Mrs. Housewife:-There's a Happy Medium in Everything

Anything that is overdone or underdone is not good. If you use the cheap and Big Can Kinds you are getting quantity at the sacrifice of quality. It cannot be as good—or as economical as Calumet—the medium price kind. If you use the High Price Kind, you are paying tribute to the Trust—the quality is no better.

The Cheap and Big Can Kind

In this can you get more substance but not more baking powder. It is great in quantity only—not in economy—not in satisfaction.

Here's the "Full Value" in BAKING POWDER

Calumet, in the Standard 1 lb. can, sells at a moderate cost—but is great in all round satisfaction. You use less of it—it makes the baking lighter, purer—more delicious. One baking will prove its superiority—try it. Ask your grocer and insist on Calumet. Free—large handsome tin bonus. Send 4c and slip found in pound can.

The Trust Kind

Great in price, little in quantity and the quality is no better—if as good.

An exchange remarks that it is not infrequent that newspapers find themselves unappreciated by men whom they have favored by their support, column after column being published in their favor, and yet such favors, when the test comes are unappreciated. When you find your home paper taking no interest in you or your success, when you find it aggravatingly silent when you think the editor should be tearing his linen in your behalf, do not work yourself into a fever of anxiety as to the cause. Just ask yourself where you have placed the paper and its editor under obligations to use space and energy for you.

A month or so ago a Detroit man hunting rabbits in the vicinity of Capase, shot a bear, and by taking the skin of the animal to the county clerk's office, claimed the bounty of $25, provided by law. It was an unheard of thing to find a bear so far south in the state and Billy Campbell makes the most of it. Bill is on jury duty at the county seat and he's been killing bears and carrying the skins there ever since. According to the Port Huron papers, a whole pack of bears are raiding the county in Lynn and Mussey townships and some of the men have been formed to go forth valiantly and stay the wild beasts. All this of course is pure fancy, emanating from Billy's fertile brain, but it makes items for the papers and creates fun for the people, or at least those who know Mr. Campbell. The other day he carried another skin to the county clerk's office, with his usual audacity, thinking he could beguile the force into believing he had an elephant or a rhinoceros, but he overreached this time as the skin was emphatically pronounced to be that of a weasel. Now quit your fooling, Billy.

Pedestrians take the middle of the road in preference to the icy sidewalks. It is a wonder that more accidents do not occur on account of the slippery condition of the walks.

The roads are so bad around Lexington that they are nearly impassable. My Dear Jim—
We and I have been at this point for some time after having visited Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Daytona and Palm Beach. Weather here is enjoying it immensely. Yours truly made a trip last Friday up the new river from Fort Lauderdale and with party entered the N. Canal leading into the Everglades, and four of us landed 384 bass and one tortoise also two water moccasins.

We leave tonight for up coast on way back to Atlanta.

Trust all is well with you.

As ever

Light and Dark Cigars.

A striking example of the ordinary smoker's ignorance on the subject of smokes is the popular superstition that a dark looking cigar is stronger than a lighter colored one. Some strong cigars have dark wrappers, but the dark wrapper does not by any means indicate a strong cigar. Dark, gummy tobacco, if thoroughly cured, is the mildest form. Of course if dark tobacco is not thoroughly cured it will be strong, but so will light tobacco, for that matter. Any cigar man will bet you that the dark color is usually, though not always, a sign of a ripe, well cured leaf, which is therefore milder nine times out of ten than the lighter hued leaf. But when it is known that every manufacturer makes both dark and light cigars and that he uses exactly the same blend of filler in both and that the wrapper only constitutes a small fractional part of the cigar it is clearly seen that the shade of the wrapper has little to do with the strength of the cigar. Ask the dealer for a strong cigar. He hands out a dark one, and the imagination does the rest.—Harper's Weekly.

Scott's Emulsion

is the original—has been the standard for thirty-five years.

There are thousands of so-called "just as good" Emulsions, but they are not—they are simply imitations which are never as good as the original. They are like thin milk—SCOTT'S is thick like a heavy cream.

