A Few Kindly Words.

The following compliments were received by the Expressor on its Christmas number. We feel thankful for the many kindly words.

While the Expressor did not have as much advertising as some of the papers, our merchants appreciated the fact that it's a long way ahead of anything in this neck-of-the-woods and were willing to pay two or three times as much per inch for their ads.

Postmaster E. H. Drake—"The Christmas edition of the Expressor was the best ever gotten out in Yale. I compliment you on the enterprise shown in issuing this number."

Grant Holden—"Your Christmas number was certainly a dandy. I have heard a great many compliments on the neatness of its make-up."

Fr. P. J. Collmann—"You rather out did yourself in getting out your last week's number of the Expressor. When I received mine I thought I had a Christmas present."

R. S. Campbell—"The Christmas edition of the Expressor is certainly a credit to the city and the office from which it was issued."

Supervisor J. L. Patterson—"You are getting somewhat metropolitan in issuing the Expressor. Didn't think such a large edition as the Christmas number could be gotten out in Yale."

Edgborough Bros—"We are well pleased with your Christmas number. Give us a couple extras to send to friends so that we can show what a live city Yale is."

Robt. Taylor, secretary county Board of Auditors—"Say, your Christmas number is the best I ever saw for a country weekly. I am saving this copy as a souvenir."

M. S. Brown, traveling salesman for Hazeltine & Perkins Drug Co—"The Expressor's Christmas number is away above the average of anything in this line I have yet seen. It's a dandy."

T. J. Minnie—"You certainly got out a fine paper."

J. L. Crandell—"Your Christmas edition is a fine one."

Fred T. Palmer—"I have looked over most of the Christmas numbers gotten out by your exchanges but I fail to find any that are better than the Expressor."

C. F. Theuner, representative of the Western Newspaper Union—"Of all the exchanges that came to the Detroit office, The Expressor was the best. I congratulate you on your good work in getting it out."

We wish to call your attention to the fact that most infectious diseases such as whooping cough, diphtheria and scarlet fever are contracted when the child has a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will quickly cure a cold and greatly loosen the danger of contracting these diseases. This remedy is famous for its cures of colds. It contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given a child with implicit confidence. Sold by Mathews & Wight and Grant Holden.

House and Lot for Sale.

I expect to move to Crosswell between now and spring and wish to sell my house and lot on Main street known as the Dr. Willard residence. Hot and cold water in house, bath room and all modern conveniences. Terms easy. Inquire of W. J. Martin, Yale.

A good time to subscribe—NOW.

State Politics.

The Detroit News of a recent issue publishes the following:

The congressional situation in the seventh district is getting real interesting. Henry McMorran has been the member since 1902, but he has made no public statement as to whether he will be again a candidate next year. Some of the other republicans who are ambitious to represent the district at Washington have a suspicion that, if the opposition to him in the republican party can be divided into several pieces, he will go after a sixth term. Otherwise he will retire. He is now 67. Those already in the contest for the republican nomination, or who are waiting for kind friends to enter them, are Louis C. Cramton, Lapeer, who in the 1910 primaries, came within 487 votes of defeating Mr. McMorran in a total vote of 15,287; Eber J. Kennedy, Romeo lumberman; George M. Clark, postmaster of Bad Axe, and one of the strong lawyers of the Thumb district; Rep. James M. Haviland, of the second district of St. Clair, and James H. Hall, lawyer, banker and farmer, whose home is Port Austin, and who was a member of the 1907 constitutional convention. State Treasurer Sleeper is also mentioned, but there is an impression that Mr. Sleeper is holding back until 1914, when he will go after the governor's nomination. Then there are Postmaster Burt Cady, Lincoln Avery and Joe Walsh, of Port Huron, of which one of their good neighbors says: "Each of them has a picture of the job (Mr. McMorran's) in his mind, but none of the three are making any public demonstrations."

In 1910 Mr. Cramton, while still member of the legislature in which he was the joint author of the Warner-Cramton liquor law, made a whirlwind stamping tour of the district. Being young and a good talker, there is said to be quite a general impression in the district that he will get the plum next year.

Watson-Ross Nuptials.

A pretty wedding was celebrated at one o'clock in the afternoon of December twenty, at the home of Mr. Francis Watson, when his daughter, Alma Watson was united to Jerome Ross of the same place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. McCreary of Yale in the presence of eighty-five guests. Lida Baxter played Mendelssohn's Wedding march. The bride carried white and red carnations and was gowned in white satin. She was attended by her sister, Miss Emma Watson, gowned in pink satin. The groom was assisted by his brother, Willard Ross. Retta McKnight, of Saginaw, a little girl of three years carried the wedding ring. Many beautiful and useful presents were received. A sumptuous dinner was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Ross left on their wedding trip to Detroit. On their return they will reside on a farm near Fargo.

Real Estate Transfers

DEATH'S DOINGS

Mrs. Elam Sloat died at the Pontiac asylum last Friday morning, Dec. 15, 1911, where she had been receiving treatment for the past three years.

Mrs. Sloat's maiden name was Elizabeth Davis, and she was born near Toronto, Ont., February 3, 1845. She was married to Mr. Sloat at Lexington, Mich., Dec. 31, 1865, and they moved to their farm in Speaker township, four miles north of Yale in 1876. Two children were born to the union. They are Charles Sloat, of Port Huron, and Mrs. Etta Wark, of Yale.

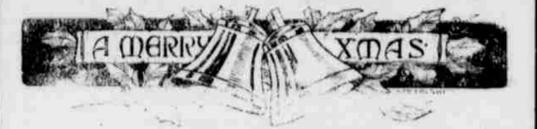

Deceased was a consistent christian, being a member of the Disciple church, to which denomination she had belonged for 33 years. She was baptised when 17 years old.

The funeral was held from the home on South Main street Tuesday morning at 10:30, conducted by Rev. Pearey, of Saginaw, assisted by Eld. D. McCall, and interment made in Elmwood cemetery.

The Expressor extends sympathy to the family in their bereavement.
