Does Your Dollar Buy you a Full Dollar's Worth?

IN buying calico, or in buying towel, or in buying any goods of this kind, a woman can tell just about when she is getting her money's worth, the same as she can tell when buying vegetables at the market, or meat of her butcher, or shoes of her shoe dealer, but in buying drug store goods it is entirely different. First you must take your druggist's word for the quality of the goods you buy. In no other business does so much depend upon quality as it does in the drug store. Especially is this true in the prescription department, the place that your doctor depends upon absolutely when there is sickness in your family.

The question is, in buying drug store goods, does your dollar always buy you a full dollar's worth? We tell you candidly and truthfully and without boasting that it always does just exactly this when you buy of us, for if there is one thing that we will not do, it is dispense or sell goods of an inferior quality. We have a reputation in our locality which has taken an immense amount of hard work to build up, and not for a second would we do anything to impair this reputation. Your dollar always buys a full dollar's worth of Several young lady friends helped Freda Holden celebrate her fifteenth birthday last Friday evening at her home. The event was enjoyed by all. Games and a dainty lunch filled the time.

The fifteen cent tea held by the ladies of the Disciple Church at the home of Mrs. Baxter on Saturday evening was well patronized. The proceeds of this supper together with the previous one were $35.

The new barber pole in front of Dick Windsor's shop is a great improvement over the cumbersome birdhouse sign recently discarded. The new one is painted in red, black and gold and is very attractive.

Dr. Ney was up from Port Huron the latter part of the week to see Mrs. W. H. Ballentine. Very little encouragement was given the family for her recovery. Mrs. Ballentine seems a little easier at present.

J. I. Rosenthal has introduced a novel form of advertising into his space in The Expositor. He has engaged the world-famous Buster Brown to write up a series of ads for him to appear each week. They are interesting as well as neat and attractive. Take a look at them.

Mr. Breeze, of Port Huron, has been engaged by the Newell Funeral Home, as funeral director, for about one month or until Mr. Newell's arm which was recently injured, gets well. Mr. Breeze is a licensed embalmer and has had many years practical experience in such work.

Clyde Richards, the popular young clerk in Rounds' hardware, and Ethyl Wilson, of Flint, were married in Flint, Tuesday, Nov. 6. Miss Wilson is well known here. Remember when thinking about your Christmas presents that the ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a bazaar the first week in December and you will be able to secure many pretty things for Christmas giving. December 4 and 5 are the dates set for the bazaar and the lecture room of the Presbyterian church the place. Also bear in mind that a supper will be given in the diningroom on the evening of the 5th.

The "Skidoos Club" made merry at Mr. and Mrs. Bart McNulty's home last Monday evening. Our popular young drug clerk Richard presented (?) them with a nice plump turkey brought from 'Tom Ross' raffle at a cost of $2.40. The club numbering eight in all were smacking their lips in anticipation when the host informed them Mr. Turk was missing. Later it was discovered that another club (?) of young men had a gala time while the "Skidoos" went hungry.

Dick Windsor has had considerable trouble on Saturday nights in keeping tabs on who came "next." To avoid this he has had cards numbered. When a man comes into the shop to have work done he will be given a card, the first man getting number 1 and so on in rotation. By this system a person can take his card and go out where he likes. If he returns before his number is called he has not lost his chance but should the next man following be in the chair he must hand back the number he has and take another. We see no reason why such a system will not work to advantage.

OBITUARY.

Be still prepared for death and death or life shall thereby be the sweeter.—Shakespeare.

Francis and Frederick, the twin boys of Mr. and Mrs. John Conroy, died on Nov. 1 and Nov. 2, respectively. The twins were three months old, having been born Aug. 12.

The two were taken sick about three weeks before their death with the same disease and apparently at the same time. Every effort that could be made by a doctor and nurse was used to save the little ones but to no avail.

They were very bright boys and will be greatly missed by all who cared for them. They were buried in a twin casket, covered with numerous beautiful floral offerings from sympathizing friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Conroy have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank all neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted us during the sickness of our darling boys; also for the floral contributions which were beautiful.
