FATAL SHOOTING RESULT OF QUARREL IN ROAD

COTTAGE GROVE, Tenn., May 21. (Sp.)—Elmer Moore was shot and killed by John Mathis Tuesday morning. The killing occurred when the men met in the road, Moore driving a loaded wagon and Mathis in an automobile. It seems Moore did not turn the wagon out of the road, which caused the trouble, or renewed the trouble as they had met under similar circumstances May 17, when they had some angry words. Both men are married and have families. Mathis has been arrested. Moore was employed by the J. C. Rainey company here to haul freight from the railroad, which is about 10 miles away. Mathis is an employe of the Louisville & Nashville railroad shops at Paris, Tenn.

Procession of Flowers One of Attractive Centennial Events

The procession of flowers, which was the leading event of Tuesday's Centennial celebration program although delayed for nearly an hour beyond the time set for the parade of floral floats, proved well worth waiting for. It was one of the most attractive events of the kind ever given in Memphis. The larger floats were beautifully and artistically decorated and the private cars, which were interspersed between the floats in the long parade, were equally artistic. The historical float occupied by the queen of the Centennial, Miss Maude Renkert, and her maids of honor, was given the place of honor in the procession. In keeping with the Centennial theme, the float itself represented the entrance of an old Egyptian temple. Miss Renkert and her fair attendants being garbed in robes of glistening gold. EVANGELISM FOR ANTI-BOLSHEVISM WORK IS URGED

Northern Presbyterian Assembly Also Scores President Wilson for His Attitude on Partial Prohibition.

ST. LOUIS, May 21.—Evangelism as a means of eradicating Bolshevism and L. W. Wilson was advocated by the board of home-missions in its report to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., today. The report recommended increasing the number of missionaries in lumber camps and industrial centers as a method to check the doctrine and urged establishment of immigrant communities to Christianize and Americanize foreigners. President Wilson was arraigned yesterday by commissioners of the general assembly for requesting congress to repeal or amend the war-time prohibition act and a resolution was adopted urging congress to sustain the law. President Wilson is an elder in the church. A copy of the resolution will be mailed to the president.

"This assembly learns with pain that the president of the United States has recommended to congress that it repeal a part of war-time prohibition, and in view of this fact we most earnestly petition congress that it not only retain the measure but that the measure be enforced to the fullest extent to the end that the needs of the world for food may be met, and that the efficiency and morale of our own people be preserved. When the resolution was read the commissioners applauded for several minutes.

The Rev. Dr. W. M. Hindman, of Columbus, O., declared "such a stand is very unbecoming for an elder in the Presbyterian church and for a man holding so high an office as that of president of the United States." B. E. Prugh, of Harrisburg, Pa., state chairman of the prohibition organization of Pennsylvania, asserted "this is the second time President Wilson has attempted to betray the liquor interests, and means the undoing of all that has been done."

Resolutions which carry on their business in foreign lands were denounced in the report of the temperance committee and congress was asked to disfranchise any citizen who carries on in a foreign country a business unlawful in this country. The committee deplored the use of cigars, especially by women, and urged upon Presbyterians not only the personal renunciation of them but the promotion of all possible legislation against them. Resolutions against livings were adopted in the report of the committee on missions for freedmen.

MANY SEE DISPLAY OF OLD TIME UMBRELLAS

A display of old-time umbrellas, some dating as far back as the time of Louis XIV, Queen Anne and Benjamin Franklin, is attracting many to one of the big display windows of the J. Goldsmith & Sons company. The display comprises umbrellas, sunshades, parasols and canes from many periods and is the property of Willis Folmer and was collected by his father, senior member of the firm of Folmer, Clagg & company, umbrella manufacturers. The collection was brought to Memphis lately by insured. One of the umbrellas on display belonged to George Washington, and another was owned by Benjamin Franklin, while still another who carries on the property of Washington Irving, but which would largely be paraded by a man of the East Indies and two were added of the period of 1815, by way of contrast.

PRESBYTERIANS ARE TO HOLD SUMMER MEET

FORREST CITY, Ark., May 21. (Sp.)—Dr. J. N. McParlane, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, announced that the first summer assembly west of the Mississippi river will be held at Arkansas college, Batesville, August 5-14, 1915, under the auspices of the Arkansas Presbytery and the Presbyterian Ministers' association, of Memphis, Tenn.

The general committee, which has this summer assembly for Arkansas in charge, is composed of Rev. John Van Lear, Little Rock; Rev. Henry N. Barber, Jonesboro; Rev. J. N. McParlane, Forrest City; Rev. Chas. W. Sommer, Memphis; Rev. J. B. Carpenter and Rev. William Crooke, Memphis. The 10-day program will cover all phases of church work and is designed to help and inspire Christian workers. It is substantial and of merit. A children's story hour will feature in each day's exercises. The dominant note of the conference will be religious, but there will be enough of the secular in the way of Ozark mountains and the fact is emphasized that such a gathering place for the Presbyterians west of the Mississippi river, is needed.

DANGEROUS BLAZE QUICKLY CHECKED

In less than 12 hours after Memphis firemen had checked a dangerous blaze early Tuesday night, in the H. A. Carroll & company paint and oil store, 117-119 Union avenue, the smoke eaters had been chiefly rewarded for their efficiency. The blaze originated in the rear of the big warehouse shortly after 3 o'clock. A fireman, observing smoke rolling from a transom, went in an alarm. Five companies of firemen using chemical five minutes later, had snuffed out the fire before it had reached the oils and inflammable liquids kept in stock, holding the damage to about $100. Before Mike Pizzomori, chief of the fire department, had enjoyed his coffee Wednesday, he was presented with a $100 check by the Carroll company for the firemen's Relief association fund, accompanied by a letter of praise for the firemen.
