

Better Than Ever

OUR STOCK OF

Useful Articles...

WE boast of the great values we offer. We give bargains that have no precedent. Listen to the facts, all you economically inclined people.

Its because we sell the greatest value that we sell the greatest quantity; and it is because we buy in large quantity that we can undersell all others.

Just glance over our magnificent stock and see if we do not save you some money.

We Lay Ourselves Out to Suit You

Will unlimited choice, endless variety and economic prices suit you? If so call at Holden's Drug Store and lay in a bargain.

Yours truly,

Holden's Drug Store.

Now write it 1901.

Ten below, Tuesday morning.

Stock-taking prices at Ballentine's double store.

Edward H. Frye, the monologist at Central Hall to-night.

Look over our line of comforters and blankets. E. B. Fuller & Co.

W. E. Menerey has sold 40 acres of land west of Yale to James Adams.

The monarch of repertoire attractions at Central Hall one week, commencing Monday evening.

Fifty-one school children went skating on a lake in Iowa last week. The ice gave away and 49 of them were drowned.

"Thou changest not—yet. I am always changing," said the substitute to Rocky Mountain Tea. Made by the Madison Medicine Co. 35c. Ask your druggist.

Chas. F. Emery is now traveling salesman for The Yale Cigar Co., F. E. Moutney, proprietor, and informs us that he is meeting with first-class success in the sale of cigars.

Think of the tiny winter birds that stand this below-zero weather, fairly slipping with life and seemingly much enjoying the snow and cold. And then think of a huge African elephant that would not stand this weather two days. Size don't always count.

Read press locals in this paper of some of the larger cities and what they say of the Lillian Lyons Stock Co. Central Hall all next week. Opening Monday night in a beautiful five act society comedy drama, "Drifted Apart." Prices, 10, 20, 30c. Get your seat reserved.

Lost, on Saturday, Dec. 29, 1900, one promissory note, given by Richard Cheney and Wm. Cheney, and made payable to George Middleton. All persons are hereby cautioned not to buy the same, as it has been paid. Any one finding the same will confer a favor by returning the note to the Expositor office. 36-4

The editor of the Yale Expositor enjoyed the rare pleasure of moving in the dead of winter. He has of late built a larger and better house to furnish commodious shelter for the growing circle of rosbuds of promise that have been joggling for position about the family hearthstone. But the new and larger home will contain the same quality and quantity of good cheer.—Capac Journal.

On Thursday evening, Dec. 27th, a godly number of young people from Yale and vicinity assembled at the home of James Newell, southwest of this village. Several hours enjoyment was extracted from games and various amusements, after which a delicate and appetizing repast was served to all present. The host and hostess spared no pains to make their guests' stay a pleasant one, and they royally succeeded. The home coming of the party was made pleasant by the bearing away of rich recollections of a happy evening.

Time is a great healer and she sometimes does it very quickly, almost magically. A Yale young man recently returned from his holiday vacation, found, alas, that another had engrossed the attention of his sweetheart. For the first few hours after hearing the sad truth he walked the streets in frenzy, not knowing whether to challenge his rival to deadly combat, or commit suicide. But just here time came in with her healing balm, and by the second morning of the new year he had a new love, and the old one had gone with the passing year.

F. E. Moutney has been a hustling drummer for Smart, Fox & Co., of Saginaw, for almost a decade. He went for them in all kinds of weather and over all conditions of road, for all these years without failure or mishap. But he's going to treat himself to a lay-off, and try staying at home awhile, and so has severed his connections with the above mentioned firm. He plans to give his attention to the cigar factory in Yale, and in connection therewith will open up something new. He is to act the part of manufacturers' representative, which will involve many irons in the fire at once. But Fred will attend to them all, bringing into close touch, and to mutual profit, numerous firms and countless patrons. We wish him success in his enlarged field.

Winter continues to open itself. Go to Ballentine's for bargains in 1901.

More money is spent for fun than any other thing in the world.

The 20 per cent off sale of clothing is still on at E. B. Fuller & Co's.

