P. B. REYNOLDS, Pres't State Alliance. J. BURROWS, Sec. ad interim.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Barney & Berry skates at Himebaugh & Taylor's.

Himebaugh & Taylor, Omaha, sell Buffalo U. S. Standard scale. Write for prices.

Sumner Johnson, who was formerly well-known in Omaha newspaper circles, is now at Bismarck, Dak. He is no longer a bachelor, having married a Sioux City lady last August.

Short-hand is attracting a great deal of interest now-a-days, and persons wishing instruction would do well to take lessons by mail. Trial lessons furnished free by the university school of shorthand, Iowa City, Iowa.

Max Meyer & Bro. have put up at their store a dial illustrating the "24 o'clock" plan of keeping time. One o'clock p. m. is indicated by 13 and so on around to 24. It is worth noticing as a matter of curiosity and a study which may be coming to in the way of reckoning time.

Lon George, charged with robbery, gave bail in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at the February term of the district court. The charge against George is that he had been investigated, but she was held in $300 to appear as a witness. She was unable to give bond and was remanded to jail.

The latest thing we have seen in the way of an ornament for the face is a small curl, completely detached from the head and placed near the center of the left cheek. We noticed such an one on the street last evening, and it will probably be the prevailing fashion in a short time.

Mr. C. Specht returned yesterday morning from a business trip through the state. He goes to Cincinnati next Thursday to engage twenty cornice makers in addition to his present force to enable him to keep pace with his business which is constantly crowding him.

Another day of the federal court was occupied yesterday with the case of Max Weinberg & Co. vs. the Fire Association Insurance company of Philadelphia. The testimony is all in and the arguments will be submitted today. Three other similar cases have agreed to abide by the result of this one.

Mr. C. Bowers, treasurer of the Josephine Riley company, now playing at the opera house, is a member of the Cincinnati base ball club. He was playing in that nine this season when the U. P.'s visited the Queen City. He speaks well of the playing qualities of the Omaha nine, and recalls many pleasant incidents connected with their visit.

Mr. George Hammond, who was for several years secretary to Chief Clerk Paul Vandervoort, and also served under Chief Clerk Stacey, has been transferred, at his own request, to the road. Mr. H. King has been transferred from the Oregon Short Line to succeed Mr. Hammond.

Chief Inspector Stuart, of Chicago, who assumed charge of the Omaha office since the removal of Capt. Furay, will remain for the present. It is supposed that when the delegation from Nebraska comes together in Washington, Capt. Furay's successor will be appointed.

The report that a new B. & M. time table will take effect to-morrow is emphatically denied at headquarters. Also the rumor that this road is considering the adoption of the standard time fails of contradiction. For all the authorities know, the time schedule and standard of time will remain as they now are.

Three little girls, the youngest about 6 and the oldest not more than ten years of age, were running around the streets and in the hotel close last night with "Please, mister, give me five or ten cents to buy something to eat," and upon a refusal pouring forth torrents of oaths and filthy language. They were evidently professional beggars and were used to the rebuffs of an unsympathetic public.

H. W. Parker and Thomas Yule, of Beatrice; Julian Metcalf, T. C. Lambeth and J. L. Wilson, of Nebraska City; George V. Morford, of Omaha; and J. C. Hamann, of Salina, Kansas, were present.

Last night the directors held a meeting at the Commercial hotel, and the following named gentlemen elected officers: President, Julian Metcalf, of Nebraska City; vice-president and manager, George V. Morford, of Omaha; treasurer and secretary, C. G. Dorsey, of Beatrice.

Reading's Russia Salve is unequalled for chilblains, chapped hands, frost bites, etc. Try it.

The Marvelous Singing Doll. This charming novelty is advertised in this issue by Massachusetts Organ Co., 57 Washington St., Boston, and certainly nothing will appeal more quickly to the children than a Doll that will sing a song. The price is very reasonable, the Doll is a beautiful affair, and the ingenious singing attachment will delight the young and amuse the old. The little girl who finds a Webber Doll "in her stocking" at Christmas time will be the envy of all.

Dear Sir: The beautiful Singing Doll came safely, and far exceeded my expectation of what a Singing Doll could be. Our little folk were charmed with its beauty, but when it sang, their delight was unbounded. It will be to them a thing of beauty and a constant joy.

Sincerely yours, Rev. J. B. ARBOTT, Medford, Mass., Aug. 13, 1883.

the state generally to attend, which includes Omaha of course.

Some notable improvements are to be made in and about the Millard hotel in the near future. Among others the office, dining room and hallways will be papered with a very heavy paper, which is now being manufactured to order for that purpose. Around the stairways, there will be placed a very heavy leather covering, which will be heavily coated with bronze, producing with a very beautiful effect. One standpipe is now in course of construction in the center of the Douglas street front and a similar one will be erected on the east side of the building leading down on the roof of the one story structure which adjoins the hotel building on that side.

