

DECEASED, A HERO. DIED FOR HIS COUNTRY.

Memphis Officer Returns With Arm in Sling and Medals for Bravery Pinned to His Breast.

LAUDS FRENCH AND ENGLISH AS FIGHTERS Declares Work of Red Cross Nurses Is No Mainland, for Saving Great Many Yanks Who Were Wounded.

Lieut. James Quinn, big-hearted, jovial, a boy known to him came home from the war Sunday, came home with his right arm in a sling and decorations on the American distinguished service cross, and of various orders of merit.

Lieut. Quinn returned to talk about it. But the story came from him and he had been printed. He came back to Memphis as he went away, strong, robust and hale.

Lieut. Quinn received his training at the first officers' training camp at Fort Belknap, Tenn., in 1917, and was assigned to the First division.

Lieut. Quinn was with the First division, Company G, 28th infantry, on the front lines in France, where he was gassed.

TRUTH IS SWEETENED BY THE TIE THAT BINDS.

"Pleas remember me and little brother Christmas morning, as mama is not able to work and as papa has no regler job, and if you don't come to see us we won't have any Santa Claus to see us.

BY A GOODFELLOW. "You can't talk to me about the Goodfellows. Some of those letters they have been running from poor children may be genuine, but I'll bet most of them are faked right there in The News Scimitar office."

Encouragement To Goodfellows. We are asking daddy to send you $10.00 for me to help buy nice things for my mother and sister.
