

ST. PAUL HEARS OF TRY FOR THREE CONTESTS

COLD WEATHER CHECKS WORK OF TRIBE

Activities at Russwood Receive Setback—St. Paul Saints Here Saturday.

BY BOB FIGUE.
LITTLE PIVUS turned on all his fire for the night and then the cold weather checked the work of the tribe. The weather was so cold that the boys were unable to practice as usual. The tribe is expected to arrive in St. Paul on Saturday for a contest with the Saints.

The Cheiks had just started to round up the boys for the game when the weather turned. The boys were unable to practice as usual. The tribe is expected to arrive in St. Paul on Saturday for a contest with the Saints.

The Cheiks will have to be good during the next few days, for the St. Paul Saints will be here for three games at Russwood, beginning Saturday afternoon at 3 and a half o'clock. The Saints are coming with what has been termed the best club in the American association, and Mike Kelley, who is managing the club, is authority for the statement that he is going to make a clean sweep over the tribe in the trio of bouts by way of proving the superiority of the Saints over the Cheiks, who managed to get only an even break on the four battles.

The tribe is making plans to meet the Chicago White Sox at Russwood next Wednesday, April 16, when Kid Gleason's crew of American leaguers will stop over one day to show the natives a regular ball club. The Sox will have all the regulars along, including Eddie Collins, the king of second basemen, Joe Jackson, who slugs the ball to right field, and the greatest catcher in baseball today.

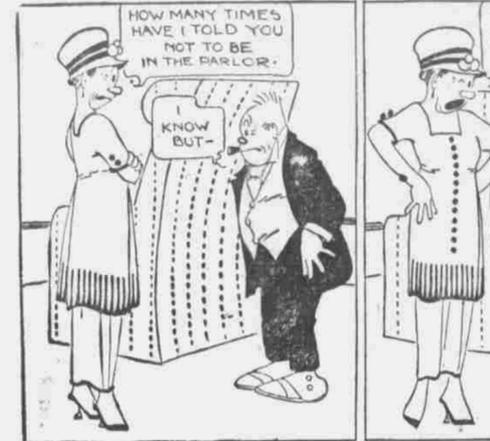

Watso Hits the Trail.
Tom Watkins, president of the Chicago club, long trail trail night for somewhere in the United States on a hunt for ball players. Watkins is a pitcher who can pitch as well as hit, and he is prepared to lay out a goodly amount of dough to get the best of the bunch. Watkins is expected to return to Memphis when he lands here on Monday.

MOORE TO MEET KID HERMAN IN RACINE, WIS.

Will Be Last Fight Before Meeting Young Sandow Here Monday Night.

MEMPHIS FIGHT FANS expect to see a real treat in the fight to be fought in Racine, Wis., on Monday night. Kid Herman, a bantam who claims to have as much class as the best of the breed, is expected to meet Young Sandow, who has been matched to tackle Pal over the eight-round route at the New Lyric theater next Monday night. Sandow is not a new name in the ring, and Moore believes in being in the proper shape so that he will stand a chance of getting outpointed. Moore is either boy or in at that figure. It will be a real treat to see the two boys in a fight, and it will last 10 rounds, providing neither boy gets over with a haymaker. This will be the last fight before he returns to Memphis and goes up against Young Sammy Sandow, of Cincinnati, a well-known bantam who has been matched to tackle Pal over the eight-round route at the New Lyric theater next Monday night. Fred Toney, Giant Hurler, Is Through With Baseball

Says He Has Great Pitching Arm, But Less Brains Than Anybody in National.

BY BOB FIGUE.
FRED TONEY, star right-handed pitcher of the New York Giants, formerly of the Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs in the National League, says he is through with baseball for good, and that he will never again don a major league uniform. Toney, who is in Springfield, Tenn., in the Robertson county jail finishing a four-month sentence on a charge of violating the anti-slavery act, states that he is through with the national game for life. Toney says he has been taken advantage of on account of the fact that he is uneducated and that when he finishes his sentence on May 1, he will tell everting connected with his case. Toney was seen in the Robertson county jail and gave out the following statement:

"For the benefit of my friends who have been anxious to know whether or not I would play ball this season, I want to know that I am through."
"On the first day of May I will make a complete statement to the public telling my side of the whole affair."
"I think I have just as good an arm as ever hung on a man's body, but less brains than any man in the entire league."
"I attribute all my trouble to my lack of education, and the fact that I have been taken advantage of."
"The big pitcher, who is one of the leading moundsmen in the National League, feels the humiliation of being sent to jail very keenly, and he feels that he has not been treated fairly by some of those who were masquerading as his friends."
"Toney, who is one of the best in the entire league, is evidence that the glove to never again appear on the bill."

