HOMERULERS' OBSTRUCTION.

The home rulers met yesterday in convention at Westminster hotel and debated the course to be pursued in reference to the vote on the Irish constabulary clause of the supply bill as it comes up in the house.

Parsons, who presided, strongly urged a solid opposition to the vote for the constabulary clause, and said that the organization, as now controlled, would be, as it had been, a permanent obstacle to the reform.

THE CREAM OF CRIME.

Dr. Cream, of Chicago, in a Condition For Churning.

Special Dispatch to The Bee.

CHICAGO, August 24—1 a. m.—The testimony of Dr. Cream for committing abortion. She stated that she was indebted to the doctor $15, and when he insisted upon bringing the sick girl there she could not refuse.

He visited the girl frequently, and finally performed the operation, which cost her death Thursday night. She left soon after with her children, and notified Dr. Cream, whose plan was to remove the body Saturday night, had not the stomach around the neighbors and caused an investigation and the arrest of the doctor that night.

It is reported that the doctor offered a street car conductor $10 to remove the body.

The inquest was concluded yesterday afternoon and both Dr. Cream and Mrs. Mackay were held for murder without bail. They each criminally performed the operation, which cost her death Thursday night.

Dr. Cream committed the abortion and that after the victim died, she had committed an abortion upon her with instruments, the use of which she had been shown by Dr. G. M. Fitch. Dr. Fitch was called and testified that he had attended Mrs. Mackay during childbirth, but never treated her except in a strictly legitimate manner.

DEPARTED GLORY.

CHICAGO, August 24—1 a. m.—The glory of camp life has departed. The tents are being rapidly removed, and a few stragglers remain in the city over Sunday. Some of the Erie, Wyoming and Pittsburgh commanders were at the Tremont Park.

READING, Pa., August 24—1 a. m.—A horrible discovery was made here yesterday by the board of poor directors of Pea county, who found an insane man imprisoned in a hut in the Blue mountains. For twenty-seven years he has never seen the light of day. His habitation was made of ruddy hewn logs. The name of the lunatic was Benjamin Schuyler, aged 55 years, and a native of Pennsylvania. He has been chained in the hut for 27 years by his brother, who fed him. The lunatic in all that time was never washed, clothed or shaved. Under the hut was a place where fire was built in winter, the heat of which went up through the cracks in the floor. The lunatic was accustomed to beat the side of the hut with his hand, mumping, kicking and screaming. A rusty chain was attached to one of his legs and to the wall. He made violent resistance when he was removed. He was brought to Reading, dressed in a petticoat. His captors were men of the county almshouse. The chain on his leg has not been filed off. It is reported that he became insane by bathing in a cold spring in an overheated condition. The affair causes great excitement.
