DANIEL A. FOLEY TAKEN BY DEATH

Emmett's Grand Old Man Answers Final Summons On Friday Afternoon

Emmett, Mich., Sept. 25.—Daniel Foley, Emmett's "Grand Old Man," died at his home in Emmett township at four o'clock Friday afternoon. Mr. Foley had been in poor health during the past year, but had been active in looking after his farming interests until last Saturday, when he was stricken with paralysis.

"Uncle Dan" Foley, as he was lovingly known to hundreds of people in St. Clair county, was born in the county of Kerry, Ireland, May 3, 1841. In his boyhood his parents came to America settling first near St. Mary's, Ont., where Daniel when a young man worked, as he often related for 50 cents a day.

Later he came to the United States, and was interested in railroad construction in the east, particularly in Massachusetts, where he and his brother Timothy had many important contracts.

Timothy Foley, his youngest brother died in the east a few months ago. Failing health prevented Daniel from attending his brother's funeral. After the latter's death, Mr. Foley, who was the only survivor of his family, seemed to gradually fail in health.

Had Never Married
Mr. Foley never married, but leaves a number of nieces and nephews to mourn his loss. He was an active member of Port Huron Council, Knights of Columbus and also of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Always taking an active interest in politics he held the office of supervisor of Emmett township for several years, afterwards being elected county clerk for St. Clair county on the Republican ticket, serving from 1904 to 1908. In all organizations pertaining to farm betterment, Mr. Foley was always in the lead. He was a member of the grange and actively interested in the work of the Farm Bureau. His farm was his pride. Since the early '70's he had been interested in Emmett farm matters and at his death owned and operated one of the best farms in St. Clair county.

He was a charter member of the Michigan Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of St. Clair and Sanilac Counties and was one of the directors of same since its organization.

The funeral was held from Our Lady of Mt. Carmel church Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Rev. Peter Loughran celebrated the solemn high mass of requiem, assisted by Rev. George Brennan, of Port Huron, as deacon and Rev. Jas. Cotter, of Emmett, as sub-deacon.

Fr. Loughran preached an eloquent sermon, paying tribute to the many virtues of the deceased.

The funeral was held under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus Six Knights acted as pall bearers while the remainder of the K. of C.'s in attendance were honorary pall bearers.

The active bearers were Martin Mullally, Henry P. McCabe, Frank Keough, Patrick Grace, John Keegan and Peter McMonagle.

The body was laid at rest in Kenosha cemetery.

The first program of the Music Study Club will be on Friday of next week, October 8th, at the home of the president, Mrs. Edward Andreae.

Pearl McDonald, Worthy Matron of Yale Chapter O. E. S., will attend Grand Chapter next week at Grand Rapids.

COUNTY INSTITUTE IS A GREAT SUCCESS

Interesting Addresses Are Heard By Teachers

President L. C. Lord, of the state normal college, Charleston, delivered a most interesting and forcible lecture before the gathering of county school teachers assembled in Port Huron on Monday in attendance at the annual county teachers' institute.

"The Great Objectives in American Education," was the subject of President Lord's address in which he explained the aims and purposes and the progress made under the system of education now in effect in the public schools. His talk was heard by the teachers with the greatest interest and they benefited materially by the speech.

Miss Elizabeth McCricket, of the Ypsilanti State Normal college also addressed the teachers in session yesterday afternoon. Her talk was on the subject "The Socialized School" and proved to be very interesting to the instructors.

The afternoon's session of the institute was opened with a community sing led by Miss Edna Fraser, of this city. Several selections were sung by all the teachers. Following a solo by Miss Elizabeth Denner, of Salt Lake City, Utah, the addresses were heard.

The program of the morning, opening at 9 o'clock and lasting until 12, was confined chiefly to the giving of instructions to the teachers. Vocal selections by Miss Denner and music were added to the program. E. T. Blackney, county commissioner of schools, presided over the meeting.

Approximately 325 teachers of the schools of the city and through out the county were in attendance.

