SUNNY SQUIBLET

These people who want a six hour day, evidently want to stand in line several hours a day at the stores, to get stuff made scarce by slack production.

Reported that Poland is to have a Senate like ours. So far no one in this country has sent Poland any telegram of congratulations.

Some people in our town won't clean up their yards because they don't want to look any better than their neighbors.

One of Senator Johnson's best sayings in the course of his campaigning was that the United States is divided into two classes—those that live in California and those that want to live there.

With the sugar season still on in Granville and snowdrifts preventing the opening of the highways in northern Vermont, one is reminded of that famous saying of Hank White the Vermont end man in the minstrel show, who said that the only trouble with Vermont was that there was about six weeks in summer that you had to scrape around on wheels.

FIFTY YEARS BEHIND THE TIMES

Gov. Clement states his position on not calling a special session of the Vermont Legislature in a letter to Mrs. Lillian H. Olzendorf by saying that the Vermont Legislature only permits the adoption of Federal amendments under certain conditions both as regards to time and mode of approval. He further declares that he believes that our legislators in the past have on occasions violated their oaths of office by ratifying amendments to our Federal constitution, and in a burst of state pride says, "If government by the people is to endure in this land, the action of the Legislature in thus overriding the constitution of the state must cease."

This hark back not only to the doctrine of state rights, which has been a dead issue since the Civil war, but goes back to the days of the independent state of Vermont when our forebears declared they would be governed by the constitution of Connecticut and the laws of God until something better was adopted. Of course the legal opinions of such eminent jurists of former Congressmen Plumley, Judge Wendell P. Stafford and former President Taft are thrown in the discard by a Vermont governor who is bound to do all he can to prevent the women of the United States from voting. And requests from such prominent Vermonters as Senator Page, Congressman Dale, John Sparzo, James Hartness and many others are tossed into the official waste basket. What a satisfaction to be able to withhold the ballot from 9,500,000 women in the United States on an issue that was buried when Lee surrendered 50 years ago.

WALDEN
D. H. Corson is quite sick and Dr. Harvey was called Monday. Mrs. Frank Shaw is with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Cole as she is quite feeble since her recent illness, and it was very difficult to get help to care for her in her home. Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Davis came Friday to Walden from Albany, driving with team. Their goods came to the station the same day, and they will soon be settled in their new home at the parsonage. H. L. Rogers went to Boston Monday. John Bennett, who recently moved to the John Hanna farm turned his cow into the barnyard Sunday and it not being accustomed to being alone jumped out of the yard, and disappeared, and as yet is running at large. Monday p. m. the mill shut down and about a dozen men succeeded in locating her but could not get near her and when last seen was two or three miles from home. It is evident she don't propose to be a "family cow."

It is reported that Arthur Rogers and Raymond Farrington have bought the Sherrill farm. Harry Corson purchased a nice pair of work horses at St. Johnsbury last week. Spring comes very reluctantly this year and hay is very scarce and high and as yet but very little work done on the land. Mrs. W. S. Caboun and Mrs. J. J. Farrow were in St. Johnsbury Saturday. Republican Caucus
Saturday Afternoon
The Republican voters of St. Johnsbury are reminded that a caucus will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock to elect 11 delegates to the state convention at Montpelier on May 26. At the latter convention delegates will be chosen to the republican national convention at Chicago. There has been some talk of having a pledged Wood delegation elected Saturday, but others feel that the delegates both at Montpelier and Chicago should be uninstructed. The name of Alexander Dunnett has been prominently mentioned as a delegate at large to the Chicago convention and while he is unqualifiedly in favor of having the Vermont delegation go to the national convention instructed it is understood that he thinks favorably of Gen. Leonard Wood as the republican standard bearer.

MRS. EUGENE C. POWERS
After an illness of only eight days, Mrs. Eugene C. Powers died at her home on Harrison Ave., Friday, April 30. Carrie M. Sedgwick was born in Lancaster in 1807. On Sept. 21, 1829, she married Eugene C. Powers in Berlin, N. H. They moved from there to Lunenburg, where they lived ten years. Mr. and Mrs. Powers moved here two years ago. The funeral was held Tuesday, May 4th, at 1.30, at her home, Rev. G. S. Smith of Concord, Vermont, officiating. Interment was at Grove Cemetery, East St. Johnsbury. Mrs. Powers is survived by her husband, one son, Clayton, and a daughter, Mrs. Perley Silby, of Lunenburg; four grandchildren; her father, W. F. Sedgwick, Lancaster, N. H.; two brothers, F. R. Sedgwick of Stockbridge, Mass.; Harry Sedgwick of Concord, N. H.; four sisters, Mrs. J. S. Reynolds, of Southern Pines, N. C.; Mrs. Alice Wallace, Pine Bluff, N. C.; Mrs.

Emon Quimby, Berlin, N. H., and Mrs. Glen Smith, Lancaster. Those called from out of town to attend the funeral were: W. F. Sedgwick, Lancaster; H. Mr. and Mrs. Perley Silby, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Powers and Irwin of Lunenburg; Mr. and Mrs. Emon Quimby of Berlin, Mrs. Glen Smith, Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Powers, Waterford, Allen Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Russell, Reginald Hodson, and Marcus Smith, Concord. Mrs. Powers was a most devoted wife and mother and a lady who made many warm friends. The many floral tributes were silent testimonials of the friendship of a very large circle.

MRS. ELLEN B. WARDEN
Mrs. Ellen Blodgett Warden died at Brighton Hospital Tuesday, never having recovered from an operation performed last February. She was the daughter of the late Stephen Blaney and Calista (Jacobs) Blodgett and was born in Cabot. She received her education in the public school of her native town and at Craftsbury Academy, after which she taught for some time in Cabot and surrounding towns. Besides her two daughters, Ethel, secretary for the American Express company of Bellows Falls, and Ruth, employed in an office in St. Johnsbury, she leaves three brothers: O. H. Blodgett of Cabot; Rev. Fred Blodgett of Elizabethton, N. Y.; and Dean of Montgomery; also three sisters, Mrs. J. R. MacLean of St. Johnsbury, Mrs. C. K. Cole of Barre and Miss Alice Blodgett a teacher in the public schools of Winter Hill, Boston. The funeral was held at Grace Methodist church Thursday morning conducted by Rev. George A. Martin.
