TROOP TO BE REMOVED FROM THE REAR OF THE ALLIES IN MACEDONIA.

TRANSFER TO BEGIN SHORTLY

Concession Comes After the King Had Refused to Grant it to the French Military Attache.

He has ordered the transfer of the Third and Fourth army corps from Thessaly, and the Sixteenth from the Epirus and the Peloponnesus, to the southern Greek peninsula. The transfer is to begin on November 3. There will be left behind only enough men to maintain order. His concession comes after the king had refused to grant it on the insistence—almost the order—of the French military attache. It followed a recent series of visits by allied ministers to the royal palace. It is significant, it is believed here, that King Constantine will soon be found co-operating with the Allies.

WEATHER CHIEF IS DEAD

Professor Cleveland Abbe, Father of Weather Bureau, Dies After a Year of Illness.

Washington.—Prof. Cleveland Abbe, known as "the father of the weather bureau," died after an illness of a year. The present-day system of daily weather forecasts, with which every portion of the United States, however remote, is now thoroughly familiar, is the outgrowth of a weather-prediction service which Cleveland Abbe established locally in Cincinnati, O., when he was the director of the observatory there, in 1869.

The son of a New York merchant, and born Dec. 3, 1835, Cleveland Abbe became an instructor in mathematics and astronomy at the University of Michigan in 1860 and during the Civil war period, he was an aide at Cambridge, Mass., to Dr. B. A. Gould, then astronomer of the United States coast survey. The years 1865-66 he spent in Russia at the Imperial Observatory as guest of the resident staff of observers there, and on his return to the United States he was chosen director of the Cincinnati observatory.

LIGHTNING DID GOOD WORK

Cowboy's Indigestion Cured in Record Time as the Result of a Severe Shock.

According to Mike Keating, a cowboy employed on the ranch of J. H. Boyce near Delhart, Tex., no remedy can begin to compare with a stroke of lightning for curing indigestion and restoring a badly impaired appetite.

Keating was standing by a wire fence when a bolt came kiting along and knocked him over. He was unconscious for several hours, and it was thought for a time he was done for. Finally he opened his eyes and looked about him, and his first words were: "Say, you all, get me something to eat mighty quick. I'm just about starving."

In the group around the cot was "cookie," who well remembered the hard time he had experienced for many months in trying to tempt Keating's dainty appetite and not arouse the pains of which the cowboy was eternally complaining.

"What'll you have—a poached egg and a piece of buttered toast?" inquired cookie.

"I want some real grub. Bring on a stew of meat, beans and as much other fodder as you can stir up."

Keating ate the first big meal he had been able to stow away for many months, and what is more, he is keeping up the gait.—New York Sun.
