For Evidences of Fraud in Testimonials Advertising Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

It is sometimes thought that some concerns, in order to make people believe that the article in which they deal is a good one, manufacture themselves the testimonials which they use in their advertisements. The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., manufacturers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, however, have always held that the publication of a fictitious or even a misleading testimonial is not only bad morally, but is bad advertising. Consequently the greatest care has always been taken in selecting testimonials for their advertising. Every case is not only carefully investigated but in most instances it is sworn to in legal form that the affidavit placed on file. That no doubt may be in the minds of the public, the company offers one thousand dollars ($1000) for evidence of fraud, on its part, in the publication of any of the testimonials used in making known the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In view of this, the following remarkable case, published in the Democrat and Sentinel, Lewiston, Pa., is given without further comment.

Mr. Frank A. Means, a well-known farmer of Reedsville, Mifflin county, Pa., writes:

"I had the grip and as a result my nerves broke down. I lost the entire use of the lower half of my body. For a whole year I lay in bed perfectly helpless with no power in either limb and the feeling gone so that I couldn't feel a pin run into my legs at all. I couldn't turn over in bed without help. Six doctors gave me up and said it was only a question of a few weeks with me as nothing more could be done. Then a friend sent me a pamphlet containing statements of two men who had been afflicted something like me and who had been cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began taking them at once and although my improvement was slow it was certain. Now I can walk most of the time without a cane and everybody around here thinks it is a miracle that I can get about as I do. Your pills have certainly been a God-send to me."

Signed, F. A. MEANS.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 17th day of April, 1901.

The Finlanders.

No northern people are harder or more spirited than the Finlanders, with their clear complexions and dark blue eyes. In spite of their harsh climate they have the most healthful living of perhaps any of the northern races and keep equal degrees of romance, daring and good feeling in their natures. You do not find imagination, force and adventure in a race without coarse, plenteous fare, pure air and cleanliness.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING

When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No cure, No pay, 50c.

Extremes.

Mrs. Crawford: No you haven't found the secret of lectures on cooking you should have of much practical use?
Mrs. Johnson: No, my dear. They don't tell us how to prepare terrapin and opossum or else how to live on 15 cents a day.—Life.

For pimples, sallow complexion, impure blood and poor digestion, use Adams' Sarsaparilla Pills. They improve complexion and cure constipation. 10 cents, 25 cents. Druggists.

Piso's Cure cannot be too highly spoken of as a cough cure.—J. W. O'BRIEN, 322 Third Ave., N., Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 6, 1900.

Both Were Surprised.

The third time I changed cars at the Hornellsville Union railroad station and lunched at the little grillroom just up the street the jolly little proprietor recognized me as a regular patron and did his best to entertain me while my special pot of coffee was coming to a boil.

"Notice that fellow who just went out?" he asked, chuckling contentedly to himself.

I hadn't noticed particularly, but I knew it would be disconcerting to admit, so I nodded encouragingly, says a writer in the New York Herald.

"Well," he continued, "that's Jim Smith—Long Jim Smith they call him—conductor of the Erie, and, say, he's laying for me. Greatest practical joker you ever saw. Always getting rigs on me, and I never could get back on him until last week, and then I was about as much surprised as he was."

"I was coming down the street and saw a crowd gathered around some Salvation Army singers. Long Jim was away on the edge of the crowd, standing on his tiptoes so he could see over the heads of the rest. He had his back to me, and, sticking out from under his arm, was a big bag of lemons. I saw my chance, and I sneaked quietly behind him, hauled off and gave that bag of lemons an awful swipe with my cane."

Here the little man went off into an uncontrollable fit of laughter over the remembrance.

He laughed till his sides shook and tears ran down his face. I waited till he had quieted down.

"Well?" I queried. "Scattered the lemons all about, I suppose?"

"Scattered! Ho, ho, ho! He! Hi, hi, hi! He! Hum! Well, I should say so. But they wasn't lemons; they was eggs."

A Close Call.

"Don't you talk to your husband over the phone?"

