COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Wednesday Morning May 10.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier, 30 cents per week. By Mail, $10.00 per Year.

Office: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway. C. E. MAYNE, Manager City Circulation. H. W. TILTON, City Editor.

MINOR MENTIONS.

The district court begins its term next Monday.

The Round Table met last evening at the residence of Mr. Beebe.

Joseph Reiter makes suits in the latest styles at 210 Broadway.

There are twenty-two divorce cases to be considered at the coming term of the district court.

The board of trade holds another meeting this evening to discuss the site of the new government building.

Ex-Mayor Vaughan says that when he meets a load of dirt now he tips his hat to it. They are not so plenty as a while ago.

The city council meets to-morrow evening to take final action concerning equalization of taxes, and transact other business of importance.

It has been decided to open up market street to Fairmount park, which will afford still easier access to that beautiful and romantic spot.

Take your ice from the Blue Wavens. Orders taken at J. T. Oliver's and at Jones Bros', Grocery, Mulholland & Co., Successors to D. F. Eicher.

The first marriage license issued for five days was given out yesterday, it being to Adelbert Lerch and Miss Augusta Feltenreiter, both of Council Bluffs.

Friday evening there is to be a Y. M. C. A. rally at the Baptist church, a large delegation from Omaha, expecting to be present, and join in the meeting, which promises to be an unusually interesting one.

To-morrow evening at Dohany's there will be given a talk to hear Hon. J. B. Finch, the well known temperance talker and worker. The promise is given of an interesting and instructive lecture, and one well meriting a crowded house.

The thirteenth annual meeting of the Harrison county Sunday school association is to meet in the Presbyterian church, Missouri Valley, May 10th, 17th and 18th. Among the speakers engaged are Rev. Dr. Cleland and Rev. P. F. Breese, of this city.

It's a house-cleaning season at the jail and court house. The old whitewash at the jail is being scraped off, preparatory to being covered fresh, and the court room is being washed up and wiped off in fine shape, so that with the opening of court everything will be clean and sweet.

The twilight-trinkler has at last accepted the suggestion of Tux Bee and changed its standing directory of county officers, having found out that Gullitar is sheriff instead of Reel, and making other changes in the attempt to bring it up to date. Its editor has been so busy planning trips to Washington at the people's expense that the matter has been neglected, until his recall gave him leisure.

Some fine specimens of ore have been received from the Union Consolidated mines, and were yesterday on exhibition at Peregrin & Moore's, where they were examined with interest by stockholders and others. The company has two veins rich in copper, and in cutting from one to the other another lead, showing a goodly proportion of gold was struck, and specimens sent from all three.

A short time ago there was a row in a house on Mills street, caused by the head of the colored family living there finding a lover in his step-daughter's room. It was understood that the girl who was the cause of the row was the same one over whom the row occurred in which McGee shot and killed another fellow named Washington. It now appears that such was not the case, and that the girl who was the cause of the Mills street midnight rumpus was only fourteen years old, much younger than the other, and that the other was living in a different family altogether and behaving in an entirely different manner.

Pat Lacy, chief of the fire department, has evidently read the petitions published in Tux Bee, and signed by many citizens, who want him to go out of the saloon business or out of the chief's position. He has concluded to resign—that is, to resign the saloon business. It is apparently an attempt to do away with this objection raised against him, but there is grave doubt as to whether it is a genuine retirement from business, or the pushing forward of another man's name to the front. It is to be hoped for the honor of the official position he holds that he has abandoned his past business in fact, as he has in form. Time will tell, and the public will be content to watch and wait.

The Bee has from time to time called attention to the many remarkable qualities of the patent crystallized artificial stone, lately shown here by Mr. W. W. Patterson and Mr. Hoxie, of Corning, Messrs. Wheeler and Artzell, of the Revere house, have bought a half interest in the stone for this county, and Mr. Patterson retains the other half. They will proceed at once to manufacture here and to erect buildings, and the enterprise promises to be one of more than ordinary value to the city. Mr. Patterson intends taking up his residence in this city at an early date, and will in person add his practical knowledge and skill, thus doubly insuring the success of the project.

Sarah Grason, wife of James Grason, died in this city yesterday morning about 4 o'clock, aged 58 years. They came here about two weeks ago from Jasper county, Missouri, to visit their children, and in the hope of bettering their own health. Mrs. Grason has been an invalid for many years, and death came as a sweet relief from her suffering, yet she was loth to leave her relatives and friends. She had been a consistent member of the Methodist church for years, and death to her had been a relief, and a loving husband, mother and five children, upon whom the bereavement falls as a heavy blow, following so closely upon the happy reunion. The funeral services will be held this morning at 10 o'clock from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. C. W. Case, on Benton street.

This evening Wm. I. Marshall gives an illustrated lecture at the Bloomer school building on the subject, "An Evening in Wonderland; or, The Yellowstone National Park." His description of the wonders of nature there to be seen, is made more vivid by photographs and views projected upon a screen twenty feet square by the calcium light. The lecture Thursday evening will be "A Visit to Colorado," and will be likewise illustrated, thus combining interest and instruction. In this way one can visit the far west and see its wonders for only 25 cents, a cheap enough trip, surely.