After winning a woman's hand a man sometimes finds himself under her thumb.

Nothing seems to please a loafer so much as an opportunity to bother a man who is busy.

S. Goldberg & Co. have a lot of jackets and capes which they are anxious to close out at any price.

Chester White Boar hog for service at the farm of Wellington Newell two miles south and one-half mile east of Yale. Service fee $1.00. 35-3

Editor James Menzies, of the Yale Expositor, has moved into a handsome new home of his own. His old friends in Richmond will rejoice in his prosperity.—Richmond Review.

Dr. G. A. Munch, the eminent Detroit Specialist, will be at Hotel De Martin Friday, Jan. 18th. If you are not enjoying perfect health call and see him. Do not forget the date.

It dulls the scythe of Father Time, drives away wrinkles of approaching old age—the elixir of life, that puts hope in the human heart—Rocky Mountain Tea. Ask your druggist.

Pepsin preparations often fail to relieve indigestion because they can digest only albuminous foods. There is one preparation that digests all classes of food, and that is Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It cures the worst cases of indigestion and gives instant relief, for it digests what you eat. Grant Holden.

It's nothing, not a cent more, not a cent less, so everybody pile in and try the Jackson House bus which has gone into commission with the opening of the new year and century. It will hereafter be in service to and from all trains, bearing passengers to the neat hotel, where warm rooms, hot and cold baths, and appetizing meals await all guests.

We hear of a very pleasant surprise party which was given in the home of Myrtle Broadway, at west Broadway, on New Year's eve. The old year was watched out by the new one in. Of course, supper was served—rather it was breakfast, and the first one of the new year and century. An enjoyable time was had by all, and in the early morning the company departed to their several homes.

On Sunday evening, Jan. 6th, Pastor Keith will begin a series of sermons to continue for three successive Sunday evenings. The topic of discourse for Jan. 6th will be "God Formed;" Jan. 13th, "Man Deformed;" and on Jan. 20th, "God Reformed." These sermons will be of more interest and profit if heard in order from the beginning of the series. The topics are both deep and practical in nature, and we doubt not will command more than usual attention.

There are lands of constant sunshine and summer, where no coal is ever shoveled and no wood split; and how nice they seem to us just now. Yes; but think of living in a country where there are no chimneys and not a solitary stove-pipe to poke its nose through roof or broken window. In such places they never, no never, enjoy the luxury of seeing the smoke curl from the chimney tops; never sit about the stove; or have an open fire to enircle and—spit into.

Married, on January 1, 1901, at the bride's home in Greenwood, Miss Annie Black, and Mr. John W. McClure, of Detroit. The service on this interesting occasion was performed by Elder Newman, pastor of the Central Christian Church, Detroit. Mr. Archie Black, a brother of the bride, acted the part of groomsmen, and Miss Maggie McKeller fulfilled the duties of bridesmaid. These nuptials were not only noteworthy in that they occurred on the first day of the new year; but they also transpired at the beginning of the new century. Mr. and Mrs. McClure will never have to consult a calendar to know when their marriage anniversary comes; and unless all data should be blotted from their memories, they will never need to compute the number of years they have been married. Among the guests from a distance we note the attendance of C. McLean and wife, of Flint.

Editor Menzies, of the Yale Expositor, moved into a new house on Christmas. The Expositor is worthy of all the good things going.—Mariette Leader.

If fortune disregard thy claim, Don't hang your head in fear and shame But marry the girl you love best— Rocky Mountain Tea will do the rest. Ask your druggist.

"The difference between the cow and the milkman," said the customer, "is that the cow gives pure milk." "There is another difference," retorted the milkman. "The cow doesn't give credit."

For Sale—One brown horse 7 years old, weight about 1200 pounds, perfectly sound and in good order. True single or double. Terms—six months time. Enquire of Lambert Jones, Yale, Mich. 34-

Married, Christmas eve, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Wm. Hamilton, in Richmond; Miss Cora Brown, of Memphis, and Fred Snades, of Yale, Rev. Jonathan Thompson officiating. The groom and bride will reside in a part of the McArthur block on Main street. The Expositor wishes the couple a happy New Year and many of them.