These are the first standpipes ever erected in this city and are attracting considerable attention, and when completed will be tested by the fire department. When all the contemplated improvements are completed the house will present a very handsome appearance.

Yesterday was "poor day" the poor-master was busy supplying the needy ones of this city.

The Mite society of the Lutheran church met with Mrs. P. J. Nichols Thursday afternoon.

In police court yesterday there was one case for disturbing the peace. Five dollars and the cost-matter trimmings was assessed which was paid.

The waiters at the depot eating house, having a little time yesterday, constructed a ship from napkins alone. It is about three feet long and is a very good representation of a three-masted.

L. Richardson filed a complaint against Peter Sanders in police court yesterday, for cutting down and carrying off trees from his plaintiffs' premises on West Farnam street.

An old man in Florence stepped off one side of the bridge there, thinking he had got to the end of it, and fell down some 40 feet, receiving injuries about the head and neck which will lay him up for some time. His name is Mead and he has a wooden leg.

The Western Union telegraph company has opened a quadruplex circuit between Omaha and St. Louis. A quadruplex system exists between Omaha and Chicago also. These systems admit of sending two messages and receiving two messages at the same time on a single wire.

Col. John B. Furay is receiving a number of telegrams from his brother inspectors in all sections of the country congratulating him upon his good fight. Two congressmen have also volunteered to assist him. Mr. Furay is receiving his pay for services rendered, which is now held back by the court of claims.

W. A. Fonda, who for some time held forth in Omaha as a lawyer and editor of a weekly publication, and who asserted to his intimate friends that he was the twenty-third Baron of Pulteney and the inheritor of the ancestral estate held for many centuries in his family, has at last come into possession of his ten perspective fortune, amounting to a quarter of a million. He has been tested at a small town in Iowa for some time past, but will probably be in Omaha in a few days to interview his attorney, to whom the papers will be forwarded to make the settlement.

A few days since a gentleman by the name of A. Guinand came to this city and opened a cigar and tobacco business in the building occupied by Wilson & Larson, on Farnam street. He is considerable of an artist, and nightly the sidewalk in front of his place is crowded with people looking at his latest works of art which are displayed in the show windows. Mr. Guinand, appreciating the fact that the BEE is the greatest paper in the western country, has named a brand of cigars which he proposes to put on sale, "The Evening Bee," and to advertise them has sketched a picture which represents a large honey bee flying away to heaven with an Omaha new-boy clinging to one of its legs and shouting, "Here's your EVENING BEE!" His latest work is the faithful portrayal of the likeness of the three little combs behind the bars for stealing rings from Boll & Co. It is a comical picture and attracts considerable attention. Mr. Guinand intends to keep up with the police items as mentioned in the BEE every evening.

A Happy Family.

Pulled from the breast, squeezed from the bottle stomachs will sour and milk will curdle; baby halibuts all that night, household bumping heads in awful fright. Don't deny, 'twas thus with Victoria. When she left for peaceful slumber, All said they pray for peaceful slumber.

A Woman Seeks the Police Court to Rid Herself of a Fellow Who is Making Himself too Previous.

Three years ago a woman who was then residing in this city kept company with a bar-tender, whom she states she cared nothing for. About that time she took her departure from this place and entered into wedlock with another and handsomer man. She has since lived with him, and about three months ago returned to this city to reside. Her husband's business keeps him away from home the greater part of the time, and during his absence this same bar-tender, who still resides here, has made himself very obnoxious by entreating her to leave her husband and marry him. He has at various times, so she stated to the police judge yesterday, kicked in her door when she had refused him admittance, and meeting her upon the street, had exhibited a revolver and threatened to shoot her and her husband in case she did not comply with his request. She says that she has at various times threatened to have him arrested, and he only carried on the worse until last night, after kicking in her door and making

SONG AND STAGE.

Dramatic and Musical Matters Last Evening.

The Josephine Reiley Company in "Twelfth Night"—Glee Club Banquet—Thomas Rehearsal.

Miss Josephine Reiley, supported by Frederick Paulding and a very good company, appeared at the opera house last evening in the comedy, "Twelfth Night." A fairly good audience attended. Miss Reiley was warmly received on the occasion of her first appearance before an Omaha audience, and acquitted herself very creditably in the role of "Viola." Perhaps the infusion of a little more masculine spirit would have helped her impersonation. Frederick Paulding's friends noted with pleasure the improvement he had made since his last appearance here. His "Duke Orsini" was very well taken, and is a character of which he seems to have a good conception. The "Malvolio" of M. L. Leffingwell is a bit of good acting. Mr. Leffingwell is an old and well-known stock actor. The other support was very good, and altogether the company is an excellent one. This afternoon, "Romeo and Juliet" as a matinee performance, and this evening "The Hunchback" will be given. To-night Miss Reiley appears as "Julia," Mr. Paulding as "Sir Thomas Clifford," and Mr. Leffingwell as "Master Walter." Mr. D. Blakely, the director of the Theodore Thomas chorus, who has made fast friends of many of our leading vocalists, and been the recipient of pleasant attentions, took occasion last evening to return compliments by giving a banquet at the Millard hotel to the Omaha Glee Club. There were present Mr. Blakely, Prof. Martin Cahn, and the following active members of the club:

Messrs. F. S. Smith, Breckenridge, Northern Van Keman, W. A. D. Morris, Manchester, W. B. Morris, Stevens, Welsh, Wilber, Wilkins, Alexander, Burmester, Carrier, Deuel, Murphy, Wells, Cralle, Estabrook, Dorman, France, Raff, J. L. Smith, Snow and Woburn. The banquet was a decidedly agreeable affair, champagne enlivened the toasts, and the welfare of the club and of musical interests were discussed. About forty of our musical people met last evening under the auspices of the Harmonic society at Max Meyer's hall to rehearse several pieces, with a view to bringing them out next spring in a Thomas concert. The choruses were: "Star of Summer Night," "Praise Ye the Father," and "Lauda Sion."

STILL AHEAD.

Nebraska Cornice Works Still in the Lead and Will Continue So.

The success of the Nebraska Cornice works from the time of its birth has been a matter of surprise to almost everybody.

The works are located on the north-west corner of Ninth and Jones street, and Mr. Wm. Gaiser is the manager. Since the opening of the business, about the first of last August, they have constantly been overrun with work and have turned out more jobs than other establishments in the city have done in several years.

One of his contracts is that of the new school house at the corner of Seventeenth and Leavenworth streets, where they did the cornice work, slating and tin work. This job has just been completed and speaks volumes for this firm. Among other contracts now in course of completion is the large school house, corner of King and Delaware streets, slating, cornice and tin work, also Krug's new malt house will be served in the same way. They have done work all through the state and are fast establishing a reputation as the most reliable dealers in their line of business.

Enterprise and fair dealing is bound to be rewarded, and this is proven in the case of the Nebraska Cornice Works, who are daily receiving orders from all sections of the state, and are turning out work which puts to shame other manufacturers. It will amply repay any one in need of work in this line to call at the Nebraska Cornice Works and see samples of work and receive prices before placing their order with smaller and unreliable firms.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of Liver, Kidney or Stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure you and you will be well rewarded for your trouble. Electric Bitters, Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, and general debility are speedily cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by C. E. DR. STELLING.

A Cordial Reception at His Old Home in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Stelling, pastor of the English Lutheran church of this city, is now visiting in Harrisburg, Pa., his old home, and The Telegraph, of Nov. 19, thus speaks of his reception there:

The Zion Lutheran church was densely packed at both the morning and evening services yesterday, when the former pastor, Rev. Geo. F. Stelling, D. D., delivered two excellent sermons. In the morning the reverend gentleman, feelingly referred to his former parastate in this city and recalled incidents that caused tears as well as smiles to appear on the faces of his auditors. His reminiscences of the past and comparisons with the present were touching, and many in the congregation could not restrain their tears. It was a welcome such as few ex-pastors are seldom tendered, and showed that a wonderful hold Dr. Stelling has upon the hearts of the people in this city. At the evening service the large auditorium of the handsome edifice was filled with an expectant congregation, even the aisles being blocked with chairs and all occupied. His evening discourse was based upon "The Three Mounts"—Sinai, Tabor and Calvary—and the sermon was one of much power. It touched upon three important scenes in the life of Christ, and was of the greatest interest. Ever since Dr. Stelling's arrival in the city he has met with nothing but the most cordial manifestations of friendship and esteem, and it must be gratifying to him to know that the lapse of years does not always blot out affection, or efface from the hearts of friends the memory of those who are absent.

ANOTHER SUCKER.

A Man From California is Duped and Robbed of his Money, Amounting to $2,000.

Among the passengers who came in from the west Thursday was Charles Moncton, a well-to-do merchant of Sonoma, Cal. Moncton was on his way east to buy goods, and unwisely had in his possession nearly $2,000 in cash, thinking, as nearly all such men think, that no sharper was slick enough to "down him for his hoodie." While in Denver he made the acquaintance of one of those ministerial-looking "coons" with the conventional black suit, and of course he was traveling the same way that his California acquaintance was. After leaving Denver they engaged in conversation, and the Californian explained to his newly-made acquaintance that he was a merchant and that he was on his way east to buy goods, and furthermore that he had a large sum of money about his person. Good enough they lay down together, the lion and the lamb, but when the lamb awoke in the morning the lion was gone, having taken with him the lamb's fleece. He had left the train at some station during the night, and Moncton was obliged to stop over in this city and telegraph for a fresh supply of money, and in all probability he will require references hereafter.