May Go on Farm.
Toney's father owns a farm near Nashville, and Toney is going to go there when he has paid Uncle Sam in full for his folly. Toney is nothing but a big boy and has been hampered all his life by a lack of education. At an early age he started playing ball and soon developed a pitching arm that is seldom seen. He was raised out in the open and possesses a powerful physique. Toney graduated from the backlots of Nashville and Atlanta into a great big city, and after having played ball for the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds, he was bought by John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants. Toney was accused of attempting to bribe McGraw to get a trade for a select pitcher, and after a trial was acquitted. On another charge, that of having transported a woman from one state to the other, he was found guilty and sentenced to four months in jail. Toney was in the penitentiary for three months, and on May 1 he will step forth a free man. Toney, while incarcerated, decided that he was through with baseball and that he would never again don the uniform of the Giants or any other big league club. Toney's statement to the effect that he had a good arm as ever hung on any man's body, but less brains than any man in the entire league, is evidence that the glove to never again appear on the bill.

Floyd Kroh Wants To Be Umpire In Sunland Major

Floyd Kroh, a left-handed pitcher, who has hurled the baseball on practically every club in the Southern league, is through with the pitching end of the game, but he is not to be an umpire. He has applied to President John D. Martin, of Dixie's major, for a job. Floyd has been in the army for the past several months and pitched quite a bit of ball on cantonment teams, but he has decided to pass up the pitching end of the national frenzy and get a job—if he can—as an umpire.

President Martin has taken Floyd's address, and in case four wounded soldier-umpires are not secured, Floyd's application will be considered. Kroh is at present in New Orleans, where he is working out with the Pelicans and Cleveland Indians.

FEDERAL LEAGUE CASE NEARS END

Jury Expected to Get Shot at It Friday.
WASHINGTON, April 10.—Justice Stafford in the District of Columbia supreme court has overruled motions for directed verdicts respectively by plaintiffs and defendants in the $500,000 damage suit of the Baltimore Federal league club against the American and National leagues. The case is expected to go to the jury Friday. Final arguments in the case, which has been on trial before a jury since March 23, will be heard today, and instructions then will be given to the jury relative to the law by Justice Stafford. The jury was excused yesterday while the opposing attorneys argued the motions for directed verdicts.

ANOTHER TOP-NOTCH MARE WHO WILL BE A STRONG CONTENDER IN FREE-FOR-ALL TROT

MELBA, 2:14 1/4.

Melba is a four-year-old black mare by Azoff and owned by Courtney Lewis. Last season, a three-year-old she started in more races than any other horse in the Tri-State driving club—15—and stood second in the number of races won. She is unusually steady and level-headed and considered one of the gamest horses ever owned in the Tri-State driving club. She is sure to be a contender in the free-for-all trot.

HEINE BEGINS TO TOE THE SCRATCH

Beaten and Starts Outting.
Jules Heinemann, president of the New Orleans Pelicans, realizing that he has lost his fight on the seven-player rule, and that the rule is going to stick this season, has started getting rid of his surplus class A players. Within the next few days Heinemann will dispose of some of the best men he has on his club by way of conforming to the Southern league rule that no club can carry over seven class A players. Among high-class players to be disposed of will be DeBerry, a catcher; Jack Stansbury, an infielder and general utility man; Joe Schepner, a third baseman, and Sullivan and Larry Gillett, outfielders.

PLESTINA CHALLENGES

NEW YORK, April 10.—Bernard McFadden, of New York, has challenged the world in behalf of Martin Plestina against any heavyweight wrestler, preferably Zbyzsko, Lewis or Stecher, for any sum up to $2,000. McFadden is convinced of correctness of Farmer Burns' contention that Plestina is the greatest in the world. He will hold a tournament in Madison Square garden May 2 to determine the rightful ownership to the title of heavyweight champion if challenge is not accepted by above named date. No one is barred from the tournament.

WIN SEMIFINALS

PINEHURST, N. C., April 10.—Miss Marion Zinderstein, of the Longwood club, and Mrs. Marion Vanderhoff Morse, of the West Side Tennis club, were victors here yesterday in the semifinals of the women's singles in the North and South tennis tournament. The men's doubles were brought down to the finals in which Vincent Richards and W. T. Tilden, Jr. are the national doubles champions, will be opposed by H. S. Vasehel and S. Kuma-gae.

