

"Jennings—The House of Quality."

Thrice Welcome, Visitors, and May YOUR Joy Be Unconfined During This Centennial Birthday Party

We extend you an invitation to make this handsomely appointed establishment a rendezvous. Meet your friends here—ask for information—use the conveniences we've provided for this occasion—make yourself at home.

Unusual Buying Advantages Are Presented in This

Spring House Furnishing Sale

Embracing the most artistic and refined Living Room, Dining Room, Bedroom and Library Furniture produced by American manufacturers.

See Our Display of Reedcraft, French Willow Reed and Barnegat Cedar

ASK FOR THE WHITTALL RUG BOOK.

JENNINGS FURNITURE

124 SOUTH COMMERCE MAIN STREET

WAR LOAN DUTIES Bring Promotion TO THREE MORE

(Continued From First Page.)
tions, which, of course, can not invalidate the ratification of the peace treaty and covenant itself when those America's signature is attached by vote of the senate.

Passages on Labor.

Mr. Wilson's message was hardly as much commented on as the Republican policy toward the league of nations, but in the narrow margin of the national capital is just now saturated, even the president's communication as a but for the support of the elements in the country, not necessarily support for Mr. Wilson himself in the past for his administration.

But, on the other hand, the Republicans recognized it as a very strong weapon. The message was met very promptly by the announcement of Representative James Mann of Ohio that the amendment would be up for final passage in a few days. In other words, the Republican majority will put woman suffrage through before anything else, a circumstance that raises the chances for the amendment in the senate.

Mr. Wilson's readiness to take the ban off light wines and beer so far as emergency legislation is concerned was looked upon as a bold stroke because of the feeling that the drys have had it all their own way and that anyone who dared oppose them was courting political trouble.

Tariff Changes Unlikely.

The tariff was the only question in which the position taken by the president caused some satisfaction to the political managers of the Republican party, for they, too, have realized that a revision of import duties was of doubtful necessity, owing to the disturbed economic conditions the world over, but, at the same time, have wanted something like Mr. Wilson's statement as a promise for delaying legislation.

They can now say to the manufacturing elements in the party who think the Republicans should do nothing else when in power, that raising the tariff rates, that of course, the Republicans would amend the tariff, but what good would it do if Mr. Wilson possessed the power of veto?

The only thing to do, they can now urge is to elect a Republican president. In other words, as outlined in yesterday's dispatch, tariff legislation is apt to go by the boards in the next 20 months, with the exception of such legislation as may protect the distilleries and chemical industries as outlined by Mr. Wilson himself.

So far as the grievances of the country are concerned, there is evidence that Mr. Wilson's lieutenants on this side of the water gave him to understand that he must say something definite about railroads, telegraph and telephone. He definitely announced the return to private hands of these utilities at an early date, and in addition a reduction of income taxes, particularly excess profits taxes.

All this may seem like politics and public business closely mixed, but that is the true state of affairs in Washington today. The congress is a shifting ground for ideas, and the country looks on still hopeful that the old line parties will some day return to the scene of things and think about the folk back home.

(Copyright, 1919, by the New York Evening Post, Inc.)

JUDGE J. M. STEEN DIES AT HIS HOME

Prominent Attorney Found Dead Tuesday Seated in Library.

Judge John M. Steen, prominent as an attorney, former member of the board of education, judge of the criminal court and an assistant attorney-general, died suddenly at his home, 1008 Rayburn boulevard, Tuesday evening. Judge Steen was found dead, seated in a chair in his library. Heart trouble is believed to have caused his death.

Judge Steen pursued his business affairs as usual Tuesday and when he went home did not complain of feeling ill. He spoke to the maid of his home as he entered the library and was found dead a few moments later.

He was active in municipal affairs in Memphis, where he had taught school for a number of years after receiving the degree of bachelor of law at the University of Mississippi. He was born in Florence, Miss., April 1, 1848.

During his residence here he was assistant attorney-general under Gen. George B. Peters and later a member of the board of education and later became its president. He was made judge of the criminal court in 1914. Three years later he formed a partnership with E. H. Kiewer, which continued until his death.

At the time of his death Judge Steen was serving as a member of the reapportionment commission and at one time served as a member of the Shelby county election commission. In 1914 he married Mrs. Addie Howell Estes, who survives with a son, John M. Steen, Jr., of Memphis.

He was a member of the Methodist church, St. John's, and was a member of the board of trustees of the church. He was a member of the board of trustees of the church. He was a member of the board of trustees of the church.

War Loan Duties Bring Promotion TO THREE MORE

(Continued From First Page.)
tions, which, of course, can not invalidate the ratification of the peace treaty and covenant itself when those America's signature is attached by vote of the senate.

Passages on Labor.

Mr. Wilson's message was hardly as much commented on as the Republican policy toward the league of nations, but in the narrow margin of the national capital is just now saturated, even the president's communication as a but for the support of the elements in the country, not necessarily support for Mr. Wilson himself in the past for his administration.

