BRATTLEBORO.

Rev. E. Q. S. Osgood will conduct the chapel service at the Retreat Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

After taking two ballots Tuesday the election of a first lieutenant of Company I was postponed to Friday evening.

Mrs. Rayns of Valley street fell Wednesday in her home and sustained a compound fracture of the right leg midway between the ankle and knee.

On account of the extra work involved the two weeks preceding Christmas the local F. W. Woolworth store declared a Christmas cash bonus of $1.20 to its employees Saturday night at close of business.

Mrs. W. F. Dunlevy gave a luncheon Tuesday in her home on Spruce street to announce the engagement of Miss Katherine Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Fleming of Oak street, to Joseph Corcoran of New London, Conn.

At the regular meeting of Dennis Rebeckah Lodge Tuesday these officers were elected: N. G. Miss May Cook; V. G. Mrs. Nettie Akeley; rec. sec. Mrs. Alice Landry; fin. sec. Miss Minnie Brown; treas. Mrs. Ida Giddister for three years; Mrs. Jennie Moran.

The employees of Dunham Brothers Co. received substantial Christmas presents Saturday from the firm in the form of cash bonuses. Each employee received at least five dollars, those who had been with the company a year received $10 and for each additional year of service the bonus was increased $2.

Invitations have been received in town to the wedding of Ashley Leonard Wright of Brookline, Mass., and Miss Susan Shaw Hatfield, of Wellesley, Mass., to take place Jan. 10, in St. Andrew's church. Mr. Wright is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Adin Wright, formerly of Brattleboro, and a grandson of the late Henry O. Leonard.

Miss E. E. Sessions, representative of the Kurr Hattin Home, is in town at the Melrose hotel for her annual work for the home. Her visit has been delayed because of the very serious illness of her mother, and because of this fact Miss Sessions would much appreciate the cooperation of those who interest themselves in this work.

There are 100 boys in the school, two of whom are from Brattleboro.

An attempt to have a meeting of lawyers of Windham county Saturday afternoon for the purpose of fixing minimum fees for various legal services did not develop satisfactorily. Some of the attorneys could not attend the meeting and others were obliged to leave soon after the meeting was started to board trains for their homes. It may be that the matter will be taken up at the opening of the next term of the Windham County court.

Fourteen nurses and three superintendents of the Brattleboro Memorial hospital were given a Christmas party Sunday evening at the Brattleboro Country club by the Brattleboro physicians. A large sleigh took the guests to the club, where a pleasant evening was spent. The rooms were trimmed effectively with Christmas decorations. Victrola and piano music was enjoyed, after which a Welsh rarebit spread was served.

The annual Christmas party and supper for the beginners and primary departments of the Congregational Sunday school was held Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock in the chapel. There were 40 little folks present, who enjoyed a happy afternoon. Games were played, Christmas carols sung by the children and Rev. Richard H. Clapp told a Christmas story. Mrs. D. W. Tenney trimmed the Christmas tree again this year, which she has done for the children the past seven years. A supper was served for the little ones.

In the Springfield, Mass., city news in the Springfield Republican yesterday appeared the following: "Herbert, son of Elliott street and Mary Holland of Holyoke, who were struck by an automobile from Brattleboro, Vt., on Dwight street Saturday night, were able to leave the hospital yesterday. Several stitches were required to close the wound on Miss Holland's right arm. Miss Power suffered severe bruises on her right hip and suffered from the shock. The name of the motorist who picked them up after striking them has not been learned."

Sergeant Thor L. Anderson of the machine gun company and Private Joseph Emerson of Company K of Springfield have been transferred to Company I. Both young men are residents of Brattleboro. A bulletin of the war department is to the effect that all men who absent themselves from their military duties, which includes regularly scheduled drills, may be dropped as deserters and treated accordingly. It further provides that no man over 30 years of age shall be commissioned as second lieutenant.

The epidemic of whooping cough and chicken pox which has been prevalent in Brattleboro several weeks apparently is on the wane. Less cases were reported to the health officer, Dr. Henry Tucker, last week than the week before, and to date the record for this week is very low. Three cases of measles have been reported in the last few days, but it is not expected that this disease will become prevalent as all the cases were imported and the children have not exposed others, it is believed. One case of chicken pox was reported Wednesday in the home of Frederic H. Sanford of North street.

The primary, junior and intermediate departments of the Universalist Sunday school gave a Christmas concert Sunday evening, rendering a pleasing program of recitations and songs. A supper for the primary department was served in the vestry Friday at 3 o'clock, after which a decorated Christmas tree was enjoyed and Santa Claus distributed candy, oranges and apples, to the great delight of the children. The entertainment for the adult members took place the previous evening, beginning with a free supper at 6 o'clock and was rendered by Miss Miriam Childs and Miss Jean Rhodett, a violin solo by Albert Dugan, piano solo by Miss Malva Roberts and recitations by Miss Viola Brayman. Games helped round out the evening.

Elijah Wales' dancing class will not meet Saturday, but will meet a week from Saturday instead.

