

When Steady Power Counts

The long, slow, dusty pulls at haying time demand steady, dependable power—and to stay on the job the tractor must have proper lubrication.

Tractor lubrication calls for an oil that will not "thin down", for the heat of tractor engines—most of which operate at 90% of their rated horsepower all the time—is terrific, especially during the hot season.

Socony Tractor Oil has been specially developed and is recommended for use in all types, makes and sizes of tractors. It protects engine parts against frictional wear, holds its "body" against heat and keeps the tight cylinder-to-piston seal that insures full power.

Buy it—and Socony Greases and Fuels—where you see the Socony Sign.

There is a Socony Lubricant of the right consistency for every mechanical need.

LYNDONVILLE

Mrs. Myrtle Clarke and daughter, Catharine, have gone to Springfield, Mass., to spend a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Bugbee.

The fire alarm sounded Wednesday afternoon about six o'clock, and considerable excitement was caused by the sight of a volume of smoke pouring out from behind the Creamery garage on South street. Under the present dry conditions, and with the number of wooden buildings exposed in that place, the discovery of a lively blaze there brought out the whole population. A few applications of water by a hose from the nearest hydrant effectually quenched it, and the only damage, if it is one, was the burning of a small wooden shed, where gasoline was carelessly stored. It is thought children started a bonfire, which spread to this little building.

Mr. Clark and Mr. Murdy of Hartford, Conn., representing the North British and Mercantile, and the Automobile Ins. Co., were in town this week on business.

Quite a serious automobile accident took place Thursday afternoon near the dance hall corner by the Morse store in Lyndon. Two cars, one from Burlington, and one a Massachusetts car, collided when rounding the corner, and both were quite thoroughly wrecked, although no one was hurt. The cars are both in the local garage for repairs. This is a very dangerous turn, and there should at least be a direction post there for motorists.

Mrs. H. W. Lyster has been spending a few days in Boston, returning Thursday, accompanied by her friend Miss Ray Dunn. Mr. and Mrs. Lyster and Miss Dunn are planning to take an extended Western trip, leaving next week to go through the Canadian Rockies to Vancouver, returning by the way of Puget Sound, Yellowstone Park and other places of interest to travelers.

Mr. Sturtevant, who is a fine horseman, was assisting in training a horse which belonged to Dr. Brown, and was unaccustomed to the saddle. The horse, becoming frightened, reared, and threw his rider so that his back was hurt, but it is thought not seriously. Mr. Sturtevant was taken into Dr. Brown's house, and is staying there now, but hopes to recover enough to return home in a short time.

If Mr. Sherey fails for a day to pursue his accustomed path to and from business, it seems like a personal calamity to most of our people, who rely upon his steadfastness as they do the town clock.

Frank L. Brigham of Andover, Mass., special agent of the Merrimack Mutual Insurance Company, was in town this week with a party of insurance men. There are seven men in the party, and they are traveling in two automobiles, each with a trailer for camp baggage, camping on the way and preparing their own meals.