VANDY BEATEN

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., April 10.—In a one-sided game Alabama defeated Vanderbilt here yesterday afternoon 5 to 2. The Commodores were unable to touch Big Boone while Kyle was hammered hard, Stevenson driving out two home runs.

Fred Horey, Auto Racer, Badly Hurt In Auto Smashup

JACKSON, Miss., April 10.—Fred Horey, holder of the world's dirt track record for automobiles was severely but not fatally injured Wednesday afternoon when a Buick special he was driving crashed through a fence on a sharp turn and then plunged into a large 100 yards from the track. When the car struck a deep ditch Horey was hurled from the machine. His body was badly cut and bruised by broken fence rails. Five thousand people witnessed the accident which occurred at the fair grounds.

New York State Legalizes 10-Round Boxing Bouts

ALBANY, N. Y., April 10.—The 10th of the state legislature has passed a bill to legalize boxing bouts in New York state, was adopted without debate in the senate last night. The bill would create an athletic commission of one member, to be appointed by the governor who would have supervision over all boxing contests. The bouts would be limited to 10 rounds of three minutes each, with one minute intermission and a decision to be given by a referee. Gloves would weigh less than five ounces in weight. Ten per cent of the gross receipts would go to the state. The expense of the commission would be defrayed by the expense of the commission.

Bresnahan Will Not Lead Toledo Hens This Season

TOLEDO, O., April 10.—Internal trouble of the Toledo ball club has been settled and players will report at once. Stockholders of the company will either raise money to back the club or sell their stock over to a new company within 24 hours. This was agreed upon yesterday. Roger Bresnahan will not manage the team, but expects a Pittsburgh player, coming to Toledo as part of the trade for Ed Sweeney, to do so. Bresnahan wants Bill Hinchman or Vic Sailer from Pittsburgh and whichever he gets will be in absolute charge of the team. Bresnahan retiring from active management.

Ty Hits Homer On First Trip To The Plate This Season

ROCK HILL, S. C., April 10.—In his first time at bat this season Ty Cobb hit a home run here yesterday in an exhibition game between the Detroit Americans and the Boston Nationals. Boston won 5 to 3. Cobb joined the team Tuesday night.

MILLER HUGGINS HAS MADE CHANGES

Only Three Players Left Who Were With Donovan.
Miller Huggins, in his second year as manager of the New York Yankees, has managed to rid himself of practically everything connected with the previous season's regime. There will be only three players on the team this year that Donovan started out with four years ago. They are Roger Peckinpaugh, Walter Pipp and Hugh High. The squad of pitchers which worked out at Savannah included Ray Fisher, King Cole, Marty McHale, Paul Lewis, Carroll Brown, Jack Winters, English Cottrell, George Wahle and Fred Clarkson. The catchers were Ed Sweeney, Leslie Munroe, Ray Schwegert and Arthur Pickering. The infielders were Walter Pipp, Charley Mullen, Lute Brown, Frank Truesdale, Roger Peckinpaugh, Angel Aragon, Fred Maise, Bob Kelly, Paddy Baunann and Bill Tamm. For outfielders Donovan had Roy Harris, Burdie Cree, Doc Cook, Hugh High and Dale Patey. Donovan had Duke Parrish as battery coach, Jimmy Dugan as trainer and Joe Kelley, chief scout, helped the New York manager at the training camp.

Tillman Starts Drive For 142-Pound Crown

Brilliant Western Boy Meets Patsy Cline on April 26, Then Prepares for Britton.
Johnny Tillman has started a drive that he hopes will land him the welterweight championship of the world. He has hard-hitting Minneapolis, Minn., who has battled all the leading light and welterweights in this country, now expects to concentrate on the 142 pounders. The first match in his bid for the championship will be against Irish Patsy Cline. Tillman has engaged the best in the game. Glancing over the records it is found that among his opponents have been Jack Britton, Ted Lewis, Benny Leonard, Irish Patsy Cline, Bryan Downey, Johnny Griffiths, Charles White, Johnny Dundee, Ad Wolcott, Jack Malone, Eddie McAndrew, Buck Fleming, Walter Mohr, Phil Bloom, Jimmy Duffy and other famous milt wielders.