President Lord and Misses McCricket and Menner the instructors, went from Port Huron to Sandusky to be in attendance at the annual teachers' institute of Sanilac county to be held there.

FARM BUREAU FAME SPREADS NATION-WIDE

Other States Watch Farmer Organization Here To Get Pointers

Lansing, Sept. 30.—Activities of the Michigan State Farm Bureau are attracting attention far beyond the boundaries of the state, according to officials of the bureau. Other states from the Atlantic to the Pacific are watching the development of the Michigan bureau with keen interest and are patterning their structures after it economically and cooperating in various ways, it is said.

One co-operative link between Michigan and other states that has been welded and that promises to be of much benefit to Wolverine farmers, is the seed purchasing alliance of Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania. To purchase in the far west and northwest high grade seeds for use in the east and middle west W. J. Nicolson, manager of the Michigan bureau's seed department, and John H. Bacon, of the New York state farm bureau have been named to buy for all of the states.

The purpose of this committee is to enable the four states to combine orders, thus giving a greater volume of buying power and keeping them from competing with each other for the same product. It will cut down expenses materially, as the committee can buy in large quantities as easily as in small lots, and the gross expense in operating in this way is not as great as it would be if all were working independently.

Secretary Bingham attended the meeting of representatives of middle-western farm bureaus in Kansas. Representatives of the far western states were present in response to Michigan's request that they cooperate in efforts to build a national wool pool or national wool sales agency for next year. This subject, with livestock marketing, were among the principle ones discussed.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Presbyterian Ladies Entertain for Mrs. N. B. Percy and Mother Who Leave City

Honoring Mrs. N. B. Percy, who is, with her family, this week moving to Mansfield, Ohio; and her mother, Mrs. Loomis, who will leave in the near future, the ladies of the Presbyterian church gathered at the church on Friday afternoon for a social visit and a pot luck supper.

Both were most successful, the social time spent together will be remembered by all with pleasure and the delicious, bountiful supper put them in the best of moods.

It is with regret that the church ladies see Mrs. Percy and Mrs. Loomis go as both have been affiliated so strongly with the church and all its work that it leaves a void hard to be filled.

The best of wishes go with them to their new home.

The ladies of the M. P. church will serve supper in connection with the Sunday school convention Thursday, Oct. 7th, from 5:00 until all are served. Menu—Roast pork, apple sauce, scalloped potatoes, cabbage salad, pumpkin pie, fried cakes, pickles, rolls, coffee. Adults, 75c; children, 35c.

RURAL ORGANIZATION'S ACTIVITIES INCREASING

Sanilac County Farm Bureau Now Employs An Assistant Manager

The work of the Sanilac County Farm Bureau has been developing rapidly since starting, that the management has found it necessary to employ an assistant.

They were very fortunate in securing the services of Mr. D. C. Cavanagh, of Haslett, Mich., who comes to the Sanilac County Farm Bureau very highly recommended as a practical and efficient man. He is a graduate of M. A. C. and during his senior year was on the teaching staff of the Farm Crops Department. Since then he has been employed by the Michigan Crops Improvement Association, which is under the direction of the above department, to inspect the pure bred seeds and flax fields of the state.

Mr. Cavanagh is very much interested in the new farm organization movement and will be able to render very valuable assistance to the organization. He is now at Sandusky and expects to move to the county seat in the very near future. Marlette, Sept. 28.—Cider from a tin can is blamed for the death here of Lawrence Torn, 17, who was buried Monday. Death resulted from cerebral hemorrhages due, it is believed, to poisoning from cider contained in cans.

Torn attended high school last year as a junior, but was unable to re-enter his classes this year because of his physical condition. Wednesday while aiding his father in the fields he complained of numbness in his arms. Medical attention was summoned, but he died Friday night. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Prowse from the Torn home.

During the years 1909-1912 he was on the Yale circuits and was also pastor of Goodland and Marlette circuits.