"Never. When I have anything of importance to say to my husband, I want to get near him."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Men are a good deal like horses; it is always the "old reliable family horse" that knocks everything to smash and runs away.—Atchison Globe.

The Life Line in One's Hand.

There are three prominent lines in the palm—the line of life, that of the head and the heart line.

The line of life begins on the inner boundary of the palm, about midway between the thumb and the forefinger. If we imagine the left hand to be a map, with the fingers pointing north, this line runs toward the southeast, then curves toward the south and in some hands curves finally toward the southwest. It thus skirts the base or "uprise" of the thumb, known as the uprise of Venus. If it is deep, broad, of good color and extends nearly or quite to the wrist and if the rest of the hand indicates vitality and cheerfulness, the subject may be expected to live to a green old age; he has a good disposition and the qualities which good health and good temper usually create.

Can't Beat 'Em.

As usual he was monopolizing the newspaper.

"Please let me have the woman's page," she said.

He carefully tore off a page and handed it to her.

It was a full page advertisement of a millinery opening, and he chuckled at his own little joke.

Still, she was revenged. She went to the opening, and he paid the bill.—Chicago Post.

Convincing His Chum.

Johnny in the garden—Father, father, look out of the window!

Father putting out his head—What a nuisance your children are! What do you want now?

Johnny with a triumphant glance at his playfellow—Tommy Brooks wouldn't believe you'd get no hair on the top of your head.—Tit-Bits.

Reggy: This horse has a beautiful mouth.

Riding Master (surprised): Think so, sir?

Reggy: Yes; I can hang on by the reins all I want to, and he doesn't mind it a bit.—Town and Country.

How to Down Mites

Get a sprinkling pot. Put in it some kerosene. Add a small quantity of carbolic acid. Sprinkle your nest boxes inside and out. Sprinkle ground underneath nest boxes. Put in fresh straw. Don't put any oil on that, as it will injure eggs if it comes in contact with them. Sprinkle your hen house, walls and floor and roof. Examine the setters every day or two. Put your hand under the setters. Look at your hand. If you see mites on your hand take the hen off and burn out the nest. Sprinkle the nest and put in clean straw. Wash eggs in warm water and replace them in the nest. Dust hen with insect powder and replace. If you have another hen that wants to set and is not infested with vermin, better let her finish her job, and put infested hen in a coop, sprinkled with oil until the vermin leaves her.

The first mites of the season usually appear on the faces of the setters; that is, the bare portion of the hen's head. For these first comers use a mixture of about one teaspoonful of vaseline to three drops of oil pennyroyal. Rub just a little all over the face, comb, earlobes and wattles. Do this at night so the grease will dry out before the hen turns her eggs again. Grease or oil of any kind will injure eggs for hatching. Sprinkle houses, coops, nest boxes, roosts and any other place where there is danger of vermin, and remember to put in fresh nesting material frequently. This is the only way I know how to "down mites," and if faithfully followed will do it.—R. Whitefield in Southern Cultivator.

A veteran poultry woman says: "In 'doctoring' hens for vermin, be sure to give special attention to the feathers about the vent. This part of the body is the propagating ground of the lice."

"Don't you know there are sermons in stones and good in everything?"

"I dunno 'bout dere bein' sermons in stones," answered Mr. Erastus Pinkley, "but if a man is out o' razor reach an' kin th'ow straight, sometimes dar is a heap o' persuasion in 'em."—Washington Star.

CONSOLATION AND COMFORT.

Who is it that does not wish to be out in the open air or alive in some field of sport, whether it be with the bat, rod, or gun; whether we go coasting over the hills and vales on the wheel, or sailing over rough waves or into serene coves, it is all sport, and the springing muscles seem to need it. It is bound to happen that some mishap will occur. Thus it is that we have sprains in abundance; light sprains, sprains that cripple, sprains that give great pain, sprains that rob us of sleep, but sportsmen of all kinds have come to know that there is nothing better than the old reliable St. Jacobs Oil. Have it with you for use; you may rely on its cure of the worst sprain and restoration to the comforts of life.