At the meeting of the board of trade held Monday night, Judge James made a report of his mission to Washington in the interest of the bill for securing a government building in Council Bluffs. A committee was appointed, consisting of W. C. James, Marshall Key, and E. H. Odell to draft appropriate resolutions expressive of the appreciation felt by the citizens concerning the interest taken by Congressman Hepburn in securing the passage of the bill.

It was announced that Mr. Hepburn desired to have some facts and figures regarding the damages done by floods here, and the necessity of improving the Missouri river. In accordance with the request of some of the members of the board previous to the meeting, Charles S. Pease had prepared a paper and drawn maps illustrative of the condition of the river and the needs. The plan he recommended was to narrow the river bed to about 1,000 feet, and showed that by following out the plans suggested by him in the lowest stage of water there would be twelve feet depth in the center of the stream, and eight feet on the sides. In his paper he showed the advantages to be gained by improving the river for a distance of twenty-three miles, from Florence to Bellevue, and suggested the means of accomplishing the work. The estimate cost was $255,000.

A committee was appointed to prepare such resolutions as might be deemed necessary, supporting Mr. Hepburn in the plan of securing needed improvement of the Missouri river, the committee to report at an early date so that the action of the board of trade could be forwarded to Mr. Hepburn as early as possible. The city council is also to take action. The committee appointed by the board consists of W. C. James, A. C. Graham, F. C. Nowell, Dr. McKune and Charles S. Pease.

The amendments to the constitution reported favorably by the committee appointed for that purpose, were brought up for consideration and were adopted. An extended discussion followed as to the matter of dues and regulations of membership, concerning which the committee desired to hear opinions before preparing the by-laws.

The offenders who yesterday had Justice Dealt Out to Them. James Murphy was found drunk and asleep near the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy depot, and was cared for by the police, he having but 35 cents to meet his bill. The fine and costs charged up to him amounted to $7.

George Wilson, found drunk in the basement of Hugh Reynolds's saloon, was taxed a high amount. Forest Kinney, for keeping his saloon open on Sunday, was fined $10 and costs.

James Smith, arrested at the instance of Jack Shields, for disturbing the peace, had his hearing yesterday and was discharged. Jack Shields, for a like offense, was fined $5 and costs.

J. M. Nichols was yesterday afternoon given a chance to inhale the many odors of the calaboose. Drunk J. L. Whitaker, complained of not keeping his saloon open on Sunday last, discharged yesterday. Richard Kennedy, charged with a like offense, has had his case continued until to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

John Powers, arrested for thumping a fellow named Sasa in the "Blue Jay" saloon, was discharged yesterday, Sasa not appearing against him.

DOHANY'S OPERA HOUSE, THURSDAY NIGHT, MAY 11, 1882. THE HON. JOHN B. FINCH will lecture on PROHIBITION. FREE TO ALL. The executive committee have secured several hundred campaign songsters which will be distributed in the audience. Stirring campaign songs will enliven the occasion. HON. JOHN B. FINCH IS A CELEBRATED TEMPERANCE ORATOR. A thorough, candid and eloquent discussion of the subject now enjoying the attention of the people may be expected. COME ONE! COME ALL! A Good Story. A good story is told by United States Marshal Chapman, editor of the Council Bluffs Nonpareil, on the Hon. W. R. Vaughan, whose term of service as mayor of that city has just expired, which is illustrative of the exceptional thrift of the latter gentleman. Mr. Vaughan is a native of Alabama, served as confederate soldier during the war, and at the close, for a makeshift, became a general utility-man in a general store at an interior Alabama cross-roads town. The negroes would congregate about the store in droves and ask "Mass' Vaughan" for something to do. One by one he would take them to the rear of the store, and in a confident and fatherly tone, present each with a half-bushel split basket, and the proposition, "Now, you go up to 'Squire Jones' blackberry patch, and you just fill this full of the nicest blackberries you can find. Don't get any leaves or dirt, or branches mixed in with them. Don't bruise them or spoil them. But you just bring that basket back here to me this afternoon, full of nice, plump, fine berries, and I will give you half of them!" In this way, in a few weeks, Mr. Vaughan had secured a profit of $70 out of the labor of his colored brethren, upon which capital he came north on his search for wealth and honors, which he has secured.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Vaughan need not trouble himself to deny the story, for where John Chapman is known it will do him no harm. It is just like "the colonel," though, to go back on his friends when their backs are turned. How would it do now for Vaughan to slip down to Burlington on the sly, and whisper in the ear of the Hawkeye editor some things about "the colonel's" early life, under what circumstances he came to Council Bluffs, who set him on his feet, whose political blackberries he marketed, something about "the shirt-tail hands," etc? It would be a good companion picture to the blackberry story, and make an interesting pair.