Daniel F. Doyne, one of the janitors of the new railroad station, has been appointed special police officer by the village officials.

Emerson & Son, house furnishers, and Moran & Rohde, furniture dealers and undertakers, will be closed at 6 o'clock every evening in the week except Saturdays.

The Peoples National bank Friday declared a regular dividend of five per cent for the six months ending Dec. 31, 1916, and an extra dividend of five per cent, making a total of 15 per cent for the year.

News was received Monday of the death "somewhere in France" of Private Harry Croll, who was a member of a Canadian regiment. He was a nephew of George Croll and a cousin of David Croll of Brattleboro.

The Company I basketball team was defeated at Charenton, N. H., Wednesday by a score of 48 to 31. The visitors were completely outplayed in the first period, but in the second came fast and scored 10 baskets from the floor.

Cecil Farr, 12, of West Chesterfield, N. H., is in the Melrose hospital with a bad fracture of the left thigh. The result of a coasting accident Sunday morning. This is the fourth time the boy has had fractured bones in his leg. Dr. G. B. Hunter is the attending physician.

The school in district No. 6, Miss Mabel Provin, teacher, rendered a Christmas program and had a Christmas tree Friday night in the schoolhouse. Despite the inclement weather a fair-sized audience was present. Santa Claus called during the evening and all report a very pleasant time.

The Wahse Camp Fire girls gave an enjoyable Christmas dance Monday night in the Armory, for which Leitinger's orchestra furnished excellent music. There was a large attendance. The patronesses were Mrs. I. E. Perry, Mrs. C. A. Harris, Mrs. A. F. Schwenk and Mrs. A. F. Roberts.

The young women employees of the New England Telephone Co.'s office held their annual Christmas festival Wednesday, Dec. 20, in their rooms in the American building. The affair was enjoyable with music on the victrola, various games, and the exchanging of gifts. Refreshments were served.

The Bradley farm notified customers yesterday that beginning Jan. 1 the price of milk would be nine cents a quart instead of eight, with special milk at 10 cents a quart. Cream will remain at the present price of 50 cents a quart. The advance is made because of the constantly increasing cost of feed and labor.

Some one Friday did much damage in the men's toilet at the railroad station. The big marble slab which separates two of the toilets was broken from the wall, metal fastenings at the front were bent and screws broken and the floor badly sprung. It is difficult to understand what could have been the reason for doing the damage.

Harold L. Bailey of Bradford, assistant to E. S. Brigham of St. Albans, commissioner of agriculture came to town Wednesday for a stay of two days to scout for browntail moth nests. He found a few in the south part of the town last evening, but says they are very scarce here. He has charge of insect suppression in the state.

Miss Isabelle Heywood, 75, died yesterday, after a long period of ill health. She was born in Gullhall and for many years lived in Lancaster, N. H., coming to Brattleboro 15 years ago to make her home with her nephew, W. H. Heywood. The body will be taken Monday to Lancaster, where the funeral services and the burial will take place.

Several of the boys and girls of the Baptist Bible school with Fred S. Knight, went Christmas morning to the Melrose hospital and the town farm, where they sang Christmas carols, which were much enjoyed at both places. It has been the custom to go each year to the Memorial hospital and the town farm, but on account of critical cases at each place it seemed best not to go this year.

The ice on the Connecticut river opposite Brattleboro was in prime condition for skating Sunday and many venturesome youths took full advantage of it. John Manley, with his propeller driven ice boat, put in a busy day free from the restrictions imposed by the traffic officer who had objected to the use of the craft on the streets because of the impression that a machine gun company had attacked the village.

Locally the storm damage Friday was very light in comparison with what was done to the north and east and south of Brattleboro. Only a few wires of the telephone company were in trouble, and barring a very little trouble with the electric light service, which was only momentary caused by the wind, the Twin State Gas & Electric Co. escaped without damage. There were no telegraph wires working in the north as St. Albans, where the storm was very severe.

As Miss Malsie Betterley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Betterley of the Rice farm, was turning the horse she was driving attached to a cutter on Western avenue Tuesday afternoon shortly after 2 the runner caught and she was thrown out. The horse ran down Green street, over Elliot street and attempted to turn up Main street after rounding the traffic post properly. The horse collided with the heavy truck sleight of John Hanks, and Mr. Hanks and Glenn Atkins caught the animal. Only slight damage was done to the cutter and the horse escaped with a few minor cuts. Miss Betterley was uninjured.

At the Great Sun council of Quonoket tribe, No. 1, L. O. R. M., held Friday night, the following chiefs were elected: Prophet, Stillman G. Graves; sachem, George Knight; senior sagamore, Leon Parsons; junior sagamore, Orlin Whitney; chief of records, Edward J. Lavelle; collector of wampum, George Brockington; keeper of wampum, E. L. Parker; trustee for three years, J. E. Mellen; first representative to great council meeting, H. W. Bogie; second representative, John O. Tucker; third representative, Herbert L. Clark; third alternate, Don H. Miller; second alternate, Ashton E. Taylor; third alternate, John E. Wilson. Three pale-aces were adopted after which corn and venison were served.

