

LEGION SQUARELY BACKING BACON

State as Well as Local Post Want Him as Next Postmaster.

Col. William J. Bacon has the unqualified support of the state organization and the local post of the American Legion in his candidacy for appointment as postmaster at Memphis, to succeed Charles W. Metcalf, resigned, according to statements Thursday by William M. Stanton, commander of Post No. 1. Mr. Stanton has enlisted the services of Col. Harry S. Berry, state commander of the legion, and prior to the receipt of a telegram from Memphis in this regard Col. Berry dispatched this night letter.

William M. Stanton, Commander Post No. 1, American Legion, Memphis, Tenn.

"What action does local post desire state organization to take in Memphis postoffice case already wired the legion legislative committee in Washington to protect the interests of the soldier candidate?"

Commander Stanton explained that the legion would take steps to see that the soldier preference rule would be enforced or else declared null and void. He stated further that before Col. Bacon's candidacy was announced the legion decided to support the soldier candidate with the highest record and qualifications. There is nothing personal in this postmaster fight, Stanton added, explaining that as commander of the local post it was his duty to support its activities as the members desired.

In the civil service examination recently Assistant Postmaster H. C. McKellar made a slightly higher rating than did Col. Bacon, but the preference was so small that the legion has asked Postmaster-General Burleson to give Bacon the preference because of his service record of three years.

No action is expected in the matter until the return of Burleson to the capital, and it is not known whether he will submit one or both names to the president for appointment. Memphis Post No. 1 has appealed directly to Burleson also requesting that preference be given the soldier candidate.

COX AND ROOSEVELT WILL VISIT MEMPHIS

Assurance Is Given That Democrats Will Speak Here.

Both Gov. James M. Cox, Democratic candidate for president, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, candidate for vice-president, will visit Memphis in their speaking tour during the campaign. Miss Charles O. Williams, superintendent of Shelby county schools, Democratic committeewoman from Tennessee and Democratic national committeewoman of the county, recently at a meeting of the Democratic national committee.

In addition to her political activities, she ranks as one of the leading educational workers of the country, and generally she is given credit for the adoption of an educational plank in the national party platform.

Appreciating Miss Williams' skill and ability, both Gov. Cox and George Henry White, chairman of the national committee, requested her to make her headquarters in New York until after the November election. The subject, Miss Williams to take an active part in lining up the women on the Democratic side for the coming election. Miss Williams answered that her duties as county school superintendent here would make it impossible for her to accept, but she now is considering a second request that she give two months to this work for the Democrats.

Miss Williams will be in the party that officially notifies Gov. Cox of his nomination, in Dayton, Ohio, on Aug. 7, but she will hasten back to Tennessee, to be in Nashville at the special session of the legislature on Nov. 2, when the voters will vote on woman suffrage in this state. Miss Williams is an enthusiastic worker in the suffrage cause.

ATHENS, July 29. (By the Associated Press)—The Greek army in Asia Minor is waiting to see if the Turkish nationalists submit to the peace treaty before occupying more territory and pursuing Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the nationalist leader, to Ankara. However, it is the view of Gen. Panaskopoulos, the Greek commander in chief, that his forces can easily finish routing the nationalists, whose troops, he says, are demoralized and without provisions. Mustafa Kemal lost vast quantities of stores, artillery and medical supplies, which he cannot replace, according to the Greek commander.

Why Deny Your Family the Comfort Your Neighbor Is Enjoying?

While you enjoy the fan-cooled comfort of your store or office, is your wife and family sweltering in discomfort from excessive heat that causes "stringy hair," "rumpled looks" and "ruffled disposition?"

Electric fans cost so little (the standard makes never seem to wear out) and the cost of operation is so small (less than a cent an hour) that really every family can afford several fans.

Equip your home with fans; equip your office, store and factory with fans. When you buy, go to an electrical store, get fans of standard make, and thereby guarantee yourself a satisfactory investment. Electrical stores sell only such fans as they can recommend and guarantee. Therefore—