But, on the other hand, the Republicans recognized it as a very strong weapon. The message was met very promptly by the announcement of Representative James Mann of Ohio that the amendment would be up for final passage in a few days. In other words, the Republican majority will put woman suffrage through before anything else, a circumstance that raises the chances for the amendment in the senate.

Mr. Wilson's readiness to take the ban off light wines and beer so far as emergency legislation is concerned was looked upon as a bold stroke because of the feeling that the drys have had it all their own way and that anyone who dared oppose them was courting political trouble.

Tariff Changes Unlikely.

The tariff was the only question in which the position taken by the president caused some satisfaction to the political managers of the Republican party, for they, too, have realized that a revision of import duties was of doubtful necessity, owing to the disturbed economic conditions the world over, but, at the same time, have wanted something like Mr. Wilson's statement as a promise for delaying legislation.

They can now say to the manufacturing elements in the party who think the Republicans should do nothing else when in power, that raising the tariff rates, that of course, the Republicans would amend the tariff, but what good would it do if Mr. Wilson possessed the power of veto?

The only thing to do, they can now urge is to elect a Republican president. In other words, as outlined in yesterday's dispatch, tariff legislation is apt to go by the boards in the next 20 months, with the exception of such legislation as may protect the distilleries and chemical industries as outlined by Mr. Wilson himself.

So far as the grievances of the country are concerned, there is evidence that Mr. Wilson's lieutenants on this side of the water gave him to understand that he must say something definite about railroads, telegraph and telephone. He definitely announced the return to private hands of these utilities at an early date, and in addition a reduction of income taxes, particularly excess profits taxes.

All this may seem like politics and public business closely mixed, but that is the true state of affairs in Washington today. The congress is a shifting ground for ideas, and the country looks on still hopeful that the old line parties will some day return to the scene of things and think about the folk back home.

(Copyright, 1919, by the New York Evening Post, Inc.)

JUDGE J. M. STEEN DIES AT HIS HOME

Prominent Attorney Found Dead Tuesday Seated in Library.

Judge John M. Steen, prominent as an attorney, former member of the board of education, judge of the criminal court and an assistant attorney-general, died suddenly at his home, 1008 Rayburn boulevard, Tuesday evening. Judge Steen was found dead, seated in a chair in his library. Heart trouble is believed to have caused his death.

Judge Steen pursued his business affairs as usual Tuesday and when he went home did not complain of feeling ill. He spoke to the maid of his home as he entered the library and was found dead a few moments later.

He was active in municipal affairs in Memphis, where he had taught school for a number of years after receiving the degree of bachelor of law at the University of Mississippi. He was born in Florence, Miss., April 1, 1848.

During his residence here he was assistant attorney-general under Gen. George B. Peters and later a member of the board of education and later became its president. He was made judge of the criminal court in 1914. Three years later he formed a partnership with E. H. Kiewer, which continued until his death.

At the time of his death Judge Steen was serving as a member of the reapportionment commission and at one time served as a member of the Shelby county election commission. In 1914 he married Mrs. Addie Howell Estes, who survives with a son, John M. Steen, Jr., of Memphis.

He was a member of the Methodist church, St. John's, and was a member of the board of trustees of the church. He was a member of the board of trustees of the church.

He was a member of the board of trustees of the church. He was a member of the board of trustees of the church. He was a member of the board of trustees of the church.

H. J. Summerfield THE HOUSE OF FASHION

Exquisite New Styles DRESS SALE

Sensational Price Concessions That Mean Tremendous Bargains and Savings

Every Sale Must Be Final. No Phone or Mail Orders Filled.

- Chiffon
- Satin
- Charmeuse
- Moire
- Georgette
- Silk Jersey
- Crepe de Chine
- Beaded Georgette
- Foulard
- Taffeta
- Printed Georgette
- Foulard Combinations
- Georgette and Foulard
- Taffeta and Georgette

STREET, AFTERNOON AND EVENING MODELS

- Dresses Worth to $45 AND HIGHER $19
- Dresses Worth to $75 AND HIGHER $35
- Dresses Worth to $58 AND HIGHER $28
- Dresses Worth to $95 AND HIGHER $45

Silk Skirts—Authoritative Styles $16.50

Fashionable, dainty creations, distinguished by individual details charmingly developed in Crepe de Chine, Washable Satin and Novelty Silks. Reasonably priced—$16.50. Others moderately priced to $88.

SCHOOL LAW WANTED.

BLUE MOUNTAIN, Miss., May 21. (Sp.)—Prof. David E. Guyton, head of the school of history in Blue Mountain college, whose students have pledged themselves to contribute their efforts during the vacation toward creating a state-wide sentiment in Mississippi for a compulsory school attendance law to be passed by the 1920 session of the state legislature, has had a letter from W. F. Bond, state superintendent of education, declaring that the time has come when Mississippi must have a compulsory attendance law, and outlining it as his policy to do his best to help Mississippi from next to the bottom of the list to the very top in the classification of the states.

OLD LEVEE CAVING.

