FORM LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS IN THIS STATE

Every Woman in Vermont Is Invited to Join Non-Partisan Organization

At the recent first annual convention of the Vermont League of Women Voters held just before the Primaries, in Burlington, a constitution was adopted, and plans of work were discussed by the delegates who represented many parts of the state. The organization is non-partisan and urges its members to join the party of their choice, and if she desires, work for and endorse candidates of her choice, but, the League as an organization cannot endorse or work for any candidate; this work must be left entirely to the members or officers as individuals. The purpose of the League of Women Voters is two-fold: "to foster education in citizenship, and to support improved legislation." The ultimate purpose of the National League of Women Voters, of which the Vermont League is a part, is "a country in which all voters speak English, read their own ballots and honor the American flag." Several planks prepared by the National League were adopted by the major political parties at their national conventions. Every woman in Vermont is invited to join the League, either directly thru the state organization or thru its local leagues which are already in the process of organization. Just as soon as the engine had become "stalled" the girls poured out of the house and showed the bride-to-be with considerable consideration. Miss Delaney was almost overwhelmed, the surprise was so great. As soon as she had recovered sufficiently from the shock, she was taken into the house, where the lights were turned off in the parlor, preparatory to presenting the gift. Ingalls, state club leader, connected with the State Department of Education, and Miss Luce, leader of the Canning clubs of the state. The selections were made following a demonstration by the entire personnel of the two classes. Those in the Manual Training team are Ralph Harris, James Puffer and Nathan Ricker. Manual Training and the Domestic Science Pupils Make Trip

The boys and girls of the Wide Awake Home Project Club of St. Johnsbury is now rounding out its fifth successful year. It works in conjunction with the State College of Agriculture under a state club leader and with the Federal Agricultural Extension System at Washington. All expenses for one week are paid by the state and the young people have a trip of wonderful educational value. All the eastern states from Maine to Delaware are represented forming a group of boys and girls making up Camp Val and numbering about 200. Good natured rivalry and competition, the best of food and quarters (Continued from Page One) and the opportunity to see this great exposition, second only to the World's Fair is a prize worth working for throughout the year, and the message these boys and girls bring home has a far reaching effect and forms a basis for a goal which all other boys and girls will strive for another year. The same teams will go to the state fair for one day after returning from Springfield.

TWO SHERBROOKE EMPLOYEES GET GOLD MEDALS

Fairbanks Co. Present Testimonials to Men for 25 Year Service

Medals for two employees of the E. and T. Fairbanks Co. at Sherbrooke have been presented to employees in that city. The presentation was made before the workers at the plant. The Sherbrooke Daily Record had this account of the presentation: The plant of the E. and T. Fairbanks Company closed down for the presentation of medals to two of their employees who had been with the company for a continuous period of over 25 years. A. E. Emery and C. H. Henault. A. C. Howard, manager of the plant, before an assembly of all the employees, made the presentation on behalf of the company and its president, H. J. Fuller. Mr. Howard traced the growth of the company from its establishment at St. Johnsbury in 1830, until in 1907 the present factory was put in operation in Sherbrooke, to take care of the increasing Canadian demand for Fairbanks scales. The steady growth of this company whose product is known in all parts of the world, was attributed to the loyalty and character of the men who made the scales, as the character of these men was made a part of the product and maintained its high standard of quality. The gold medals received by Mr. Emery and Mr. Henault were watch fobs in the form of the Fairbanks scales trade mark, with inscription on the back reading: "E. and T. Fairbanks and Company, established 1830, to (recipient's name) in recognition of twenty-five years of faithful service." It is understood that any employee of the company on completing twenty-five years' service will receive one of these medals in token of appreciation from the company. Both Mr. Henault and Mr. Emery made a speech in reply acknowledging the gift of the company and expressing their desire to continue to work with the company and cooperate with the men in charge.
