeared from town about the same time, neither have been arrested. The police of St. Albans sent word to Chief-of-Police George Wilson that they had two suspects under arrest. The investigation showed that they were not wanted here. Railroad men reported after the robbery that they had seen Conwell in Vermont and South Vernon and some of the railroad men say they saw him there last Friday.

Sheriff C. E. Mann went to Newfane Wednesday and brought back James Connors and William Parrot from the county jail. The case against Sheriff C. E. Mann took them to the house of correction in Rutland. They were sentenced about a week ago from the municipal court in Bellows Falls for petty larceny to three months in the county jail. They proved to be "bad actors" and one day when they went into the woods to work a man had to be sent out with a gun to watch them. There was no inside work for them to do at the jail so Sheriff Mann decided to have them sent to some institution where they would be made to work. Governor Fletcher signed the removal orders.

Further developments of importance have taken place this week in the litigation between the Bellows Falls Canal company and the various paper mills relative to the taxes assessed by Walden on the Canal company's plant. E. Waterman has issued an injunction restraining the Canal company from proceeding with a case brought by Sheriff C. E. Mann to have the taxes levied among the mill owners. The Canal company has moved to have the injunction dissolved. A hearing will be held next Tuesday. C. C. Fitts of this town and Warner Graham of Bellows Falls are counsel for the owners. The Canal company is represented by Streeter, Demond & Woodworth of Concord, St. Nickerson, Sargent & Skeels of Ludlow.

Albert O. Buzby, formerly a sergeant