Ten below and still settling. But he of good cheer. There are signs of a hot summer already in bloom. One of these and it's a sure one, is the new ice-house just completed by Thomas Holden in the rear of his meat market. Tastes differ. We dislike the winter and are wishing for summer; but Tom likes it so well that he is going to preserve it by the ton.

If 1901 keeps and leaves the roads in as fine state as 1900 left them, there will be no complaint on that ground. The earth being solidly frozen, and then the three weeks of dry weather that has since continued, has made wheeling about as fine as it was ever known at this season. The new country had the best of roads to commence its spin upon.

Dr. Warner Cornell, Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist, of 229 Huron ave., over Knill's drug store, Port Huron, will be at the Rapley House, Yale, the second Friday of each month where he can be consulted on diseases of above organs only. Glasses fitted. His next visit will be on Friday, Jan. 11th. He will be in his Port Huron, office every day in the month except Fridays.

Gil. R. Lovejoy, who is post-master at Lenox, is an enthusiastic promoter of new things. He says the new electric road to Yale and Sanilac Centre will be built the coming year. He is now the head push of a new telephone company which he is organizing in Macomb county. If he succeeds in that county, he proposes to come over into St. Clair. These points we gather from a recent interview had with Mr. Lovejoy while in Port Huron.

Application has been made to authorities at Lansing for a charter for the new bank about being organized in Yale. The bank will be named Yale State Savings Bank. This application for charter has been made by James Livingston, James McCall and others. The building erected by the late A. W. Ferguson, has been rented, and it is expected to open for business on or before Feb. 1st, ere which time the names of the new bank's officials will be duly announced.

The 15th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hopkins, who reside north west of Yale, occurred on the evening of Dec. 29th. A godly company were present and one of the best times ever invented was on tap. It's hard to catch Ed and wife napping and go in on them when they are just out of good times. The abundance of pleasure which flowed right and left to all, was neatly balanced by a supper such as king could not have in olden times. Some elegant presents were left with the host and hostess. These, of course, were of a nature to remind them of the occasion, and the 15th station in their bridal trip.

What wonderful boys Uncle Sam's letter carriers are. Our friend, R. S. Bennetts, who lives in Tacoma, clear away on the other side of the continent, took ink and pen and drew up a handsome holiday greeting, chucked it in an envelope, addressed to the publisher of the Expositor at Yale. Straight as an arrow came the message and into our slot it popped. When opened it was found to contain both a greeting and an apology—the compliments of the season, and the reason for delay. It seems out in that country they are so rushed with business that even eating has to be done on the run. As to drinking; that's out of the question unless done on a gallop. He who would stop to drink would find both drink and country had gone on and left him. Thanks, many thanks for the letter and all it contained. Bks

A new continued story begins with this issue of The Expositor entitled "A Pretty Companion." Louise Bedford is the author, a fact sufficient to warrant an interesting story.

Only think! On the very first day of the new century, bright and early in the morning, there came a fine baby boy, who, if nothing happens, will after a while say papa and mama to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jardine. New Year's and his birth day can always be celebrated with the same dinner and bunch of fire-crackers.

A good thing is sure to grow. That's just the reason why the Farmers' Institute is growing better and better from year to year. The one-day institute announced for Yale on January 16th, 1901, is also growing better and bigger as it comes nearer. Hon. Jas. Dunn was in town last Friday and he has been so successful in arranging the program, that we are able to give it in this week's Expositor. Just note the names and topics upon the program, take a day off, and attend the institute from start to finish.

A surprise party was held at the home of Richard Turner a few days ago. It was a reception tendered to Henry Turner, who left here for the far west some 15 years since. In the intervening years he has traveled through Oregon, Washington, and other states, but in them all has found no place better than good old Michigan to live in. It was pleasant to be thus welcomed by the old friends and neighbors; and none of the guests enjoyed the surprise more than Henry. As a token of their regard and a memento of the occasion, he was presented with an elegant and very comfortable rocking-chair.