The first of a series of table d'hote dinners will be served at the Country club this Friday evening. Reservations should be telephoned to the steward tomorrow morning.

Twenty-four members and friends of the Epworth league enjoyed a sleigh-ride to Winchester Wednesday, where a bountiful supper was served. All enjoyed an excellent time.

William H. Tubman, a prominent resident of Wellfleet, Mass., died Wednesday at his home. He leaves his wife and one daughter. Miss Tubman has frequently visited in Brattleboro.

The first of a series of four dances to be given under the auspices of the entertainment committee of the Brattleboro Country club took place Wednesday in Odd Fellows' temple which was attractively decorated for the occasion with garlands of evergreen and Christmas trees. Musical entertainment by Leitinger's orchestra of five pieces and refreshments were served during the evening. About 50 couples attended.

L. K. Barber has received a letter from J. D. Bradley, owner of the Bradley farm, stating that a letter has been received by him from W. H. Williams, M. D. V., of Sandford, Mass., in which Dr. Williams wrote the following: "I have made an examination of your herd of Guernseys of Brattleboro, Vt., subject to examination of the tuberculin test, and failed to find any evidence of tuberculosis. The herd is an exceptionally clean, fine herd."

OTTO R. HOWE DEAD.

Former Resident of Brattleboro Was Prominent in Military Affairs—Private Funeral Saturday.

Otto Robert Howe, 50, a former resident of Brattleboro, died yesterday in Westboro, Mass., after being in failing health about two years. He was the oldest son of Jonathan C. and Lenora (Wright) Howe and was born in Springfield (Vt.) July 24, 1866. His father died Oct. 30 of this year in his home on Canal street.

When Mr. Howe was four years old he and his parents came to Brattleboro to live, and Mr. Howe attended the high school. Later he was employed in Barna A. Clark's hardware store and afterwards for the Estey Organ Co. making piano cases.

He was greatly interested in military affairs and rose to the rank of first sergeant in the old Estey Guards, enlisting in 1889 in the regular army. He served three years in the army, being drill sergeant in Company A in instruction at David's Island in New York harbor. He was the first physical director to introduce the Roberts dumb-bell drill in the regular army.

From Brattleboro Mr. Howe went to Montana and became superintendent of the plant of the Madison River Power Co. at Livingston. Later he was secretary for a year of the Livingston chamber of commerce. For some years he has been a carpenter in Newton Center, Mass., and surrounding places, his home being in Newton Center. Years ago he was delegated by the war department to search in New York city for Arden Humphrey, who disappeared from the Brattleboro Retreat and whose whereabouts for a long time were a mystery.

Mr. Howe married, Sept. 6, 1892, Miss Emma Gould of Ludlow (Vt.), who survived with two children, Helen Howe, a third year student in Wellesley college, and Harold Howe, who is employed in the South station in Boston. He also leaves his mother and two brothers, Arthur I. Howe of Ludlow, Mass., and John W. Howe of Brattleboro.

Private funeral services will be held in Brattleboro Saturday and the burial will take place in Morningside cemetery.

RELEASED UNDER BONDS.

Man Enjoined to Mind His Own Affairs and Women to Conduct Herself in Proper Manner.

The cases against Charles Lefay of Brattleboro, formerly of Hinsdale, N. H., and Mrs. Maybelle Potter, wife of Ernest Potter of Hinsdale, who were charged with statutory offenses, were continued Friday afternoon in the municipal court indefinitely. Bail in the case of Lefay was fixed at $500 and in the case of the woman at $300 and they were permitted to go on their personal recognizances. This is with the understanding that the woman returns with her nine-months-old baby to her husband in Hinsdale and remains with him, conducting herself in a proper manner. He was willing and anxious that this arrangement should be made. Lefay is to keep away from Hinsdale and have nothing to do with Mrs. Potter in any way.

They were arrested Thursday afternoon as they alighted from a train from the north. The woman has admitted that she intended to go to Massachusetts to live. They had been living a few days in a lumber camp, where the day previous to their arrest papers were served on the woman in a preliminary step by Potter to obtain possession of his child.

BETTER SERVICE WANTED.

Readboro Chair Co. Complains to Public Service Commission About Hoosac Tunnel & Wilmington.

The full membership of the public service commission gave a hearing at Readboro Wednesday on a petition of the Readboro Chair Co. requesting better service from the Hoosac Tunnel and Wilmington Railroad Co. The petition alleges that the railroad company has neglected and refuses to supply the chair company with adequate facilities for shipping freight to and from the factory of the company.

The petition prays that the commission issue an order requiring the railroad company to build a spur track from the railroad station across the Desford river to the factory of the petitioning company. Judge Carlton T. Phelps of North Adams, Mass., and Attorney John E. Gale of Guilford appeared for the chair company and Attorney John Kellas of Malone, N. Y., and Attorney General H. G. Barber for the railroad. Briefs will be submitted later.