HELENA, Ark., May 21. (Sp.)—Reports from Old Town that the Mississippi levee is caving at two places, with the rise continuing, is causing some alarm. If the river continues to rise there is some fear that the levee will break. As it is to rebuild the levee when the river recedes will cost quite a good deal.

Neither Is MICKEY A Sideshow Attraction.

COLUMBUS, Miss., May 21. (Sp.)—A telegram was received here today from Dawson Springs, Ky., announcing the serious illness of that place of E. C. Chapman, cashier of the National Bank of Commerce in this city. Mr. Chapman, who had been suffering from a complication of ailments for several months, was recently sent to the Kentucky resort in the hope of regaining his health.

TREZEVANT KEEPS GOING.

TREZEVANT, Tenn., May 21. (Sp.)—The local congregation of the Methodist church, South, in their drive in the centenary campaign has gone over the top and is still going. In fact, the church has just received a contribution of $1,000, making a total of $200,000. It was announced that about $200,000 more than the $1,000 added of the church had been subscribed.

CONTINUE ARGUMENTS.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., May 21. (Sp.)—Arguments on the admissibility of evidence prepared for the Ford-Tribune libel suit continued before Judge Tucker this afternoon here today. It was predicted that they would last all day. The jury was excluded.

LIEUT. GORDON RUDD HERE

Lieut. Gordon Rudd, of the U. S. motor transportation corps, former well-known local bowler and one of the best all-around athletes this city ever produced, is in Memphis glad-handing his old friends.

VISIT OUR AMPICO Studios

Reproducing Piano

In our Ampico Studios you will find comfortable chairs, where you may hear without obligation reproductions of all the greatest pianists of modern times, including Godowsky, Rachmaninoff, Gieseler, Bauer, Busoni, Hoffman, Grieg, Caruso, Goodson, etc.

Upright and Grand Piano Warerooms

In our piano warerooms you will find a complete stock of both upright and grand Knabe, Kraskauer and Laffargue pianos and player-pianos, as well as many other makes lower in price.

Columbia Grafonola and Brunswick Booths

Here you will find a complete stock of Columbia Grafonolas and Brunswick Phonographs in one, as well as bargains in used talking machines.

Come to WITZMANN'S one or many times during Centennial Week and not only rest—but while you rest hear all the latest and best musical instruments for the home.

AT 99-103 NORTH SECOND ST. Forty-Seven Years in Memphis

Your instrument accepted as part payment. Balance convenient terms. Estimates of what your instrument will be worth in exchange gladly furnished without charge or obligation.

Witzmann's PIANOS

All-Cream Ice Cream Made from pure cream—no artificial makeshifts.

Fortune's Sanitary Fountain

37 Steps From Main St. East On Madison Ave.

Honk! Honk! Drive Up and Blow Twice

Every glass, dish and spoon absolutely sterilized—or, if you prefer, ask for individual paper service.

That Old One

About being all dressed up and no place to go don't hold good now. There are lots of places to go, and I've got lots of new summer clothes for you to wear. My no-red-tape, reference or investigation credit system and the fact that I carry only the better grade of dresses, hats, suits, coats, waists, skirts, etc., makes Miller's, at 236 South Main St., near Laiden, the best shop in Memphis for the woman who wants high-grade clothes, and also wants credit accommodations. Bonds and stamps taken at full value.

BLIND GIRL GRADUATES.

COLUMBUS, Miss., May 21. (Sp.)—The class which will graduate from the Mississippi industrial institute and college on Monday, June 2, will be one of the largest in the history of the institution, comprising more than 100 young ladies. Among its members is Miss Annie Denman, who is totally blind. Miss Denman, who resides at Charleston, Miss., came to the institution four years ago, and notwithstanding her physical affliction has not only completed the full literary course but has written a volume of stories and sketches entitled "I, I, and Echoes," which was presented at the graduation.

HALLS SCHOOL TO CLOSE.

HALLS, Tenn., May 21.—The commencement exercises of the Halls high school will start Friday night, May 23, with a play by the graduating class. The commencement service will be preached by Rev. J. T. Bagby, pastor of the Methodist church of this city, Sunday night at the college chapel.

Monday night there will be a recital by the music pupils. Dr. J. T. Warren, president of Hall-Moody institute, of Martin, Tenn., will deliver an address to the graduates. Those who graduate this year are Misses Clarkie Wilt, Annie Laura Smith, Susie Briggs, Jimmie Strain, Anna Mary Hanna, Pauline Lucas and Mr. Cary Hutcheson.

WOMEN ARE CARELESS

This has been proved over and over again during the war. They overestimate their physical strength and over-tax it. Their ambition is commendable, but does not compensate for the hours and days of misery which they suffer from symptoms caused by female troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has recognized everywhere as the standard remedy for such ailments.

Rainbow Boys

Come to our tailoring shop for helpful suggestions in selecting your civilian suit—and we'll give you the very best value and professional service that you can get. Buy J. H. Moriarty, Adv. Tailors, 31 South Main St.

Read News Scimitar Wants.

Memphis and Columbus, Miss.

READ THE NEWS SCIMITAR CLASSIFIED ADS