Rutabagas for Fodder. It is gratifying to see so many Amertean farmers putting their waste places or spare pieces of land into rutabagas and turnips for early fall or long winter feeding. They are getting the European idea of root crops. There the turnips and rutabagas are sown broadcast 'as are almost all grains, and if not desired as roots, the foliage then is used for green food. Just imagine the results of a twenty-acre oatpatch treated in this way! Think of the tremendous amount of green fodder, magnificent fodder too, coming into full play during hot August and September. Why, a field of rutabagas and turnips, there, for cattle food is worth almost as much as the oats gathered therefrom! Another good plan is to sow rutabaga seed, especially the variety known as Salzer's LaCrosse, Wis., Mammoth Russian variety, or his Milk Globe turnip sort, at the rate of one-half pound per acre, into the cornfield, just before the last cultivation. This will give you two good crops-one of corn, the other of roots from the same land! One advantage of the rutabaga is that it can be sown at any time of the summer for green food, while a sowing the latter part of July is the best in northern states for big, sweet, julcy roots for

For a Healthy Existence.-That's Why the Kidneys so often Fail.

Nature has provided a certain amount of work for every organ of the human body: overtax them and disease eventually follows. There is not one por-tion of our organism that is so overworked as the kidneys; on them is placed the important function of filtering the blood of the impurities which naturally form in the regular action of life and digestion. The kidneys are consequently termed the sewerage of the system; clog up this sewer, and the blood becomes tainted with poison ous uric acid, which brings on disease in many forms. The back is the first to show this stoppage. From there comes the warning note; it should be heeded, and the kidneys receive prompt attention. Donn's Kidney Pills will right the action of the kidneys quickly, relieve the back of pains and aches, and cure all troubles of kidneys and bladder. Read the following:

Some months ago I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I had heard highly recommended, and I can now say that the flattering reports were not greater than they deserved. I got better right along, and I am free from any trouble now. I feel better than I have done for three years past. If Doan's Kid-ney Pills were well known all over they would do an immense amount of good."

A Jackson County Youth, Crazed by Jealonsy, Shoots and Kills His Fiancee and Attempts Suicide Steps to Relieve Cyclone Sufferers.

Murdered His Sweetheart.

A double tragedy occurred four miles south of the village of Munith. Louis Heydlauff shot and instantly killed his affianced bride, Miss Emma Morekel, then, turning the weapon upon himself, sent two balls into his body from which he will probably die. Heydlauffs and Morekels live but a short distance apart, both being prosperous farmers. The young people were highly thought of in the neighborhood. As children they had played together, cementing a friendship which, with their growth, ripened into love and culminated in an engagement For four years they had been almost incessantly together. Lately, how ever, young Heydlauff developed an attachment for the bottle, which caused a rupture between the young lovers. Recently George Tisch had been showing considerable attention to Miss Morekel, and Heydlauff was in sanely jealous of him. On this fatal day Heydlauff called at the Morekel residence, but found the young lady absent. He awaited her return. Tisch accompanied Miss Morekel to her home and this seemed to madden her former lover. As she entered the house Hevdlauff followed her and without a word of warning d.ew his revolver and shot her twice. As she fell he turned and put two bullets into his own body.

2,000 People Trampled to Death.

A terrible panic, resulting from the great crush of people at the popular feast at Moscow, Russia, in honor of the coronation of the czar, caused the trampling to death of over 2,000 men, women and children. In anticipation of the grand holiday and popular banquet on the Hodynsky plain, tens of thousands of people began trooping towards the Petrovsky palace, in front of which the plain is situated, during the earliest hours of the morning to secure favorable positions to participate in the feast which was to be free to all. On the Hodynsky plain, long lines of rough tables, flanked by rougher benches, were erected to accommodate 500,000 people. To feed this multitude an army of cooks and waiters was gathered together, the army bake houses were taxed to their utmost capacity and 500,000 mugs, each bearing portraits of the czar and czarina, were manufactured for presentation to the people taking part in the great banquet. Thousands of cattle, trainloads of provisions and shiploads of liquid refreshments were sent to the Hodynsky plain during the week and all was in readiness for the gigantic meal. By dawn the mass of peasants was really enormous and they were all desperately hungry, some of them having fasted, from choice or necessity, for 24 hours. The police did everything possible to keep back the crowd, but suddenly the masses, controlled by some inexplicable impulse or impatient to get at the food, pressed forward, swept everything before them and overturned tables and benches as if nade of grass, trampling hundreds under foot and erashing the life out of a great number of people, at least 2,000. The majority of the killed were peasants, though the clothing of some indicated that they were persons of wenith and distinction.