If you want it thin, do it yourself—with water—but don't buy it thin.

Hunting For Justice.

Justice is of course loudly demanded by every litigant in a court of law, but it is a frequent infirmity of the human mind to confuse justice with one's own cause. The late Thomas B. Reed, according to a writer in Law Notes, used to tell an amusing story to illustrate this tendency.

He was once retained by an enterprising client to prosecute an action. On talking with the plaintiff's witnesses Mr. Reed found that their stories were far from consistent, so he reported the fact to his client and advised that the suit be dropped. The client was somewhat perturbed, but told the attorney he would have a talk with the witnesses and let him know the next morning what he had decided to do. True to his word, he dropped in bright and early, wearing the cheerful look of one who has fought the good fight.

"I've seen those witnesses," he explained, "and they say they must have been mistaken when they talked with you. They all see it alike now. I've also seen some of the jurymen, and they think I'll win. Now, if there's such a thing as justice in law we can't lose."

Home Helps.

When one has an old barn roof to remove do not try the ancient, laborious way of pulling out the nails. Take a magnet and hold it over the head of the nail till the nail comes out.

To keep the hands perfectly clean and white while the stove is being polished let some one else polish it. There are other alleged methods, but this will prove surest.

The best way to mark an umbrella is to embroider the name of the owner on the little strap for fastening it when it is rolled. Then the person who swipes it can destroy the mark without mutilating any vital part of the umbrella.

To disguise the taste of castor oil put in three drops of bitter almonds, a bit of aniseed, a touch of roseholle salts and two drops of sulphuretted hydrogen.

To keep red or pink or maroon or cerise ants out of a refrigerator build a trough entirely around it and fill the trough with sorghum molasses or maple sirup or some other form of muck-lage.—Chicago News.

A Long Time Dying.

Mr. Fred Terry told this anecdote of the death scene in "The Heel of Achilles."

"One day," he says, "we were rehearsing this play, and a member of my company came in from the street and asked the call boy how far the rehearsal had got."

"Mr. Terry's just dying," replied the boy.

"Good. I've time to smoke a cigarette before my entrance."

"Presently the actor returned and repeated the question."

"Still dying," answered the boy.

"Oh, I'll go and have another cigarette, then."

"Back he came and only got the same reply from the call boy."

"Finally, after smoking five cigarettes, he asked, a little wearily, how far the rehearsal had gone."

"Still dying," answered the call boy.

"Great Scott!" gasped the actor. "He must be immortal!"—London Answers.

The First Language.

No one of the existing languages has any legitimate claim to be considered the original of the family of languages, standing to the others as Latin, for instance, stands to Italian and French. Of an original primitive language of mankind the most patient research has found no trace. All of them—Assyrian, Phoenician, Hebrew, Arabic—are sister languages, pointing back to an earlier parent language, which has long disappeared. Since the historical period man has done little in the way of the absolute creation of language. The work had already been accomplished ages before the birth of written inscriptions.—New York American.

All His Own.

A young man and his sweetheart were walking together through lanes and fields.

The young man was rather of a bashful nature and had been paying attention to this same young woman for a considerable time without having plucked up courage to put the all important question.

On this particular night, however, he mustered sufficient pluck to ask her how she thought he was progressing with his courting. At the same time his arm stole round her waist. "Well, Jack," said the girl quietly, "I think you are holding your own at present."

Her Playing.

Mrs. McDuff—This paper says that mice are attracted by music, but I don't believe it.

McDuff—Why not?
Mrs. McDuff—Because I never see any mice around when I play the piano.

McDuff—Well, that's no reason for doubting the paper's statement.

Beat Her Out.

Waggs—I had the laugh on my wife yesterday.

Boggs—How did it happen?
Waggs—We were out driving, and she discovered an echo that beat her out of the last word.

The Money Question.

"Wot do they mean, Jimmy, when they say money talks?"
"I dunno unless it's the wonderful way it says goodbye to yer."—London Tatler.

To accuse the wicked and defend the wretched is an honor.—Cicero.
